A Guide to Conducting a Successful
Voter
Education Drive

Alberto R. Gonzales
Secretary of State

AN OVERVIEW:

The Secretary of State's voter registration drive is a non-partisan statewide program designed to increase participation in the election process through registering new voters and encouraging voter turnout. The success of this program depends on the assistance of members throughout the community.

This brochure serves to provide guidelines for businesses, associations, schools, and other organizations that wish to plan and implement a voter registration/education drive.

PLANNING THE DRIVE:

Any group planning a voter registration drive should tailor it to its:

- individual organizational structure;
- management style; and
- physical setting.

Groups are encouraged to adjust the following guidelines to fit their specific situations.

COMMITMENT:

The most important part of the drive is a strong commitment from the organization's leaders. Without this, most drives, whether large or small, may not be as successful as possible. You can show your commitment to this program in many ways. You may want to:

- Send a memoranda to employees or members;
- Mention the drive in meetings and gatherings;
- Distribute voter registration cards and posters throughout your headquarters;
- Designate a week as "Voter Registration Week" or "Get Out-The-Vote Week";
- Sponsor a voter registration "open house" with refreshments during lunch or after work;
- If you are conducting a drive in the community, set up a booth in a shopping mall, in front of a grocery store, or in front of your building; or
- Have a slogan contest to encourage participation in your drive.

The possibilities are endless, but to get the drive started, we have included a sample memorandum. Remember to adapt the memorandum to your organizational structure and the time frame of the upcoming election (see "important election dates" section in this brochure).

CHOOSING A COORDINATOR:

Depending on the size of your organization, whom you choose as a coordinator will vary. Generally, public affairs directors, member relations committees, or human resource directors are best suited for the job. Whomever you choose, remember that he/she must have access to all the organization's members, and that he/she must have enough authority to run the drive.

SAMPLE MEMORANDUM

TO: Employees (Members, etc.)
FROM: _____, Chief Executive Officer (President, etc.)
DATE: _____, 1998/1999
RE: Employee (Member, etc.) participation in the November General Election

As you are aware, our corporation (association, etc.) has been extremely involved in a voter registration drive in association with the Texas Secretary of State. Our goal is to maximize employee (member, etc.) participation on election day, Tuesday, November ____, ____.

I am asking that each of you take the time to vote on Tuesday the 3rd or during early voting. This is a very important election year. Not only will we be electing our Governor, but also you will be electing members of Congress, statewide officials, and other officials at the county and precinct levels. Remember, in order for our voices to be heard in our city, in Austin, and in Washington, it is imperative that each of you cast your ballot.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. For your convenience, a list of polling places is attached. If you need to vote during business hours, I encourage you to arrange with your supervisor a convenient time to cast your ballot.

The right to vote is precious, and I believe that you should take the opportunity to exercise this right. Thank you for your participation.

GOALS:

After the coordinator is selected, the organization's leaders and the coordinator should meet to set and define the goals for the drive. In this meeting, the following tips should be discussed:

- Whom do we want to address? (the members of our organization, the members of their families, the community at large?)
- What percentage of this group can be registered?
- What is the time frame of the drive?
- What resources or promotional materials will we provide?

- What resources do we need from the Secretary of State's office?
- What specific activities should we try?

IMPLEMENTING THE DRIVE:

Now that you have established a commitment to your cause, selected a coordinator and determined your goals, you are ready to begin the drive.

The following is a listing and brief explanation of some widely used voter registration activities. If you want more details about these activities, or if you want assistance implementing a plan that will fit your needs, please contact the Elections Division of the Secretary of State's office at 1-800-252-VOTE(8683).

A PUBLIC RELATIONS CAMPAIGN:

Your involvement in a voter registration/education drive can be a big opportunity for community involvement and exposure. Your efforts will be supported by a strong statewide media campaign which the Secretary of State's office has put together, so the citizens in your community will have knowledge of the voter registration campaign. Here are some ways that you can participate in this type of campaign:

- Use your organization's newsletters, memoranda, or bulletin boards to inform your employees, members, and/or customers of your plan to hold a drive;
- Write letters to the editor supporting the drive;
- Hold a press conference to announce the drive;
- Conduct a joint voter registration drive with another group in your community;
- Distribute bumper stickers or flyers with your organization's logo and a catchy voter registration slogan.

REGISTRATION ACTIVITIES:

Before starting your voter registration drive, you may wish to have someone in your organization become a volunteer deputy registrar. Anyone can issue voter registration applications, but only the voter registrar of your county and volunteer deputy registrars can accept completed applications. The process is easy. Simply contact your local voter registrar or the Elections Division of the Secretary of State's office for information.

You will need the following forms and supplies for your drive (most are available from the Secretary of State's office at no cost):

1. voter registration applications and display boxes;
2. a list of county seats and zip codes (included in this brochure);
3. identifying signs and posters;
4. the telephone number of your local voter registrar and surrounding voter registrars (also included in this brochure);
5. pens and pencils; and
6. name tags for the coordinator and volunteers.

In addition, the Secretary of State's office distributes two brochures entitled:

1. "Voter Registration in Texas," and
2. "The Volunteer Deputy Registrar Guide," which may prove helpful. Please contact our office to order these brochures and supplies.

Once you have the necessary materials, it is time to begin registering new voters. Your approach must respect the individual's right to register or to not register, as well as their right to vote or not vote. (Use persuasive leadership whenever possible to encourage registration and voter turnout, but never force your opinions on an individual.) Also, make sure that your coordinator and volunteers are well supplied with voter registration materials and are able to answer basic questions about the registration process.

"GET-OUT-THE-VOTE" CAMPAIGN:

Registration is only the first step in conducting a successful voter registration drive. The second and most important step is motivating those you have registered to actually "Get Out & Vote." Please consider the following suggestions:

Information: Make sure that all potential voters know when and where they can vote. You can get a list of polling places from your county clerk, and this brochure lists the important 1998 and 1999 election dates.

Education: The more information that potential voters have, the more likely it is that they will participate in the election process. Have your coordinator put together a listing of nonpartisan organizations in your area that can provide information about the candidates' positions on each issue (such as the League of Women Voters).

Early Voting: In Texas, a person is no longer required to have a reason to vote early by personal appearance. Thus, you should encourage early voting by stressing its convenience. You can obtain a list of the dates and times and polling places for early voting from your local county clerk.

Follow Up: None of the above information is useful unless you can get it to potential voters. Newsletters, memoranda, payroll stuffers, posters, booths, staff meetings and phone calls are just a few of the tools you can use to distribute this information.

VOTER REGISTRATION MATERIALS AVAILABLE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE'S OFFICE

VOTER REGISTRATION APPLICATIONS: The voter registration application measures 6" x 8" and is postage-paid by the State of Texas.

VOTER REGISTRATION POSTER: The two-sided poster measures 11" x 17," and displays information in both English and Spanish. We recommend that you place it in a prominent area, such as a store front window or reception area.

DISPLAY BOX: The display box allows you to display up to 400 voter registration applications in a professional manner. Assembled, each box measures 6 1/2" x 12 1/2". The box is mailed to you flat with assembly instructions.

VOTER REGISTRATION IN TEXAS BROCHURE: This brochure is very useful to your voter registration coordinator. The brochure outlines the qualifications for voting, who is entitled to vote, how to register to vote, and the process by which a voter's application is processed once it is received by the local Voter Registrar.

VOLUNTEER DEPUTY REGISTRAR GUIDE: This brochure explains how a member of your organization can become a volunteer deputy registrar.

8. Indicate by checking the appropriate box above your signature if this application is a new registration, a change of name or address, or request for replacement certificate.

Remember, your coordinator and volunteers should not indicate in any way how an individual should vote. Moreover, it is important that your organization not conduct the drive in a manner that favors a particular candidate or political party. Every effort should be made to ensure that the voter registration/education drive and "Get-Out-The-Vote" campaign remain completely nonpartisan.

CONDUCTING A NONPARTISAN DRIVE:

Federal law allows a corporation to jointly sponsor a nonpartisan voter registration or "Get-Out-The-Vote" drive with a nonpartisan, tax-exempt organization or with the state or local agency responsible for administering elections, such as the Secretary of State's office.

A corporation may distribute to the general public registration and voter information prepared by the election officials. The corporation may set up a table, rack, or booth on its own premises for distributing official voter information, and employees may help distribute these materials. Of course, the distribution must be carried out in a nonpartisan manner; the corporation may not endorse or support a candidate or party in connection with the distribution.

Federal law also allows a corporation to purchase nonpartisan voter registration and get-out-the-vote ads directed to the general public. This message should be limited to promoting such acts as voting and registration (e.g., "please register and vote") and to describing the time and place for registration or for voting. The message may be delivered through posters, billboards, broadcast media, newspapers, newsletters, brochures, or similar communications.

Other activities of a jointly-sponsored, nonpartisan registration drive must be conducted either by a person authorized by the governmental agency or by the nonpartisan organization itself. In other words, the co-sponsor, such as the Secretary of State's office, or the tax-exempt organization must participate in administering any other activities of the drive, although the corporation may make its office building and employees available for such activities.

MEASURING RESULTS HOW WELL DID WE DO?

As in other efforts by an organization, it is important to measure the level of success. Measuring the results should be done in a manner that enables your leaders to know that you conducted a successful drive, that a high percentage of your organization is registered to vote, and that they actually did vote in the last election.

One way to measure the results of the drive is through the use of surveys. By surveying your organization at the beginning of the drive, and after an election, you can determine how many people you registered, and how many people actually voted. Another way is to check with your volunteer deputy registrar. They will have records of how many completed applications they received and delivered to the voter registrar.
