STATE OF OHIO
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE

By virtue of the authority vested in me by Ohio Revised Code Section 3501.05(D), I am publishing an updated edition of Ohio's Election Laws. This edition reflects legislative changes and court opinions, both reported and unreported, as of August 1, 1992.

Included are many additional miscellaneous sections of the Ohio Revised Code and of the Ohio Constitution that pertain to elections. The loose-leaf format allows more frequent updates and the added information makes this publication a more complete reference work.

I am proud to make available this comprehensive edition of Ohio Election Laws.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

No. 88-C-54 (7th Dist Ct App, Columbiana, 3-30-89), Gosney v Bd of Elections. The investigation of elections is a discretionary function of a prosecutor; thus, there is no clear legal right to such an investigation and mandamus will not lie to compel such investigation.

60 USLW 4075 (US 1992), Norman v Reed. Citizens' federal right to establish new political parties arises under the First and Fourteenth Amendments and furthers the constitutional interest of likeminded voters to gather and pursue common political ends and thereby enlarge all voters' opportunity to express political preferences; accordingly, new parties' ballot access may be limited by a severe restriction only if narrowly drawn to advance a compelling state interest. Where a state statute allows a new party to field candidates for offices in a large political subdivision only after collecting 25,000 signatures of subdivision voters (the same number needed of state voters to field candidates for state office), and if the subdivision has large separate districts for some offices then 25,000 signatures from each district, a decision of the state supreme court that a party's inability to get enough signatures in one district of a two-district subdivision dooms the party's entire slate in both districts is not the least restrictive means to advance the state's interest in limiting the ballot to parties with demonstrated public support since it requires twice as much support here for candidates in a county as is needed for statewide candidates. (Ed. note: Illinois law construed in light of federal constitution.)

111 SCt 2376, 115 LEd(2d) 379 (1991), Houston Lawyers' Assn v Texas Attorney General. The Voting Rights Act of 1965, 42 USC 1973 et seq., encompasses election of executive officers and trial judges whose responsibilities are exercised independently in an area coextensive with the districts from which they are elected.

111 SCt 2354, 115 LEd(2d) 348 (1991), Chisom v Roemer. Section two of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, 42 USC 1973 et seq., forbidding voting qualifications, standards, and procedures that result in minorities having less opportunity than others to participate and to elect "representatives" of their choice, applies to judicial contests as well as to contests for the position of legislator; the word "representative" is construed to mean someone who has prevailed in a popular election.

842 F(2d) 825 (6th Cir Ohio 1988), Connaughton v Harte Hanks Communications, Inc; affirmed by 491 US 657, 109 SCt 2678, 105 LEd(2d) 562 (1989). The press is not released from liability for reckless or intentional publication of falsehoods simply because it is reporting on an election campaign or possible political misconduct.

839 F(2d) 275 (6th Cir Ohio 1988), Mallory v Eyrich. The Voting Rights Act of 1965, 42 USC 1973 et seq, applies to judicial as well as legislative elections.

707 FSupp 947 (SD Ohio 1989), Mallory v Eyrich. No proof of any intent to discriminate on the basis of race is necessary to establish a violation of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, 42 USC 1973 et seq.

UNCODIFIED LAW

1990 H 247, § 3, eff. 11-30-90, reads:

(A) The legislative authority of a municipal corporation, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of all of its members, may adopt a resolution proposing to submit to the electors, at a special election held in accordance with division (C) of this section, the question of an additional tax levy, in excess of the ten-mill limitation, for the current expenses of the municipal corporation, if both of the following apply:

(1) A current expenses levy previously was approved by the voters at the November 1985, general election, was extended on the 1986, 1987, 1988, 1989, and 1990 tax lists, and, as a result of its expiration, cannot be extended on the 1991 tax lists.

(2) The municipal corporation failed to timely certify to the board of elections a resolution proposing to submit the question of a current expenses levy to the electors at the November 1990, general election.

(B) A resolution adopted pursuant to division (A) of this section shall state the rate at which the levy is proposed to be levied, which shall not exceed eight mills; state the date on which the election on the question of the levy will be held, which shall be in accordance with division (C) of this section; state the period of time for which the levy will be in effect; and shall otherwise comply with the applicable provisions of Chapter 5705. of the Revised Code. The resolution also shall specify that, if approved, the levy will first be extended for collection on the 1991 tax list and duplicate and will be treated like any other additional tax levy for purposes of collection. Upon its adoption, the resolution shall be certified to the board of elections.

(C) Upon receipt of a resolution that has been adopted and certified pursuant to this section, the board of elections shall take all actions necessary to submit the question of the levy to the electors of the municipal corporation at a special election to be held on the earliest possible date, as determined by the board of elections, but prior to January 1, 1991, notwithstanding division (D) of section 3501.01, section 5705.19, and division (A) of section 5705.25 of the Revised Code. Notice of the election shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the municipal corporation once a week for each week prior to the election, not to exceed four weeks, notwithstanding division (A) of section 5705.25 of the Revised Code, but only if the resolution has been certified prior to one week before the date on which the election will be held. The form of the ballot to be used at the special election shall be that set forth in section 5705.25 of the Revised Code. If a majority of the electors voting on the question of the proposed levy votes in favor of the levy, the county auditor shall first extend the levy for collection on the 1991 tax list as if it had been submitted to and approved by the electors at the November 1990, general election.

(D) A levy approved under this section shall be certified to the Tax Commissioner and extended on the tax lists, as required under division (D) of section 5705.25 of the Revised Code.

1971 S 460, §3, eff. 3-23-72, reads: The changes made by this bill shall have no effect upon whether persons 18, 19, and 20 years of age may hold public office or serve on a jury.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

1. Definitions; qualified elector
2. Regular or general election
3. Primary or special election

1. Definitions; qualified elector

155 OS 99, 97 NE(2d) 671 (1951), State ex rel Ehring v Bliss. Under the provisions of this section, an elector or qualified elector is a person having the qualifications provided by law to entitle him to vote.

43 App(3d) 176, 540 NE(2d) 292 (Lucas 1988), State ex rel Taylor v Lucas County Bd of Elections. Where a candidate, certified by a board of elections prior to a primary election, moves to another precinct within the jurisdiction before the general election without timely notifying the board of elections of her change of residence for purposes of actual eligibility to vote in such election, the candidate retains her status as a "qualified elector" within the meaning of RC 3501.01(N), as that section speaks in terms of possessing the qualifications to be entitled to vote rather than actual eligibility contingent on timely change of address.

38 App(3d) 43, 526 NE(2d) 110 (Summit 1987), State ex rel Moore v Summit County Bd of Elections. A seventeen-year-old person who registers to vote automatically becomes a qualified elector upon his eighteenth birthday without any need to register again and, thus, may validly sign a nominating petition on and after the date of his eighteenth birthday.

119 App 363, 200 NE(2d) 668 (1963), State ex rel Rose v Ryan. The secretary of state and a county board of elections are required to conduct any municipal election which the laws authorize to be held.

1987 SERB 4-77 (CP, Franklin, 10-7-87), Ohio Historical Society v SERB; reversed by 1988 SERB 4-60 (10th Dist Ct App, Franklin, 6-30-88); 1988 SERB 4-60 affirmed by 48 OS(3d) 45 (1990). The national labor relations board erred when it held the Ohio historical society to be a "political subdivision" of Ohio, since the society neither falls within nor is analogous to any of the categories of subdivisions in RC 3501.01.

OAG 73-100. The question of construction or improvement of a town hall, at a cost greater than ten thousand dollars, may be, and the question of issuance of bonds to meet the cost of construction or improvement of a town hall must be submitted to the electorate by the board of township trustees at any election or at the same election.

OAG 72-035. A political subdivision of the state is a limited geographical area wherein a public agency is authorized to exercise some governmental function, as contrasted to an instrumentality of the state, which is a public agency with statewide authority.

OAG 69-129. The phrase "residence district" as used in RC 4301.32 means any two or more contiguous election precincts within a municipal corporation.

OAG 66-136. A university branch district created pursuant to RC Ch 3355 is not required to share the cost, as determined by RC 3501.17, of an election for a levy for said district held pursuant to RC 3355.09; such district is not a "subdivision" as used in RC 3501.01; since the costs of such an election, related to the university branch district, may not be apportioned to said district, such costs must be "paid in the same manner as other county expenses are paid," according to RC 3501.17, and must be borne by the county rather than by any of the subdivisions thereof.

OAG 66-096. A local school district board of education may submit two separate levies in excess of the ten mill limitation, one to renew an existing levy and the other an additional levy, for the same purpose, for the same period of time, and under the same code provision, RC 5705.21.

OAG 66-005. A district established by the reapportionment plan is not a "subdivision smaller than a county" within the meaning of RC 3513.05, despite the geographical area included in such district, and all candidates filing declarations of candidacy for nomination for election to the office of representative to the general assembly must file petitions containing sufficient signatures to meet the requirements of that section as they apply to candidates to be elected from a county or a congressional district smaller than a county.

1962 OAG 3383. Every person who has the qualifications of an elector under the provisions of O Const Art V §1, and RC 3503.01 is a qualified elector within the purview of O Const Art X §4, and such person is eligible to sign a county charter commission petition under said §4, and RC 3503.06, requiring that in registration precincts only registered electors may sign certain petitions, does not apply to the signers of such a petition.

1958 OAG 2745. Mobile voting booths drawn on their own wheels to a particular location may serve as a "polling place" for purposes of RC 3501.01 where they are not mobile during the hours of use but are kept in a single location while used as a polling place.

Ethics Op 75-031. A person seeking election to city council who voluntarily withdraws from an election within twenty days after filing his petition of candidacy is no longer a candidate within the purview of RC 102.02(A), and therefore is not required to file a financial disclosure statement.

2. Regular or general election

7 OS(3d) 11, 7 OBR 404, 455 NE(2d) 667 (1983), Hitt v Tressler. RC 3515.14 does not give a court authority to order a new election.

OAG 67-046. The sale of intoxicating liquor is prohibited on any first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in an area in which any election is held; such election is a "general election" and such day is a general election day in such area to which the prohibition of RC 4301.22 applies.

1959 OAG 767. Distribution of copies of proposed county charter or an amendment thereto to each elector of a registration precinct who registered for the last general election and to each elector of a non-registration precinct who signed the poll book in the last general election is a compliance with O Const Art X §4, but mailing a copy to the occupant of each of a list of house members obtained from a direct mail organization or publication in a newspaper is not.

1948 OAG 2673. By virtue of this section, term "general election" means any election held on first Tuesday after first Monday in November. Such meaning must be ascribed to said term in construing provisions of GC 4831-13 (RC 3311.23).

3. Primary or special election

102 App 425, 128 NE(2d) 865 (1955), State ex rel Horvath v Haber. As used in 3503.11, "primary election" includes a nonpartisan primary election, and the time for registration for such nonpartisan primary election is regulated by such section.

81 App 398, 79 NE(2d) 791 (1947), State ex rel Campbell v Durbin. When an election is called for by a proclamation of governor of state for an election to nominate candidates for office of representative of the United States House of Representatives, such an election is not governed by provisions of GC 4785-39 (RC 3503.11), limiting time for registration of electors, such election being a special election pursuant to GC 4785-97 and 4829 (RC 3513.32 and 3521.03); provisions of GC 4785-39 (RC 3503.11) apply to general election to be held on November 4, 1947, pursuant to GC 4785-3 (RC 3501.01).

22 Misc 48, 257 NE(2d) 914 (CP, Cuyahoga 1969), Jenkins v Porter. An action by a candidate nominated at a partisan primary for an injunction and damages against the executive committee of the same party for its endorsement of a candidate nominated by a nonpartisan petition fails to show irreparable damages and presents only a political issue, so that relief must be denied.

OAG 77-041. Persons who wish to register to vote on the day of a general, primary or special election need not do so at a polling place in the precinct in which they reside, provided the board of elections has located the polling place for voting purposes outside the boundaries of the precinct in which they reside.

OAG 72-025. RC 3503.12, respecting establishment of registration places by board of elections, is ambiguous as to whether or not such places may be established prior to primary elections and, having been consistently construed for many years by secretary of state to prevent establishment prior to such primaries, and such construction not being unreasonable, boards of elections are prevented from establishing such registration places prior to primary elections.

OAG 71-012. The vocational school district is solely responsible for the costs of a special election called at their request and if they are unable to pay the board of elections with current operating funds, then such amount will be subsequently withheld by auditor from moneys payable in future.

OAG 67-046. The sale of intoxicating liquors is prohibited on any first Tuesday after the first Monday in May in an area in which an election is held for the purpose of nominating persons as candidates of political parties or for the purpose of electing persons as members of the controlling committees of political parties or as delegates and alternates to conventions of political parties; such election is a "primary election" and such day is a primary election day in such area, to which the prohibition of RC 4301.22(D) applies.

OAG 67-046. The sale of intoxicating liquor is not prohibited on any first Tuesday after the first Monday in May in an area in which there are contests neither for the purpose of nominating persons as candidates of political parties nor for the purpose of electing persons as members of the controlling committees of political parties nor as delegates or alternates to the conventions of political parties but in which state and local issues are being submitted; such election is a "special election" and such day is a special election day in such area, to which the prohibition of RC 4301.22(D) does not apply.

1963 OAG 17. A proposed transfer of school territory under authority of RC 3311.231 should not be submitted to the voters at primary election time where a primary election on questions set out in RC 3501.01(E) is not otherwise required to be held.

1962 OAG 3472. Where a tax levy is submitted to the voters pursuant to RC 5705.21 the election thereon is a special election, only one of which may be held in any one calendar year, whether it be on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, or on any other date selected by the board of education.

1961 OAG 2451. The provision of RC 4301.22(D) banning sales at retail of intoxicating liquor on a primary or general election day between the hours of 6 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. does not preclude such sales on the dates of special elections held on other than a primary or general election day as defined in RC 3501.01; the provisions of RC 4301.65 as regards sales of intoxicating liquor on election days do not apply to sales of intoxicating liquors under all classes of permits and from state liquor stores.

1961 OAG 2451. Elections held in municipal corporations during the months of August, September, and October, for the purpose of nominating candidates for municipal offices, are special elections, and sales at retail by state liquor stores in such municipal corporations on the days of such elections are not precluded.

1961 OAG 1990. The question of repeal of a township zoning plan may not be submitted for vote on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of May in a year if it would be the sole issue before the electors, since a "primary election" would not be held in the township in such a case.

1960 OAG 1536. Submission to the voters by a board of education of a proposed additional tax levy for school purposes pursuant to RC 5705.21 is a special election, only one of which may be held in any one calendar year, whether it be on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, or on any other date selected by the board of education.

3501.02 Time for holding elections; selection of officers

General elections in the state and its political subdivisions shall be held as follows:

(E) Proposed constitutional amendments or proposed measures submitted by the general assembly or by initiative or referendum petitions to the voters of the state at large may be submitted to the general election in any year occurring at least sixty days, in case of a referendum, and ninety days, in the case of an initiated measure, subsequent to the filing of the petitions therefor. Proposed constitutional amendments submitted by the general assembly to the voters of the state at large may be submitted at a special election occurring on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of May in any year, when a special election on that date is designated by the general assembly in the resolution adopting the proposed constitutional amendment.

No special election shall be held on a day other than the day of a general election, unless a law or charter provides otherwise, regarding the submission of a question or issue to the voters of a county, township, city, village, or school district.

(F) Any question or issue, except a candidacy, to be voted upon at an election shall be certified, for placement upon the ballot, to the board of elections not less than seventy-five days before the day of the election.

144 OS 162, 57 NE(2d) 661 (1944), State ex rel Sagebiel v Montgomery County Bd of Elections. There is no duty resting upon a board of elections (though so ordered by the secretary of state) to prepare a separate ballot for the November 7, 1944, elections with party designations but with the name of no candidate thereon, for the purpose of filling a vacancy in the office of county commissioner caused by the death of an incumbent occurring subsequent to July 20, 1944.

132 OS 206, 6 NE(2d) 1 (1937), State ex rel Struble v Myers. While secretary of state has authority under this section to prescribe rules for the conduct of elections and the proper functioning of election machinery in the state, he has no authority to instruct county boards of elections to refrain from counting ballots.

29 App(2d) 133, 279 NE(2d) 624 (1971), Durell v Brown. If there are sufficient presumptively valid signatures in an initiative petition meeting the requirements of O Const Art II §1, there is an absolute duty on the secretary of state to certify the petition to the general assembly irrespective of whether it can be proved that in some way some or all of the signatures contained in the initiative petition are invalid.

119 App 363, 200 NE(2d) 668 (1963), State ex rel Rose v Ryan. The secretary of state and a county board of elections are required to conduct any municipal election which the laws authorize to be held.

30 Abs 413 (App, Franklin 1939), State ex rel Barry v Griffith. Mandamus action to compel placing name of candidate for judge of municipal court upon ballot should be instituted against county board of elections and not against the secretary of state. (Annotation from former RC 3513.29.)

341 FSupp 1187 (SD Ohio 1972), Gaunt v Brown; affirmed by 409 US 809, 93 SCt 69, 34 LEd(2d) 71 (1972). A state may validly deny voters who are seventeen at the time of primary, but will be eighteen at time of general election, right to vote in primary.

OAG 86-077. Full-time employees of a board of elections, as defined in RC 325.19(G)(1), are entitled to receive vacation leave benefits pursuant to the terms of RC 325.19(A). Part-time employees of a board of elections, as defined in RC 325.19(G)(2), are entitled to participate in any vacation leave benefits that may be provided by a board of county commissioners, by resolution, to part-time county employees under RC 325.19(B).

OAG 65-193; overruled by OAG 86-077. Employees of county boards of elections are state employees whose vacation rights are governed by RC 121.161.

1930 OAG 1423. Under this section, the adoption of such rules, regulations and instructions as will carry out the provisions and principles of the election laws of the state of Ohio, and apply and explain the provisions, intent and purpose of such laws in harmony with the rulings of the courts and opinion of the attorney general, would be within the authority vested in the secretary of state, so long as the laws were not thereby amplified, and such rules, regulations and instructions should be followed and obeyed by county boards of elections and other election officials in the state.

3501.051 Simulated elections for minors

(A) Notwithstanding any other section of the Revised Code, the secretary of state may authorize, in one or more precincts in one or more counties, a program allowing individuals under the age of eighteen to enter the polling place and vote in a simulated election held at the same time as a general election. Any individual working in or supervising at a simulated election may enter the polling place and remain within it during the entire period the polls are open.

(B) A program established under division (A) of this section shall require all of the following:

(1) That the duties imposed on judges of election and peace officers under section 3501.33 of the Revised Code be performed by those judges and officers in regard to simulated elections and all activities related to simulated elections;

(2) That volunteers provide the personnel necessary to conduct the simulated election, except that employees of the secretary of state, employees or members of boards of elections, and precinct election officials may aid in operating the program to the extent permitted by the secretary of state;

(3) That individuals under the age of fourteen be accompanied to the simulated election by an individual eighteen years of age or over;

(4) Any other requirements the secretary of state considers necessary for the orderly administration of the election process.

BOARD OF ELECTIONS

3501.06 Board of elections; vacancies

There shall be in each county of the state a board of elections consisting of four qualified electors of the county, who shall be appointed by the secretary of state, as his representatives, to serve for the term of four years. On the first day of March in even-numbered years the secretary of state shall appoint two of such board members, one of whom shall be from the political party which cast the highest number of votes for the office of governor at the last preceding regular state election, and the other shall be from the political party which cast the next highest number of votes for the office of governor at such election. All vacancies filled for unexpired terms and all appointments to new terms shall be made from the political party to which the vacating or outgoing member belonged, unless there is a third political party which cast a greater number of votes in the state at the last preceding regular state election for the office of governor than did the party to which the retiring member belonged, in which event the vacancy shall be filled from such third party.

115 OS 1, 152 NE 22 (1926), State ex rel Nolan v Brown. The words "qualified electors" as used in former GC 4803 (Repealed), and the words "qualified persons" as used in former GC 4805 (Repealed), GC 4807 (RC 3501.07), mean that the persons referred to must be electors possessing all the rights of electors of the county in general and qualified to exercise such rights, and in addition thereto must be qualified, in all other respects, to properly discharge all duties imposed by law upon deputy state supervisors of elections. State supervisor of elections must exercise sound discretion, in appointing members of boards of deputy state supervisors of elections, concerning the qualifications of persons seeking such appointment, and where the evidence of disqualification is clear and convincing, the appointment may be refused, notwithstanding the recommendation of the political committee. The burden of establishing disqualification is upon the state supervisor of elections.

OAG 90-108. A board of elections member does not serve on a "full-time" basis, as that term is commonly understood.

OAG 90-084. An individual may serve simultaneously as a county elections board member and a member of the board of directors of a port authority operating under RC Ch 4582, provided that such simultaneous service does not violate a local departmental regulation, charter provision, or ordinance.

OAG 74-006. A member of a board of education may also serve as a member of a board of elections if he is not a candidate for an elective office other than those specifically excepted by RC 3501.15.

OAG 66-053. The position of clerk of a local board of education is compatible with the office of member of a board of elections.

1964 OAG 897. A member of a board of elections who is employed as a secretary by a congressman from the same district is not prohibited from exercising the duties of both positions, notwithstanding the fact that board of elections is required to tabulate and count the votes for election of a congressman from that district and that the board member's employer is seeking reelection.

1960 OAG 1086. No person may simultaneously hold the office of director of highway safety and the office of member of a board of elections, so that where a member of a board of elections is appointed and qualified as director of highway safety, such office of member of the board of elections is vacated upon such appointment and qualification.

1959 OAG 926. A deputy clerk of the board of elections may at the same time serve as a deputy sheriff, provided it is physically possible to properly perform the duties of both offices.

1958 OAG 160. The positions of member of the Ohio state racing commission and member of a county board of elections are legally compatible.

1957 OAG 24. The offices of county treasurer and member of a county board of elections are incompatible.

1954 OAG 3930. There is no incompatibility between the offices of assistant prosecuting attorney and member of a county board of elections unless such assistant or the prosecuting attorney whom he serves is currently a candidate for elective office.

1952 OAG 1730. The offices of member of a board of health of a general health district and member of a county board of elections are not incompatible.

1952 OAG 1116. A county service officer may serve as a member of the board of elections.

1934 OAG 2471. A member of a county board of elections may at the same time hold the position of clerk of a city council and that of an employee in the county auditor's office, as distinguished from a deputy in the county auditor's office, if, as an employee in the county auditor's office, he is not in the classified civil service and if it is physically possible to perform the duties of all three positions.

1929 OAG 1342. Under this section, members of boards of deputy state supervisors and inspectors of elections and deputy state supervisors of elections whose terms expire on May 1 of odd numbered years should continue to act and be recognized as such until May 1 of the next even numbered year, when their successors should be appointed by the secretary of state as therein provided.

1929 OAG 1256. Members of boards of deputy supervisors and inspectors of elections who continue in office after January 1, 1930, under this section, as members of the newly created boards of elections, must be compensated on the basis provided in GC 4785-18 (RC 3501.12).

Ethics Op 87-002. Members of a county board of elections are sufficiently "connected" with the county, for purposes of RC 2921.42, that they are forbidden to sell property or services to the county unless the transaction is exempt under RC 2921.42(C).

Ethics Op 75-001. Employees of county boards of elections are not required by RC 102.02(A) to file financial disclosure statements.

Ethics Op 74-007. Members of county boards of election are state officers and RC 102.04 does not prohibit a member of a county board of elections from receiving or agreeing to receive, directly or indirectly, compensation for services rendered or to be rendered by him personally in any case, proceeding, application or other matter which is before any agency of any governmental entity other than the state of Ohio.

Ethics Op 74-003. Members of county boards of elections are not required, by reason of their membership on such board, to file financial disclosure statements under the requirements set out in RC 102.02(A).

3501.07 Party recommendations; appointment

At a meeting held not more than sixty nor less than fifteen days before the expiration date of the term of office of a member of the board of elections, or within fifteen days after a vacancy occurs in the board, the county executive committee of the major political party entitled to the appointment may make and file a recommendation with the secretary of state for the appointment of a qualified elector. The secretary of state shall appoint such elector, unless he has reason to believe that the elector would not be a competent member of such board. In such cases the secretary of state shall so state in writing to the chairman of such county executive committee, with the reasons therefor, and such committee may either recommend another elector or may apply for a writ of mandamus to the supreme court to compel the secretary of state to appoint the elector so recommended. In such action the burden of proof to show the qualifications of the person so recommended shall be on the committee making the recommendation. If no such recommendation is made, the secretary of state shall make the appointment.

If a vacancy on the board of elections is to be filled by a minor or an intermediate political party, authorized officials of that party may within fifteen days after the vacancy occurs recommend a qualified person to the secretary of state for appointment to such vacancy.

43 OS(3d) 184, 540 NE(2d) 245 (1989), State ex rel Pike County Republican Executive Committee v Brown. Where a nominee for a vacancy on a county board of elections submitted by a county political party's executive committee is rejected by the secretary of state, the county executive committee may either make another recommendation or it may file for a writ of mandamus; however, RC 3501.07 does not allow the committee to make a second recommendation in addition to filing a writ of mandamus and the secretary of state must make an appointment if a writ of mandamus filed in connection with the rejection of the committee's recommended appointee is denied.

50 OS(2d) 329, 364 NE(2d) 275 (1977), State ex rel Hough v Brown. Mandamus will not lie to compel the secretary of state to remove a member of a county board of elections because he has become clerk of the board of county commissioners at a time two commissioners were up for election and because he was treasurer of the county central committee.

39 OS(2d) 157, 314 NE(2d) 376 (1974), State ex rel Democratic Executive Committee v Brown. The secretary of state has discretion in determining the qualifications and competency of persons recommended for appointment to the board of elections.

159 OS 172, 111 NE(2d) 398 (1953), State ex rel Wetecamp v Brown. Mandamus ordering the appointment of an individual as a member of a board of elections will be denied where he would have been retired prior to the date of the action and the secretary of state refused to order him continued in service.

157 OS 368, 105 NE(2d) 643 (1952), State ex rel Boda v Brown. A member of a board of elections is a public employee and according to the provisions of GC 486-33 (RC 145.03), membership in the Public Employees Retirement System is compulsory. An exemption from the retirement system is restricted within narrow confines and such exemption applies only to the particular position in the public service an employee held when he obtained the exemption and does not attach to a new and different office he holds at a later time. The subsequent retirement of a member of a board of elections pursuant to GC 486-32 (RC 145.01) et seq., is a case of an official becoming disqualified by a provision of law from continuing in the office he holds.

157 OS 317, 105 NE(2d) 256 (1952), State ex rel Wetecamp v Brown. In an action of mandamus to appoint to a county board of elections, the person recommended by the county executive committee, that committee is a necessary party.

157 OS 317, 105 NE(2d) 256 (1952), State ex rel Wetecamp v Brown. If the secretary of state refuses to appoint as a member of a board of elections the nominee of a county executive committee, the committee, but not the nominee, may apply for a writ of mandamus ordering such appointment.

146 OS 653, 67 NE(2d) 540 (1946), State ex rel Derwort v Hummel. Under this section, secretary of state exercises quasi-judicial power and in a proper case, writ of prohibition may issue to prevent him from exceeding such powers; said writ will not issue to prevent secretary of state in exercise of his discretion from appointing member of board of elections under this section, where petition alleges that recommendation made to secretary of state was not made by political party's executive committee, as secretary of state is empowered to appoint any qualified elector where executive committee fails to make a recommendation within time limits.

136 OS 526, 27 NE(2d) 142 (1940), State ex rel O'Neil v Griffith. If a person recommended by a county executive committee of his party is found to be competent, it is the duty of the secretary of state to appoint him, and it is only when conflicting recommendations are made by more than one committee, each claiming to be the rightful executive committee, that the secretary of state is authorized and required to call upon the state central committee of such party to determine and certify which is the rightful county executive committee of such party; GC 4785-9 (RC 3501.07) governs and controls the action of the secretary of state in the matter of appointment of members of county boards of elections; this section and GC 4785-65 (RC 3517.05) are in pari materia and full effect must be given to provisions of both sections if the same can be reconciled.

133 OS 619, 15 NE(2d) 348 (1938), State ex rel Devitt v Kennedy. It was never intended by this section that any group, without slightest color of right, could constitute itself an executive committee, and by mere filing of recommendations with secretary of state compel him to submit matter to state central committee for its determination.

OAG 74-006. A member of a board of education may also serve as a member of a board of elections if he is not a candidate for an elective office other than those specifically excepted by RC 3501.15.

3501.08 Oath of office

Before entering upon the duties of his office, each member of the board of elections shall appear before a person authorized to administer oaths and take and subscribe to an oath that he will support the constitutions of the United States and of the state, will perform the duties of the office to the best of his ability, will enforce the election laws, and will protect and preserve the records and property pertaining to elections. Such oath shall be filed with the clerk of the court of common pleas of the county wherein the officer resides within fifteen days from the date of appointment.

3501.09 Organization of board

Biennially, within five days after the appointments to the board of elections are made by the secretary of state, the members of the board shall meet and organize by selecting one of their number as chairman, who shall preside at all meetings. They shall, upon careful consideration of each such person's qualifications, select a resident elector of the county, other than a member of the board, as director, and a resident elector of the county as deputy director. All such officers shall continue in office, at the pleasure of the board, for two years. The balloting for such officers shall commence at or before one p.m. of the day of the convening, and at least one ballot shall be taken every twenty minutes until such organization is effected or five ballots have been cast. The director shall first be selected by the votes of at least three members. If, after five ballots, no person is agreed upon as director, the names of all persons voted for on the fifth ballot, together with the names of the board members who nominated them, shall be certified to the secretary of state, who shall designate therefrom one of such persons to serve as director, unless the secretary of state has reason to believe that no person nominated is qualified. In this case the secretary of state shall so state in writing to the board, and the board shall nominate other persons, in the manner in which the original persons were nominated, and select from those nominated another person as director. If, after five ballots, no person is agreed upon as director, the names of all persons voted for on the fifth ballot, together with the names of the board members who nominated them, shall be certified to the secretary of state, who shall designate therefrom one of such nominees to serve as director and another such nominee to serve as deputy director. If the board fails to nominate another person as director, the office shall be filled in accordance with the procedures of section 3501.16 of the Revised Code.

The director and deputy director shall be of opposite political parties, and each such officer shall have been nominated by a board member of the political party to which he belongs, but the board may decide by the affirmative vote of at least three members that the services of a deputy director are unnecessary and such deputy director then shall not be employed. After the selection of the director and deputy director, the chairman shall be selected from the members of the board of opposite politics to that of the director. If, upon the first ballot, no person is agreed upon as chairman, the member of opposite politics to the director having the shortest term to serve shall be chairman, and shall preside at all meetings. When such organization is perfected, the director shall forthwith report it to the secretary of state.

3501.091 Replacement of chairman or director; reselection of officers

At any time after the organization of the board of elections is perfected and reported to the secretary of state under section 3501.09 of the Revised Code, the board may decide by the affirmative vote of at least three members to replace the board's present chairman or director with a person belonging to the opposite political party from the one to which the present officer belongs. After such a vote, the members of the board shall reselect all officers of the board in accordance with the procedures set forth in section 3501.09 of the Revised Code. An officer selected through this process shall serve as an officer for the remainder of the term for which the outgoing officer was selected to serve as an officer. A reselection of officers under this section does not increase or decrease the length of any person's term as a member of the board. The director and deputy director shall be of opposite political parties, and the chairman shall be selected from the members of the board of opposite politics from those of the director.

3501.10 Offices of board

(A) The board of elections shall, as an expense of the board, provide suitable rooms for its offices and records and the necessary and proper furniture and supplies for such rooms. The board may lease such offices and rooms, necessary to its operation, for such length of time and upon such terms as the board deems in the best interests of the public, provided that the term of any such lease shall not exceed fifteen years subject to the right of the board of county commissioners by a majority vote within sixty days after the board of county commissioners has been notified in writing of the execution of the lease to void the action of the board of elections.

(B) The board of elections in each county shall keep its offices, or one or more of its branch registration offices, open for the performance of its duties four hours every Saturday for three weeks before the close of registration before a general or primary election and between six p.m. and nine p.m. on one day, other than Saturday, in each week for three weeks before the close of registration before a primary or general election. At all other times during each week, the board shall keep its offices and rooms open for a period of time that such board considers necessary for the performance of its duties.

(C) The board may maintain permanent or temporary branch offices at any place within the county.

51 OS(2d) 149, 365 NE(2d) 876 (1977), State ex rel Riffe v Brown. 1977 S 125, §1, 2, 3, 4, eff. 5-27-77, took immediate effect because the law contained an appropriation item.

OAG 72-025. RC 3503.12, respecting establishment of registration places by board of elections, is ambiguous as to whether or not such places may be established prior to primary elections and, having been consistently construed for many years by secretary of state to prevent establishment prior to such primaries, and such construction not being unreasonable, boards of elections are prevented from establishing such registration places prior to primary elections.

OAG 68-042. Pursuant to RC 3501.10, the board of elections may establish more than one temporary branch office in a municipal corporation described in that section and such branch offices may be established prior to a primary election.

1961 OAG 1992. A board of elections may enter into a lease for a building to be used for the storage of voting machines.

1956 OAG 6896. The establishment by a board of elections of a number of "temporary branch offices" as provided in RC 3501.10 does not constitute the provision of "branch registration offices" within the meaning of RC 3503.12, nor does such board, in establishing such temporary branch offices, exhaust one of the alternatives provided in the latter section so as to preclude arrangements each year for registration in each registration precinct.

1930 OAG 1905. Under this section, a board of elections of county containing a municipality in addition to the county seat may not maintain a permanent branch office in such municipality.

3501.11 Duties of board

(C) Provide for the purchase, preservation, and maintenance of booths, ballot boxes, books, maps, flags, blanks, cards of instructions, and other forms, papers, and equipment used in registration, nominations, and elections;

(T) Establish and maintain a voter registration of all qualified electors in the county who offer to register;

(U) At least annually, on a schedule and in a format prescribed by the secretary of state, submit to the secretary of state an accurate and current list of all registered voters in the county for the purpose of assisting the secretary of state to maintain a master list of registered voters pursuant to section 3503.27 of the Revised Code;

(V) Prepare and cause the following notice to be displayed in a prominent location in every polling place:

"NOTICE

51 OS(2d) 173, 367 NE(2d) 879 (1977), State ex rel Senn v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Court of appeals improperly reversed action of board of elections which denied candidate place on ballot on ground that he had filed his declaration of candidacy the day after he had filed his part-petitions.

46 OS(2d) 37, 346 NE(2d) 283 (1976), State ex rel Kennedy v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Municipal requirement that clerk of council determine sufficiency of referendum petition did not negate duties imposed on board of elections by RC 3501.11.

Even though referendum petitions are retained by the clerk and the initial duty is on such clerk to determine the validity of the petitions, if a protest is made to the board of elections as to the validity of the petitions, it is incumbent on the board to examine them and determine their validity.

173 OS 321, 181 NE(2d) 888 (1962), State ex rel Schwarz v Hamilton County Bd of Elections. Where evidence showed that circulator of nominating petition had sworn that 27 signatures were placed thereon in his presence and 28 signatures were on such petition, and the circulator testified that he had deliberately ignored one signature because it was by a resident of another county, such petition should have been accepted.

165 OS 498, 137 NE(2d) 674 (1956), State ex rel Barklow v Appel. Where a candidate for the office of county engineer was not a registered surveyor at the time he filed his expense account and paid his filing fee, he was not eligible as such candidate, and a decision of a board of elections that was reached as a result of a tie-breaking vote by the secretary of state will be reversed.

164 OS 193, 129 NE(2d) 623 (1955), State ex rel Flynn v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. A board of elections is authorized to conduct a hearing on a protest against the nominating petition of a candidate alleged to be ineligible to assume the office and to determine the validity of such petition; and its decision is final and, in the absence of allegations of fraud, corruption, abuse of discretion or a clear disregard of statutes or legal provisions applicable thereto, is not subject to judicial review.

155 OS 99, 97 NE(2d) 671 (1951), State ex rel Ehring v Bliss. Under the provisions of this and cognate sections, a county board of elections is authorized to review, examine and certify the sufficiency and validity of petitions and nominating papers even in the absence of a protest thereto.

A declaration of candidacy for party nomination at a primary election designating the office sought as "clerk of courts" instead of "clerk of the court of common pleas" satisfies RC 3513.07, and a board of elections does not abuse its discretion in finding such declaration of candidacy and petition valid.

106 App 61, 148 NE(2d) 519 (1958), State ex rel Donnelly v Green. Mandamus would not issue to compel board of elections to omit candidate's name from a ballot where candidate filed for both two and four year terms for the state senate and then withdrew his name from the former race.

101 App 531, 133 NE(2d) 170 (1956), State ex rel Pucel v Green; affirmed by 165 OS 175, 134 NE(2d) 154 (1956). Where a wife signs her husband's name on a nominating petition, at his request and in the presence of the circulator thereof, and where there is not the slightest suggestion of fraud on the part of the husband or on the part of the circulator of the petition in signing the affidavit attached thereto, there is no justification for invalidating the entire petition because of the claim that such affidavit was fraudulently made.

101 App 531, 133 NE(2d) 170 (1956), State ex rel Pucel v Green; affirmed by 165 OS 175, 134 NE(2d) 154 (1956). Where there is no competent evidence contradicting the sworn testimony of an elector that he, by his own hand, signed his name to a nominating petition, a board of elections commits an abuse of discretion in excluding such nominating petition and holding that such signature could not be counted in considering the sufficiency of such nominating petition.

98 App 89, 128 NE(2d) 121 (1954), State ex rel Wiethe v Hamilton County Bd of Elections. The trial court properly denied relator's request for a mandatory injunction ordering his name placed on the ballot as candidate for the central committee from a designated ward where his petition stated that he was a candidate from a precinct of the ward.

74 App 295, 58 NE(2d) 793 (1943), State ex rel Behrens v Hamilton County Bd of Elections. A board of elections must declare a nominating petition void, where such petition does not conform to requirements specified by law, although objections to such petition were not filed before the fifty-fifth day prior to the election.

1932 OAG 4237. Where a person residing in a registration precinct has filed a declaration of candidacy and is not registered as an elector, he is not entitled to have his name appear on the ballot of his party at the primary election as a candidate for coroner. 1939 OAG 1036. Expenses of county board of elections for rental of polling places should be paid from county treasury in pursuance of appropriations by county commissioners upon vouchers of board of elections certified to by its chairman or acting chairman and its clerk or deputy clerk, upon warrants of county auditor; moneys so expended for a political subdivision within a county should be charged back to such subdivision for (1) primaries and elections in odd-numbered years, (2) special elections, and (3) conducting of registration within such subdivision, when required, and amount so charged should be withheld by county auditor from moneys payable thereto at next tax settlement.

3501.12 Compensation of members of board

The annual compensation of members of the board of elections shall be determined on the basis of the population of the county according to the next preceding federal census, and shall be paid monthly out of the appropriations made to the board and upon vouchers or payrolls certified by the chairman, or a member of the board designated by it, and countersigned by the director or in his absence by the deputy director. 368 FSupp 64, 39 Misc 39 (ND Ohio 1973), Pirincin v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections; affirmed by 414 US 990, 94 SCt 345, 38 LEd(2d) 231 (1973). The Ohio laws regarding the selection of members of county boards of election are valid.

2. In general

157 OS 368, 105 NE(2d) 643 (1952), State ex rel Boda v Brown. A member of a board of elections is a public employee and according to the provisions of GC 486-33 (RC 145.03), membership in the public employees retirement system is compulsory. An exemption from the retirement system is restricted within narrow confines and such exemption applies only to the particular position in the public service an employee held when he obtained the exemption and does not attach to a new and different office he holds at a later time. The subsequent retirement of a member of a board of elections pursuant to GC 486-32 (RC 145.01) et seq., is a case of an official becoming disqualified by a provision of law from continuing in the office he holds.

OAG 86-077. The secretary of state may not establish vacation leave benefits or sick leave benefits for members of a board of elections.

OAG 78-064. Pursuant to RC 3501.17, a board of county commissioners is authorized to procure insurance to protect members of the board of elections from liability arising from the exercise of their official duties, but the determination of whether such insurance is a "necessary and proper" expense of the board of elections is within the sound discretion of the board of county commissioners.

1955 OAG 5199. A member of a board of elections may not receive a salary increase based on the population of the registration precincts where the registration requirement is established by discretionary action of the board.

1945 OAG 370. Where a person holding the position of clerk of the board of elections enters the armed services and the board of elections declares the office vacant and appoints a new clerk, the person leaving the office to enter the armed services is not entitled to the compensation of the office of clerk of the board of elections during his period in the armed services.

1944 OAG 6949. A member of board of elections is entitled to receive compensation for that office while in armed forces of United States.

1941 OAG 4042. "Annual" salary based on population as shown by federal census must be computed on year as a whole, which year may not be split up into periods by fluctuations of population which may occur during year; such year extends from March 1st of each calendar year to and including last day of February of following calendar year. Annual salary of members of county boards of elections for years of their respective terms from March 1, 1940 to February 28, 1941, should be computed on basis of the 1930 census, while annual salaries for members of county board of elections and clerks of such boards now in office should be computed for annual period beginning in March, 1941, and for each succeeding annual period during their respective terms of office, on basis of 1940 census. Word "annual" as applied to stated salary or compensation fixed by this section, for members of county boards of elections, and by GC 4785-19 (Repealed), for clerks of county boards of elections, means not calendar years but years of particular officer's term of office according to time of year when term commences.

1931 OAG 3827. The board of elections may not be paid for the acts and duties required by GC 11419-8 (RC 2313.06); their compensation is fixed by this section.

Ethics Op 74-007. Members of county boards of election are state officers and RC 102.04 does not prohibit a member of a county board of elections from receiving or agreeing to receive, directly or indirectly, compensation for services rendered or to be rendered by him personally in any case, proceeding, application or other matter which is before any agency of any governmental entity other than the state of Ohio.

The board may summarily remove the director or the deputy director by a vote of not less than three of its members and may remove any other employee by a majority vote of its membership.

The deputy director and all other election officials shall take and subscribe to the same oath for the faithful performance of their duties as is required of the director of the board. The board may also employ additional employees, when necessary, for part time only at the prevailing rate of pay for such services.

A tie vote or disagreement in the board on the amount of compensation to be paid to a director, deputy director, or any employee shall not be submitted to the secretary of state.

OAG 78-064. Pursuant to RC 3501.17, a board of county commissioners is authorized to procure insurance to protect members of the board of elections from liability arising from the exercise of their official duties, but the determination of whether such insurance is a "necessary and proper" expense of the board of elections is within the sound discretion of the board of county commissioners.

OAG 70-048. Terms of RC 305.171 do not alter duty of boards of county commissioners, under RC 3501.17, to arrange for payment of costs of insurance programs which may be initiated by boards of elections pursuant to RC 3501.141.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

OAG 81-017. RC 3501.15 does not prevent a member of the board of elections from accepting appointment to the office of township trustee; it does prevent him from running for election as a township trustee.

OAG 74-006. A member of a board of education may also serve as a member of a board of elections if he is not a candidate for an elective office other than those specifically excepted by RC 3501.15.

1964 OAG 897. A member of a board of elections who is employed as a secretary by a congressman from the same district is not prohibited from exercising the duties of both positions, notwithstanding the fact that the board of elections is required to tabulate and count the votes for election of a congressman from that district and that the board member's employer is seeking reelection.

1963 OAG 544. Neither the position of clerk of the board of education of a city school district nor that of clerk of the board of elections in the same county is subordinate to or in any way a check upon the other, and therefore, one person may discharge the duties of both; provided that it is not physically impossible to do so which is a factual matter determined by their required time of service in each position.

1963 OAG 103. The office of deputy clerk of the board of elections is compatible with the office of member of the board of education of a local school district, but no person shall serve as a deputy clerk of the board of elections who is a candidate for election to the office of member of a board of education of a local school district.

1960 OAG 1177. There is no incompatibility between the offices of member of a board of elections and county court judge unless the county court judge is currently a candidate for elective office.

1954 OAG 3930. There is no incompatibility between the offices of assistant prosecuting attorney and member of a county board of elections unless such assistant or the prosecuting attorney whom he serves is currently a candidate for elective office.

1952 OAG 1116. A county service officer may serve as a member of the board of elections.

1950 OAG 1420. A person who was elected to the office of village treasurer is not disqualified from holding such office by reason of the fact that he served as a precinct election officer in the election at which he was elected.

1949 OAG 963. The offices of county auditor and clerk of the board of elections are incompatible and may not be held by one and the same person at the same time.

1949 OAG 963. The office of county auditor is incompatible with any and all offices or employments which receive or pay out funds of the county, or where such offices or employments make a certificate to the county auditor for payment of claims, and the county auditor cannot fill a second position when the duties of said second position or office require the incumbent to account for, receive or expend moneys or funds of the county, or to certify claims to the county auditor for payment.

1943 OAG 6568. A person who was elected to office of councilman of a village is not disqualified from holding office by reason of fact that he served as a precinct election officer in the election at which he was elected.

1936 OAG 5294. A coroner who is not a candidate for election may be a member of a county board of elections, if it is physically possible to perform the duties of both offices, but a coroner who is a candidate for election may not at the same time be a member of a county board of elections.

1933 OAG 1992. Where a person who serves as a member, clerk, deputy clerk, assistant clerk, or employee of a board of elections is a candidate for office, and is elected to such office, that fact alone does not make such person ineligible to the office to which he was elected.

1928 OAG 2067. Under former GC 5092 (Repealed), a deputy clerk of the board of deputy state supervisors and inspectors of elections was not prohibited from becoming a candidate while holding such position.

1928 OAG 1577. A candidate, who serves as a judge or clerk of elections of any precinct of a school district, when an election is being held for member of the board of education for the district, is ineligible to the office.

1928 OAG 1565. A judge of elections, whose name was not printed on the ballot, and who was elected a member of a board of education, under former GC 5092 (Repealed), and had been engaged in actively promoting his candidacy for such office, was ineligible. If he did not seek the office he would be eligible, notwithstanding the fact that he had served as a judge of the election in which he was elected.

1927 OAG 1390. A judge or clerk of elections whose name is not printed on the ballot as a candidate for member of council, but whose name is written in, and who is actively promoting his candidacy for such office is also ineligible to the office if elected; such judge or clerk of elections whose name is printed on the ballot at said election as a candidate for member of council, was ineligible to the office if elected, but where votes are cast by writing in for member of council the name of a person who is serving as judge or clerk at the election but who has not been regularly nominated for the office of member of council, and who has not sought or aspired to such office or actively promoted his candidacy, said person is eligible to said office, if elected.

3501.16 Removal from office

The secretary of state may summarily remove any member of a board of elections, or the director, deputy director, or any other employee of the board, for neglect of duty, malfeasance, misfeasance, or nonfeasance in office, for any willful violation of Title XXXV of the Revised Code, or for any other good and sufficient cause. Except as otherwise provided in section 3501.161 of the Revised Code, vacancies in the office of chairman, director, or deputy director shall be filled in the same manner as original selections are made, from persons belonging to the same political party as that to which the outgoing officer belonged. If such vacancies cannot be so filled, they shall be filled by the secretary of state.

60 OS(2d) 188, 398 NE(2d) 777 (1979), State ex rel Celebrezze v Butler County Court of Common Pleas. Prohibition will not lie to bar a common pleas court from enjoining the secretary of state from dismissing the director of a county board of elections.

50 OS(2d) 329, 364 NE(2d) 275 (1977), State ex rel Hough v Brown. Mandamus will not lie to compel the secretary of state to remove a member of a county board of elections because he has become clerk of the board of county commissioners at a time two commissioners were up for election and because he was treasurer of the county central committee.

138 OS 432, 35 NE(2d) 574 (1941), State ex rel Murphy v Athens County Bd of Elections. This section is applicable to situations where vacancy has been caused by resignation of members from office as well as to situations where vacancy has been created by removal of members from office. GC 4785-10 and 4785-11 (RC 3501.09 and 3501.16) are in pari materia.

113 OS 386, 149 NE 192 (1925), State ex rel Nolan v Brown. It seems that the entire authority to remove, and to remove summarily, was vested in the state supervisor, according to former GC 4810 (RC 3501.16).

62 App(3d) 417, 575 NE(2d) 1186 (Franklin 1989), Hughes v Brown. There is no requirement for a hearing pursuant to RC 3.07 prior to forfeiture of a public office where the officeholder has been convicted of a felony; the appeal of a felony conviction does not operate to negate the conviction.

39 Misc 145, 317 NE(2d) 422 (CP, Richland 1974), Harkins v Timmer. Action of board of elections in removing all precinct judges and clerks over seventy years of age was invalid.

37 Misc 3, 305 NE(2d) 820 (CP, Hamilton 1973), Mann v Hamilton County Bd of Elections. Courts would not order board of elections to realign precincts merely because precincts using voting machines were permitted to include more than 400 electors.

OAG 86-077. Full-time employees of a board of elections, as defined in RC 325.19(G)(1), are entitled to receive vacation leave benefits pursuant to the terms of RC 325.19(A). Part-time employees of a board of elections, as defined in RC 325.19(G)(2), are entitled to participate in any vacation leave benefits that may be provided by a board of county commissioners, by resolution, to part-time county employees under RC 325.19(B).

OAG 65-193; overruled by OAG 86-077. Employees of county boards of elections are state employees whose vacation rights are governed by RC 121.161.

1929 OAG 1341. The authority vested in the secretary of state by this section, to remove summarily any member of a board of elections, or the clerk, deputy clerk or any other employee of the board for cause as therein provided, does not include precinct officials as may be appointed and removed by boards of elections under GC 4785-13 (RC 3501.11).

3501.161 Filling vacancy of chairman or director; reselection of officers

The board may decide by the affirmative vote of at least three members to fill a vacancy in the office of chairman or director with a person belonging to the opposite political party from that to which the outgoing officer belonged. After such a vote, the vacancy shall be filled and all other officers shall be reselected in accordance with the procedures set forth in section 3501.09 of the Revised Code. An officer filling a vacancy and an officer who becomes or remains an officer after the reselection shall serve as an officer for the remainder of the term for which the outgoing officer was selected to serve as an officer. A reselection of officers under this section does not increase or decrease the length of any person's term as member of the board. The director and deputy director shall be of opposite political parties, and the chairman shall be selected from the members of the board of opposite politics from those of the director.

EXPENSES AND COSTS

3501.17 Expenses and apportionment of costs

The expenses of the board of elections shall be paid from the county treasury, in pursuance of appropriations by the board of county commissioners, in the same manner as other county expenses are paid. If the board of county commissioners fails to appropriate an amount sufficient to provide for the necessary and proper expenses of the board of elections, such board may apply to the court of common pleas within the county, which shall fix the amount necessary to be appropriated and such amount shall be appropriated. Payments shall be made upon vouchers of the board of elections certified to by its chairman or acting chairman and the director or deputy director, upon warrants of the county auditor. The board of elections shall not incur any obligation involving the expenditure of money unless there are moneys sufficient in the funds appropriated therefor to meet such obligations. Such expenses shall be apportioned among the county and the various subdivisions as provided in this section, and the amount chargeable to each subdivision shall be withheld by the auditor from the moneys payable thereto at the time of the next tax settlement. At the time of submitting budget estimates in each year, the board of elections shall submit to the taxing authority of each subdivision, upon the request of the subdivision, an estimate of the amount to be withheld therefrom during the next fiscal year.

The entire compensation of the members of the board of elections and of the director, deputy director, and other employees in the board's offices; the expenditures for the rental, furnishing, and equipping of the office of the board and for the necessary office supplies for the use of the board; the expenditures for the acquisition, repair, care, and custody of the polling places, booths, guardrails, and other equipment for polling places; the cost of pollbooks, tally sheets, maps, flags, ballot boxes, and all other permanent records and equipment; the cost of all elections held in and for the state and county; and all other expenses of the board which are not chargeable to a political subdivision in accordance with this section shall be paid in the same manner as other county expenses are paid.

The compensation of judges and clerks of elections; the cost of renting, moving, heating, and lighting polling places and of placing and removing ballot boxes and other fixtures and equipment thereof; the cost of printing and delivering ballots, cards of instructions, and other election supplies; and all other expenses of conducting primaries and elections in the odd-numbered years shall be charged to the subdivisions in and for which such primaries or elections are held. The charge for each primary or general election in odd-numbered years for each subdivision shall be determined in the following manner: first, the total cost of all chargeable items used in conducting such elections shall be ascertained; second, the total charge shall be divided by the number of precincts participating in such election, in order to fix the cost per precinct; third, the cost per precinct shall be prorated by the board of elections to the subdivisions conducting elections for the nomination or election of offices in such precinct; fourth, the total cost for each subdivision shall be determined by adding the charges prorated to it in each precinct within the subdivision.

The entire cost of special elections held on a day other than the day of a primary or general election, both in odd-numbered or in even-numbered years, shall be charged to the subdivision. Where a special election is held on the same day as a primary or general election in an even-numbered year, the subdivision submitting the special election shall be charged only for the cost of ballots and advertising. Where a special election is held on the same day as a primary or general election in an odd-numbered year, the subdivision submitting the special election shall be charged for the cost of ballots and advertising for such special election, in addition to the charges prorated to such subdivision for the election or nomination of candidates in each precinct within the subdivision, as set forth in the preceding paragraph. Where a special election is held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May for the purpose of submitting to the voters of the state constitutional amendments proposed by the general assembly, the state shall bear the entire cost of printing of ballots and advertising necessary to conduct the special election and shall reimburse the counties for all expenses incurred in opening precincts which are open for the sole purpose of conducting the special election. In precincts which are open for the conducting of any primary or other special election, the cost shall be borne as otherwise provided in this section.

Where a special election is held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May for the purpose of submitting to the voters of the state constitutional amendments proposed by the general assembly, and a subdivision conducts a special election on the same day, the entire cost of the special election shall be divided proportionally between the state and the subdivision based upon a ratio determined by the number of issues placed on the ballot by each. Such proportional division of cost shall be made only to the extent funds are available for such purpose from amounts appropriated by the general assembly to the secretary of state. If a primary election is also being conducted in the subdivision, the costs shall be apportioned as otherwise provided in this section.

The cost of renting, heating, and lighting registration places; the cost of the necessary books, forms, and supplies for the conduct of registration; and the cost of printing and posting precinct registration lists shall be charged to the subdivision in which such registration is held.

159 OS 114, 111 NE(2d) 255 (1953), State ex rel Ball v Scioto County Bd of County Commrs. The provision in this section that upon action by the common pleas court fixing the sum of money necessary for the expenses of permanent registration, such amount shall be appropriated, is mandatory.

159 OS 114, 111 NE(2d) 225 (1953), State ex rel Ball v Scioto County Bd of County Commrs. GC 4785-20 (RC 3501.17), provides in part: "The expenses of the board in each county shall be paid from the county treasury, in pursuance of appropriations by the county commissioners." "If the county commissioners fail to appropriate an amount sufficient to provide for the necessary and proper expenses of the board, the board may apply to the court of common pleas within the county, which shall fix the amount necessary to be appropriated and such amount shall be appropriated." This provision is mandatory.

119 App 363, 200 NE(2d) 668 (1963), State ex rel Rose v Ryan. The secretary of state and a county board of elections are required to conduct any municipal election which the laws authorize to be held.

No. CA87-11-017 (12th Dist Ct App, Brown, 5-2-88), State ex rel Ruggles v Howser. Where a board of county commissioners appropriates insufficient funds for a county elections board, the statutory remedy of review by a common pleas court provided in RC 3501.17 precludes the granting of mandamus.

OAG 91-042. When a special election for a tax levy for community mental retardation and developmental disabilities programs and services pursuant to RC Ch 5126 is held under RC 5705.19(L) on the primary election date in an odd-numbered year, the county is the "subdivision submitting the special election" for purposes of RC 3501.17. Accordingly, the board of county commissioners must pay costs relating to the special election as provided in RC 3501.17.

OAG 84-091. A board of county commissioners may not require a board of elections to use a standard form employment contract for the part-time employees of the board of elections.

OAG 83-089. Pursuant to RC 3501.17, the total cost of all chargeable items used in conducting an election for a municipal court judge must be apportioned among the political subdivisions within the territorial jurisdiction of the court in and for which such election is held.

OAG 78-064. Pursuant to RC 3501.17, a board of county commissioners is authorized to procure insurance to protect members of the board of elections from liability arising from the exercise of their official duties, but the determination of whether such insurance is a "necessary and proper" expense of the board of elections is within the sound discretion of the board of county commissioners.

OAG 77-091. A board of library trustees and a board of elections may enter into a contract whereby library personnel and facilities would be used to conduct voter registration and the library would be reimbursed by the board of elections for the actual costs incurred.

OAG 77-091. Public library funds may not be used for the purpose of voter registration, absent reimbursement by the board of elections to the library for the actual costs incurred.

OAG 71-012. The vocational school district is solely responsible for the costs of a special election called at their request and if they are unable to pay the board of elections with current operating funds, then such amount will be subsequently withheld by auditor from moneys payable in future.

OAG 70-048. Terms of RC 305.171 do not alter duty of boards of county commissioners, under RC 3501.17, to arrange for payment of costs of insurance programs which may be initiated by boards of elections pursuant to RC 3501.141.

OAG 69-158. A board of elections is not required to request a board of county commissioners for a transfer of funds within its appropriation from one class to another class of expenditures.

OAG 66-136. A university branch district created pursuant to RC Ch 3355. is not required to share the cost, as determined by RC 3501.17, of an election for a levy for said district held pursuant to RC 3355.09; such district is not a "subdivision" as used in RC 3501.01; since the costs of such an election, related to the university branch district, may not be apportioned to said district, such costs must be "paid in the same manner as other county expenses are paid," according to RC 3501.17, and must be borne by the county rather than by any of the subdivisions thereof.

OAG 65-112. Where current appropriations of the board of county commissioners do not anticipate the expenses of a special election, provision must be made therefor through the procedures established by RC 3501.17.

OAG 65-112. Where a municipality has fully complied with the provisions of O Const Art XVIII §9, with regard to a proposal for amending its charter, and provided that the limiting time provisions of §8 are applicable, it is mandatory for a board of elections to conduct a special election.

1958 OAG 3216. Where a proposal for change of territory of school districts is presented by the state board of education, the cost and expense of submission of such proposal to the electors is to be paid by the subdivisions voting at such election, and apportioned as provided in RC 3501.17 for general and primary elections.

1957 OAG 638. A county school district is not a subdivision within the meaning of RC 3501.17, and there is no authority under the provisions of that section for the county auditor to withhold, from any moneys payable to such district in an ensuing tax settlement, an amount designed to meet the expense of conducting an election in the odd-numbered years at which members of the county board of education are elected.

1957 OAG 24. The offices of county treasurer and member of a county board of elections are incompatible.

1945 OAG 137. When the board of education of a school district which includes territory within a municipal corporation and one or more townships, submits the question of an additional tax levy to the electors of the school district at a primary election held in an odd-numbered year in the municipality and townships, each subdivision should pay the cost of printing and delivering its own ballots, instruction cards and other election supplies, and the compensation of judges and clerks of election and other items of cost referred to in paragraph b of GC 4785-20 (RC 3501.17), should be apportioned on an equitable basis among the school district and the other political subdivisions.

1939 OAG 815. Costs incurred in an action to contest an election shall, if results of such election be set aside, or if ordered by court to be paid by county as other election expenses are paid, be paid from the county treasury, but if such election is only within and for a subdivision of county, amount of costs so paid from county treasury shall be withheld by county auditor from moneys payable to such subdivision at time of next tax settlement.

1935 OAG 4022. Revenue derived from the levies provided in and by GC 4605 and 4621 (RC 741.09 and 741.40) cannot be used for expenses incurred by the tax commission of Ohio under GC 5624-7 (RC 5715.36), expenses incurred by the board of elections under GC 4785-20 (RC 3501.17), and the state examination expenses under GC 288 (RC 117.16).

1932 OAG 4023. County commissioners do not have authority to arbitrarily change the amounts requested and submitted in the budget of the board of elections for the necessary and proper expenses of the board, and substitute their own arbitrary figures in lieu of the amounts requested.

1931 OAG 2846. The rent of a lot for the storage of voting houses and the cost of repair and general maintenance of such houses must, under this section, be paid by the county.

The entire compensation of the deputy clerk and other assistants and employees in the office of the board of elections must be paid by the county in the manner therein provided.

1929 OAG 1137. The election expenses mentioned in paragraph "b" are to be paid in the first instance by the county and charged back to the subdivision, and the same are not required to be paid directly by the subdivision against which such election expenses are charged.

1928 OAG 2489. The expenses incurred in renting a polling place for the use of the electors of a township at the April and August primaries must be paid from the county treasury. Such expense cannot be deducted by the county auditor in making his next settlement with such township.

1928 OAG 2056. The compensation of the assistants to the director of the count, employed by the board of state supervisors and inspectors of election of Hamilton county for the sole purpose of counting the ballots cast at the election for members of the council of the city of Cincinnati, should be charged against and paid solely by such city.

PRECINCTS AND POLLING PLACES ESTABLISHED

3501.18 Establishing precincts and polling places

The board of elections may divide a political subdivision, within its jurisdiction, into precincts and establish, define, divide, rearrange, and combine the several election precincts within its jurisdiction and change the location of the polling place for each precinct when it is necessary to maintain the requirements as to the number of voters in a precinct and to provide for the convenience of the voters and the proper conduct of elections, provided that no change in the number of precincts or in the boundaries thereof shall be made during the twenty-five days immediately preceding a primary or general election nor between the first day of January and the day on which the members of county central committees are elected in the years in which such committees are elected. Each precinct shall contain as nearly as practicable not more than four hundred nor less than two hundred fifty electors.

In an emergency the board may provide more than one polling place in a precinct. In order to provide for the convenience of the voters, the board may locate polling places for voting or registration outside the boundaries of precincts, provided that the nearest public school or public building shall be used if the board determines it to be available and suitable for use as a polling place. Except in an emergency, no change in the number or location of the polling places in a precinct shall be made during the twenty-five days immediately preceding a primary or general election.

OAG 67-013. When a municipality, whose boundaries are coterminous with those of a township, annexes territory in an adjoining county, and then petitions for a change in township lines in that adjoining county to conform to the municipal boundaries, the residents of the annexed portion of the adjoining county who otherwise qualify, remain electors of that county and become electors of the municipality who vote at municipal precinct polling places, but cease to be electors of the township from which the territory which included their residence was annexed, and are not electors for any township offices or issues.

1962 OAG 3295. The action of a municipality in realigning the wards of a city and the action of a board of elections in rearranging the boundaries of the precincts within the county are effective as determining the geographical boundaries of the precincts for the election of county central committeemen at the primary election held in the even-numbered year which next follows said rearrangement, but has no effect upon the county central committeemen who were duly elected to said positions prior to said boundary changes and does not cause a vacancy to arise in any precinct where, as a result of said boundary change, a county central committeeman does not reside within the boundaries of the new precinct so designated.

A state congressional apportionment plan that resulted in the largest district having population less than one per cent greater than population of smallest district is not per se evidence of good faith effort to achieve, as nearly as practicable, absolute population equality, which is appropriate standard for determining compliance with US Const Art I §2; showing that transfer of entire political subdivisions between contiguous districts would have produced districts closer to numerical equality satisfies plaintiffs' burden of showing that apportionment plan does not come as nearly as practicable to population equality; state's failure to show that plan's population disparities were necessary to achieve its purported goal of preserving voting strength of racial minority groups precludes finding that state met its burden of proving that deviations were necessary to achieve consistent, nondiscriminatory legislative policy. 3501.22 Precinct election officials; vacancies

On or before the fifteenth day of September in each year the board of elections by a majority vote shall, after careful examination and investigation as to their qualifications, appoint for each election precinct six competent electors, residents of the county in which the precinct is located, as judges. Such electors shall constitute the election officers of the precinct. Not more than three of the judges shall be members of the same political party. The term of such precinct officers shall be for one year. The board may, at any time, designate any number of election officers, equally divided between the major political parties, to perform their duties at any precinct in any election. The board may appoint additional officials, equally divided between the two major political parties, when necessary to expedite voting.

Vacancies for unexpired terms shall be filled by the board. When new precincts have been created, the board shall appoint judges for such precincts for the unexpired term. Any judge may be summarily removed from office at any time by the board for neglect of duty, malfeasance, or misconduct in office, or for any other good and sufficient reason.

3501.221 Interpreters for non-English speaking voters

(A) To encourage voting, a board of elections may appoint persons who are fluent in a non-English language to serve as interpreters to assist voters in certain election precincts. If the board determines that the number of non-English-speaking electors in a precinct indicates a need for an interpreter and provision of an interpreter is feasible and practical in terms of the number of such electors, the board may appoint an interpreter for such precinct in the same manner as other precinct election officials are appointed. A person appointed pursuant to this section may only provide to voters such assistance in the non-English language as may be provided by election officials to English speaking voters. All requirements relating to the qualifications of election officials apply to persons appointed under this section. Interpreters shall complete a program of instruction as provided in section 3501.27 of the Revised Code and shall be compensated in the manner and amount as provided by section 3501.28 of the Revised Code for other election officials. A person appointed pursuant to this section may also serve as a precinct election officer; such person shall be compensated as though he served only in the capacity of an election official, and he need not undergo a program of instruction a second time for the same election unless required by the board.

(B) No person appointed under division (A) of this section, while performing the duties of such office, shall:

(1) Wear any badge, sign, or other insignia or thing indicating a preference for any candidate or for any question submitted;

(2) Influence or attempt to influence any voter to vote for or against any candidate or issue submitted at such election.

Such precinct officials shall be well qualified for the performance of their duties and said precinct officials for any special election shall be selected from among those regularly appointed under section 3501.22 of the Revised Code, but the precinct officials for any party primary election shall be selected from among those regularly appointed under such section, provided that such officials shall be equally divided between the two major political parties.

3501.24 Receiving and counting officials; certificate of appointment

[1]A board of elections shall by resolution provide for the appointment of precinct election officials, designated as receiving and counting officials, at each primary or general election. Such officials shall be designated by the board from those officials appointed under section 3501.22 of the Revised Code. The board shall determine the number of receiving officials to be appointed in a precinct at each election; provided that the maximum number shall not exceed six judges, and provided that the maximum number

Receiving officials shall perform all of the duties provided by law for receiving the ballots and supplies, for opening and closing the polls, for casting of ballots during the time the polls are open, and such other duties as are provided by sections 3501.25 and 3501.26 of the Revised Code. Four judges shall be designated as counting officials and shall count and tally the votes cast, certify the result of the election in such precinct, and perform such other duties as are provided by law. Whenever the total number of candidates to be nominated or elected together with the number of issues to be voted upon exceeds forty, six judges may be designated as counting officials. To expedite the counting of votes the board may appoint additional officials, equally divided between the two major political parties.

A board may assign receiving officials to work in shifts, which shall last not more than ten hours each. Any receiving official assigned to work on a second or subsequent shift may perform the duties of a receiving official or of a counting official, or of both.

The board shall issue a certificate of appointment to each counting official, which certificate shall be presented to the presiding judge of the receiving officials at the time the polls are closed.

(B) Count the unused ballots without removing stubs.

(C) Count the soiled and defaced ballots.

(D) Insert the totals of divisions (A), (B), and (C) of this section on the report forms provided therefor in the poll books.

If the number of voted ballots exceeds the number of voters whose names appear upon the poll books, the presiding judge shall enter on the poll books an explanation of such discrepancy, and such explanation, if agreed to, shall be subscribed to by all of the judges. Any judge having a different explanation shall enter it in the poll books and subscribe to it.

3501.27 Qualifications of precinct election officials; program of instruction

(A) All judges of election shall be qualified electors who have completed a program of instruction pursuant to division (B) of this section. No person who has been convicted of a felony, or any violation of the election laws, or who is unable to read and write the English language readily, or who is a candidate for an office to be voted for by the voters of the precinct in which he is to serve shall serve as an election officer. A person when appointed as an election officer shall receive from the board of elections a certificate of appointment which may be revoked at any time by the board for good and sufficient reasons. Such certificate shall be in such form as the board prescribes and shall specify the precinct, ward, or district in and for which the person to whom it is issued is appointed to serve, the date of appointment, and the expiration of his term of service.

(B) Each board shall establish a program as prescribed by the secretary of state for the instruction of election officers in the rules, procedures, and law relating to elections. In each program, the board shall use training materials prepared by the secretary of state, and may use additional materials prepared by or on behalf of the board. The board may use the services of unpaid volunteers in conducting its program and may reimburse such volunteers for necessary and actual expenses incurred in participating in the program.

The board shall train each new election officer before the new officer participates in his first election in that capacity. The board shall instruct election officials who have been trained previously only when the board or secretary of state considers such instruction necessary, but the board shall reinstruct such persons, other than presiding judges, at least once in every three years and shall reinstruct presiding judges before the primary election in even-numbered years. The board shall schedule any program of instruction within sixty days prior to the election in which the officials to be trained will participate.

(C) The duties of a judge of an election in each polling place shall be performed only by an individual who has successfully completed the requirements of the program, unless such an individual is unavailable after reasonable efforts to obtain such services.

(D) The secretary of state shall establish a program for the instruction of members of boards of elections and employees of boards in the rules, procedures, and law relating to elections. Each member and employee shall complete the training program within six months after his original appointment or employment, and thereafter, each member and employee shall complete a training program to update their knowledge once every four years or more often as determined by the secretary of state.

(E) The secretary of state shall reimburse each county for the cost of programs established pursuant to division (B) of this section, once he has received an itemized statement of expenses for such instruction programs from the county. The itemized statement shall be in a form prescribed by the secretary of state.

POLLING PLACE EQUIPMENT AND SUPPLIES

3501.29 Polling places for precincts; timetable for compliance; voting at vehicle outside polling place; duties of secretary of state

(A) The board of elections shall provide for each precinct a polling place and provide adequate facilities at each polling place for conducting the election. The board shall provide a sufficient number of screened or curtained voting compartments to which electors may retire and conveniently mark their ballots, protected from the observation of others. Each voting compartment shall be provided at all times with black lead pencils, instructions how to vote, and other necessary conveniences for marking the ballot. The presiding judge shall ensure that the voting compartments at all times are adequately lighted and contain the necessary supplies. The board shall utilize, in so far as practicable, rooms in public schools and other public buildings for polling places. Upon application of the board of elections, the authority which has the control of any building or grounds supported by taxation under the laws of this state, shall make available the necessary space therein for the purpose of holding elections and adequate space for the storage of voting machines, without charge for the use thereof. A reasonable sum may be paid for necessary janitorial service. When polling places are established in private buildings, the board may pay a reasonable rental therefor, and also the cost of liability insurance covering the premises when used for election purposes, or the board may purchase a single liability policy covering the board and the owners of the premises when used for election purposes. When removable buildings are supplied by the board, they shall be constructed under the contract let to the lowest and best bidder, and the board shall observe all ordinances and regulations then in force as to safety. The board shall remove all such buildings from streets and other public places within thirty days after an election, unless another election is to be held within ninety days.

(B) The board shall assure that polling places are free of barriers that would impede ingress and egress of handicapped persons, that the entrances of polling places are level or are provided with a nonskid ramp of not over eight per cent gradient, and that doors are a minimum of thirty-two inches wide. Each county shall comply with these requirements according to the following timetable:

(1) At least fifty per cent of the polling places in each county shall be in compliance by November 1, 1980;

(2) At least seventy-five per cent of the polling places in each county shall be in compliance by November 1, 1981;

(3) All polling places in each county shall be in compliance by November 1, 1982, except those that are specifically exempted by the secretary of state upon certification by a board of elections that a good faith, but unsuccessful, effort has been made to modify, or change the location of, such polling places.

The secretary of state shall conduct a survey of all county boards of elections, to be completed by January 1, 1980, to determine the boards' problems and progress in fulfilling the requirements of this division.

(C) At any polling place that is not in compliance with the requirements of division (B) of this section or is exempted from compliance by the secretary of state, the board of elections shall permit any handicapped elector who travels to his polling place, but who is unable to enter the polling place, to vote, with the assistance of two polling place officials of major political parties, in the vehicle that conveyed him to the polling place, or to receive and cast his ballot at the door of the polling place.

(D) The secretary of state shall:

(1) Work with other state agencies to facilitate the distribution of information and technical assistance to boards of elections to meet the requirements of division (B) of this section;

(2) Work with organizations that represent or provide services to handicapped, disabled, or elderly citizens to effect a wide dissemination of information about the availability of absentee voting, voting in the voter's vehicle or at the door of the polling place, or other election services to handicapped, disabled, or elderly citizens.

(E) As used in this section, "handicapped" means having lost the use of one or both legs, one or both arms, or any combination thereof, or being blind or so severely disabled as to be unable to move about without the aid of crutches or a wheelchair.

RC 3501.29, 3507.06, and 3507.14 are in pari materia and must be construed together; it is the duty of a board of elections to determine the number of voting machines to be used in each precinct by applying the standard laid down in RC 3501.29, one voting machine for every 100 qualified electors, and on the basis of such ratio determine the number of machines necessary to accommodate the number of qualified electors in each precinct.

OAG 66-082. The provision of RC 3501.29 that a board of education must make available necessary space in a schoolhouse for use as a polling place without charge except for janitor service, prevails over the provision of RC 3313.77 which would authorize a board of education to charge a fee for the use of such building as a polling place.

1963 OAG 55. The authority under RC 3501.29 to pay "the cost of liability insurance covering the premises for the period such premises are used for election purposes" does not encompass purchase of liability insurance by a board of elections.

1958 OAG 2745. The duty of a board of elections under RC 3501.29 to provide a "polling place" for each precinct can be discharged by drawing a mobile voting booth on its own wheels to a particular place and keeping it in a single location during use as a polling place.

3501.30 Supplies for polling places

The board of elections shall provide for each polling place the necessary ballot boxes, official ballots, cards of instructions, registration forms, pollbooks, or poll lists, tally sheets, forms on which to make summary statements, pencils, paper, and all other supplies necessary for casting and counting the ballots and recording the results of the voting at such polling place. Such pollbooks or poll lists shall have certificates appropriately printed thereon for the signatures of all the precinct officials, by which they shall certify that, to the best of their knowledge and belief, said pollbooks or poll lists correctly show the names of all electors who voted in such polling place at the election indicated therein.

A large map of each appropriate precinct shall be included among the supplies to each polling place, which shall be displayed prominently to assist persons who desire to register or vote on election day. Each map shall show all streets within the precinct and contain identifying symbols of the precinct in bold print.

Such supplies shall also include a flag of the United States approximately two and one-half feet in length along the top, which shall be displayed outside the entrance to the polling place during the time it is open for voting. Two or more small flags of the United States approximately fifteen inches in length along the top shall be provided and shall be placed at a distance of one hundred feet from the polling place on the thoroughfares or walkways leading to the polling place, to mark the distance within which persons other than election officials, witnesses, challengers, police officers, and electors waiting to mark, marking, or casting their ballots shall not loiter, congregate, or engage in any kind of election campaigning. Where small flags cannot reasonably be placed one hundred feet from the polling place, the presiding election judge shall place the flags as near to one hundred feet from the entrance to the polling place as is physically possible. Police officers and all election officials shall see that this prohibition against loitering and congregating is enforced. When the period of time during which the polling place is open for voting expires, all of said flags shall be taken into the polling place, and shall be returned to the board together with all other election materials and supplies required to be delivered to such board.

A contract involving a cost in excess of ten thousand dollars for printing and furnishing the supplies, other than the official ballots, required in section 3501.30 of the Revised Code, shall not be let until the board of elections has caused notice to be published once in a newspaper of general circulation within the county or upon notice given by mail, addressed to the responsible suppliers within the state. The board of elections may require that each bid be accompanied by a bond, with at least two individual sureties, or a surety company, satisfactory to the board, in a sum double the amount of the bid, conditioned upon the faithful performance of the contract awarded and for the payment as damages by such bidder to the board of any excess of cost over the bid which it may be required to pay for such work by reason of the failure of the bidder to complete the contract. The contract shall be let to the lowest and best bidder.

3501.31 Delivery of supplies; challenge of electors; oath of officials

The board of elections shall mail to each precinct election official notice of the date, hours, and place of holding each election in his respective precinct at which it desires him to serve. Each of such officials shall notify the board immediately upon receipt of such notice of any inability to serve.

The board shall designate in each precinct one of the judges who is a member of the dominant party to serve as presiding judge. The board may provide that the presiding judge shall call at the office of the board at such time before the day of the election, not earlier than the third day before the day of the election, as the board designates to obtain the ballots, pollbooks, registration forms and lists, and other material to be used in his polling place on election day.

The board may also provide for the delivery of such materials to polling places in a municipal corporation by members of the police department of such municipal corporation; or the board may provide for the delivery of such materials to the presiding judge not earlier than the third day before the election, in any manner it finds to be advisable.

On Monday preceding each primary or general election the judges of election of each precinct may meet at the polling place in their precinct promptly at seven p.m. and remain in session until seven-thirty p.m. At such meeting any elector may appear and challenge the right of any person whose name appears on the registration list of such precinct to vote. "Challenged" shall be entered by the judges on such registration lists opposite the name of the person whose right to vote is so challenged; and if he offers to vote in such polling place at such election, the judges shall examine him under oath as to his qualifications as an elector in such precinct. If upon such examination a majority of the judges concur in overruling the challenge, the person may vote, but if a majority of the judges concur in sustaining the challenge, the person may not vote.

On election day the precinct election officials shall punctually attend the polling place one-half hour before the time fixed for opening the polls. Each of the precinct election officials shall thereupon make and subscribe to a statement which shall be as follows:

"State of Ohio

"County of_____

I do solemnly swear under the penalty of perjury that I will support the constitution of the United States of America and the constitution of the state of Ohio and its laws; that I have not been convicted of a felony or any violation of the election laws; that I will discharge to the best of my ability the duties of _____ (judge or clerk)_____ of election in and for precinct _____ in the_____ (township) or (ward and city or village)_____ in the county of _____, in the election to be held on the _____ day of _____, 19 __, as required by law and the rules and instructions of the board of elections of said county; and that I will endeavor to prevent fraud in such election, and will report immediately to said board any violations of the election laws which come to my attention, and will not disclose any information as to how any elector voted which is gained by me in the discharge of my official duties.

If any of the other precinct officials is absent at that time, the presiding judge, with the concurrence of a majority of the precinct election officials present, shall appoint a qualified elector who is a member of the same political party as the political party of which such absent precinct election official is a member to fill the vacancy until the board appoints a person to fill such vacancy and the person so appointed reports for duty at the polling place. The presiding judge shall promptly notify the board of such vacancy by telephone or otherwise. He also shall assign the precinct election officials to their respective duties and shall have general charge of the polling place.

3501.32 Opening and closing the polls; early closing of island polling places

(A) Except as otherwise provided in division (B) of this section, on the day of the election the polls shall be opened by proclamation by the presiding judge, or in his absence by a presiding judge chosen by the judges, at six-thirty a.m. and shall be closed by proclamation at seven-thirty p.m. unless there are voters waiting in line to cast their ballots, in which case the polls shall be kept open until such waiting voters have voted.

(B) On the day of the election, any polling place located on an island not connected to the mainland by a highway or a bridge may close earlier than seven-thirty p.m. if all registered voters in the precinct have voted. When a polling place closes under division (B) of this section the presiding judge shall immediately notify the board of elections of the closing.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

OAG 67-030. The primary election to be held on May 2, 1967, will be governed by public law 89-387, which provides between the last Sunday of April and the last Sunday of October of each year, standard time shall be advanced one hour and such time as so advanced shall be the standard time of such zone during such period.

OAG 67-030. Inasmuch as the election to be held on November 7, 1967, is not between the last Sunday of April and the last Sunday of October, the provisions of RC 1.04 will not be suspended, and the six-thirty a.m. time and six-thirty p.m. time as set forth in RC 3501.32 will therefore be the time as set by RC 1.04.

1927 OAG 1348. The statutory provision fixing the time for opening and closing the polls on election day is directory and not mandatory. A duly qualified elector who presents himself or herself at the polling place and who is within the polling place at the hour for closing the polls is entitled to vote even though the ballot should not be received by the voter at the hour of closing the polls.

3501.33 Authority of precinct officers

All judges of election shall enforce peace and good order in and about the place of registration or election. They shall especially keep the place of access of the electors to the polling place open and unobstructed and prevent and stop any improper practices or attempts tending to obstruct, intimidate, or interfere with any elector in registering or voting. They shall protect challengers and witnesses against molestation and violence in the performance of their duties, and may eject from the polling place any such challenger or witness for violation of any provision of Title XXXV of the Revised Code. They shall prevent riots, violence, tumult, or the disorder. In the discharge of these duties they may call upon the sheriff, police, or other peace officers to aid them in enforcing the law. They may order the arrest of any person violating such title, but such arrest shall not prevent such person from registering or voting if he is entitled to do so. The sheriff, all constables, police officers, and other officers of the peace shall immediately obey and aid in the enforcement of any lawful order made by the precinct election officials in the enforcement of such title.

The officer or authority having command of the police force of any municipal corporation or the sheriff of any county, on requisition of the board of elections or the secretary of state, shall promptly detail for service at the polling place in any precinct of such municipal corporation or county such force as the board or secretary of state considers necessary. On every day of election such officer or authority shall have a special force in readiness for any emergency and for assignment to duty in the precinct polling places. At least one policeman shall be assigned to duty in each precinct on each day of an election, when requested by the board or the secretary of state. Such police officer shall have access at all times to the polling place, and he shall promptly place under arrest any person found violating any provisions of Title XXXV of the Revised Code.

3501.35 No loitering near polls

During an election and the counting of the ballots, no person shall loiter or congregate within the area between the polling place and the small flags of the United States placed on the thoroughfares and walkways leading to the polling place; in any manner hinder or delay an elector in reaching or leaving the place fixed for casting his ballot; within such distance give, tender, or exhibit any ballot or ticket to any person other than his own ballot to the judge of election; exhibit any ticket or ballot which he intends to cast; or solicit or in any manner attempt to influence any elector in casting his vote. No person, not an election official, employee, witness, challenger, or police officer, shall be allowed to enter the polling place during the election, except for the purpose of voting. No more electors shall be allowed to approach the voting shelves at any time than there are voting shelves provided. 838 F(2d) 380 (9th Cir Wash 1988), Daily Herald Co v Munro. The public area within 300 feet of the entrance to a polling place is a "public forum" and a state law forbidding the systematic questioning of voters by broadcasters within that area is held to violate the "media's right to gather news" under the First Amendment, because the law is not "narrowly tailored" to advance the state interest in peace, order, decorum, and electoral integrity at the polls.

699 FSupp 241 (D Montana 1988), NBC v Colburg. A state law forbidding any person to ask another within 200 feet of a building where an election is held how he voted is a restriction based on content that is unconstitutional because not "narrowly tailored" to protect the public's right to vote or to preserve order and decorum at the polls; nor will a federal judge create a "25 foot zone" outside the polling place, since that is a matter for the state legislature that is beyond his power.

697 FSupp 1204 (ND Ga 1988), NBC v Cleland. A state law forbidding solicitation of votes, distribution of campaign literature, and questioning of electors about how they voted within 250 feet of any polling place or its exit, to maintain the sanctity and decorum of the polling place and encourage voting, is held not "narrowly tailored" to promote the state's compelling interest in maintaining these conditions and held to violate broadcasting corporations' First Amendment rights insofar as it forbids "exit polling" of voters beyond 25 feet from the exit of a building housing a polling place.

682 FSupp 1536 (MD Fla 1988), Florida Committee for Liability Reform v McMillan. A state law forbidding the soliciting of votes, opinions, and petition signatures within 150 feet of any polling place is too broad and is unconstitutional on its face.

681 FSupp 794 (SD Fla 1988), CBS Inc v Smith. A state law forbidding newspapers and broadcasters to solicit voters' opinions within 150 feet of a polling place is held to restrict the gathering of news in violation of the First Amendment.

3501.36 Fee and mileage to precinct official delivering or returning election supplies

Each precinct election official who before the day of an election in his precinct obtains ballots, pollbooks, or other materials to be used in his polling place on the day of such election and delivers such materials to his polling place on the day of such election as required by section 3501.31 of the Revised Code and the orders of the board of elections, and each precinct election official who delivers such materials and the returns and records of an election from the polling place to the office of the board after an election, as required by section 3505.31 of the Revised Code and the orders of the board, may receive, in addition to the compensation provided under section 3501.28 of the Revised Code, a sum not to exceed five dollars for each trip to the polling place and five dollars for each trip from the polling place to the office of the board, plus mileage for each trip at the rate provided by rules governing travel adopted by the office of budget and management in accordance with Chapter 119. of the Revised Code.

Such clerk or auditor shall have booths and equipment on hand and in place at the polling places in each precinct before the time for opening the polls on election days, and for this service the board may allow the necessary expenses incurred. CANDIDACY

3501.38 Declaration of candidacy, nominating petition, other petition requirements; election falsification

All declarations of candidacy, nominating petitions, or other petitions presented to or filed with the secretary of state or a board of elections or with any other public office for the purpose of becoming a candidate for any nomination or office or for the holding of an election on any issue shall, in addition to meeting the other specific requirements prescribed in the sections of the Revised Code relating thereto, be governed by the following rules:

(A) Only electors qualified to vote on the candidacy or issue which is the subject of the petition shall sign a petition. Each signer shall be a registered elector pursuant to section 3503.11 of the Revised Code. The facts of qualification shall be determined as of the date when the petition is filed.

(B) Signatures shall be affixed in ink. Each signer may also print his name, so as to clearly identify his signature.

(C) Each signer shall place on the petition after his name the date of signing and the location of his voting residence, including the street and number if in a municipal corporation or the rural route number, post office address, or township if outside a municipal corporation. The voting address given on the petition shall be the address appearing in the registration records at the board of elections.

(D) No person shall write any name other than his own on any petition. No person may authorize another to sign for him. Where a petition contains the signature of an elector two or more times, only the first such signature shall be counted.

(E) On each petition paper the circulator shall indicate the number of signatures contained thereon, and shall sign a statement made under penalty of election falsification that he witnessed the affixing of every signature, that all signers were to the best of his knowledge and belief qualified to sign, and that every signature is to the best of his knowledge and belief the signature of the person whose signature it purports to be.

(F) If a circulator knowingly permits an unqualified person to sign a petition paper or permits a person to write a name other than his own on a petition paper, that petition paper is invalid; otherwise the signature of a person not qualified to sign shall be rejected but shall not invalidate the other valid signatures on the paper.

(G) The circulator of a petition may, before filing it in a public office, strike from it any signature he does not wish to present as a part of his petition.

(H) Any signer of a petition may remove his signature therefrom at any time before the petition is filed in a public office by striking his name therefrom; no signature may be removed after the petition is filed in any public office.

(I) No alterations, corrections, or additions may be made to a petition after it is filed in a public office.

(J) All declarations of candidacy, nominating petitions, or other petitions under this section shall be accompanied by the following statement in boldface capital letters: THE PENALTY FOR ELECTION FALSIFICATION IS IMPRISONMENT FOR NOT MORE THAN SIX MONTHS, OR A FINE OF NOT MORE THAN ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS, OR BOTH.

(K) All separate petition papers shall be filed at the same time, as one instrument.

54 OS(2d) 416, 377 NE(2d) 507 (1978), State ex rel Ohio Natl Bank v Lancione. Referendum petitions in charter cities need not comply with RC 731.29 to 731.40.

2. Referendum petitions

40 OS(3d) 136, 532 NE(2d) 715 (1988), State ex rel Fairview Park School Dist Bd of Ed v Rocky River School Dist Bd of Ed. Signers of a territory transfer petition under RC 3311.24 may withdraw their signatures from the petition at any time before the local board of education officially acts on it.

70 OS(2d) 125, 435 NE(2d) 1110 (1982), State ex rel Griffin v Krumholtz. A referendum petition will be rejected where it does not contain the prescribed election falsification statement.

48 OS(2d) 173, 357 NE(2d) 1079 (1976), State ex rel Schultz v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Where a township zoning commission approved rezoning of three parcels of land and disapproved rezoning of a fourth, a referendum petition seeking to submit the resolution to the electors must fairly show both the approving and disapproving action of the commission.

40 OS(2d) 94, 320 NE(2d) 672 (1974), State ex rel Home Federal Savings & Loan Assn v Moser. A petition paper seeking a referendum on a zoning resolution under RC 303.12 is invalid where the circulator's affidavit fails to comply with the requirement of RC 3501.38(E) that the circulator "witnessed the affixing of every signature."

40 OS(2d) 94, 320 NE(2d) 672 (1974), State ex rel Home Federal Savings & Loan Assn v Moser. RC 3501.38 is applicable to all petitions for referendum filed pursuant to RC 303.12.

28 OS(2d) 1, 274 NE(2d) 459 (1971), State ex rel Dennis v Miller. Referendum petition which has been declared valid by board of elections is not rendered invalid by subsequent addition of another signature.

22 OS(2d) 197, 259 NE(2d) 501 (1970), Markus v Trumbull County Bd of Elections. Requirements of O Const Art II §1g do not apply to referendum zoning petition filed under RC 519.12.

22 OS(2d) 197, 259 NE(2d) 501 (1970), Markus v Trumbull County Bd of Elections. Text of ballot statement resulting from referendum petition must fairly and accurately present question or issue to be decided in order to assure free, intelligent and informed vote by average citizen affected.

18 OS(2d) 66, 247 NE(2d) 481 (1969), State ex rel Stillo v Gwin. RC 3501.38 applies to a referendum on a township zoning resolution, and the petitions therefor require circulators' affidavits.

59 App(2d) 175, 392 NE(2d) 1302 (1978), State ex rel Watkins v Quirk. A municipal clerk of council has no authority to invalidate signatures affixed to a referendum petition in violation of RC 3501.38(F).

50 App(2d) 1, 361 NE(2d) 477 (1976), State ex rel Schultz v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections; affirmed by 48 OS(2d) 173, 357 NE(2d) 1079 (1976). The requirements for referendum petitions under RC 519.12 are: (1) the petition must contain the number and a full and correct title of the zoning resolution; (2) the petition must contain the affidavit of the person soliciting signatures for the petition certifying that to the best of his or her knowledge and belief each of the signatures is that of the person whose name it purports to be, that he believes such persons are electors of the township, and that such persons signed the petition with knowledge of its contents; and (3) if the petition contains any additional information it must be of such a character as to promote the attempt to fairly and accurately present the question or issue and must not in any way detract from a free, intelligent and informed choice by the average citizen who is requested to make a decision as to whether he should or should not sign such a petition.

45 App(2d) 137, 341 NE(2d) 349 (1975), Northeast Franklin Co v Cooper. Where a referendum petition, circulated pursuant to RC 3501.38, contains language, prominently displayed, warning of criminal penalties, and the language substantially complies with the form set out in division (J) of the statute, such petition will not be declared invalid if no intentional misrepresentation is shown.

42 App(2d) 56, 327 NE(2d) 789 (1974), State ex rel Diversified Realty, Inc v Bd of Trustees, Perry Twp. RC 3501.38 is applicable to all referendum petitions filed pursuant to RC 519.12.

25 Misc 104, 266 NE(2d) 275 (CP, Clermont 1970), Sidwell v Clepper. Original petitions for referendum on township zoning act do not require appointment of a committee to serve on behalf of signers of petitions.

OAG 89-049. RC 305.31 confers no authority on a county auditor to determine the validity of referendum petition papers with respect to the requirements imposed by RC 3501.38(E); such determination must be made by the county board of elections.

OAG 65-1. A referendum petition circulated pursuant to RC 3311.231 is invalid if it does not bear the affidavit of the circulator or circulators as prescribed by RC 3501.38.

3. Petition errors

62 OS(3d) 170 (1991), State ex rel Fite v Saddler. A writ of prohibition to restrain a county board of elections from placing the name of a candidate for city solicitor on the ballot on the ground that the candidate did not make full payment of the nominating petition filing fee as required by the city's charter until the day after the last day for filing a nominating petition will be denied where under the city's charter it is evident that payment of the fee is merely to defray county expenses; therefore, it serves neither the public interest nor a public purpose to enforce literally the requirement to pay the fee at the time of filing a nominating petition when the result would be to stop a free, competitive election.

51 OS(3d) 87, 554 NE(2d) 895 (1990), State ex rel Clinard v Greene County Bd of Elections. Under RC 3501.38(I), petitions cannot be altered once filed.

51 OS(3d) 83, 554 NE(2d) 1288 (1990), State ex rel Green v Casey. By providing that "[n]o . . . corrections . . . may be made to a petition after it is filed in a public office," RC 3501.38(I) implies that some corrections are permitted beforehand.

51 OS(3d) 83, 554 NE(2d) 1288 (1990), State ex rel Green v Casey. The standard for reviewing technical defects in declarations of candidacy and petition papers is whether the defect could cause a signer to be deceived or misled; correcting an arithmetic error after a petition has been signed is such a technical defect and cannot deceive or mislead the signers.

51 OS(3d) 79, 554 NE(2d) 1284 (1990), State ex rel Beck v Casey. Alteration of the date on a declaration of candidacy before the candidate obtained signatures is not material.

63 OS(2d) 323, 410 NE(2d) 762 (1980), State ex rel Nagin v Celebrezze. RC 3513.257 does not require that petitions for an independent candidacy for president, vice-president or senator be filed "as one instrument."

48 OS(2d) 35, 356 NE(2d) 493 (1976), State ex rel Macko v Monzula. Affidavits of petition circulators that failed to state that to the best of circulator's knowledge and belief all signers were qualified to sign were insufficient and rendered petitions defective.

44 OS(2d) 33, 336 NE(2d) 849 (1975), State ex rel Barton v Butler County Bd of Elections. An initiative question may not be placed on the ballot where the petition therefor failed to include a statement of the circulator, made under penalty of election falsification, that he witnessed the affixing of every signature thereto.

24 OS(2d) 70, 263 NE(2d) 567 (1970), State ex rel Carson v Jones. Signing of another's name on election petition, with consent of such person and with knowledge and permission of circulator, invalidates whole part petition.

14 OS(2d) 175, 237 NE(2d) 313 (1968), Stern v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Where, after the board of elections has conducted a public hearing upon a protest, the undisputed facts are that (1) a valid declaration of candidacy has been properly filed, (2) a proper petition containing a valid affidavit of the circulator of each part-petition has been filed, (3) in the jurat following the circulator's affidavit on one part-petition the notary who administered the oath to the circulator inadvertently omitted his handwritten signature and imprinted seal, (4) such jurat is properly dated and bears the name of the notary who administered the oath, the title of his office, the date his notary commission will expire and the limits of his jurisdiction (such matters having been stamped upon jurat by the notary at the time he administered the oath to the circulator), a board of elections does not abuse its discretion when it rules that such part-petition is valid on the ground that there is substantial compliance with the form of the declaration of candidacy and petition.

12 OS(2d) 13, 231 NE(2d) 61 (1967), State ex rel Buchanon v Stillman. Where a board of elections has checked the signatures on petitions and determined that there are a sufficient number thereof that are valid, it may determine that such petitions are valid if the only protest against the petitions is based solely upon the failure of the circulator's affidavit to state "that all signers were to the best of his knowledge and belief qualified to sign."

12 OS(2d) 5, 230 NE(2d) 346 (1967), State ex rel Janasik v Sarosy. RC 3501.38, requiring the affidavit of a circulator of an initiative petition to contain a statement that the signers thereof "signed such petition with knowledge of the contents thereof," must be strictly complied with, and a failure to include such statement will invalidate the petition.

6 OS(2d) 65, 215 NE(2d) 716 (1966), State ex rel Ellis v Sulligan. Nominating petition for common pleas court judge was sufficient even though the name of the county was omitted from the declaration of candidacy.

6 OS(2d) 61, 215 NE(2d) 717 (1966), State ex rel White v Brown. A person other than the signer of a petition may, under the authorization and direction of the signer, write on the petition, after the signer's name, the date of the signing, and the mere fact standing alone, that the date of the signing was written by someone other than the signer will not support a reasonable inference that such date of signing was not written under the authorization and direction of the signer.

4 OS(2d) 1, 210 NE(2d) 881 (1965), State ex rel Weaver v Wiethe. A candidate for the Cincinnati city council whose petition has insufficient signatures may not withdraw the petition to obtain additional signatures or file supplemental petitions.

176 OS 105, 198 NE(2d) 76 (1964), State ex rel Van Aken v Duffy. A petition for candidate form which contains no space for the signature of the circulator of the petition and which was not in fact signed by the circulator is invalid, even though issued to him by a board of elections.

150 OS 289, 82 NE(2d) 92 (1948), State ex rel Braverman v Vitullo. Board of elections properly rejected petition papers of independent candidate, where such papers contained signatures of electors of more than one county on a single petition paper, and where certain signatures were accompanied by addresses not corresponding with the voting residences appearing on the registration cards filed with the boards of election, such signatures were properly rejected. (Annotation from former RC 3513.27.)

43 App(3d) 189, 541 NE(2d) 80 (Franklin 1988), Olen Corp v Franklin County Bd of Elections. For purposes of RC 3501.38(J), "bold face capital letters" connotes a deviation from normal so that the intensity of the darkness of the letters tends to make them stand out from normal letters.

13 App(3d) 355, 13 OBR 436, 469 NE(2d) 906 (Summit 1983), Ambrose v Cole. Where a petition for the election of a merger commission for the merger of the unincorporated territory of a township and a municipal corporation is filed with the board of elections, such board of elections has a clear legal duty to refuse to accept any annexation petitions for filing until exhaustion of the merger procedure pursuant to one of the conditions set out in RC 709.48.

12 App(3d) 158, 12 OBR 482, 467 NE(2d) 905 (Warren 1983), State ex rel Baldridge v South Lebanon Village Clerk. The circulator of an initiative petition who has signed an affidavit as required by RC 3501.38(E) should not be prosecuted for violations of RC 3501.38(F), nor should the petition be invalidated, unless knowing fraudulent action can be shown on the part of the circulator.

65 App(2d) 160, 416 NE(2d) 626 (1979), State ex rel Hirsch v Lorain County Bd of Elections. RC 731.31 and 3501.38 require that each part of an initiative petition circulated separately shall contain an affidavit of the person soliciting the signatures stating (1) the number who signed each part, (2) his belief that the signatures are the genuine signatures of the persons whose names they purport to be, and (3) his belief that the signers are qualified to sign. The required affidavit cannot be supplied after filing.

27 App(2d) 233, 273 NE(2d) 797 (1971), State ex rel Zahneis v Board of Elections. Circulator's failure to witness affixing of each signature to declaration of candidacy invalidates entire petition and not just signatures he did not personally witness.

21 App(2d) 241, 256 NE(2d) 716 (1969), State ex rel Jeffries v Ryan. Provisions of RC 3501.38(C) do not require specific or express authorization and direction by signer of a petition to place after his name the date of signing, and to complete location of his voting residence by addition, after house number and street, of name of post office address; but authority to accurately fill in such information is inferred merely from act of signing, in absence of evidence that such was done contrary to directions, express or implied, of signer, and to extent that they would be capable of an interpretation that they would require an express or specific authorization by signer to someone else to place such information on petition, are merely directory, and not mandatory, and cannot serve as basis for invalidation of petition which contains required information at time it was filed, even if filled in without specific or express authorization of signer.

4 App(2d) 183, 211 NE(2d) 854 (1965), State ex rel Donofrio v Henderson. RC 3501.38(C) has been complied with when the signer of a nominating petition has personally signed his own name in the presence of the circulator, and the circulator or some other person under the authority and direction of the signer has written in all other information therein required, or when a signer of a nominating petition, or some other person under his authority and direction, uses ditto marks to indicate either the date of the signing or the location of his voting address.

No. 12860 (9th Dist Ct App, Summit, 11-26-86), Macedonia v Summit County Bd of Elections. Where an initiative petition for a proposed ordinance contains a false and misleading statement, the city has standing to enjoin its placement on the ballot and a showing of actual detrimental reliance on the language contained in the petition is unnecessary.

No. C85-7856 (ND, Ohio, 9-19-85), Foster v Lucas County Bd of Elections. Although the signer of a nominating petition is allowed to direct another person to write the date and the signer's residence on the petition under the Ohio rule of State ex rel Patton v Myers, 127 OS 95, 186 NE 872 (1933), the correct information must be written down before the petition is filed or the signature is invalid.

OAG 89-049. When a circulator fails to indicate the number of signatures contained on a petition paper as required by RC 3501.38(E), such petition paper is invalid.

OAG 68-074. A petition of transfer circulated pursuant to RC 3311.231 is invalid if it does not bear the affidavit of the circulator or circulators.

1964 OAG 904. A petition for transfer filed by electors pursuant to RC 3311.231 takes precedence over a later resolution filed by a county board of education under authority of RC 3311.26.

3501.39 Unacceptable petitions

The secretary of state or a board of elections shall accept any petition described in section 3501.38 of the Revised Code unless one of the following occurs:

(A) A written protest against the petition or candidacy, naming specific objections, is filed, a hearing is held, and a determination is made by the election officials with whom the protest is filed that the petition is invalid, in accordance with any section of the Revised Code providing a protest procedure.

(B) A written protest against the petition or candidacy, naming specific objections, is filed, a hearing is held, and a determination is made by the election officials with whom the protest is filed that the petition violates any requirement established by law.

(C) The candidate's candidacy or the petition violates the requirements of this chapter, Chapter 3513. of the Revised Code, or any other requirements established by law.

QUALIFICATIONS

3503.01 Age and residence; registration for thirty days; assignment of electors to adjoining precinct

Every citizen of the United States who is of the age of eighteen years or over and who has been a resident of the state thirty days next preceding the election at which he offers to vote, is a resident of the county and precinct in which he offers to vote, and has been registered to vote for thirty days, has the qualifications of an elector and may vote at all elections in the precinct in which he resides.

When only a portion of a precinct is included within the boundaries of a school district, the board of elections may assign the electors residing in such portion of a precinct to the nearest precinct or portion of a precinct within the boundaries of such school district for the purpose of voting at any special school election held in such school district. In any election in which only a part of the electors in a precinct is qualified to vote, the board may assign voters in such part to an adjoining precinct. Such assignment may be made to an adjoining precinct in another county with the consent and approval of the board of elections of such other county.

The board shall notify all such electors so assigned, at least ten days prior to the holding of any such election, of the location of the polling place where they are entitled to vote at such election.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

28 Clev St L Rev 449 (1979). Ohio Residency Law for Student Voters—Its Implications and a Proposal for More Effective Implementation of Residency Statutes, Jonathan D. Reiff.

36 OS(2d) 17, 303 NE(2d) 77 (1973), Kyser v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. A post office box number cannot be used to fulfill the requirement of "residence" in RC 3503.01 by a person attempting to register to vote.

171 OS 295, 170 NE(2d) 428 (1960), State ex rel Jeffers v Sowers. Vacancy on the ballot caused by death of a duly nominated candidate for the office of county engineer may be filled by the selection of a person who is a registered professional engineer and a registered surveyor licensed to practice in this state, and who is a resident and elector of this state, but it is not necessary for him to be a resident and elector of the county in which he is selected.

155 OS 99, 97 NE(2d) 671 (1951), State ex rel Ehring v Bliss. Under the provisions of amended statute, any qualified elector who in good faith removes from one precinct to another precinct in the same county at any time subsequent to the fortieth day preceding an election shall have the right to vote at such election in the precinct from which he moved wherein his voting residence had been legally established. (See also State ex rel Woods v Eyrich, 157 OS 326, 105 NE(2d) 393 (1952).)

155 OS 99, 97 NE(2d) 671 (1951), State ex rel Ehring v Bliss. An elector's petition and declaration of candidacy for the office of councilman at large are not invalid by reason of the fact that within forty days preceding the filing thereof the elector has in good faith removed from one precinct to another in the same ward of the municipality without changing his registration at the county board of election.

135 OS 369, 21 NE(2d) 108 (1939), Jolly v Deeds. Family which was evicted from home occupied in village and moved to a farm where they lived for over two years during which time they continued to vote in the village, contrary to law, do not satisfy resident requirements under statute to allow them to vote in precinct of village by leaving the farm and moving back to village nearly a week before an election.

96 OS 172, 117 NE 173 (1917), State ex rel Taylor v French. The qualifications of electors set forth in O Const Art V, §1 control in all elections held to fill offices the constitution has itself provided for and in all elections upon questions submitted to a vote pursuant to provisions of the constitution; these qualifications can be altered only by amending the constitution.

33 App(2d) 52, 291 NE(2d) 775 (1972), Kyser v Board of Elections; reversed by 36 OS(2d) 17, 303 NE(2d) 77 (1973). Once a person acquires the status of an elector in a given precinct, that status is lost only if the person (1) becomes an elector in another precinct in the same county or another county of the state by establishing a permanent residence in that precinct thirty days next preceding an election; or (2) removes to another state with the intention of making such state his residence; or (3) removes to another state with the intention of remaining there an indefinite time and making such state his place of residence, notwithstanding the fact that he may entertain an intention to return at some future period; or (4) goes into another state and while there exercises the right of a citizen by voting.

16 App(2d) 140, 242 NE(2d) 672 (1968), State ex rel May v Jones. RC 3503.05 cannot disfranchise a student or wife of a student who satisfies the qualifications of O Const Art V §1, 4 and 6, and RC 3503.01; otherwise it would be unconstitutional in its application to such cases.

16 App(2d) 140, 242 NE(2d) 672 (1968), State ex rel May v Jones. The factual decision of a board of elections as to the residence of a person seeking to become a voter is subject to judicial review, when such factual decision is arbitrary, unreasonable or constitutes an abuse of discretion.

OAG 75-067. A candidate seeking the office of municipal court judge must, pursuant to O Const Art XV §4, and RC 3503.01, be a resident of this state, of the involved county and of the involved precinct for thirty days immediately preceding the election.

1962 OAG 3383. Where a "Mary Jones" signs a petition "Mrs. John Jones," said Mary Jones also being known as Mrs. John Jones by reason of marriage, the signature is valid if the person in question meets the qualifications of an elector, and there is no fraud.

1962 OAG 3383. Every person who has the qualifications of an elector under the provisions of O Const Art V §1, and RC 3503.01, is a qualified elector within the purview of O Const Art X §4, and such person is eligible to sign a county charter commission petition under said §4, and RC 3503.06, requiring that in registration precincts only registered electors may sign certain petitions, does not apply to the signers of such a petition.

1960 OAG 1187. A member of the military service who is stationed at a military base within this state but who lives off the premises of such base is not prohibited by O Const Art V §5 from being considered a resident of this state for voting purposes if he otherwise meets the requirements of RC 3503.01.

1959 OAG 893. In an election pursuant to RC 3311.26 for the creation of a new local school district, where parts of the school districts involved are located in different counties, a separate certification of the proposal should be made by the county board of education to the board of elections in each county involved, and all electors residing in the area included in the proposed new districts are eligible to vote at such election.

1953 OAG 3183. RC 3503.02 does not authorize a move for temporary purposes within a county.

1944 OAG 6635. A declaration of candidacy for office of county engineer and an accompanying petition presented by or on behalf of person in army of United States may not legally be rejected for filing merely because an order of secretary of war prohibits a person in army of United States from becoming candidate for public office.

3503.02 Rules for determining residence

All registrars and judges of elections, in determining the residence of a person offering to register or vote, shall be governed by the following rules:

(A) That place shall be considered the residence of a person in which his habitation is fixed and to which, whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning.

(B) A person shall not be considered to have lost his residence who leaves his home and goes into another state or county of this state, for temporary purposes only, with the intention of returning.

(C) A person shall not be considered to have gained a residence in any county of this state into which he comes for temporary purposes only, without the intention of making such county his permanent place of abode.

(D) The place where the family of a married man or woman resides shall be considered to be his or her place of residence; except that when the husband and wife have separated and live apart, the place where he or she resides the length of time required to entitle a person to vote shall be considered to be his or her place of residence.

(E) If a person removes to another state with the intention of making such state his residence, he shall be considered to have lost his residence in this state.

(F) If a person removes to another state with the intention of remaining there an indefinite time and making such state his place of residence, he shall be considered to have lost his residence in this state, notwithstanding the fact that he may entertain an intention to return at some future period.

(G) If a person removes out of the county to engage in the services of the United States government, he shall not be considered to have lost his residence in this state during the period of such service, and likewise should he enter the employment of the state, the place where such person resided at the time of his removal shall be considered to be his place of residence.

(H) If a person goes into another state and while there exercises the right of a citizen by voting, he shall be considered to have lost his residence in this state.

1. Constitutional issues

332 FSupp 1195 (SD Ohio 1971), Anderson v Brown. The statutes applying residence as a test to most voters and residence plus the establishment of a home for permanent residence for students violate the Equal Protection Clause and are unconstitutional.

2. Temporary removal; government employee

161 OS 341, 119 NE(2d) 279 (1954), State ex rel Lakes v Young. Temporary removal of a voter and his family from a township did not constitute a change or abandonment of voting residence.

1953 OAG 3183. RC 3503.02 does not authorize a move for temporary purposes within a county.

1939 OAG 1370. If a person retires from the government service or from the employ of the state and after such retirement remains away from the place from which he removed to enter such service, he must be permitted to vote at the place from which he removed for a period of three years, provided it is his intention to return thereto; however, if absent therefrom for a period in excess of three years, he will have lost his right to vote at the place from which he removed.

1939 OAG 1370. A person who has removed to the District of Columbia or other federal territory, to engage in the government service, or has removed to enter the employment of the state, must, while in such service or employment, be permitted to vote at the place where he resided at the time of such removal, regardless of the length of time such person remains away.

1939 OAG 878. Person who removes from his voting residence for temporary purposes, with intention of returning, and remains away for a continuous period in excess of three years, shall, under provisions of statute, be considered to have lost such residence, unless during such absence he was engaged in service of federal or state government.

3. Residency or domicile

20 OS(3d) 1, 20 OBR 75, 484 NE(2d) 690 (1985) State ex rel Nichols v Vinton County Bd of Elections. Evidence that a person has placed his house for sale, rented it to tenants, moved his furniture from it to a new address, and enrolled his child in the public school system at the new address is sufficient evidence to support a determination by a county board of elections that the person has changed his residence.

7 OS(3d) 20, 7 OBR 487, 455 NE(2d) 1009 (1983), State ex rel Spangler v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Where candidate's wife and minor children lived in one city and candidate owned home and resided with adult son in second city part of the time but was not separated from wife and had no intention of moving to second city, candidate was not a resident of second city.

36 OS(2d) 17, 303 NE(2d) 77 (1973), Kyser v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. A post office box number cannot be used to fulfill the requirement of "residence" in RC 3503.01 by a person attempting to register to vote.

157 OS 338, 105 NE(2d) 399 (1952), State ex rel Klink v Eyrich. A finding of the board of elections regarding the voting residence of a candidate will not be disturbed by a court unless the evidence before the board was such as to require as a matter of law a determination that the candidate's voting residence was not as stated in his declaration of candidacy. In other words, if there was substantial evidence to sustain that decision, the decision of the board must be sustained. In such an instance where there is no claim of any fraud or corruption on the part of the board, this court cannot say that the board abused its discretion.

157 OS 338, 105 NE(2d) 399 (1952), State ex rel Klink v Eyrich. A man may have more than one residence although he can have only one domicile.

135 OS 369, 21 NE(2d) 108 (1939), Jolly v Deeds. Voter who for eleven months before an election lived with her husband and children in township outside village and who gave as her reason for voting in the village that she and her family wanted to move back into the village at some future time, resided in the township, which was the place to which, whenever any member of her family was absent, he intended to return, and was mistaken in voting in the village since her husband stated that at both the primary and general elections in year 1938 he voted in the township instead of the village and he testified also that the family would move wherever he could find work.

33 App(2d) 52, 291 NE(2d) 775 (1972), Kyser v Board of Elections; reversed by 36 OS(2d) 17, 303 NE(2d) 77 (1973). Once a person acquires the status of an elector in a given precinct, that status is lost only if the person (1) becomes an elector in another precinct in the same county or another county of the state by establishing a permanent residence in that precinct thirty days next preceding an election; or (2) removes to another state with the intention of making such state his residence; or (3) removes to another state with the intention of remaining there an indefinite time and making such state his place of residence, notwithstanding the fact that he may entertain an intention to return at some future period; or (4) goes into another state and while there exercises the right of a citizen by voting.

16 App(2d) 140, 242 NE(2d) 672 (1968), State ex rel May v Jones. The factual decision of a board of elections as to the residence of a person seeking to become a voter is subject to judicial review, when such factual decision is arbitrary, unreasonable or constitutes an abuse of discretion.

1 Misc 70, 205 NE(2d) 599 (CP, Franklin 1964), State ex rel Metzger v Brown. Where a member of a county executive committee moved out of the county, the committee was justified in naming a successor.

37 F(2d) 818 (DC Cir 1930), Deming v United States ex rel Ward. An applicant for the U.S. civil service examination was declared a resident of Ohio even though as a minor he had moved with his father, who was a federal employee, to Washington, D.C. and had since lived there.

1962 OAG 3108. A person who has moved out of a county to enter employment with the state and has retained his residence for voting purposes is an elector and resident of such precinct and may be appointed a county central committeeman and chairman of the county executive committee of his party in that county.

1962 OAG 2920. A person who lived in a certain place in a county for one year with the intention of making that place his home, and died in that place, was a legal resident of such place within the purview of RC 5113.15 even though at the time of death he may have been receiving poor relief from another county; and such person should have been buried in accordance with the provisions of division (A) of that section.

1962 OAG 2920. The terms "legal resident" and "legal residence" as used in RC 5113.15 are not synonymous with the term "legal settlement" as defined in RC 5113.05.

1950 OAG 1499. Resident qualifications of an elector are a matter of fact and should be determined in accordance with statute.

1943 OAG 6087. Person living in trailer who is possessed of residence qualifications contained in GC 4785-30 (RC 3503.01), may register and vote in precinct in which such trailer is located if his habitation is fixed in such precinct and if it is his intention to return thereto when he is absent therefrom.

1940 OAG 2341. Offer by a world war veteran enrolled in a civilian conservation corps camp to sign an affidavit to the effect that he has no permanent residence other than such camp does not in and of itself fix his permanent residence for voting purposes at the camp.

4. Effect of statutes

157 OS 338, 105 NE(2d) 399 (1952), State ex rel Klink v Eyrich. The mere fact that the ordinary meaning of the provisions of the applicable statutes may give a particular individual a choice of more than one place as his voting residence is no reason for determining that those statutes should be so construed as not to permit that.

1940 OAG 2341. When determining residence under the election laws the intent in regard thereto of a person offering to register or vote must be considered in the light of and supported by surrounding circumstances.

5. Separated spouses

84 App 279, 87 NE(2d) 374 (1948), Cox v Union City. The phrase, "separated and live apart" as used in statute must be given a broad, practical interpretation in order to effectuate the purpose of the law.

84 App 279, 87 NE(2d) 374 (1948), Cox v Union City. Under the provisions of statute where the husband actually lives separate and apart from his wife, although such separation is not due to marital difficulties, the husband may acquire at the place of such actual dwelling a residence for voting purposes.

1954 OAG 3482. A married woman separated from her husband in another state who has resided in a certain county of Ohio for one year without having received poor relief or relief from a private agency which maintains records of relief given, said husband not having during such year received public relief, care or support at the expense of the state of his residence or its subdivisions, has acquired a legal settlement in the county where she has so maintained her residence and if she has had the actual custody of her minor children, and has been their sole support and no order of any court has been made in regard to their custody, the legal settlement of such children for the purpose of poor relief will follow that of the mother.

16 App(2d) 140, 242 NE(2d) 672 (1968), State ex rel May v Jones. RC 3503.05 cannot disfranchise a student or wife of a student who satisfies the qualifications of O Const Art V §1, 4 and 6, and RC 3503.01; otherwise it would be unconstitutional in its application to such cases.

16 App(2d) 140, 242 NE(2d) 672 (1968), State ex rel May v Jones. A college student has a right to vote at his college residence when his actions and conduct in the school town manifest an intent to make that place his home.

90 Abs 257, 185 NE(2d) 809 (CP, Putnam 1962), In re Sugar Creek Local School Dist. If a student is forced out by illness, and, although he changed institutions, he resumed his student status at the earliest possible moment, and during the interim has not acquired a new residence, he retains his original voting residence.

1960 OAG 1187. A member of the military service who is stationed at a military base within this state but who lives off the premises of such base is not prohibited by O Const Art V §5, from being considered a resident of this state for voting purposes if he otherwise meets the requirements of RC 3503.01.

Infirm or disabled soldiers who are inmates of a national home for such soldiers, who are citizens of the United States and have resided in this state thirty days next preceding any election, and who are otherwise qualified as to age and residence within the county and township shall have their lawful residence in the county and township in which such home is located.

1. Constitutional issues

132 OS 18, 4 NE(2d) 397 (1936), State ex rel Hawke v Myers. Former GC 4785-34 and 4785-60 (RC 3503.06 and 3503.32) do not provide an unreasonable classification of cities and the statutes are of uniform operation in those portions of the state to which they apply.

132 OS 18, 4 NE(2d) 397 (1936), State ex rel Hawke v Myers. That portion of statute, which denies nonregistered electors the right to sign nominating petitions, is constitutional.

124 OS 161, 177 NE(2d) 214 (1931), State ex rel Waltz v Michell. O Const Art V §1, defines an elector and enumerates the essential qualifications of an elector. If statute were held to apply to the qualification of electors with reference to their right to sign petitions prior to the time when an opportunity is afforded thereunder to register, it would result in depriving the citizen of a right accorded him by the Constitution. Therefore, maintenance of the constitutional validity of the statute requires the holding that it has no application to the signers of such petitions within the period from January 1, 1930, to October 2, 1930.

2. In general

51 OS(2d) 149, 365 NE(2d) 876 (1977), State ex rel Riffe v Brown. 1977 S 125, § 1, 2, 3, 4, eff. 5-27-77, took immediate effect because the law contained an appropriation item.

38 App(3d) 43, 526 NE(2d) 110 (Summit 1987), State ex rel Moore v Summit County Bd of Elections. Only a registered elector may sign a nominating petition pursuant to RC 3503.06.

114 App 497, 177 NE(2d) 616 (1961), State ex rel Krupa v Green. Where a woman arranges by antenuptial written contract to retain her maiden name and so notifies the board of elections which notes on her registration card that she "is married" and "will retain her single name," and where, after her marriage, she uses only her single name in all her activities, is known only by such name, and votes thereunder in three elections, a declaration of candidacy and nominating petition filed by such woman under and using her single name is not for such reason invalid.

1962 OAG 3383. Every person who has the qualifications of an elector under the provisions of O Const Art V §1, and RC 3503.01 is a qualified elector within the purview of O Const Art X §4, and such person is eligible to sign a county charter commission petition under said §4, and RC 3503.06, requiring that in registration precincts only registered electors may sign certain petitions, does not apply to the signers of such a petition.

1960 OAG 1696. When a registration of voters is established in an area pursuant to RC 3503.06, the first general registration of all qualified electors in precincts which become registration precincts should be held in accordance with RC 3503.08, and residents of such precincts may not register at the office of the board of elections until such first general registration has been held.

1959 OAG 767. Distribution of copies of a proposed county charter or an amendment thereto to each elector of a registration precinct who registered for the last general election and to each elector of a nonregistration precinct who signed the poll book in the last general election is a compliance with O Const Art X §4, but mailing a copy to the occupant of each of a list of house numbers obtained from a direct mail organization or publication in a newspaper is not.

1955 OAG 6014. A municipality with less than 16,000 population which has become a registration municipal corporation by ordinance may repeal such ordinance, and such action will be effective upon publication and a lapse of thirty days.

1955 OAG 5199. A member of a board of elections may not receive a salary increase based on the population of the registration precincts where the registration requirement is established by discretionary action of the board.

1951 OAG 973. The statutes relative to registration of electors make no provision for publishing notice of the time or place of registration, and in the absence of such provision any expense incurred for such publication is unauthorized and illegal.

1932 OAG 4272. A signature to a petition of an elector residing in a registration municipality or precinct who is not registered is violative of this section and GC 4785-177 (RC 3519.10), and is therefore invalid.

1930 OAG 1993. Under statute, there is no requirement that provision be made for registration of all qualified electors of a city having a population of less than 16,000, and more than 11,800. Such city may, however, by ordinance elect to become a registration city.

1930 OAG 1872. Under the existing statutes, there is no provision of law to authorize an elector to register by mail.

3503.07 Qualifications to register

Each person who will be of the age of eighteen years or more at the next ensuing November election, who is a citizen of the United States, and who, if he continues to reside in the precinct until the next election, will at that time have fulfilled all the requirements as to length of residence to qualify him as an elector shall, unless otherwise disqualified, be entitled to be registered as an elector in such precinct. When once registered, an elector shall not be required to register again unless his registration is canceled.

3503.10 Voter registration in high schools and vocational schools; procedures; option of board of education to reject program; requirement of registration by students prohibited

(A) As used in this section, "volunteer registrar" means an individual designated by a board of education to perform the duties prescribed by this section and who shall receive no additional compensation for performing such duties.

Every board of education shall provide in each of its high schools and vocational schools a volunteer registrar to assist in the registration of persons qualified to register to vote in the county in which the school is located, in accordance with this chapter. The board of education shall establish a schedule of school days and hours during these days when the volunteer registrar shall provide registration assistance. The board of education shall select the volunteer registrar from the high school's or vocational school's staff members who are required to have a certificate of the type described by any of divisions (D) to (O) of section 3319.22 of the Revised Code and the clerical staff supervised by such certificated staff members. Each volunteer registrar designated pursuant to this section shall be qualified to vote, and shall, prior to performing any duties under this section, sign a statement, as prescribed by the secretary of state, specifying the duties imposed on such a person relating to the registration of voters. The volunteer registrar shall retain a copy of the statement, and the original shall be filed with the board of elections. The board of education shall provide the volunteer registrar, and make available such space as may be necessary, without charge to the county.

The board of elections in each county shall supply each volunteer registrar with whatever training it considers necessary and with a sufficient number of blank registration forms. The registration forms shall be in the form prescribed in section 3503.14 of the Revised Code, and shall be perforated so that a portion may be retained by the applicant as a voter registration application receipt. The volunteer registrar shall be responsible for the return of all completed registration forms to the board of elections by mail, in person, or by other means prescribed by the board of elections.

The secretary of state shall prepare and cause to be displayed in a prominent location in each high school and vocational school a notice that identifies the volunteer registrar, the nature of the volunteer registrar's duties, and where and when the volunteer registrar is available for assisting in the registration of voters.

A board of education may furnish additional supplies and services to disseminate information to increase student and public awareness of the existence of a volunteer registrar in every high school and vocational school operated by a board of education.

This division does not apply to a board of education that adopts a resolution specifically stating that the school district does not desire to provide volunteer registrars for the purpose of registering voters in the secondary and vocational schools of the district.

(B) No board of education or employee or officer of a board of education shall require any pupil of the district to register to vote as a condition of receiving a particular grade in or credit for a school course or class, participating in any curricular or extracurricular activity, receiving any benefit or privilege, or participating in any program or activity otherwise available to pupils enrolled in the district's schools.

This section does not limit any authority a board of education, superintendent, or principal has to allow, sponsor, or promote voluntary election registration programs within a high school or vocational school, including programs in which pupils serve as volunteer registrars, provided that no pupil is required to participate.

3503.11 Registration at offices; distribution of forms; registration by mail; deputy registrars of motor vehicles; change of residence or name

(A) Persons qualified to register or to change their registration may register or change their registration at the office of the board of elections or at any permanent or temporary branch registration office established by the board, at any time such office is open except that no registration or change in registration shall be made at any temporary branch registration office after nine p.m. of the twenty-ninth day preceding a primary or general election. Any registration or change in registration made at the office of the board of elections or at a permanent registration office later than the thirtieth day preceding a special, primary, or general election, or at a temporary branch registration office later than the thirtieth day preceding a special election or later than the twenty-ninth day preceding a primary or general election, shall be invalid for that election, but shall be valid for any subsequent election for which the registrant qualifies as an elector.

(B)(1) Any person qualified to register may apply, by mail, by telephone, in person, or through another person, for registration forms to the office of the board of elections of the county in which he resides. Any qualified elector who completes the registration forms under division (B)(1), (2), (3), or (4) of this section may return the forms to the board by mail, in person, or through another person.

(2) Every board of elections shall, upon request, supply registration forms to any person who resides in the county and is qualified to vote. Such person may distribute the registration forms and provide assistance in registration to any other person who resides in the county served by the board from which the forms were received and is qualified to register. Any person who serves as a voter registrar under this paragraph shall, prior to any such distribution or provision of assistance, sign a statement, as prescribed by the secretary of state, specifying the duties imposed on such person by the law relating to the registration of voters and the penalty for the failure to comply with the law. The board may provide by rule for a reasonable fee, not to exceed the cost of printing, for registration forms supplied to any person under this division in a quantity exceeding fifteen.

(3) The board of elections may designate any county office or school governed by a county, city, exempted village, or local board of education to distribute registration forms. Upon its designation, the office or school shall, during its regular office hours and upon request, supply registration forms to any person who resides in the county and who is qualified to register.

(4)(a) The secretary of state and not more than three of his employees designated by him may provide registration forms to any person who resides in this state and is qualified to register as an elector, and may register any such person.

(b) No more than twenty-two persons who are employed by the secretary of state as field staff representatives may provide registration forms to persons who reside in this state and are qualified to register as electors, and may register any such persons. Any such field staff representative may provide such forms and register such qualified persons only within the counties contained in whole or in part in that field staff representative's assigned area of the state, as designated by the secretary of state.

(c) Any member of the general assembly may provide registration forms to any person who resides in this state and is qualified to register as an elector, and may register any such person. Any such member may provide such forms and register such qualified persons only within that member's legislative district.

Any such director, deputy director, or appointee may provide such forms and register such qualified persons only within the county in which the board is located.

(e) Except in the case of persons indicating an intention to return the registration forms to their board by mail, in person, or through another person, any person authorized to provide registration forms and register qualified persons under division (B)(4)(a), (b), (c), or (d) of this section shall send or deliver the completed registration forms to the board of elections of the county in which the qualified person resides. The board shall file the registration forms in accordance with section 3503.13 of the Revised Code.

(5) The registration forms must under divisions (B)(1), (2), (3), and (4) of this section be received by the board no later than the thirtieth day preceding a special, primary, or general election. Any form received later than the thirtieth day preceding an election shall be invalid for that election, but shall be valid for any subsequent election for which the registrant qualifies as an elector.

(C) If the board is satisfied as to the truth of the statements made in the registration forms, as required by divisions (B) and (D) of this section, it shall register the applicant and notify him of his registration and the precinct in which he is to vote. Such notification shall be by nonforwardable mail, and in the event the mail is returned to the board, it shall investigate and cause the notification to be delivered to the correct address; or if it determines that the voter is not eligible to vote for residency reasons it shall cancel the registration and notify the registrant, at the last known address, of a need to reregister. If the board does not accept the application for registration, it shall immediately notify the applicant of the reasons for rejection of the application and request the applicant to provide whatever information or verification is necessary to complete the application.

(D) When any person applies for a driver's license, commercial driver's license, a state of Ohio identification card issued under section 4507.50 of the Revised Code, motorcycle operator's license or endorsement, or the renewal or duplicate of any license or endorsement under Chapter 4506. or 4507. of the Revised Code, the registrar of motor vehicles or deputy registrar shall ask the applicant if he is eligible to register as an elector and, in addition, if he is registered. If the applicant replies that he is eligible but not registered, the registrar or deputy registrar shall offer to register him. If the applicant wishes to be registered, the registrar or deputy registrar shall register him and promptly send the completed registration forms to the board of elections of the county in which the applicant resides. The board shall file the registration forms in accordance with section 3503.13 of the Revised Code.

The registrar or deputy registrar shall offer any applicant for a license specified in this section an opportunity to complete a notice of change of residence if the applicant is a registered elector who has changed his residence from one precinct to another within a county or from one county to another and has not filed such a notice. The registrar or deputy registrar shall send the completed notice to the board of elections of the county in which the applicant resides, and the board shall process the notice in accordance with section 3503.16 of the Revised Code.

The board of elections in each county shall supply each deputy registrar with a sufficient number of blank registration forms and blank change of residence notices. The secretary of state shall supply the registrar with a sufficient number of blank registration forms and blank change of residence notices.

(E)(1)(a) Any registered elector who has changed his residence within a precinct and has not filed a notice of change of residence, may present himself on the day of a special, primary, or general election at the polling place in the precinct in which he resides and vote if he first completes a notice of change of residence. The precinct election officers shall send the completed notice to the board of elections with the pollbooks and tally sheets, and the board shall process the notice in accordance with section 3503.16 of the Revised Code.

(b) Any registered elector who moves from one precinct to another in the same county on or prior to the thirty-first day preceding a general, primary, or special election and has not filed a notice of change of residence may vote on the day of the next succeeding election if he does all of the following:

(i) Presents himself on the day of the election at the office of the board of elections;

(ii) Completes a notice of change of residence and files it with election officials at the board;

(iii) Votes at the board by absent voter's ballots using the address to which he has moved;

(iv) Completes and signs, under penalty of election falsification, a statement attesting that he moved on or prior to the thirty-first day before the election, that he has voted at the office of the board, and that he will not vote or attempt to vote at any other location for that particular election.

A person who votes by absent voter's ballots pursuant to division (E)(1)(b) of this section shall not make written application for the ballots pursuant to Chapter 3509. of the Revised Code. Ballots cast pursuant to division (E)(1)(b) of this section shall be counted during the official canvass of votes in the manner provided for in sections 3505.32 and 3509.06 of the Revised Code insofar as that manner is applicable. The board shall examine the pollbooks to verify that no ballot was cast at the polls by an elector who has voted by absent voter's ballots pursuant to division (E)(1)(b) of this section. Any ballot determined to be insufficient for any of the reasons stated in section 3509.07 of the Revised Code shall not be counted.

(c) Any registered elector who moves from one precinct to another in the same county or from one county to another county within thirty days prior to an election may vote at the next succeeding election in the precinct from which he moved, wherein he was legally registered.

(d) Change of residence forms shall be available at each polling place, and when these forms are completed, noting changes of address, they shall be filed with election officials at the polling place. Election officials shall return completed forms to the board of elections.

The board shall process change of residence forms filed pursuant to division (E) of this section in accordance with section 3503.16 of the Revised Code.

(2) Any registered elector who has changed his name may complete a notice of change of name at the polling place in the precinct in which he votes on the day of a special, primary, or general election. The precinct election officers shall send the completed notice to the board of elections with the pollbooks and tally sheets, and the board shall process the notice in accordance with section 3503.19 of the Revised Code.

56 OS(3d) 1, 564 NE(2d) 407 (1990), State ex rel Bennett v Boards of Elections of Ohio Counties. Upon an action seeking a writ of mandamus to require the boards of elections in eighty-eight counties of the state to count "walk-in" ballots that were cast under RC 3503.11(E)(1)(b) as amended by 1990 HB 237, in the election held November 6, 1990, and all other absent voter ballots cast at that election, in a way that will maintain the absolute secrecy of the ballots, it is ordered that the secretary of state and boards of elections proceed to count the ballots in accordance with RC 3509.06, and that they set aside and refrain from opening any ballot that has been challenged.

102 App 425, 128 NE(2d) 865 (1955), State ex rel Horvath v Haber. As used in RC 3503.11, "primary election" includes a nonpartisan primary election, and the time for registration for such nonpartisan primary election is regulated by such section.

102 App 425, 128 NE(2d) 865 (1955), State ex rel Horvath v Haber. For purposes of closing registration a nonpartisan municipal primary election is a primary election and not a special election.

81 App 398, 79 NE(2d) 791 (1947), State ex rel Campbell v Durbin. When a vacancy occurs in a congressional district that requires an election for nomination of candidates for office of representative of the United States House of Representatives at a time other than the time when the General Code provides for regular nominations for members of the United States House of Representatives, such an election is a special election and governed by the pertinent General Code provisions as to a special election rather than the General Code provisions relating to a primary election.

81 App 398, 79 NE(2d) 791 (1947), State ex rel Campbell v Durbin. When an election is called for by a proclamation of the governor of the state for an election to nominate candidates for office of representative of the United States House of Representatives, such an election is not governed by provisions of this section, limiting time for registration of electors, such election being a special election pursuant to GC 4785-97 and 4829 (RC 3513.32 and 3521.03).

No. 84CV-10-5666 (CP, Franklin, 8-7-86), Galbraith v Celeste. A system of voter registration whereby state agencies and employees register voters on request is provided for by RC 3503.11(B)(1) and (B)(2), and the establishment of such a system by Executive Order 84-33 is within the governor's powers and duties under O Const Art III.

11 Misc(2d) 7, 11 OBR 101, 463 NE(2d) 115 (CP, Hamilton 1984), Mirlisena v Fellerhoff. Registration officials are public officers and are considered to be agents of the state rather than agents of the political party that designated them or the applicant for registration.

OAG 87-008. Participants in work-relief projects may be assigned to voter registration duties by their sponsoring agency, and the county board of elections may direct the project participants in their volunteer registrar duties under RC 3503.11(B)(2).

OAG 77-041. Persons who wish to register to vote on the day of a general, primary or special election need not do so at a polling place in the precinct in which they reside, provided the board of elections has located the polling place for voting purposes outside the boundaries of the precinct in which they reside.

OAG 77-041. RC 3503.11(D) as amended eff. 8-30-77, requires the board of elections to provide separate lines for election day registration and voting at each polling place. In a situation in which a building serves as a polling place location for four precincts, the board of elections need not provide separate lines for registration for each precinct at the polling place.

1960 OAG 1696. When a registration of voters is established in an area pursuant to RC 3503.06, the first general registration of all qualified electors in precincts which become registration precincts should be held in accordance with RC 3503.08, and residents of such precincts may not register at the office of the board of elections until such first general registration has been held.

1956 OAG 6673. Laws limiting the rights of electors to register or change their registration during periods immediately prior to or after election dates are designed for the convenience of the board in the conduct of elections, and where a special election is held on a date in such proximity to the date of a primary or general election that a literal and strict application would, in the judgment of the board of elections, unreasonably or unnecessarily restrain, impair or impede the right of suffrage of electors in the later election, the board of elections should provide for the reception of registrations and changes of registrations during reasonable periods other than the limited periods provided in such section.

1956 OAG 6673. RC 3503.11 confers on electors the legal right to register or change their registration during certain periods but does not forbid the board of elections to receive registrations and changes of registrations by electors at times other than during such limited periods.

1950 OAG 1699. The provision contained in statute, that no registration or change in registration of electors may be made during the period forty days preceding or ten days following a primary or general election is an exception to the general provision that electors may register and make such changes in registration at the office of a board of elections at any time such office is open, and therefore must be strictly construed.

1950 OAG 1699. A special election called, pursuant to the provisions of the charter of the city of Dayton, and therein designated in § 12 of said charter as a "special municipal election" is neither "a primary" nor "general election" within the meaning of statute, and registration and change thereof should be accepted by the board of elections at the office thereof at any time when such office is open, which is more than ten days after the primary election of May 2, 1950 and up to the time for closing such office on the day prior to the said special municipal election.

3503.111 Change of registration

The board of elections of any county shall register or change the registration of any person determined not to be a resident in that county under section 3503.02 of the Revised Code, who is a resident and a qualified elector of another county in this state, on behalf of the county of residence. This registration shall be conducted only with the consent of the registrant and under the authority of section 3503.11 of the Revised Code, provided that this section shall not limit or restrict the right of such a person to personally register in the county of his residence, and the right granted herein shall be subject to the time restrictions of that section regarding elections in the county of residence.

The director of any board of elections registering a person under this section shall send the completed registration form of that person to the director of the board of elections of the county of residence, who shall enter the form in the proper registration files.

3503.12 Methods of facilitating registration

All registrations shall be carefully checked, and in case any person is found to have registered more than once, the additional registration forms shall be canceled by the board of elections.

Six weeks prior to the day of a special, primary, or general election, the board shall publish notices in one or more newspapers of general circulation advertising the places, dates, times, methods of registration, and voter qualifications for registration.

The board shall establish a schedule or program to assure to the extent reasonably possible that, on or before November 1, 1980, all registration places shall be free of barriers that would impede the ingress and egress of handicapped persons. Entrances shall be level or shall be provided with a nonskid ramp of not over eight per cent gradient, and doors shall be a minimum of thirty-two inches wide. Registration places located at polling places shall, however, comply with the requirements of section 3501.29 of the Revised Code for the elimination of barriers.

As used in this section, "handicapped" means having lost the use of one or both legs, one or both arms, or any combination thereof, or being blind or so severely disabled as to be unable to move about without the aid of crutches or a wheelchair.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

OAG 72-025. RC 3503.12, respecting establishment of registration places by board of elections, is ambiguous as to whether or not such places may be established prior to primary elections and, having been consistently construed for many years by secretary of state to prevent establishment prior to such primaries, and such construction not being unreasonable, boards of elections are prevented from establishing such registration places prior to primary elections.

1958 OAG 2745. The "registration place" that a board of elections may provide under RC 3503.12 need not be a branch office, or even an "office" of any kind: a mobile unit kept in a single location during hours of use each day may be a registration place.

1958 OAG 2399. In providing a place of registration a board of elections may not locate such registration facility on the grounds of an organization or agency which charges a fee for admission to such grounds.

1956 OAG 6896. The establishment by a board of elections of a number of "temporary branch offices" as provided in RC 3501.10 does not constitute the provision of "branch registration offices" within the meaning of RC 3503.12, nor does such board, in establishing such temporary branch offices, exhaust one of the alternatives provided in the latter section so as to preclude arrangements each year for registration in each registration precinct.

3503.13 Filing of forms; public inspection of records

(A) Except as provided in division (D) of this section, registration forms shall consist of original and duplicate cards or loose-leaf pages as prescribed by the secretary of state. When such registration forms have been filled out and filed in the office of the board of elections, the original forms shall be filed together in one file and the duplicate forms shall be filed together in another file. The original forms shall be filed by precincts and shall constitute the precinct register for use in polling places on election day. The duplicate forms shall be filed alphabetically and shall constitute the permanent office record of the board. It shall not be removed from the office of the board except upon the order of a court.

(B) The registration forms that are provided for the purposes of division (B)(4) of section 3503.11 of the Revised Code or that the board of elections provides for distribution under divisions (B), (D), and (E) of section 3503.11 of the Revised Code shall be in the form prescribed in section 3503.14 of the Revised Code and shall be perforated so that a portion of the forms may be retained by the applicant as evidence of his application for registration. Any person, outside an official voter registration place, who helps another person fill out a registration form and is entrusted by that person to return the form to the board of elections shall sign his name on the perforated stub, tear it off, and give it to the person registering. Completed registration forms shall be promptly filed with registration records in accordance with division (A) of this section.

(C) The registration records shall be open to public inspection at all times when the office of the board is open for business, under such regulations as the board adopts, provided that no person shall be permitted to inspect such records except in the presence of an employee of the board.

(D) The board of elections of a county that adopts or has adopted electronic data processing for the registration of qualified electors of the county may use a single registration form complying with the requirements of division (A) of this section. The information contained on the form may be duplicated on punch cards, magnetic tape, discs, diskettes, or such other media as are compatible with the data processing system adopted by the board and may constitute the permanent office record in lieu of the duplicate registration card.

3503.16 Change of residence notice

Whenever a registered elector changes his place of residence from one precinct to another within a county or from one county to another, he shall report such change to the board of elections.

The registered elector may make the report required by this section by a written notice by mail, by calling in person at the office of the board of elections or a branch registration office, by appearing on the day of a special, primary, or general election at the polling place in the precinct in which he resides and reregistering, by appearing on the day of a special, primary, or general election at the board of elections pursuant to division (E)(1)(b) of section 3503.11 of the Revised Code, or when applying for a commercial driver's license under section 4506.07 of the Revised Code or driver's license or endorsement under division (A) of section 4507.06 of the Revised Code, or for a renewal or duplicate thereof. The board shall provide change of residence notices in card form to be given out upon request by mail or in person for use by any registered voter who is moving or has moved to a new location. These notices shall be printed upon cards in a form prescribed by the secretary of state.

Upon receipt of a change of residence notice, whether directly from the applicant or from the registrar, deputy registrar, or the precinct election officials under section 3503.11 of the Revised Code, the board shall compare the applicant's signature with the original registration of such applicant, and if such signature appears to be the same, entry of such change of residence on the original registration cards or forms, and on the registration lists, shall be

If the board is not satisfied as to the signature on the request for a change of residence, or if, for any other reason the board is not satisfied that such request should be granted, a notice shall be sent to such registrant by mail directing him to appear in person at the office of the board to answer such questions under oath as are deemed necessary to determine the applicant's place of residence and his eligibility to vote. If a registrant fails to appear within fifteen days, when so requested, and the director has received no notice from the post office of the nondelivery of the registration notice, the applicant's registration forms shall be removed from the registration files and placed in the inactive files until such applicant establishes to the satisfaction of the board that such change of residence has been made. When a voter has been registered by error in a precinct other than the one in which he resides, the board shall correct the error and notify the registrant by mail.

3503.19 Notice of change of name by registered elector; notice of change of voting status

(A) When a registered elector changes his name, he shall report the change to the board of elections. The elector may vote under his former name at the next election occurring after his change of name, but he may only vote in the precinct in which he is registered. Thereafter he shall not qualify to vote until he has made the report.

The registered elector may make the report required by this section by a written notice by mail, by appearing in person at the office of the board of elections or a branch registration office, by completing a notice of change in voting status and filing it with the court at the time he changes his name, or by appearing on the day of a special, primary, or general election at the polling place in the precinct in which he votes. The board shall provide change of name notices in card form to be given out upon request by mail or in person for use by any registered voter changing his name. These notices shall be printed upon cards with approximately the following wording:

"NOTICE OF CHANGE OF VOTING STATUS

If an applicant fails to appear within fifteen days, when so requested, and the director of the board of elections has received no notice from the post office of the nondelivery of the registration notice, said applicant's registration forms shall be removed from the registration files and placed in the inactive files until the applicant establishes to the satisfaction of the board that change of name has been made.

3503.22 Correction of registration records; procedure

(A) The board of elections may send by mail to any voter whose name appears on the registration records a notice bearing on the front a statement "Do Not Forward" and on the back a statement substantially as follows:

"Date _____

Dear Sir or Madam:

You are hereby notified that your name and address appear on the registration record as shown on the address portion of the card. If there is any mistake in your name or address as shown, present this card at the office of the board of elections for correction. (Identification of Board of Elections by Name and Address)."

The return of such notice because of nondelivery by the post office shall be accepted by the board as evidence on which to challenge the elector's vote on election day.

Upon the return by the post office of any such notice, the director of the board shall check the name and address of any such voter. If such voter is found to have removed from the address as recorded to another address, his registration forms shall be corrected and placed in the proper precinct. If such voter is found to have removed from the county, his registration shall be canceled and his registration forms removed from the active files. If the board is not satisfied as to the correctness of the information, it may order "challenged" to be written on the margin of such person's registration forms. Such person shall be challenged by the presiding judge of the precinct on election day and no person so challenged shall be permitted to vote except by complying with the law applicable to the proving of challenges. If the board finds it advisable, it may send another notice by mail to be forwarded, advising such elector to appear at the office of the board. If the elector does not respond to the second notice, the board may cancel the registration.

(B) The board shall send by mail the form set forth in division (A) of this section to any voter who on election day has registered or made a change in name or residence.

Upon the return by the post office of any such notice, the director of the board shall check the name and address of any such voter. If such voter is found to have removed from the address as recorded to another address, his registration shall be canceled and his registration forms removed from the active files. If the board is not satisfied as to the correctness of the information, it shall send another notice by mail to be forwarded, advising such voter to appear before the board within a reasonable period of time to answer questions regarding the correctness of information on his registration forms. If the voter does not respond to the second notice or does not respond satisfactorily to questions during his appearance before the board, the board shall cancel the registration and, in the event of an apparent violation of law, report its findings to the appropriate prosecuting authority which shall institute such proceedings as are appropriate.

(C) The board may arrange with the local postmaster to receive notices of all changes in addresses of persons receiving mail through such post office. It may make such arrangement with the water, gas, and electric light companies or departments of all persons receiving such services, and pay a reasonable compensation for the necessary clerical services involved. All such changes shall be checked by the board or its director with the registration forms of such voters, and such voters shall be notified as provided in this section.

(D) Upon the oath or written statement of either an election board official or a member of the controlling committee of a political party to the effect that he has knowledge that a registered voter is either deceased or has removed from the latest address reflected in the records of the board, the board of elections shall initiate a review of that person's eligibility to vote, in accordance with division (A) of this section.

(E) When the board finds under this section that a voter is deceased or has removed from the county or when it is reported to the board under section 3503.18 of the Revised Code that a voter is deceased, the board may, not sooner than four years after its finding under this section or its receipt of information under section 3503.18 of the Revised Code, dispose of that voter's registration forms.

3503.23 Official registration lists; notations on election day

At least fifteen days before an election the board shall cause to be prepared from the registration cards a complete and official registration list for each precinct, containing the names, addresses, and political party whose ballot the elector voted in the most recent primary election within the current year and the next preceding two calendar years, of all qualified registered voters in the precinct. All the names, insofar as practicable, shall be arranged either in alphabetical order, or in geographical order according to streets in the precincts. All the lists shall be prepared in sheet form and on one side of the paper. Each precinct list shall be headed "Register of Voters," and under the heading shall be indicated the district or ward and precinct followed by the statement:

"Any voter of the county on or before the seventh day prior to the election may file with the board of elections at the board's offices located at _____ objections to the registration of any person on this list who, he has reason to believe, is not eligible to vote, or a request for the addition to the list of registered voters whose names have been omitted or who have been erroneously dropped from the registration list of the precinct."

Appended to each precinct list shall be attached the names of the members of the board and the name of the director. A sufficient number of such lists, but not to exceed fifty lists of each precinct, may be provided for distribution to the candidates, political parties, or organized groups which apply therefor. The board shall conspicuously post and display one copy of each precinct list at the polling place in each precinct.

On the day of a general or primary election, precinct election officials shall at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. place a mark, on the official registration list posted at the polling place, before the name of those registered voters who have voted.

3503.24 Correction of registration list; hearing

Application for the correction of any precinct registration list or a challenge of the right to vote of a person named on such list may be made by any qualified voter of the county at the office of the board of elections not later than seven days prior to the election. Such applications or challenges, with the reasons therefor, shall be filed on forms provided by the board for that purpose and shall be attested by the oath of such qualified elector.

The board shall sit for the purpose of hearing applications for changes in such list, or challenges of the right to vote of persons on such list, on the Wednesday preceding an election between the hours of nine a.m. and twelve noon, and between the hours of one p.m. and five p.m., and such other hours as the board fixes. If all such applications or challenges are not determined on that day, the board shall sit during the same hours on succeeding days until all cases are heard and decided. If the board is unable to hear all such cases within the time specified, it may divide itself into two boards, each composed of a member of each political party, to determine such cases. The board may also appoint one or more boards of two members each of opposite political parties to aid in hearing such applications or challenges, and may allow such persons not to exceed ten dollars per day for each day served. The board may, if the filing time of any such challenge permits, sit for the purpose of the hearing on a day prior to the Wednesday preceding an election, provided that in all instances any person whose right to register has been challenged and any person whose name, it is alleged, has been erroneously omitted from the list shall be given at least two days' written notice of the hearing by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, sent to his latest address reflected in the records of the board and may appear in person or by counsel. At the request of either party the board shall issue subpoenas to witnesses to appear at such hearing and such witnesses shall be sworn and examined. All cases shall be heard and decided immediately after hearing. If the board decides that any such person is not entitled to have his name on the registration list his name shall be removed therefrom and his registration forms canceled. If the board decides that the name of any such person should appear on such registration list it shall be added thereto, and his registration forms placed in the proper registration files. All such corrections and additions shall be made on a copy of the precinct lists, which shall constitute the poll lists, to be furnished to the respective precincts with other election supplies on the day preceding the election, to be used by the clerks in receiving the signatures of voters and in checking against the registration forms.

BALLOTS

3505.01 Form of official ballots; certification of names of candidates; supplemental certification

On the sixtieth day before the day of the next general election, the secretary of state shall certify to the board of elections of each county the forms of the official ballots to be used at such general election, together with the names of the candidates to be printed thereon whose candidacy is to be submitted to the electors of the entire state. In the case of the presidential ballot for a general election such certification shall be made on the sixtieth day before the day of the general election. On the seventy-fifth day before a special election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, designated by the general assembly for the purpose of submitting to the voters of the state constitutional amendments proposed by the general assembly, the secretary of state shall certify to the board of elections of each county the forms of the official ballots to be used at such election.

The board of the most populous county in each district comprised of more than one county but less than all of the counties of the state, in which there are candidates whose candidacies are to be submitted to the electors of such district, shall, on the sixtieth day before the day of the next general election, certify to the board of each county in such district the names of such candidates to be printed on such ballots.

The board of a county in which the major portion of a subdivision, located in more than one county, is located shall, on the sixtieth day before the day of the next general election, certify to the board of each county in which other portions of such subdivisions are located the names of candidates whose candidacies are to be submitted to the electors of such subdivision, to be printed on such ballots.

If, subsequently to the sixtieth day before and prior to the tenth day before the day of such general election, a certificate is filed with the secretary of state to fill a vacancy caused by the death of a candidate, the secretary of state shall forthwith make a supplemental certification to the board of each county amending and correcting his original certification provided for in the first paragraph of this section. If within such time such a certificate is filed with the board of the most populous county in a district comprised of more than one county but less than all of the counties of the state, or with the board of a county in which the major portion of the population of a subdivision, located in more than one county, is located, such board with which such a certificate is filed shall forthwith make a supplemental certification to the board of each county in such district or to the board of each county in which other portions of such subdivision are located, amending and correcting its original certification provided for in the second and third paragraphs of this section. If, at the time such supplemental certification is received by a board, ballots carrying the name of the deceased candidate have been printed, such board shall cause strips of paper bearing the name of the candidate certified to fill such vacancy to be printed and pasted on such ballots so as to cover the name of the deceased candidate, except that in voting places using marking devices, the board shall cause strips of paper bearing the revised list of candidates for the office after certification of a candidate to fill such vacancy, to be printed and pasted on such ballot card so as to cover the names of candidates shown prior to the new certification, before such ballots are delivered to electors.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

32 OS(2d) 23, 289 NE(2d) 349 (1972), State ex rel Fisher v Brown. With respect to candidates in an election in a county or in a subdivision or district less than a county, the secretary of state is not directly charged with any duty except to prescribe the form of the ballot.

30 OS(2d) 75, 283 NE(2d) 131 (1972), State ex rel Minus v Brown. Where, in a mandamus action instituted in the supreme court, substantial constitutional question involving state-wide special election on a proposed constitutional amendment is presented, and where relator has acted timely and in good faith, and where court finds because of delay by general assembly in adopting resolution proposing constitutional amendment it is impossible for secretary of state to substantially comply with provisions of RC 3505.01, and where court finds further that because of such delay it is impossible for county boards of elections to substantially comply with 3509.01; then, upon such findings by court, it becomes the clear legal duty of secretary of state to strike such proposed constitutional amendment from the ballot, and the court will exercise its jurisdiction.

119 App 363, 200 NE(2d) 668 (1963), State ex rel Rose v Ryan. The secretary of state and a county board of elections are required to conduct any municipal election which the laws authorize to be held.

1951 OAG 808. The use of pasters bearing the name of a "write-in" candidate which are attached to the official ballot by individual voters is not authorized by law.

1948 OAG 3100. A board of elections is without authority in law to remove or cause to be removed from the ballot to be voted at a primary election the name of a deceased person whose death occurred after the filing of his declaration of candidacy and before date of such primary election.

3505.02 Former names to be printed on ballot

Any former names which have been declared or submitted in accordance with section 3513.06 of the Revised Code shall be printed on the ballot in parentheses directly below the present name of such person. This section applies to both primary and general election ballots.

3505.021 Candidates with identical names

In the event two or more persons with identical given name and surnames run for the same office in a general or special election on the same ballot, the names of the candidates shall be differentiated on the ballot by varying combinations of first and middle names and initials. Immediately after it becomes known that two or more persons with the same given name and surname are to be candidates on the same ballot for the same office, the director of the board of elections for local, municipal, county, general, or special elections, or the director of the board of elections of the most populous county for district, general, or special elections, or the secretary of state for statewide general and special elections shall notify the persons with identical given name and surnames that the names of such persons will be differentiated on the ballot. If one of the candidates is an incumbent who is a candidate to succeed himself for the office he occupies, he shall have first choice of the name by which he is designated on the ballot. If an incumbent does not make a choice within two days after notification or if none of the candidates is an incumbent, the board of elections within three days after notification shall designate the names by which the candidates are identified on the ballot. In case of a district candidate the board of elections in the most populous county of the district shall make the determination. In case of statewide candidates, or in case any board of elections fails to make a designation within three days after notification, the secretary of state shall immediately make the determination.

"Notification" as required by this section shall be by the clerk of the board of elections or secretary of state by special delivery mail or telegram at the candidate's address listed in his declaration of candidacy or petition of candidacy.

3505.03 Office type ballot

On the office type ballot shall be printed the names of all candidates for election to offices, except judicial offices, who were nominated at the next preceding primary election as candidates of a political party or who were nominated in accordance with section 3513.02 of the Revised Code, and the names of all candidates for election to offices who were nominated by nominating petitions, except candidates for judicial offices, for member of the state board of education, for member of a board of education, for municipal offices, and for township offices.

The face of such ballot below the stub shall be substantially in the following form:

OFFICIAL OFFICE TYPE BALLOT

(A) To vote for a candidate place "X" in the rectangular space at the left of the name of such candidate.

(B) If you tear, soil, deface, or erroneously mark this ballot, return it to the precinct election officers and obtain another ballot.

USE "X" ONLY IN MARKING BALLOT

The order in which the offices shall be listed on the ballot shall be prescribed by, and certified to each board of elections by, the secretary of state; provided that for state, district, and county offices the order from top to bottom shall be as follows: governor and lieutenant governor, attorney general, auditor of state, secretary of state, treasurer of state, United States senator, representative to congress, state senator, state representative, county commissioner, county auditor, prosecuting attorney, clerk of the court of common pleas, sheriff, county recorder, county treasurer, county engineer, and coroner. The offices of governor and lieutenant governor shall be printed on the ballot in a manner that requires a voter to cast one vote jointly for the candidates who have been nominated by the same political party or petition.

The names of all candidates for an office shall be arranged in a group under the title of that office, and, except for absentee ballots or when the number of candidates for a particular office is the same as the number of candidates to be elected for that office, shall be rotated from one precinct to another. On absentee ballots the names of all candidates for an office shall be arranged in a group under the title of that office and shall be so alternated that each name shall appear, insofar as may be reasonably possible, substantially an equal number of times at the beginning, at the end, and in each intermediate place, if any, of the group in which such name belongs, unless the number of candidates for a particular office is the same as the number of candidates to be elected for that office.

The method of printing the ballots to meet the rotation requirement of this section shall be as follows: The least common multiple of the number of names in each of the several groups of candidates shall be used and the number of changes made in the printer's forms in printing such ballots shall correspond with such multiple. The board of elections shall number all precincts in regular serial sequence. In the first precinct, the names of the candidates in each group shall be listed in alphabetical order. In each succeeding precinct, the name in each group which is listed first in the preceding precinct shall be listed last and the name of each candidate shall be moved up one place. In each precinct using paper ballots, the printed ballots shall then be assembled in tablets.

Under the name of each candidate nominated at a primary election and each candidate certified by a party committee to fill a vacancy under section 3513.31 of the Revised Code shall be printed, in less prominent type face than that in which the candidate's name is printed, the name of the political party by which the candidate was nominated or certified.

Except as provided in this section, no words, designations, or emblems descriptive of a candidate or his political affiliation, or indicative of the method by which the candidate was nominated or certified, shall be printed under or after a candidate's name which is printed on the ballot.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

137 OS 309, 29 NE(2d) 215 (1940), State ex rel Sawyer v Neffner. Separation of state and national party column ballots is required.

137 OS 309, 29 NE(2d) 215 (1940), State ex rel Sawyer v Neffner. Amendment of this section did not directly or by implication repeal express provision of GC 4785-105 (RC 3505.08), which requires a circle at head of party column ballots.

119 App 363, 200 NE(2d) 668 (1963), State ex rel Rose v Ryan. A petition in mandamus which alleges that relator is a qualified elector and resident of a municipality and a candidate for office therein and that the voting machine type ballot to be used does not meet the requirement of such municipality's charter that "one space shall be left below the printed names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, wherein the voter may write" in the name of any person, and the prayer of which is for a separate paper ballot for use in voting for such office for which there have been no formal nominations, states a cause of action against the board of elections and is good against demurrer.

393 US 23, 89 SCt 5, 21 LEd(2d) 24 (1968), Williams v Rhodes. Ohio's election laws which require new political parties seeking ballot position in presidential elections to obtain petitions signed by qualified electors totalling 15% of the number of ballots cast in the last gubernatorial election and to file these petitions early in February of the election year violate the Equal Protection Clause.

290 FSupp 983 (SD Ohio 1968), Socialist Labor Party v Rhodes; modified sub nom Williams v Rhodes, 393 US 23, 89 SCt 5, 21 LEd(2d) 24 (1968). Court would not issue injunction compelling state to place name of candidate for president on ballot, but would enjoin state from prohibiting write-in voting.

1954 OAG 4012. Where a county commissioner dies prior to the time for filing declarations of candidacy and where no declaration of candidacy is filed for the unexpired term for such office and no person is nominated for such unexpired term at the primary election by receiving the required number of write-in votes there is no provision of law by which any person may be nominated for such office, and the election for such office should be had at the November general election by providing a blank space on the ballot.

1954 OAG 4012. Where a county commissioner resigns and where, at the next primary election, one political party succeeds in nominating a candidate for the unexpired term of such office and the other political party fails to nominate such a candidate, there is no provision of law by which any other person may be nominated for such office, and no blank space may be provided on the ballot at the November general election.

3505.04 Nonpartisan ballots

On the nonpartisan ballot shall be printed the names of all nonpartisan candidates for election to judicial office, office of member of the state board of education, office of member of a board of education, municipal or township offices for municipal corporations and townships in which primary elections are not held for nomination of candidates by political parties, and municipal offices of municipal corporations having charters which provide for separate ballots for elections for such municipal offices.

Such ballots shall have printed across the top, and below the stubs, "Official Nonpartisan Ballot."

The order in which the offices are listed on the ballot shall be prescribed by, and certified to each board of elections by, the secretary of state; provided that the office of member of the state board of education shall be listed first on the ballot, then state, district, and county judicial offices shall be listed on the ballot in such order, followed by municipal and township offices, and by offices of member of a board of education, in the order stated.

Within the rectangular space within which the title of each judicial office is printed on the ballot and immediately below such title shall be printed the date of the commencement of the term of the office, if a full term, as follows:

"Full term commencing _____ (Date) _____ _____," or the date of the end of the term of the office, if an unexpired term, as follows: "Unexpired term ending _____ (Date) _____"

The secretary of state shall prescribe the information and directions to the voter to be printed on the ballot within the rectangular space in which the title of office of member of the state board of education appears.

Within the rectangular space within which the title of each office for member of a board of education is printed on the ballot shall be printed "For Member of Board of Education," and the number to be elected, directions to the voter as to voting for one, two, or more, and, if the office to be voted for is member of a board of education of a city school district, words shall be printed in said space on the ballot to indicate whether candidates are to be elected from subdistricts or at large.

The names of all nonpartisan candidates for an office shall be arranged in a group under the title of that office, and shall be rotated and printed on the ballot as provided in section 3505.03 of the Revised Code.

No name or designation of any political party nor any words, designations, or emblems descriptive of a candidate or his political affiliation, or indicative of the method by which such candidate was nominated or certified, shall be printed under or after any nonpartisan candidate's name which is printed on the ballot.

164 OS 362, 130 NE(2d) 805 (1955), Mullholand v Batt. Where no republican candidate filed for the office of judge of the court of common pleas, the unsuccessful candidate for the democratic nomination was not entitled to run as a write-in candidate, and since there was no blank space on the ballot, votes written in for him should not have been counted.

161 OS 339, 119 NE(2d) 283 (1954), Moore v Thompson. 22 Misc 48, 257 NE(2d) 914 (CP, Cuyahoga 1969), Jenkins v Porter. An action by a candidate nominated at a partisan primary for an injunction and damages against the executive committee of the same party for its endorsement of a candidate nominated by a nonpartisan petition fails to show irreparable damages and presents only a political issue, so that relief must be denied.

OAG 74-034. A person in the classified civil service is not prohibited from being a candidate for or holding the office of member of a county board of education by RC 124.57, because that section only prohibits partisan political activity.

OAG 65-7. A nominating petition filed pursuant to RC 1907.051 and 3513.261 is void where it states that the candidate is seeking election at the general election in November to a full term as county court judge and there is no full term for which an election could be held at that time, and a favorable vote cast by the electors for such candidate for a full term as judge of the county court is ineffective.

1958 OAG 2276. Where a probate judge resigns and no political party nominates a candidate for the vacancy in a primary election, there is no legal authority for printing on the general election ballot any candidate's name for the unexpired term, but the electors may vote for candidates whose names they write in the blank ballot space required by RC 3505.04.

3505.06 Ballots on questions and issues

On the questions and issues ballot shall be printed all questions and issues to be submitted at any one election together with the percentage of affirmative votes necessary for passage as required by law. Such ballot shall have printed across the top thereof, and below the stubs, "Official Questions and Issues Ballot."

Questions and issues shall be grouped together on the ballot, from top to bottom, in the following order: state questions and issues, county questions and issues, municipal questions and issues, township questions and issues, and school or other district questions and issues. The particular order in which each of a group of state questions or issues is placed on the ballot shall be determined by, and certified to each board of elections by, the secretary of state. The particular order in which each of a group of county, municipal, township, or school district questions or issues is placed on the ballot shall be determined by the board providing the ballots.

The printed matter pertaining to each question or issue on the ballot shall be enclosed at the top and bottom thereof by a heavy horizontal line across the width of the ballot. Immediately below such top line shall be printed a brief title descriptive of the question or issue below it, such as "Proposed Constitutional Amendment," "Proposed Bond Issue," "Proposed Annexation of Territory," "Proposed Increase in Tax Rate," or such other brief title as will be descriptive of the question or issue to which it pertains, together with a brief statement of the percentage of affirmative votes necessary for passage, such as "A sixty-five per cent affirmative vote is necessary for passage," "A majority vote is necessary for passage," or such other brief statement as will be descriptive of the percentage of affirmative votes required.

The questions and issues ballot need not contain the full text of the proposal to be voted upon. A condensed text that will properly describe the question, issue, or an amendment proposed by other than the general assembly shall be used as prepared and certified by the secretary of state for statewide questions or issues or by the board for local questions or issues. If other than a full text is used, the full text of the proposed question, issue, or amendment together with the percentage of affirmative votes necessary for passage as required by law shall be posted in each polling place in some spot that is easily accessible to the voters.

Each question and issue appearing on the questions and issues ballot may be consecutively numbered. The question or issue determined to appear at the top of the ballot may be designated on the face thereof by the Arabic numeral "1" and all questions and issues placed below on the ballot shall be consecutively numbered. Such numeral shall be placed below the heavy top horizontal line enclosing such question or issue and to the left of the brief title thereof.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

35 OS(3d) 137, 1988 SERB 4-5, 519 NE(2d) 347 (1988), Jurcisin v Cuyahoga County Elections Bd. A ballot title of a proposed charter amendment consisting of clear, concise statements, without argument, descriptive of the substance of the proposed amendment, is valid.

30 OS(2d) 75, 283 NE(2d) 131 (1972), State ex rel Minus v Brown. Where, in a mandamus action instituted in the supreme court, substantial constitutional question involving statewide special election on a proposed constitutional amendment is presented, and where relator has acted timely and in good faith, and where court finds because of delay by general assembly in adopting resolution proposing constitutional amendment it is impossible for secretary of state to substantially comply with provisions of RC 3505.01, and where court finds further that because of such delay it is impossible for county boards of elections to substantially comply with RC 3509.01; then, upon such findings by court, it becomes the clear legal duty of secretary of state to strike such proposed constitutional amendment from the ballot, and the court will exercise its jurisdiction.

22 OS(2d) 197, 259 NE(2d) 501 (1970), Markus v Trumbull County Bd of Elections. Text of ballot statement resulting from referendum petition must fairly and accurately present question or issue to be decided in order to assure free, intelligent and informed vote by average citizen affected.

18 OS(2d) 61, 247 NE(2d) 463 (1969), State ex rel Graves v Brown. Failure to present question of postponement of effective date of 1967 HJR 42 (which revised O Const Art IV) to the voters in condensed ballot text destroyed efficacy of section (E) of the schedule (132 v 2878).

15 OS(2d) 65, 238 NE(2d) 790 (1968), Euclid v Heaton. A majority of the electors voting on the proposed amendment to the Ohio Constitution submitted at the election held May 7, 1968, having voted in favor of its adoption and the secretary of state having certified to that fact, the amendment is effective as of the date of said election by virtue of O Const Art XVI §1, the proposition contained in said resolutions to postpone the effective date of part of said amendment until January 10, 1970, not having been included in the condensed text of the proposed amendment which appeared on the ballot.

10 OS(2d) 139, 226 NE(2d) 116 (1967), State ex rel Foreman v Brown. The single general object of the proposed Ohio bond commission amendment is the creation of a bond commission to raise funds by issuing bonds; and the fact that the proposal limits the authority of the commission by specifying the purposes for which money may be raised and used does not turn the proposal into a proposal for more than one amendment.

167 OS 71, 146 NE(2d) 28 (1957), State ex rel Commrs of Sinking Fund v Brown. Reference, in text of capital improvements bond issue amendment on ballot, to cigarette tax as source of revenue for payment did not invalidate amendment merely because other funds might also be used as a source of revenue.

162 OS 473, 124 NE(2d) 120 (1955), Beck v Cincinnati. The statement, "If levy passes, there will be no city income tax in 1955 or 1956," in the caption of a ballot submitting the levy to the electors is improper, and its use in the ballot invalidates the election.

152 OS 308, 89 NE(2d) 641 (1949), State ex rel Duffy v Sweeney. Where proposed amendment to Ohio Constitution received favorable majority of votes cast on the issue of adoption, but not a majority of votes cast in the election, it was legally adopted and became effective thirty days after the election despite fact that the schedule to the proposed amendment specified that it would become effective immediately upon certification by the secretary of state that a majority of electors cast a favorable ballot and that the schedule twice stated that a majority of electors voting at the election was necessary for passage.

152 OS 139, 87 NE(2d) 342 (1949), Prosen v Duffy. Where, pursuant to GC 3180-35 (RC 519.11), a zoning plan is submitted to the electors residing in an unincorporated area of a township, the form of the ballot does not require the printing on the ballot of the whole text of the zoning plan or an impracticable digest thereof, but does require the printing of language constituting a topic or theme describing the question or issue submitted.

113 App 302, 178 NE(2d) 101 (1960), Bennett v Diefenbach; affirmed by 172 OS 185, 174 NE(2d) 259 (1961). Inclusion in a petition by freeholders for annexation of territory to a municipality of the phrase "for municipal purposes only" does not invalidate the proceedings of the board of county commissioners incident to the hearing and allowance of such petition by such board.

20 Misc 257, 251 NE(2d) 5 (CP, Hamilton 1969), State v Foster. The only direction for the form of submission of an amendment to the Ohio Constitution is in RC 3505.06 which requires the secretary of state to prepare a condensed text that will properly describe the question, issue or amendment.

19 Misc 67, 250 NE(2d) 106 (CP, Trumbull 1968), Markus v Trumbull County Bd of Elections; affirmed by 22 OS(2d) 197, 259 NE(2d) 501 (1970). A board of elections will be permanently enjoined from placing on the ballot a referendum to a township zoning amendment where the petitions contained neither a copy nor summary of the proposed change, the circulator of the petitions did not state in his affidavit that each signer had knowledge of the proposed amendment, and the ballot contained no statement that only a portion of the landowners' property was to be rezoned or that a buffer strip would be constructed between the adjacent zones.

66 Abs 538, 118 NE(2d) 162 (CP, Franklin 1953), Argo v Kaiser. An election by the voters of a township defeating the rezoning by the county commissioners of a portion of land within the township was not invalidated by the fact that the property was defectively described by lot number where the location, size and ownership of the parcel were correctly described.

12 OO(3d) 194 (1979), State ex rel Lima v Havenstein. The board of elections is not required to submit a referendum to electors of the city unless the language of the ballot titled as prepared by the director of law is "a clear, concise statement, without argument or prejudice, descriptive of the substance of such ordinance, or part thereof."

OAG 68-110. A judge who is currently holding office and who otherwise would be eligible for re-election is not disqualified from running for re-election in November, 1968, for the reason that he will have attained the age of seventy years by the time he would assume the office for the term to which he was re-elected.

1962 OAG 3196. Where a board of education certifies a proposal to the board of elections, the board of elections has the duty to prepare the ballot to be submitted to the electors, and such ballot should be in accord with RC 3505.06. If more than one county is involved, the board of elections of the county containing the most populous portion of the proposed district should prepare and furnish all necessary ballots.

1961 OAG 2008. The 1959 amendments to O Const Art XVIII §6 are valid.

1940 OAG 1993. Precinct election official shall, upon demand, issue to a qualified elector a bond issue ballot at a primary election without first requiring such elector to state his politics and take a primary ballot.

3505.061 Ohio ballot board; creation; organization

(A) The Ohio ballot board, as authorized by Section 1 of Article XVI, Ohio Constitution, shall consist of the secretary of state and four appointed members. No more than two of the appointed members shall be of the same political party. One of the members shall be appointed by the president of the senate, one shall be appointed by the minorty [sic] leader of the senate, one shall be appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives, and one shall be appointed by the minority leader of the house of representatives. The appointments shall be made no later than the last Monday in January in the year in which the appointments are to be made. If any appointment is not so made, the secretary of state, acting in place of the person otherwise required to make the appointment, shall appoint as many qualified members affiliated with the appropriate political party as are necessary.

(B) The initial appointees to the board shall serve until the first Monday in February, 1977. Thereafter, terms of office shall be for four years, each term ending on the first Monday in February. The term of the secretary of state on the board shall coincide with his term of office as secretary of state. Each appointed member of the board shall hold office from the date of his appointment until the end of the term for which he was appointed. Any member appointed to fill a vacancy occurring prior to the expiration of the term for which his predecessor was appointed shall hold office for the remainder of such term. Any member shall continue in office subsequent to the expiration date of his term until his successor takes office, or until a period of sixty days has elapsed, whichever occurs first. Any vacancy occurring on the board shall be filled in the manner provided for original appointments. A member appointed to fill a vacancy shall be of the same political party as that required of the member whom he replaces.

(C) Members of the board shall serve without compensation but shall be reimbursed for expenses actually and necessarily incurred in the performance of their duties.

(D) The secretary of state shall be the chairman of the board and he or his representative shall have a vote equal to that of any other member. The vice-chairman shall act as chairman in the absence or disability of the chairman, or during a vacancy in that office. The board shall meet after notice of at least seven days at a time and place determined by the chairman. At its first meeting the board shall elect a vice-chairman from among its members for a term of two years, and it shall adopt rules for its procedures. After the first meeting, the board shall meet at the call of the chairman or upon the written request of three other members. Three members constitute a quorum. No action shall be taken without the concurrence of three members.

(E) The secretary of state shall provide such technical, professional, and clerical employees as are necessary for the board to carry out its duties.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

1962 OAG 3196. Where a board of education certifies a proposal to the board of elections, the board of elections has the duty to prepare the ballot to be submitted to the electors, and such ballot should be in accord with RC 3505.06. If more than one county is involved, the board of elections of the county containing the most populous portion of the proposed district should prepare and furnish all necessary ballots.

3505.08 Ballots provided for elections; sample ballots

Ballots shall be provided by the board of elections for all general and special elections. Such ballots shall be printed with black ink on No. 2 white book paper fifty pounds in weight per ream assuming such ream to consist of five hundred sheets of such paper twenty-five by thirty-eight inches in size. Each ballot shall have attached at the top two stubs, each of the width of the ballot and one and three-fourth inches in length. The stubs shall be separated from the ballot and from each other by perforated lines. The top stub shall be known as Stub B and shall have printed on its face "Stub B." The other stub shall be known as Stub A and shall have printed on its face "Stub A." Each stub shall also have printed on its face "Consecutive Number _____." Each ballot of each kind of ballot provided for use in each precinct shall be numbered consecutively beginning with number 1 by printing such number upon both of the stubs attached thereto. On ballots bearing the names of candidates, each candidate's name shall be printed in twelve point boldface upper case type in an enclosed rectangular space and an enclosed blank rectangular space shall be provided at the left thereof. The name of the political party of a candidate nominated at a primary election or certified by a party committee shall be printed in ten point lightface upper and lower case type and shall be separated by a two point blank space. The name of each candidate shall be indented one space within such rectangular space and the name of the political party shall be indented two spaces within such rectangular space. The title of each office on such ballots shall be printed in twelve point boldface upper and lower case type in a separate enclosed rectangular space. A four point rule shall separate the name of a candidate or a group of candidates for the same office from the title of the office next appearing below on the ballot, and a two point rule shall separate the title of the office from the names of candidates and a one point rule shall separate names of candidates. Headings shall be printed in display Roman type. When the names of several candidates are grouped together as candidates for the same office, there shall be printed on such ballots immediately below the title of such office and within the separate rectangular space in which such title is printed "Vote for not more than _____," in six point boldface upper and lower case filling the blank space with that number which will indicate the number of persons who may be lawfully elected to such office.

Columns on ballots shall be separated from each other by a heavy vertical border or solid line at least one-eighth of an inch wide, and a similar vertical border or line shall enclose the left and right side of ballots, and ballots shall be trimmed along the sides close to such lines.

The ballots provided for by this section shall be comprised of four kinds of ballots designated as follows: (A) office type ballot; (B) nonpartisan ballot; (C) questions and issues ballot; (D) presidential ballot.

On the back of each office type ballot shall be printed "Official Office Type Ballot;" on the back of each nonpartisan ballot shall be printed "Official Nonpartisan Ballot;" on the back of each questions and issues ballot shall be printed "Official Questions and Issues Ballot;" and on the back of each presidential ballot shall be printed "Official Presidential Ballot." On the back of every ballot also shall be printed the date of the election at which the ballot is used and the facsimile signatures of the members of the board of the county in which the ballot is used. For the purpose of identifying the kind of ballot, the back of every ballot may be numbered in such order as the board shall determine. Such numbers shall be printed in not less than thirty-six point type above the words "Official Office Type Ballot," "Official Nonpartisan Ballot," "Official Questions and Issues Ballot," or "Official Presidential Ballot," as the case may be. Ballot boxes bearing corresponding numbers shall be furnished for each precinct in which the above described numbered ballots are used.

On the back of every ballot used there shall be a solid black line printed opposite the blank rectangular space that is used to mark the choice of the voter. This line shall be printed wide enough so that the mark in the blank rectangular space will not be visible from the back side of the ballot.

Sample ballots may be printed by the board of elections for all general elections. Such ballots shall be printed on colored paper and "Sample Ballot" shall be plainly printed in boldface type on the face of each ballot. In counties of less than one hundred thousand population, the board may print not more than five hundred sample ballots; in all other counties, it may print not more than one thousand sample ballots. Such sample ballots shall not be distributed by a political party or a candidate nor shall a political party or candidate cause their title or name to be imprinted thereon.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

137 OS 309, 29 NE(2d) 215 (1940), State ex rel Sawyer v Neffner. Presidential ballot is a party column ballot.

5 App(2d) 19, 195 NE(2d) 606 (1964), Pintaric v McHale. Clear and convincing proof of fraud or of the fact that a mistake of election officers does affect the result of, or render uncertain, an election is required to warrant judicial interference with the result of such election; and the fact that a bag of unused ballots is missing and unavailable for purposes of a recount is not sufficient ground for invalidating such election, in the absence of showing fraud or an attempt to deceive or mislead and that the result of such election is uncertain and affected thereby.

1954 OAG 3732. Upon the dissolution of a school district which does not maintain public schools within its area, it is the duty of the county board of education to select the district or districts to which the territory of such dissolved district is to be joined, and the plan of distribution of territory so made is to be submitted to the electors of such dissolved district for their approval, the form of ballot being governed by RC 3505.08.

1933 OAG 960. It is unlawful to place upon the ballot at a primary or general election, any nickname of a candidate in addition to such candidate's name where there is not such identity of names of two or more candidates to justify some description which will permit the voter to make an intelligent expression of his choice.

1928 OAG 3009. A person whose declaration of candidacy for nomination at a primary election was rejected by the election board, might, nevertheless, have been elected by having his name written in by the voters upon the ballot at the general election, if provision was made therefor by printing the designation of the office and providing a space as provided by former GC 5025 (Repealed).

1928 OAG 1973. On presidential delegate ballots, where there are qualified candidates at least equal to the number to be elected, the secretary of state is not authorized to leave a single blank line or space at the end of the list of candidates.

1928 OAG 1781. Where there are candidates for the office of county commissioner for both a full term and an unexpired term, board of deputy state supervisors of elections must print above the names of such candidates the words "vote for not more than _____ for the full term of four years"; also, to place immediately above the names of candidates for the unexpired term "vote for not more than one for the unexpired term."

3505.09 Separate ballots for each precinct

In election precincts composed of a township or a part thereof, and a municipal corporation or a part thereof, separate ballots for each precinct shall be provided for all elections, so as to enable electors residing in such precincts to cast their votes for the proper candidates in such precincts. Separate ballots shall be provided for each district portion of each precinct which shall contain the names of the candidates for members of the board of education for whom the electors residing in such district are entitled to vote. In the case of overlapping school districts, the ballots shall be so printed as to plainly identify each district for which candidates are to be chosen.

3505.10 Presidential ballot

On the presidential ballot below the stubs at the top of the face of the ballot shall be printed "Official Presidential Ballot" centered between the side edges of the ballot. Below "Official Presidential Ballot" shall be printed a heavy line centered between the side edges of the ballot. Below the line shall be printed "Instruction to Voters" centered between the side edges of the ballot, and below such words shall be printed the following instructions:

"(A) To vote for the candidates for president and vice-president whose names are printed below, mark "X" in the rectangular space at the left of the names of such candidates. Such "X" mark will be counted as a vote for each of the candidates for presidential elector whose names have been certified to the secretary of state and who are members of the same political party as the nominees for president and vice-president. An "X" mark for independent candidates for president and vice-president shall be counted as a vote for the presidential electors filed by such candidates with the secretary of state.

(B) To vote for candidates for president and vice-president in the blank space below, mark "X" in the left rectangular space and write the names of your choice for president and vice-president under the respective headings provided for those offices. Such write-in will be counted as a vote for the candidates' presidential electors whose names have been properly certified to the secretary of state.

(C) If you tear, soil, deface, or erroneously mark this ballot, return it to the precinct election officers and obtain another ballot."

Below such instructions to the voter shall be printed a single vertical column of enclosed rectangular spaces equal in number to the number of presidential candidates plus one additional space for write-in candidates. Each of such rectangular spaces shall be enclosed by a heavy line along each of its four sides, and such spaces shall be separated from each other by one-half inch of open space.

In each of such enclosed rectangular spaces, except the space provided for write-in candidates, shall be printed the names of the candidates for president and vice-president nominated as such by the national convention of a political party to which delegates and alternates were elected in this state at the next preceding primary election and the names of those independent candidates nominated by petition in accordance with section 3513.257 of the Revised Code. The names of candidates for electors of president and vice-president shall not be placed on the ballot, but shall be certified to the secretary of state as required by sections 3513.11 and 3513.257 of the Revised Code. The names of candidates for president and vice-president may be certified to the secretary of state, for placement on the presidential ballot, by authorized officials of an intermediate or minor political party which has held a state or national convention for the purpose of choosing such candidates, or which may, without convention, certify such candidates in accordance with the procedure authorized by its party rules. Certification to the secretary of state of such candidates shall be made on or before the seventy-fifth day before the day of the general election and shall be accompanied by designation of a sufficient number of presidential electors to satisfy the requirements of law. A vote for any of such candidates for president and vice-president shall be a vote for the electors of such candidates whose names have been certified to the secretary of state.

The arrangement of the printing in each of such enclosed rectangular spaces shall be substantially as follows: Near the top and centered within the rectangular space shall be printed "For President" in ten-point boldface upper and lower case type. Below "For President" shall be printed the name of the candidate for president in twelve-point boldface upper case type. Below the name of the candidate for president shall be printed the name of the political party by which such candidate for president was nominated in eight-point lightface upper and lower case type. Below the name of such political party shall be printed "For Vice-President" in ten-point boldface upper and lower case type. Below "For Vice-President" shall be printed the name of the candidate for vice-president in twelve-point boldface upper case type. Below the name of the candidate for vice-president shall be printed the name of the political party by which such candidate for vice-president was nominated in eight-point lightface upper and lower case type. No political identification or name of any political party shall be printed below the names of presidential and vice-presidential candidates nominated by petition.

The rectangular spaces on the ballot described in this section shall be rotated and printed as provided in section 3505.03 of the Revised Code.

1. Constitutional issues

132 OS 18, 4 NE(2d) 397 (1936), State ex rel Hawke v Myers. US Const Art II §1, vests the legislature with authority to direct the manner in which presidential electors shall be appointed, and as there is no provision in the Ohio Constitution limiting the exercise of that delegated power, GC 4785-107 (RC 3505.10) and 4785-108 (Repealed) are not unconstitutional.

318 FSupp 1262, 29 Misc 111 (SD Ohio 1970), Socialist Labor Party v Rhodes. RC 3505.10 is unconstitutional.

2. In general

31 OS(2d) 193, 287 NE(2d) 806 (1972), State ex rel Kay v Brown. If a national convention of an intermediate or minor political party is held, the only candidates which the secretary of state can accept for a place on the ballot are those chosen by such convention.

150 OS 127, 80 NE(2d) 899 (1948), State ex rel Beck v Hummel. Although names of candidates for election to offices of president and vice-president of the United States, who have been nominated as provided in GC 4785-107 (RC 3505.10), are authorized to be placed upon the presidential ballot of this state, no voter casts a direct vote for them and a ballot marked in their favor is counted only as a vote in favor of the electors who have been chosen pursuant to GC 4785-74 (RC 3513.11).

318 FSupp 1262, 29 Misc 111 (SD Ohio 1970), Socialist Labor Party v Rhodes. State officials enjoined from enforcing RC 3517.01, 3505.10, 3513.11, 3517.02, 3517.03, 3517.04 and 3513.12, insofar as these sections or provisions or parts thereof deprive plaintiffs of constitutionally guaranteed rights as adjudged.

122 FSupp 149, 73 Abs 353 (SD Ohio 1954), State ex rel Hawke v Brown. An action challenging the validity of GC 4785-91 and 4785-107 (RC 3513.27 and 3505.10) cannot be brought by one who has taken no action relative to the nomination and election of independent candidates for elector or other state officers.

OAG 68-013. A political party formed pursuant to RC 3517.01 must have a state convention to nominate its presidential electors pursuant to RC 3513.11, and a national convention to nominate its presidential candidate pursuant to RC 3513.12, in order for its candidate to have a place on the presidential ballot.

1932 OAG 4587. Under the provisions of GC 4785-91 (RC 3513.27) et seq., a group of petitioners may nominate presidential electors and upon the filing of a petition in the office of the secretary of state, the names of such presidential electors shall be considered as filed with the secretary of state and the names of its candidates for president and vice-president should appear upon the ballots.

3505.11 Ballots in tablets

The ballots, with the stubs attached, shall be bound into tablets for each precinct, which tablets shall contain at least one per cent more ballots than the total registration in the precinct. Upon the covers of such tablets shall be written, printed, or stamped the designation of the precinct for which the ballots have been prepared. All official ballots shall be printed uniformly upon the same kind and quality of paper, and shall be of the same shape, size, and type.

A contract for the printing of ballots involving a cost in excess of ten thousand dollars shall not be let until after five days' notice published once in a leading newspaper published in the county or upon notice given by mail by the board of elections, addressed to the responsible printing offices within the state. No bid unaccompanied by such bond shall be considered by the board. The board may, however, waive the requirement that each bid be accompanied by a bond if the cost of the contract is ten thousand dollars or less. The contract shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder in the state. All ballots shall be printed within the state.

OAG 65-139. A board of elections may let a contract for the printing of ballots to a bidder who does not reside in, but does do business in, the county.

1952 OAG 1682. A corporation, in which a principal stockholder is an employee of the auditor of state, may lawfully enter into a contract with a board of elections for the printing of ballots unless said employee, in the performance of his official duties, exercises some of the auditor's duties as chief inspector and supervisor of public offices or exercises some of the auditor's administrative duties over the bureau of inspection. When a board of elections has entered into such a contract and has accepted and used such ballots, the contract can be rescinded and the money recovered only upon a showing that the contract was made fraudulently or in violation of a specific statutory prohibition.

1928 OAG 2635. A board of deputy state supervisors of elections may award a contract for the printing of ballots to the lowest responsible bidder, even though such bidder is not the lowest bidder. Such action of the board will not be disturbed unless a clear showing is made to the courts that its action constitutes an abuse of discretion.

3505.14 Proofs of ballot

After the letting of the contract for the printing of the ballots as provided in section 3505.13 of the Revised Code, the board of elections shall secure from the printer printed proofs of the ballot, and shall notify the chairman of the local executive committee of each party or group represented on the ballot by candidates or issues, and post such proofs in a public place in the office of the board for a period of at least twenty-four hours for inspection and correction of any errors appearing thereon. The board shall cause such proofs to be read with care and after correcting any errors shall return the corrected copy to the printer.

3505.15 Packaging of ballots

The board of elections shall make adequate provision for the inspection of the printing of the ballots. The person to whom the contract for printing the ballots is let shall seal them securely in packages, one package for each precinct in the county or civil division in which the election is to be held, place a paper cover over them, and indicate on such cover the number of ballots contained therein with a space to indicate the precinct, and deliver them to the board at such time and place as the board directs. VOTING PROCEDURE

3505.18 Voting procedure

When an elector appears in a polling place to vote he shall announce his full name and address to the precinct election officials. He shall then write his name and address at the proper place in the poll lists or signature pollbooks provided therefor, except that if, for any reason, an elector shall be unable to write his name and address in the poll list or signature pollbook, the elector may make his mark at the place intended for his name and a precinct official shall write the name of the elector at the proper place on the poll list or signature pollbook following the elector's mark, upon the presentation of proper identification. The making of such mark shall be attested by the precinct official who shall evidence the same by signing his name on the poll list or signature pollbook as a witness to such mark.

The elector's signature in the poll lists or signature pollbooks shall then be compared with his signature on his registration form, and if, in the opinion of a majority of the precinct election officials, the signatures are the signatures of the same person, the clerks shall enter the date of the election on such registration form. If the right of the elector to vote is not then challenged, or, if being challenged, he establishes his right to vote, he shall be allowed to proceed into the voting machine. If voting machines are not being used in that precinct, the judge in charge of ballots shall then detach the next ballots to be issued to such elector from Stub B attached to each ballot, leaving Stub A attached to each ballot, hand the ballots to the elector, and call his name and the stub number on each of such ballots. The clerk shall enter such stub numbers opposite the signature of such elector in the pollbook. The elector shall then retire to one of the voting compartments to mark his ballots. No mark shall be made on any ballot which would in any way enable any person to identify the person who voted such ballot.

3505.19 Registered elector may be challenged

Any person registered as an elector may be challenged by any qualified elector as to his right to vote at any election. Such qualified elector may, at any time during the year, either by appearing in person at the office of the board of elections, or by letter addressed to the board, challenge the right of such registered elector to vote. Any such challenge must state the ground upon which the challenge is made, and must be signed by the challenger giving his address and voting precinct. If, after public hearing, of which both the challenger and challenged shall be notified, the board is satisfied that the challenge is well taken, the director shall so indicate on the registration cards and he shall so notify in writing the judges and clerks of the precinct. If such challenged person offers to vote at such election he shall be examined as in the case of an original challenge. If such person establishes, to the satisfaction of the judges and clerks, that his disabilities have been removed and that he has a right to vote, he shall be permitted to vote.

3505.20 Challenge of voter at polling place

Any person offering to vote may be challenged at the polling place by any challenger, any elector then lawfully in the polling place, or by any judge or clerk of elections. If the board of elections has ruled on the question presented by a challenge prior to election day, its finding and decision shall be final and the presiding judge shall be notified in writing. If the board has not ruled, the question shall be determined as set forth in this section. If any person is so challenged as unqualified to vote, the presiding judge shall tender him the following oath: "You do swear or affirm that you will fully and truly answer all of the following questions put to you, touching your place of residence and your qualifications as an elector at this election."

(A) If the person is challenged as unqualified on the ground that he is not a citizen, the judges shall put the following questions:

(1) Are you a citizen of the United States?

(2) Are you a native or naturalized citizen?

(3) Where were you born?

If the person offering to vote claims to be a naturalized citizen of the United States, he shall, before the vote is received, either produce for inspection of the judges a certificate of naturalization and declare under oath that he is the identical person named therein, or state under oath when and where he was naturalized, that he has had a certificate of his naturalization, and that it is lost, destroyed, or beyond his power to produce to the judges. If he states under oath that, by reason of the naturalization of his parents or one of them, he has become a citizen of the United States, and when or where his parents were naturalized, the certificate of naturalization need not be produced.

(B) If the person is challenged as unqualified on the ground that he has not resided in this state for thirty days immediately preceding the election, the judges shall put the following questions:

(1) Have you resided in this state for thirty days immediately preceding this election? If so, where have you resided? Name two persons who know of your place of residence.

(2) Have you been absent from this state within the thirty days immediately preceding this election? If yes, then the following questions:

(a) When you left this state, did you leave for a temporary purpose with the design of returning or for the purpose of remaining away?

(b) Did you, while absent, look upon and regard this state as your home?

(c) Did you, while absent, vote in any other state?

(C) If the person is challenged as unqualified on the ground that he is not a resident of the county or precinct where he offers to vote, the judges shall put the following questions:

(1) Do you now reside in this county?

(2) Do you now reside in this precinct?

(3) When you came into this precinct, did you come for a temporary purpose merely or for the purpose of making it your home?

(D) If the person is challenged as unqualified on the ground that he is not of legal voting age, the judges shall put the following question:

Are you eighteen years of age or more to the best of your knowledge and belief?

The presiding judge shall put such other questions to the person challenged under respective heads designated by this section, as are necessary to test his qualifications as an elector at the election. If a person challenged refuses to answer fully any question put to him, is unable to answer the questions as they were answered on the registration form by the person under whose name he offers to vote, refuses to sign his name or make his mark, or if for any other reason a majority of the judges believes he is not entitled to vote, the judges shall refuse him a ballot.

A qualified citizen who has certified his intention to vote for president and vice-president as provided by Chapter 3504. of the Revised Code shall be eligible to receive only the ballot containing presidential and vice-presidential candidates.

The decision of said judges shall be final as to the right of the person challenged to vote at such election.

However, prior to the day of election, any person qualified to vote may challenge the right of any other person to be registered as a voter, or the right to cast an absent voter's ballot, or to make application for such ballot. Such challenge shall be made in writing to the board of elections of the county in which the voting residence of the challenged voter is situated and such board shall make a final determination relative to the legality of such registration or application.

3505.21 Challengers and witnesses

At any primary, special, or general election, any political party supporting candidates to be voted upon at such election and any group of five or more candidates may appoint to any of the polling places in the county or city one person, a qualified elector, who shall serve as challenger for such party or such candidates during the casting of the ballots, and one person, a qualified elector, who shall serve as witness during the counting of the ballots; provided that one such person may be appointed to serve as both challenger and witness. No candidate, no uniformed peace officer as defined by section 2935.01 of the Revised Code, no uniformed state highway patrol trooper, no uniformed member of any fire department, no uniformed member of the armed services, no uniformed member of the organized militia, no person wearing any other uniform and no person carrying a firearm or other deadly weapon shall serve as a witness or challenger nor shall any candidate be represented by more than one challenger and one witness at any one polling place except that a candidate who is a member of a party controlling committee, as defined in section 3517.03 of the Revised Code, may serve as a witness or challenger. Any political party or group of candidates appointing witnesses or challengers shall notify the board of elections of the names and addresses of its appointees and the polling places at which they shall serve. Notification shall take place not less than eleven days before the election on forms prescribed by the secretary of state and may be amended by filing an amendment with the board of elections at any time until four p.m. of the day before the election. The challenger and witness serving on behalf of a political party shall be appointed in writing by the chairman and secretary of the respective controlling party committees. Challengers and witnesses serving for any five or more candidates shall have their certificates signed by such candidates. Challengers and witnesses so appointed may file their certificates of appointment with the presiding judge of the precinct at the meeting on the evening prior to the election, or with the presiding judge of the precinct on the day of the election. Witnesses shall not be admitted to the booths before the closing of the polls except for the purpose of filing their certificates. Upon the filing of a certificate the person named as challenger therein shall be permitted to be in and about the polling place during the casting of the ballots and shall be permitted to watch every proceeding of the judges and clerks of elections from the time of the opening until the closing of the polls. Any such witnesses so appointed may inspect the counting of the ballots in the precinct from the time of the closing of the polls until the counting is completed and the final returns are certified and signed. The judges of elections shall protect such challengers and witnesses in all of the rights and privileges granted to them by Title XXXV of the Revised Code.

No persons other than the judges and clerks of elections, the witnesses, a police officer, other persons who are detailed to any precinct on request of the board of elections, or the secretary of state or his legal representative shall be admitted to the polling place after the closing of the polls until the counting, certifying, and signing of the final returns of each election have been completed.

Not later than eleven days prior to an election at which questions are to be submitted to a vote of the people, any committee which in good faith advocates or opposes a measure may file a petition with the board of any county asking that such petitioners be recognized as the committee entitled to appoint witnesses to the count at such election. If more than one committee alleging themselves to advocate or oppose the same measure file such petitions, the board shall decide and announce by registered mail to each committee not less than three days immediately preceding the election which committee is entitled to appoint such witnesses. Such decision shall not be final, but any aggrieved party may institute mandamus proceedings in the court of common pleas of the county wherein such board has jurisdiction to compel the judges of elections to accept the appointees of such aggrieved party. Any such recognized committee may appoint a challenger and a witness to the count in each precinct. Committees appointing witnesses or challengers shall notify the board of elections of the names and addresses of its appointees and the polling places at which they shall serve. Notification shall take place not less than eleven days before the election on forms prescribed by the secretary of state and may be amended by filing an amendment with the board of elections at any time until four p.m. on the day before the election. A person so appointed shall file his certificate of appointment with the presiding judge in the precinct in which he has been appointed to serve. Witnesses shall file their certificates before the polls are closed. In no case shall more than six such challengers and six witnesses be appointed for any one election in any one precinct. If more than three questions are to be voted on, the committees which have appointed challengers and witnesses may agree upon not to exceed six challengers and six witnesses, and the judges of elections shall appoint such challengers and witnesses. If such committees fail to agree, the judges of elections shall appoint six challengers and six witnesses from the appointees so certified, in such manner that each side of the several questions shall be represented.

No person shall serve as a witness or challenger at any polling place unless the board of elections of the county in which such witness or challenger is to serve has first been notified of the name, address, and polling place at which such witness or challenger is to serve. Notification to the board of elections shall be given by the political party, group of candidates, or committee appointing such witness or challenger as prescribed in this section. No such challengers and witnesses shall receive any compensation from the county, municipal corporation, or township, and they shall take the following oath, to be administered by one of the judges of elections:

"You do solemnly swear that you will faithfully and impartially discharge the duties as an official challenger and witness, assigned by law; that you will not cause any delay to persons offering to vote, further than is necessary to procure satisfactory information of their qualification as electors; and that you will not disclose or communicate to any person how any elector has voted at such election."

3505.22 Impersonating an elector

If any precinct officer, challenger, or other elector has reason to believe that a person is impersonating an elector, then such person, before he is given a ballot, shall be questioned as to his right to vote, and shall be required to sign his name or make his mark in ink on a card to be provided therefor. If, in the opinion of a majority of the precinct officers, the signature is not that of the person who signed such name in the registration forms, then such person may be refused a ballot. Such person may appeal to the board of elections and if the board finds that he is eligible to vote, an order instructing the precinct officer to permit him to vote shall be given to such person. Such order shall be recognized by such precinct officers when presented and signed and such person shall be permitted to vote.

3505.23 Marking the ballot

No voter shall be allowed to occupy a voting compartment or use a voting machine more than five minutes when all the voting compartments or machines are in use and voters are waiting to occupy them. Except as otherwise provided by section 3505.24 of the Revised Code, no voter shall occupy a voting compartment or machine with another person or speak to anyone, nor shall anyone speak to him, while he is in a voting compartment or machine.

In precincts that do not use voting machines the following procedure shall be followed:

If a voter tears, soils, defaces, or erroneously marks a ballot he may return it to the precinct election officials and a second ballot shall be issued to him. Before returning a torn, soiled, defaced, or erroneously marked ballot the voter shall fold it so as to conceal any marks he made upon it, but he shall not remove Stub A therefrom. If the voter tears, soils, defaces, or erroneously marks such second ballot he may return it to the precinct election officials and a third ballot shall be issued to him. In no case shall more than three ballots be issued to a voter. Upon receiving a returned torn, soiled, defaced, or erroneously marked ballot the precinct election officials shall detach Stub A therefrom, write "Defaced" on the back of such ballot, and place the stub and the ballot in the separate containers provided therefor.

No elector shall leave the polling place until he returns to the precinct election officials every ballot issued to him with Stub A on each ballot attached thereto, regardless of whether he has or has not placed any marks upon the ballot.

Before leaving the voting compartment the voter shall fold each ballot marked by him so that no part of the face of the ballot is visible, and so that the printing thereon indicating the kind of ballot it is and the facsimile signatures of the members of the board of elections are visible. He shall then leave the voting compartment, deliver his ballots, and state his name to the judge having charge of the ballot boxes, who shall announce the name, detach Stub A from each ballot, and announce the number on the stubs. The clerks in charge of the poll lists or poll books shall check to ascertain whether the number so announced is the number on Stub B of the ballots issued to such voter, and if no discrepancy appears to exist, the judge in charge of the ballot boxes shall, in the presence of the voter, deposit each such ballot in the proper ballot box and shall place Stub A from each ballot in the container provided therefor. The voter shall then immediately leave the polling place.

No ballot delivered by a voter to the judge in charge of the ballot boxes with Stub A detached therefrom, and only ballots provided in accordance with Title XXXV of the Revised Code, shall be voted or deposited in the ballot boxes.

In marking a presidential ballot the voter shall place "X" in the rectangular space at the left of the names of the candidates for the offices of president and vice-president. Such ballot shall be considered and counted as a vote for each of the candidates for election as presidential elector whose names were certified to the secretary of state by the political party of such nominees for president and vice-president.

In marking an office type ballot or a nonpartisan ballot the voter shall place "X" in the rectangular space at the left of the name of each candidate for whom he desires to vote.

In marking a primary election ballot the voter shall place "X" in the rectangular space at the left of the name of each candidate for whom he desires to vote. If the voter desires to vote for the nomination of a person whose name is not printed on the primary election ballot he may do so by writing such person's name on the ballot in the proper place provided for such purpose.

In marking a questions and issues ballot the voter shall place "X" in the rectangular space provided on the ballot at the left or at the right of "YES" or "NO" or other words of similar import which are printed on the ballot to enable the voter to indicate how he votes in connection with each question or issue upon which he desires to vote.

In marking any ballot on which a blank space has been provided wherein an elector may write in the name of a person for whom he desires to vote, the elector shall write such person's name in such blank space and on no other place on the ballot. Unless specific provision is made by statute, no blank space shall be provided on a ballot for write-in votes, and any names written on a ballot other than in a blank space provided therefor shall not be counted or recorded.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

149 OS 498, 79 NE(2d) 662 (1948), King v Kerwin. Erasure of pencil mark before name of candidate or blacking out of mark, and placing new X-marks in squares before names of other candidates, did not constitute soiling or defacing, nor has voter thereby voted for more candidates than there were offices.

133 OS 409, 14 NE(2d) 22 (1938), Whitacre v Waggoner. Provision which requires that all marks on ballot must be made with black lead pencil is mandatory; absent voter's ballot voted by placing cross-mark in ink thereon is invalid and must be rejected.

91 OS 28, 109 NE 526 (1914), Wellsville v Connor. The elector who has caused his ballot to be deposited as provided in former GC 5075 (Repealed), exhausted his privilege.

5 App(2d) 19, 195 NE(2d) 606 (1964), Pintaric v McHale. Clear and convincing proof of fraud or of the fact that a mistake of election officers does affect the result of, or render uncertain, an election is required to warrant judicial interference with the result of such election; and the fact that a bag of unused ballots is missing and unavailable for purposes of a recount is not sufficient ground for invalidating such election, in the absence of showing fraud or an attempt to deceive or mislead and that the result of such election is uncertain and affected thereby.

5 App(2d) 19, 195 NE(2d) 606 (1964), Pintaric v McHale. Election was not rendered invalid by the fact that unused ballots and stubs were missing at time of recount.

35 App 271, 172 NE 391 (1928), Mullen v State. Absent voters' ballots marked with ink were void and incapable of being counted under former GC 5069 (Repealed).

393 US 23, 89 SCt 5, 21 LEd(2d) 24 (1968), Williams v Rhodes. Ohio's election laws which require new political parties seeking ballot position in presidential elections to obtain petitions signed by qualified electors totalling 15% of the number of ballots cast in the last gubernatorial election and to file these petitions early in February of the election year violate the Equal Protection Clause.

1948 OAG 3785. A presidential ballot marked with an "X" in the circle at the top of either the democratic or republican ticket and also marked with an "X" in the rectangular space before the name of one or more of the twenty-five independent candidates for presidential elector should be counted only as a vote for those independent candidates at the left of whose names such "X" is placed.

1948 OAG 3785. A presidential ballot bearing an "X" in the shaded space at the top of the column in which the names of the twenty-five candidates for presidential elector appear and also an "X" mark in the circular space appearing at the top of either the democratic or republican ticket should be counted as a vote for the twenty-five presidential electors nominated by the democratic or republican state convention as the case may be.

3505.24 Assisting voter in marking ballot because of illiteracy, physical infirmity or blindness

Any elector who declares to the presiding judge of elections that he is unable to mark his ballot by reason of either illiteracy or physical infirmity may receive the assistance of two election officials of different political parties. If a physical infirmity is apparent to the judges to be sufficient to incapacitate the voter from marking his ballot properly, the elector may upon request be aided by a near relative who shall be admitted to the booth with such elector, or he may receive the assistance in the marking thereof of the two officials of elections belonging to different political parties, and they shall thereafter give no information in regard to this matter; except that a blind person, as defined under section 4511.47 of the Revised Code, may be accompanied in the voting booth and aided by any person of his choice. Any judge may require such declaration of inability to be made by the elector under oath before him. Such assistance shall not be rendered for other causes and no candidate whose name appears on the ballot shall assist any person in marking that person's ballot.

3505.27 Counting of votes

The counting and tallying of all ballots shall be done in the presence and full view of all judges and clerks of elections and witnesses, and shall be conducted as follows:

One of the judges shall take a ballot and shall read aloud distinctly the names of the candidates voted for and the vote on any questions or issues that were submitted. A clerk of the opposite political party shall tally the votes on work sheets furnished by the board of elections. A judge of the same political party as the clerk shall verify the votes so read and tallied. The same procedure shall be followed until all of the ballots have been counted. The clerk shall enter on his work sheet the number of tallies thereon for each candidate and question or issue and shall add thereto the number of tallies for such candidate and question or issue which appear on any other work sheet that has been used so that every work sheet will show the total vote cast for each candidate and question or issue that appears thereon. The presiding judge shall examine the work sheets and when he is satisfied that the tallies have been properly counted and entered he shall sign the same and cause the total vote for each candidate and question or issue to be inserted in each of the pollbooks in the column provided for same. The pollbooks shall then be compared to see that they are alike.

The board may prescribe additional procedure which appears necessary to assure an accurate count.

All work sheets must be preserved and placed inside the pollbooks and returned to the board.

If there is any disagreement as to how a ballot should be counted it shall be submitted to all of the judges. If three of the judges do not agree as to how any part of the ballot shall be counted, that part of such ballot which three of the judges do agree shall be counted and a notation made upon the ballot indicating what part has not been counted, and shall be placed in an envelope provided for that purpose, marked "Disputed Ballots" and returned to the board.

Nothing in this section shall be construed as prohibiting the simultaneous counting and tallying of votes by more than one group of three election officials as above provided.

3505.31 Disposition of ballots, pollbooks, poll lists, and tally sheets

When the results of the voting in a polling place on the day of an election have been determined and entered upon the proper forms and the certifications thereof have been signed by the precinct officials, such officials, before leaving the polling place, shall place all ballots which they have counted in containers provided for such purpose by the board of elections, and shall seal each such container in such manner that it cannot be opened without breaking the seal or the material of which the container is made. They shall also seal each of the sets of pollbooks, poll lists or signature pollbooks, and tally sheets in such manner that the data contained in such sets cannot be seen without breaking the seals. On the outside of one of such sets they shall plainly indicate that it is to be filed with the board. The other of such sets shall be marked on the outside so that it plainly indicates that it is to be filed with the clerk of the court of common pleas, or the information contained within such sets of pollbooks shall be made available to the clerk of the court of common pleas. The presiding judge shall thereupon forthwith deliver to the board such containers of ballots and the sealed sets of pollbooks, poll lists, and tally sheets, together with all other election reports, materials, and supplies required to be delivered to such board.

The board shall carefully preserve all ballots prepared and provided by it for use in an election, whether used or unused, for sixty days after the day of such election. In the event an election is held within the sixty-day period, the board shall have authority to transfer such ballots to other containers to preserve the same until the sixty-day period has expired. Thereupon such ballots shall be disposed of by said board as wastepaper in such manner as said board orders, or where voting machines have been used the counters may be turned back to zero; provided that the secretary of state may, within such period of sixty days, order such board to preserve such ballots or any part thereof for a longer period of time, in which event said board shall preserve such ballots for such longer period of time.

In counties where voting machines are used, if an election is to be held within the sixty days immediately following a primary, general, or special election or within any period of time within which the ballots have been ordered preserved by the secretary of state or a court of competent jurisdiction, the board, after giving notice to all interested parties and affording them an opportunity to have a representative present, shall open the compartments of the machines and, without unlocking the machine, shall recanvass the vote cast therein as if a recount were being held.

The results shall be certified by the board and this certification shall be filed in the board's office and retained for the remainder of the period for which ballots must be kept. After preparation of the certificate, the counters may be turned back to zero and the machines may be used for the election.

The board shall carefully preserve the sets of pollbooks, poll lists or signature pollbooks, and tally sheets delivered to it from each polling place, and designated for filing with the clerk of the court of common pleas, until it has completed the official canvass of the election returns from all precincts in which electors were entitled to vote at such election, and has prepared and certified the abstracts thereof, as required by law. It shall thereupon deliver to the clerk of the court of common pleas of its county all of such sets of pollbooks, poll lists or signature pollbooks, and tally sheets, or the information contained therein. The board shall not break, or permit anyone to break, the seals upon such sets of pollbooks, poll lists or signature pollbooks, and tally sheets, nor make, or permit any one to make, any changes or notations therein, while such pollbooks, poll lists or signature pollbooks, and tally sheets are in its custody, except as provided by section 3505.32 of the Revised Code. The clerk of the court of common pleas shall carefully preserve all sets of pollbooks, poll lists or signature pollbooks, and tally sheets delivered to him by the board for two years after the day of the election in which they were used. Thereupon he shall dispose of same as wastepaper in such manner as he deems proper.

Pollbooks and poll lists or signature pollbooks of a party primary election delivered to the board from polling places shall be carefully preserved by it for two years after the day of election in which they were used, and shall thereupon be disposed of by said board as wastepaper in such manner as said board orders.

Pollbooks, poll lists or signature pollbooks, tally sheets, summary statements, and other records and returns of an election delivered to it from polling places shall be carefully preserved by the board for two years after the day of the election in which they were used, and shall thereupon be disposed of by said board as wastepaper in such manner as said board orders.

CANVASSES

3505.32 Canvass of returns

Not earlier than the eleventh day nor later than the fifteenth day after a general or special election, the board of elections shall begin to canvass the election returns from the precincts in which electors were entitled to vote at such election. It shall continue such canvass daily until it is completed and the results of the voting in such election in each of such precincts are determined.

The county executive committee of each political party, each committee designated in a petition nominating an independent or nonpartisan candidate for election at such election, each committee designated in a petition to represent the petitioners thereon pursuant to which a question or issue was submitted at such election, and any committee opposing a question or issue submitted at such election and which was permitted by section 3505.21 of the Revised Code to have a qualified elector serve as a witness during the counting of the ballots at each polling place at such election may designate a qualified elector who may be present and may witness the making of such official canvass.

The board shall first open all envelopes containing uncounted ballots and shall count and tally them. The board shall then examine that set of pollbooks, poll lists, and tally sheets received from each polling place for its files, and shall compare the results of the voting in such polling place with the summary statement received from such polling place. If it finds that such records, or any part thereof, are missing, or that they are incomplete, are not properly certified, or are ambiguous, or that the results of the voting in such polling place as shown on the summary statement from such polling place are different from the results of the voting in such polling place as shown by the pollbooks, poll lists, or tally sheets from such polling place, or that there is any other defect in such records, the board may examine that set of pollbooks, poll lists, and tally sheets received from such polling place for filing with the clerk of the court of common pleas, provided that it shall not break the seal on such set of pollbooks, poll lists, and tally sheets or examine same, except in the presence of the clerk or a deputy clerk of the court of common pleas. Upon request of the board, the clerk of the court of common pleas or one of his deputies designated by him for that purpose shall attend at the office of the board and witness the breaking of such seal and the examination of such set of pollbooks, poll lists, and tally sheets. The board may make such changes in both of said sets of pollbooks, poll lists, and tally sheets as it deems proper to correct errors or defects therein, but no such changes shall be made in the set of pollbooks, poll lists, and tally sheets to be filed with the clerk of the court of common pleas except in the presence of such clerk or his deputy, and, after examining or making any changes in the set of pollbooks, poll lists, and tally sheets which are to be filed with said clerk of the court of common pleas, said set shall be resealed in the presence of such clerk or his deputy.

In connection with its investigation of any apparent or suspected error or defect in the election returns from a polling place, the board may cause subpoenas to be issued and served requiring the attendance before it of the election officials of such polling place, and it may examine them under oath regarding the manner in which the votes were cast and counted in such polling place, or the manner in which the returns were prepared and certified, or as to any other matters bearing upon the voting and the counting of the votes in such polling place at such election.

If a person for whom votes were cast in a polling place at such election, or a member of the board, files with the board, at the time of, or prior to, the canvass of returns a written statement alleging that the board is unable to determine the correct result of the voting at such polling place at such election without opening the sealed container containing the ballots which were counted in such polling place at such election, and requesting that the board open such sealed container and count such ballots, the board, if it has reasonable cause to believe said allegations, upon the order of a majority of its members, shall open such sealed container and count such ballots, during the official canvass, in the presence of all of the members of the board and any other persons who are entitled to witness the official canvass.

65 OS(2d) 40, 417 NE(2d) 1375 (1981), State ex rel Byrd v Summit County Bd of Elections. Mandamus and quo warranto will not lie to compel the withdrawal of a certificate of election issued following an election, and cannot be substituted in lieu of a request for a recount pursuant to RC 3515.02, or a contest of election pursuant to RC 3515.09, since these sections provide the exclusive remedy for a recounting of the votes, or a correction of all errors, frauds, and mistakes which may occur at an election.

32 OS(2d) 23, 289 NE(2d) 349 (1972), State ex rel Fisher v Brown. With respect to candidates in an election in a county or in a subdivision or district less than a county, the secretary of state is not directly charged with any duty except to prescribe the form of the ballot.

171 OS 263, 169 NE(2d) 551 (1960), State ex rel Feighan v Green. Where, in the exercise of its discretionary authority under RC 3505.32 a board of elections opens sealed containers of ballots and "counts" them, and errors are found by it in its declaration of results and abstract previously certified, which errors required the issuance of a corrected declaration and abstract as provided in RC 3513.22, such procedure by the board of elections does not constitute a recount within the meaning of RC 3515.06 authorizing the person not nominated to make application for a recount of additional precincts not theretofore recounted.

66 App 482, 35 NE(2d) 474 (1940), State ex rel Farnsworth v McCabe. Fact that a county board of elections has canvassed and counted the returns from a precinct as made by the precinct officials which on its face shows that the total number of votes cast for the candidates for an office which was listed toward the end of the ballot is substantially less than the total number of votes cast for the candidates for the first office on the ballot does not indicate that the county board has been negligent in canvassing and counting such returns.

66 App 482, 35 NE(2d) 474 (1940), State ex rel Farnsworth v McCabe. This section does not authorize a county board of elections to examine and recount ballots returned by precinct officials.

3505.33 Board of elections to declare the results; tie vote; abstracts and reports; correcting certified abstract

When the board of elections has completed the canvass of the election returns from the precincts in its county, in which electors were entitled to vote at any general or special election, it shall determine and declare the results of the elections determined by the electors of such county or of a district or subdivision within such county. If more than the number of candidates to be elected to an office received the largest and an equal number of votes, such tie shall be resolved by lot by the chairman of the board in the presence of a majority of the members of the board. Such declaration shall be in writing and shall be signed by at least a majority of the members of the board. It shall bear the date of the day upon which it is made, and a copy thereof shall be posted by the board in a conspicuous place in its office. The board shall keep such copy posted for a period of at least five days.

Thereupon the board shall promptly certify abstracts of the results of such elections within its county, in such forms as the secretary of state prescribes. Such forms shall be designated and shall contain abstracts as follows:

Form No. 1. An abstract of the votes cast for the office of president and vice-president of the United States.

Form No. 2. An abstract of the votes cast for the office of governor and lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer of state, and attorney general.

Form No. 3. An abstract of the votes cast for the office of governor and lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer of state, attorney general, chief justice of the supreme court of Ohio, judge of the supreme court of Ohio, member of the senate of the congress of the United States, member at large of the house of representatives of the congress of the United States, district member of the house of representatives of the congress of the United States, and an abstract of the votes cast upon each question or issue submitted at such election to electors throughout the entire state.

Form No. 4. An abstract of the votes cast for the office of member of the senate of the general assembly, and member of the house of representatives of the general assembly.

Form No. 5. A report of the votes cast for the office of member of the state board of education, judge of the court of appeals, judge of the court of common pleas, judge of the probate court, county commissioner, county auditor, prosecuting attorney, clerk of the court of common pleas, sheriff, county recorder, county treasurer, county engineer, and coroner.

Form No. 6. A report of the votes cast upon all questions and issues other than such questions and issues which were submitted to electors throughout the entire state.

Form No. 7. A report of the votes cast for municipal offices, township offices, and the office of member of a board of education.

One copy of each of these forms shall be kept in the office of the board. One copy of each of these forms shall promptly be sent to the secretary of state, who shall place the records contained in forms No. 1, No. 2, No. 3, and No. 4 in electronic format. One copy of Form No. 2 shall promptly be mailed to the president of the senate of the general assembly at his office in the statehouse. The board shall also at once upon completion of the official count send a certified copy of that part of each of the forms which pertains to an election in which only electors of a district comprised of more than one county but less than all of the counties of the state voted to the board of the most populous county in such district. It shall also at once upon completion of the official count send a certified copy of that part of each of the forms which pertains to an election in which only electors of a subdivision located partly within the county voted to the board of the county in which the major portion of the population of such subdivision is located.

If, after certifying and sending abstracts and parts thereof, a board finds that any such abstract or part thereof is incorrect, it shall promptly prepare, certify, and send a corrected abstract or part thereof to take the place of each incorrect abstract or part thereof theretofore certified and sent.

Where there is a tie vote, and the tie is resolved by lot by the chairman of the board of elections, the loser of the drawing is then in the same position as if he had received the lowest number of votes originally, and cannot be certified as elected even if the winner should later fail to qualify for the office.

1951 OAG 199. Where two candidates for governor receive the highest and an equal number of votes in a precinct, the issue of which party shall be considered "the dominant political party" in that precinct shall be resolved by lot by the chairman of the board of elections according to the procedure established by this section, and the board shall then designate one of the judges who is a member of such "dominant political party" to serve as presiding judge in that precinct at the next election.

3505.34 Canvass of abstracts of votes for state offices

During the first week of the regular session of the general assembly following a regular state election, the president of the senate, in the presence of a majority of the members of each house of the general assembly, shall open, announce, and canvass the abstracts of the votes cast for the offices of governor and lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer of state, and attorney general, as contained in the Form No. 2 sent to him as required by section 3505.33 of the Revised Code, and shall determine and declare the results of such election for such offices. The joint candidates for governor and lieutenant governor and the candidate for each other office who received the largest number of votes shall be declared elected to such office. If two or more candidates for election to the same office, or two or more sets of joint candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, receive the largest and an equal number of votes, one of them, or one set of joint candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, shall be declared elected to such office by a majority of the votes of all of the members of the senate and the house of representatives of the general assembly. If said Form No. 2 has not at such time been received by the president of the senate from the board of elections of any county, the secretary of state, upon request of the president of the senate, shall furnish to him such copies of said Form No. 2 as have not been received by him. When said canvass has been completed and the results of the election declared, the president of the senate shall certify to the secretary of state the names of the persons declared elected together with the title of the office to which each has been elected, and from such certification the secretary of state shall issue a certificate of election to the officials declared elected and so certified to the secretary of state. Thereupon the governor shall forthwith issue a commission to each of the persons elected to such offices upon the payment to the secretary of state of the fee required by section 107.06 of the Revised Code.

1930 OAG 2679. When, under GC 4785-155 (RC 3505.35), the secretary of state has opened the abstracts submitted in accordance with GC 4785-153 (RC 3505.33), showing the votes cast for the offices included in the abstract submitted to the president of the senate, and publicly canvassed these returns, in the event he has reason to believe that material errors may exist in some of the abstracts from the various counties, it is his duty to require the boards of elections of such counties to recheck the abstracts to correct possible errors, thus enabling the president of the senate to have correct abstracts to canvass, as provided in O Const Art III §3, and this section.

3505.35 Canvass of abstracts by secretary of state

When the secretary of state has received from the board of elections of every county in the state Form No. 3, as provided for in section 3505.33 of the Revised Code, he shall promptly fix the time and place for the canvass of such abstracts, and the time fixed shall not be later than ten days after such abstracts have been received by the secretary of state from all counties. He shall notify the governor, auditor of state, attorney general, and the chairman of the state central committee of each political party of the time and place fixed. At such time and in the presence of such of the persons so notified who attend, the secretary of state shall canvass the abstracts contained in said Form No. 3 and shall determine and declare the results of all elections in which electors throughout the entire state voted. If two or more candidates for election to the same office, or two or more sets of joint candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, receive the largest and an equal number of votes, such tie shall be resolved by lot by the secretary of state. Such declaration of results by the secretary of state shall be in writing and shall be signed by him. It shall bear the date of the day upon which it is made, and a copy thereof shall be posted by the secretary of state in a conspicuous place in his office. He shall keep such copy posted for a period of at least five days.

Such declaration of results made by the secretary of state, insofar as it pertains to the offices of governor and lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer of state, and attorney general, is only for the purpose of fixing the time of the commencement of the period of time within which applications for recounts of votes may be filed as provided by section 3515.02 of the Revised Code.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS' DUTIES

3505.39 Meeting of presidential electors

The secretary of state shall immediately upon the completion of the canvass of election returns mail to each presidential elector so elected a certificate of his election and shall notify him to attend, at a place in the state capitol which the secretary of state shall select, at twelve noon on the day designated by the congress of the United States, a meeting of the state's presidential electors for the purpose of discharging the duties enjoined on them by the constitution of the United States. The secretary of state, ten days prior to such meeting, shall by letter remind each such elector of the meeting to be held for casting the vote of the state for president and vice-president of the United States. Each such elector shall give notice to the secretary of state before nine a.m. of that day whether or not he will be present at the appointed hour ready to perform his duties as a presidential elector. If at twelve noon at the place selected by the secretary of state presidential electors equal in number to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may at the time be entitled in the congress of the United States, are not present, the presidential electors present shall immediately proceed, in the presence of the governor and secretary of state, to appoint by ballot such number of persons to serve as presidential electors so that the number of duly elected presidential electors present at such time and place plus the presidential electors so appointed shall be equal in number to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state is at that time entitled in the congress of the United States; provided, that each such appointment shall be made by a separate ballot, and that all appointments to fill vacancies existing because duly elected presidential electors are not present shall be made before other appointments are made, and that in making each such appointment the person appointed shall be of the same political party as the duly elected presidential elector whose absence requires such appointment to be made. In case of a tie vote the governor shall determine the results by lot. The electors making such appointments shall certify forthwith to the secretary of state the names of the persons so appointed and the secretary of state shall immediately issue to such appointees certificates of their appointment and notify them thereof. All of the state's presidential electors, both those duly elected who are then present and those appointed as herein provided, shall then meet and organize by electing one of their number as chairman and by designating the secretary of state as ex officio secretary and shall then and there discharge all of the duties enjoined upon presidential electors by the constitution and laws of the United States. Each presidential elector shall receive ten dollars for each day's attendance in Columbus as such and mileage at the rate of ten cents per mile for the estimated distance by the usual route from his place of residence to Columbus. Such compensation and mileage shall be upon vouchers issued by the secretary of state, and shall be paid by the treasurer of state out of the general fund.

3506.02 Adoption of marking devices and tabulating equipment

Marking devices and automatic tabulating equipment, may be adopted for use in elections in any county or municipal corporation in the following manner:

(A) By the board of elections;

(B) By the board of county commissioners of such county or the legislative authority of such municipal corporation on the recommendation of the board of elections;

(C) By the affirmative vote of a majority of the electors of such county or municipal corporation voting upon the question of the adoption of such equipment in such county or municipal corporation.

If a petition signed by two per cent of the electors voting at the last preceding general election held in a county or municipal corporation is filed with the board of elections, such board shall submit to the electors of such county or municipal corporation at the next general election occurring not less than seventy-five days thereafter the question "Shall marking devices and automatic tabulating equipment be adopted in the county (or municipal corporation) of _____?" Upon the filing of such petition, the board of elections shall forthwith notify the board of county commissioners or the legislative authority of such municipal corporation, and such board or such legislative authority shall forthwith determine whether it would prefer to purchase or lease such equipment in whole or in part for cash and if so whether it will be necessary or advisable to issue bonds to provide funds for the purchase of such equipment, if adopted. If the board of county commissioners or legislative authority determines that it is necessary or advisable to issue bonds therefor, it shall by resolution provide for the submission on the same ballot, but as a separate issue, the question of issuing such bonds. If a majority of the electors voting on the question so submitted vote in the affirmative, such equipment shall be adopted.

Upon the adoption of marking devices and automatic tabulating equipment either by the action of the board of elections or by the board of county commissioners or by the legislative authority of a municipal corporation, on the recommendation of the board of elections or by the affirmative vote of a majority of the electors voting on the question of the adoption of such equipment, such board of county commissioners or such legislative authority shall acquire the equipment by any one or by any combination of the following methods:

(A) By purchasing in whole or in part such equipment and paying the purchase price therefor in cash; or out of the proceeds of the issuance and sale of bonds, provided the question of issuing bonds for such purpose was submitted to the vote of the electors of the county or municipal corporation pursuant to section 3506.02 of the Revised Code and provided the issuance of such bonds was approved;

(B) By purchasing in whole or in part such equipment and paying the purchase price in a series of consecutive annual approximately equal installments the number of which shall not exceed the estimated number of years of usefulness of such equipment, as determined by the fiscal officer of the county or municipal corporation and by issuing to the seller negotiable promissory notes of the county or municipal corporation, evidencing the annual installments to become due, specifying the terms of purchase, and bearing interest at a rate not exceeding the rate determined as provided in section 9.95 of the Revised Code, which notes shall not be subject to Chapter 133. of the Revised Code; provided the legislation authorizing the issuance of such notes shall make provision for levying and collecting annually by taxation amounts sufficient to pay the interest on such notes and to provide for the payment of the principal thereof when due, and provided that the amounts of such tax so levied each year may be reduced by the amount by which revenues available for appropriation for the payment of the expenses of conducting elections are appropriated for, and applied to, the payment of such interest and principal of such notes;

(C) By leasing such equipment in whole or in part under contract of lease which shall provide for the rental, and also may provide for an option to purchase them or parts of them at a fixed price with the rentals paid to be applied to the purchase price, and payments under such contracts of lease may be made by the county or municipal corporation out of funds of the county or municipal corporation not otherwise appropriated; or which may be appropriated by the board of county commissioners or the legislative authority of the municipal corporation, out of funds appropriated by the board of county commissioners to the board of elections for the costs and expenses of elections, with the approval of the board of elections; or out of the funds the board of county commissioners or legislative authority of the municipal corporation is authorized to provide by a levy and collection thereof annually by taxation.

3506.04 Purchase of marking devices in limited number; custody of equipment; experimental use

If it is impracticable to supply each election precinct with marking devices for use at the next election following the adoption of such equipment, as many shall be supplied for that election and the next succeeding elections as it is practicable to procure either by purchase or lease, or by a combination of both, and such equipment may be used in election precincts within the county or municipal corporation as the board of elections directs until such time as it is practicable to provide the total number of marking devices necessary to supply all precincts within the county or municipal corporation; provided that the total number of marking devices necessary to supply all precincts shall be procured by purchase or lease, or by a combination of both as soon as practicable after their adoption. Marking devices need not be provided for polling places in unincorporated areas and in villages having less than three hundred voters where it is not feasible in the opinion of the board to provide precincts of sufficient size to permit an economical use of marking devices.

Whenever any municipal corporation has acquired marking devices by purchase or lease, or by a combination of both, and they are later adopted for the entire county, such municipal corporation, if it has already paid in cash the full purchase price, shall be reimbursed by the county to the extent of the appraised value of such equipment. If it has not paid the full purchase price, the county shall take over and assume all future obligations of such municipal corporation under contracts of purchase or lease covering such equipment or reimburse the municipal corporation for all future payments made by it with respect thereto, whereupon such equipment shall become the property of the county.

The board of elections shall be charged with the custody of all equipment acquired by the county or by a municipal corporation within the county, and shall see that all such equipment is kept in proper working order and in good repair. The board of county commissioners of any county or the legislative authority of any municipal corporation, or the board of elections, upon recommendation of the board of elections, may, prior to the adoption of such equipment, acquire by purchase or lease or by loan, for the experimental use in a limited number of precincts, such equipment, and such experimental use shall be valid for all purposes as if such equipment had been formally adopted.

All equipment acquired by any county or municipal corporation by any of the methods provided for in this section shall be exempt from levy and taxation.

3506.05 Approval of marking devices and tabulating equipment

No marking device and associated automatic tabulating equipment shall be purchased, leased, or used in any county unless they, and a manual of procedures governing their use, have been approved by the secretary of state and unless the local county boards of elections have assured that a demonstration of the use of such equipment has been made available to all interested electors. Whenever approval is sought for a marking device, automatic tabulating equipment, and manual of procedures, the secretary of state shall appoint a board of examiners consisting of one competent and experienced election officer and two persons who are knowledgeable about the operation of such marking devices and tabulating equipment who shall serve during his term. For their services each member of such board shall receive two hundred dollars for each combination of marking device, tabulating equipment, and manual of procedures examined and reported. Neither the secretary of state, the board of examiners, nor any public officer who participates in the authorization, or purchase of such equipment shall have any pecuniary interest in any such equipment. The person having legal right to control use of the marking device, tabulating equipment, and manual of procedures, or his agent, may request the secretary of state to approve such equipment. Such request shall be accompanied by a fee of six hundred dollars and a detailed explanation of the construction and method of operation of the equipment and a full statement of its advantages. Within thirty days after such request and payment of such fee, the board of examiners shall examine the equipment and file with the secretary of state a written report thereon with its recommendations and its determination whether the equipment can be safely used by the voters at elections under the conditions prescribed in Title XXXV of the Revised Code. If the board finds that the equipment can be used safely and can be depended upon accurately and continuously to record and count the votes of electors, the secretary of state shall approve such equipment and shall notify the board of elections of such approval. Such equipment may then be adopted for use at elections. When such equipment has been approved, any improvement or change, or substitution of one computer for another that does not impair its accuracy, efficiency, or ability to meet such requirements shall not render necessary a re-examination or a reapproval thereof.

3506.19 Testing of tabulating equipment; copy of computer program to be filed with secretary of state

(A) Prior to the start of the count of the ballots, the board of elections shall have the automatic tabulating equipment tested to ascertain that it will accurately count the votes cast for all offices and on all questions and issues. Public notice of the time and place of the test shall be given by proclamation or posting as in the case of notice of elections. The test shall be conducted by processing a preaudited group of ballots so marked as to record a predetermined number of valid votes for each candidate and on each question and issue, and shall include for each office one or more ballots that have votes in excess of the number allowed by law in order to test the ability of the automatic tabulating equipment to reject such votes. In such test a different number of valid votes shall be assigned to each candidate for an office, and for and against each question and issue. If any error is detected, the cause therefor shall be ascertained and corrected and an errorless count shall be made and certified to by the board before the count is started. The tabulating equipment shall pass the same test at the beginning and conclusion of the election day count before the election returns are approved as official. On completion of the election day count, the programs, test materials, and ballots shall be sealed and retained as provided for paper ballots.

(B) A copy of any computer program needed to direct the reading of ballot cards by automatic equipment shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state prior to the election. The secretary of state may retain the program until the sixtieth day after the election.

ADOPTION AND ACQUISITION

3507.01 Adoption of voting machines

Voting machines may be adopted for use in elections in any county or municipal corporation in the following manner:

(A) By the board of county commissioners of such county or the legislative authority of such municipal corporation on the recommendation of the board of elections;

(B) By the affirmative vote of a majority of the electors of such county or municipal corporation voting upon the question of the adoption of voting machines in such county or municipal corporation.

If a petition signed by two per cent of the electors voting at the last preceding general election held in a county or municipal corporation is filed with the board of elections, such board shall submit to the electors of such county or municipal corporation at the next general election occurring not less than seventy-five days thereafter the question "Shall voting machines be adopted in the county (or municipal corporation) of _____?" Upon the filing of such petition, the board of elections shall forthwith notify the board of county commissioners or the legislative authority of the municipal corporation, and such board of county commissioners or the legislative authority of such municipal corporation shall forthwith determine whether it would prefer to purchase such machines in whole or in part for cash and if so whether it will be necessary or advisable to issue bonds to provide funds for the purchase of such voting machines, if adopted. If the board of county commissioners or legislative authority determines that it is necessary or advisable to issue bonds therefor, it shall by resolution provide for the submission on the same ballot, but as a separate issue, of the question of issuing such bonds. The question of issuing such bonds shall be submitted in the manner and form provided in Chapter 133. of the Revised Code, and such bonds, if approved, shall be issued in conformity with and subject to the limitations of such chapter. If a majority of the electors voting on the question so submitted vote in the affirmative, voting machines shall thereby be adopted.

135 OS 458, 21 NE(2d) 467 (1939), State ex rel Fisher v Sherman. Except where electors of a county voted to adopt voting machines prior to effective date of this section, such statute provides for purchase but not rental of voting machines for an entire county or municipality.

1946 OAG 1118. Under GC 4785-161 (RC 3705.02) as it stands in 1946, the electors of a county may adopt the use of voting machines but they have nothing to say concerning the discontinuance of use of the machines.

1939 OAG 868. Under holding of supreme court of Ohio in case of State ex rel Fisher v Sherman, 135 OS 458, 21 NE(2d) 467 (1939), since board of county commissioners has not authorized purchase of voting machines for entire county, and since there has been no adoption of voting machines by electorate of such county, board of elections may not lawfully enter into a contract or contracts providing for purchase of one or more voting machines for less than entire county and renting of an additional number sufficient to supply the entire county.

3507.03 Purchase of voting machines in limited number; custody of machines; experimental use

If it is impracticable to supply each election precinct with voting machines for use at the next election following the adoption of voting machines, as many shall be supplied for that election and the next succeeding elections as it is practicable to procure either by purchase or lease, or by a combination of both, and such voting machines may be used in such election precincts within the county or municipal corporation as the board of elections directs until such time as it is practicable to provide the total number of voting machines necessary to supply all precincts within the county or municipal corporation; provided that the total number of voting machines necessary to supply all precincts shall be procured by purchase or lease, or by a combination of both, as soon as practicable after their adoption. Voting machines need not be provided for polling places in unincorporated areas and in villages having less than three hundred voters where it is not feasible in the opinion of the board to provide precincts of sufficient size to permit an economical use of voting machines.

Whenever any municipal corporation has acquired voting machines by purchase or lease, or by a combination of both, and voting machines are later adopted for the entire county, such municipal corporation, if it has already paid in cash the full purchase price, shall be reimbursed by the county to the extent of the appraised value of all such machines. If it has not paid the full purchase price, the county shall take over and assume all future obligations of such municipal corporation under contracts of purchase or lease covering such machines or reimburse the municipal corporation for all future payments made by it with respect thereto, whereupon such machines shall become the property of the county.

The board of elections shall be charged with the custody of all voting machines acquired by the county or by a municipal corporation within the county, and shall see that all such machines are kept in proper working order and in good repair. The board of county commissioners of any county or the legislative authority of any municipal corporation, upon recommendation of the board of elections, may, prior to the adoption of voting machines, acquire by purchase or lease or by loan, for the experimental use in a limited number of precincts, any make of voting machines approved in accordance with sections 3507.04 and 3507.05 of the Revised Code, and such experimental use shall be as valid for all purposes as if such voting machines had been formally adopted. The board of elections may consolidate precincts temporarily for the experimental use of such machines.

All voting machines acquired by any county or municipal corporation by any of the methods provided for in this section shall be exempt from levy and taxation.

APPROVAL OF VOTING MACHINES

3507.04 Approval of voting machines

No make of voting machine shall be purchased or used in any county unless it has been approved by the secretary of state. Whenever a voting machine is presented for approval, the secretary of state shall appoint a board of voting machine examiners consisting of one competent and experienced election officer and two persons who are knowledgeable about the operation of such equipment who shall serve during his term. For their services each member of such board shall receive two hundred dollars for each machine examined and reported. Neither the secretary of state nor any public officer who participates in the authorization, examination, or purchase of voting machines shall have any pecuniary interest in any such machines. The owner of any voting machine, or his agent, may submit such machine to the secretary of state for examination and approval. Such submission shall be accompanied by a fee of six hundred dollars and a detailed explanation of the construction and method of operation of the machine and a full statement of its advantages. Within thirty days after such submission and payment of such fee, the board shall examine the machine and file with the secretary of state a written report thereon with its recommendations and its determination of whether the machine can be safely used by the voters at elections under the conditions prescribed in Title XXXV of the Revised Code. If the board finds that the machine can be used safely and can be depended upon accurately and continuously to record the votes of electors, the secretary of state shall approve such make of machines and shall notify boards of elections of such approval. Machines of its make may then be adopted for use at elections. When a machine has been approved, any improvement or change which does not impair its accuracy, efficiency, or ability to meet such requirements shall not render necessary a reexamination or reapproval thereof.

3507.05 Requirements of voting machines

No voting machine shall be approved by the board of voting machine examiners or the secretary of state, or be purchased, rented, or otherwise acquired, or used, unless it fulfills the following requirements:

(A) It shall permit and require voting in absolute secrecy, and shall be so constructed that no person can see or know for whom any other elector has voted or is voting, except an elector who is assisting a voter as prescribed by section 3505.24 of the Revised Code.

(B) It shall permit each elector to vote at any election for all persons and offices for whom and for which he is lawfully entitled to vote, whether or not the name of any such person appears on a ballot label as a candidate; to vote for as many persons for an office as he is entitled to vote for; and to vote for or against any question upon which he is entitled to vote.

(C) It shall preclude each elector from voting for any candidate or upon any question for whom or upon which he is not entitled to vote, from voting for more persons for any office than he is entitled to vote for, and from voting for any candidates for the same office or upon any question more than once.

(D) It shall permit each voter to deposit, write in, or affix, upon devices provided for that purpose, ballots containing the names of persons for whom he desires to vote, whose names do not appear upon the voting machine. Such devices shall be susceptible of identification as to party affiliations when used at a primary election.

(E) It shall permit each elector to change his vote for any candidate or upon any question appearing upon the ballot labels, up to the time he starts to register his vote.

(F) It shall permit each elector, at all presidential elections, by one device to vote for candidates of one party for president, vice-president, and presidential electors.

(G) It shall be capable of adjustment by election officers so as to permit each elector, at a primary election, to vote only for the candidates of the party with which he has declared his affiliation and shall preclude him from voting for any candidate seeking nomination by any other political party; and to vote for the candidates for nonpartisan nomination or election.

(H) It shall have separate voting devices for candidates and questions, which shall be arranged in separate rows or columns. It shall be so arranged that one or more adjacent rows or columns may be assigned to the candidates of each political party at primary elections.

(I) It shall have a counter, or other device, the register of which is visible from the outside of the machine, and which will show at any time during the voting the total number of electors who have voted; and also a protective counter, or other device, the register of which cannot be reset, which will record the cumulative total number of movements of the registering mechanism.

(J) It shall be provided with locks and seals by the use of which, immediately after the polls are closed or the operation of the machine for an election is completed, all movement of the registering mechanism is prevented.

(K) It shall have the capacity to contain the names of candidates constituting the tickets of at least five political parties, and independent groups and such number of questions not exceeding fifteen as the secretary of state shall specify.

(L) It shall be durably constructed of material of good quality in a neat and workmanlike manner, and in form which shall make it safely transportable.

(M) It shall be so constructed that a voter may readily learn the method of operating it, may expeditiously cast his vote for all candidates of his choice, and when operated properly shall register and record correctly and accurately every vote cast.

(N) It shall be provided with a screen, hood, or curtain, which will conceal the voter while voting. During the voting, it shall preclude every person from seeing or knowing the number of votes registered for any candidate or question and from tampering with any of the registering mechanism.

Before any voting machine is purchased, rented, or otherwise acquired, or used, the person or corporation owning or manufacturing such machine must give an adequate guarantee in writing and post a bond, accompanied by satisfactory surety, with the board of county commissioners or the legislative authority of the municipal corporation, guaranteeing and securing that such machines comply fully with the requirements of this section and will correctly, accurately, and continuously register and record every vote cast, and further guaranteeing such machines against defects in workmanship and materials for a period of five years from the date of acquisition thereof.

USE OF VOTING MACHINES

3507.06 Labels; grouping of names; rotation; political parties

The names of all candidates for an office shall be arranged in a group under the title of the office and printed on labels so that they may be rotated on the voting machine as provided in section 3505.03 of the Revised Code. Under the name of each candidate nominated at a primary election or certified by a party committee to fill a vacancy under section 3513.31 of the Revised Code, the name of the political party that nominated or certified the candidate shall be printed in less prominent type face than that in which the candidate's name is printed.

RC 3501.29, 3507.06, and 3507.14 are in pari materia and must be construed together; it is the duty of a board of elections to determine the number of voting machines to be used in each precinct by applying the standard laid down in RC 3501.29, one voting machine for every 100 qualified electors, and on the basis of such ratio determine the number of machines necessary to accommodate the number of qualified electors in each precinct.

3507.15 Rules and regulations

The secretary of state shall provide the board of elections, in any county adopting the voting machine, with rules, regulations, and instructions regarding the examination, testing, and use of the machine, the assignment of duties of booth officials, how to vote on the voting machine, how the vote shall be tallied and reported to the board, and such other rules, regulations, and instructions as are found necessary to insure the adequate care and custody of the machine, and the accurate registering, counting, and canvassing of the votes as required by sections 3507.01 to 3507.16, inclusive, of the Revised Code. The board in such counties shall be charged with the responsibility of providing for the adequate instruction of voters and election officials in the proper use of the voting machine. Such rules and regulations shall comply, in so far as practicable, with sections 3507.01 to 3507.16, inclusive, of the Revised Code. 3509.01 Absent voter's ballots

The board of elections of each county shall provide absent voter's ballots for use at every primary and general election, or special election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, designated by the general assembly for the purpose of submitting constitutional amendments proposed by the general assembly to the voters of the state. Such ballots shall be the same size, shall be printed on the same kind of paper and in the same form as has been approved for use at the election for which such ballots are to be voted; except that in counties using marking devices, ballot cards may be used for absent voter's ballots, and such absent voters may be instructed to mark said ballot cards with an "X" as in the use of paper ballots. The rotation of names of candidates shall be substantially complied with within the limitation of time allotted. Such ballots shall be designated as "Absent Voter's Ballots" and shall be printed and ready for use on the thirty-fifth day before the day of the election.

Absent voter's ballots provided for use at a general or primary election, or special election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, designated by the general assembly for the purpose of submitting constitutional amendments proposed by the general assembly to the voters of the state, shall include only such questions, issues, and candidacies as have been lawfully ordered submitted to the electors voting at such election.

Absent voter's ballots for special elections held on days other than the day on which general or primary elections are held, shall be ready for use as many days before the day of the election as reasonably possible under the laws governing the holding of such special election.

A copy of the absent voter's ballots shall be forwarded by the director of the board in each county to the secretary of state at least twenty-five days before the election.

Where, in a mandamus action instituted in the supreme court, substantial constitutional question involving state-wide special election on a proposed constitutional amendment is presented, and where relator has acted timely and in good faith, and where court finds because of delay by general assembly in adopting resolution proposing constitutional amendment it is impossible for secretary of state to substantially comply with provisions of RC 3505.01, and where court finds further that because of such delay it is impossible for county boards of elections to substantially comply with RC 3509.01; then, upon such findings by court, it becomes the clear legal duty of secretary of state to strike such proposed constitutional amendment from the ballot, and the court will exercise its jurisdiction.

Writ of prohibition is not available to prevent board of elections from using certain "absent voter's ballots" which were not "printed and ready for use thirty days before the date of the election" as required by this section as such use would be a purely ministerial act.

3509.02 Who may vote absent voter's ballot

Any qualified elector who is sixty-two years of age or over, or who will be absent from his polling place on the day of an election due to his entry into a hospital for medical or surgical treatment, or due to his confinement in a jail or workhouse under sentence for a misdemeanor or awaiting trial on a felony or misdemeanor, or who will be unable to vote on the day of an election on account of observance of his religious belief, or any qualified elector who will be absent from the county in which his voting residence is located on the day of an election, or any qualified elector who has a physical disability, illness, or infirmity may vote absent voter's ballots at an election. Any qualified elector who is a member of the organized militia, serving on active duty within the state of Ohio and who will be unable to vote on election day on account of such active duty may vote absent voter's ballots at such election. Any qualified elector who moves from one precinct to another in the same county on or prior to the thirty-first day preceding a general, primary, or special election and has not filed a notice of change of residence may vote absent voter's ballots at the next succeeding election as specified in division (E)(1)(b) of section 3503.11 of the Revised Code.

The secretary of state, an employee of the secretary of state, a member or employee of the board of elections, or polling place official, who is a qualified elector may vote by absentee ballot. Application shall be made to the board of elections of the county where his voting residence is situated.

1928 OAG 2766. Under former GC 5078-1 (Repealed), an elector found by the clerk of the board of deputy state supervisors of elections to be properly qualified in all other respects, was entitled to receive an absent voter's ballot upon the applicant's own statement that he found that he would be unavoidably absent from his own precinct on the day of election.

1928 OAG 2766. Where an applicant who is otherwise qualified, makes application for an absent voter's ballot and states that he will be unavoidably absent from his home precinct on the day of election, the clerk has no authority to refuse the applicant a ballot on the ground that he doubts the applicant's statement as to whether or not he will be unavoidably absent. That is a question that the applicant alone is to determine. It is the duty of a clerk in the first instance when application is made for an absent voter's ballot, to satisfy himself of the qualifications of the voter offering to vote, as to his residence in the precinct and his legal qualifications to vote. Finding these present, it is his duty at once to issue upon proper application the absent voter's ballot. If he is in doubt as to applicant's qualifications, it is his duty to satisfy himself upon that question by proper investigation without unnecessary delay.

The application shall include sufficient information to enable the director to determine the precinct in which the applicant's voting residence is located. If the applicant desires ballots to be mailed to him, the application shall state the mailing address.

A voter who will be outside the United States on the day of any election during a calendar year may use a single federal post card application to apply for absent voter's ballots. Such ballots shall be sent to the voter for use at the primary and general elections in that year and any special election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May in that year, designated by the general assembly for the purpose of submitting constitutional amendments proposed by the general assembly to the voters of the state unless the voter reports a change in his voting status to the board of elections or his intent to vote in any such election in the precinct in this state where he is registered to vote. Such an application shall be processed by the board of elections pursuant to section 3509.04 of the Revised Code the same as if the voter had applied separately for absent voter's ballots for each election. When mailing absent voter's ballots to a voter who applied for them by single federal post card application, the board shall enclose notification to the voter that he must report to the board subsequent changes in his voting status or his subsequent intent to vote in any such election in the precinct in this state where he is registered to vote. Such notification shall be in a form prescribed by the secretary of state. As used in this section, "voting status" means the voter's name at the time he applied for absent voter's ballots by single federal post card application and the voter's address outside the United States to which he requested that such ballots be sent.

Each application for absent voter's ballots shall be delivered to the director not earlier than the first day of January of the year of the elections for which the absent voter's ballots are requested or not earlier than ninety days before the day of the election at which the ballots are to be voted, whichever is earlier, and not later than twelve noon of the third day before the day of the election at which such ballots are to be voted.

1928 OAG 2756. An application for an absent voter's ballot must be made in writing and state that the applicant is a qualified elector in the precinct in the county in which he desires to vote and will be unavoidably absent from such precinct on election day and request that he receive the absent voter's ballot and bear the signature of said applicant.

3509.031 Procedure for absentee voting for member of militia on active duty in Ohio

Any qualified elector who is a member of the organized militia called to active duty within the state of Ohio and who will be unable to vote on election day on account of such active duty may make written application for absent voter's ballots to the director of elections for the county in which his voting residence is located. He may personally deliver such application to the director or may mail or otherwise send it to the director. Such application need not be in any particular form. It need only contain words which, liberally construed, indicate the request for ballots, the election for which such ballots are requested and, if the request is for primary election ballots, the party affiliation of the applicant. The applicant should indicate that he is a qualified elector, and that he is a member of the organized militia serving on active duty within the state of Ohio. Sufficient information should be included to enable the director to determine the precinct in which his voting residence is located. If the applicant desires that such ballots be mailed to him, the application shall state the address to which they shall be mailed.

Application to have such ballots mailed to such person may be made by the spouse of the militia member, the father, mother, father-in-law, mother-in-law, grandfather, grandmother, brother or sister of the whole blood or half blood, son, daughter, adopting parent, adopted child, stepparent, stepchild, uncle, aunt, nephew, or niece of such person. Such application shall be in writing upon a blank form furnished only by the director. The form of such application shall be prescribed by the secretary of state. The director shall furnish such blank form to any of the relatives specified in this section, desiring to make such application, only upon the request of such relative in person at the office of the board or upon the written request of such relative mailed to the office of the board. Such application, subscribed and sworn to by such applicant, shall contain:

(1) Full name of person for whom ballots are requested;

(2) Statement that such person is a qualified elector and that such person has a residence in the county and information as to the location of such voting residence;

(3) Statement that such person is a member of the organized militia serving on active duty within the state of Ohio;

(4) Statement that applicant bears a relationship to such person as specified in this section;

(5) Election for which ballots are requested, and, if for a primary election, party affiliation of persons for whom ballots are requested;

(6) Address to which ballots shall be mailed;

(7) Signature and address of person making the application.

Applications to have absent voter's ballots mailed shall not be valid if dated, postmarked, or received by the director prior to the ninetieth day before the day of the election for which ballots are requested or if delivered to such director later than twelve noon of the third day preceding the day of such election. If, after the ninetieth day and before four p.m. of the day before the day of an election, a valid application for absent voter's ballots is delivered to the director of elections at the office of the board by a militia member making such application in his own behalf the director shall forthwith deliver to such militia member all absent voter's ballots then ready for use, together with an identification envelope. Such militia member shall then vote such ballots in the manner provided in section 3509.05 of the Revised Code.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

1928 OAG 2766. An absent voter's ballot and accompanying supplies may and should be delivered to an applicant entitled thereto in person, or by sending same by registered mail.

3509.05 Voting procedure; outside United States on election day

(A) When an absent voter's ballot, pursuant to his application or request therefor, is received by the elector, he shall, before placing any marks thereon, note whether there are any voting marks on the ballot. In the event there are any voting marks, the ballot shall be returned immediately to the board of elections; otherwise he shall cause the ballot to be marked, folded in such manner that the stub thereon and the indorsements and facsimile signatures of the members of the board of elections on the back thereof are visible, and placed and sealed within the identification envelope received from the director of elections for that purpose. Then the elector shall cause the statement of voter on the outside of the identification envelope to be completed and signed, under penalty of election falsification.

The elector shall then mail the identification envelope to the director from whom it was received in the return envelope, postage prepaid, or he may personally deliver it to the director, or the spouse of the elector, the father, mother, father-in-law, mother-in-law, grandfather, grandmother, brother, or sister of the whole or half blood, or the son, daughter, adopting parent, adopted child, stepparent, stepchild, uncle, aunt, nephew, or niece of the elector may deliver it to the director, but the return envelope shall be transmitted to the director in no other manner, except as provided in section 3509.08 of the Revised Code.

Each elector who will be outside the United States on the day of the election shall check the box on the return envelope indicating this fact.

When absent voter's ballots are delivered to an elector at the office of the board, the elector may retire to a voting compartment provided by the board and there mark the ballots. Thereupon he shall fold them, place them in the identification envelope provided, seal the identification envelope, fill in and sign the statement thereon under penalty of election falsification, and deliver the envelope to the director of the board.

Except as otherwise provided in division (B) of this section, all other envelopes containing marked absent voter's ballots, shall be delivered to the director not later than the close of the polls on the day of an election. Absent voter's ballots delivered to the director later than the times specified shall not be counted, but shall be kept by the board in the sealed identification envelopes in which they are delivered to the director, until the time provided by section 3505.31 of the Revised Code for the destruction of all other ballots used at the election for which ballots were provided, at which time they shall be destroyed.

(B) Any return envelope that indicates that the voter will be outside the United States on the day of the election shall be delivered to the director prior to the eleventh day after the election. Ballots delivered in such envelopes that are received after the close of the polls on election day through the tenth day thereafter shall be counted on the eleventh day at the board of elections in the manner provided in divisions (C) and (D) of section 3509.06 of the Revised Code. Any such ballots that are signed or postmarked after the close of the polls on the day of the election or that are received by the director later than the tenth day following the election shall not be counted, but shall be kept by the board in the sealed identification envelopes as provided in division (A) of this section.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

135 OS 369, 21 NE(2d) 108 (1939), Jolly v Deeds. Error on part of board of elections in preparing an affidavit does not excuse voter from definite duty to supply complete information and to read affidavit before signing it, and casting of an absentee voter's ballot which does not meet the plain and material requirements of statute is invalid since it is important that every ballot be cast in the proper precinct.

3509.06 Counting of ballots

(A) The board of elections shall determine whether absent voter's ballots shall be counted in each precinct, at the office of the board, or at some other location designated by the board, and shall proceed accordingly under division (B) or (C) of this section.

(B) When the board of elections determines that absent voter's ballots shall be counted in each precinct, the director shall deliver to the presiding judge of each precinct on election day identification envelopes purporting to contain absent voter's ballots of electors whose voting residence appears from the statement of voter on the outside of each of such envelopes, to be located in such presiding judge's precinct, and which were received by the director not later than the close of the polls on election day. The director shall deliver to such presiding judge a list containing the name and voting residence of each person whose voting residence is in such precinct to whom absent voter's ballots were mailed.

(C) When the board of elections determines that absent voter's ballots shall be counted at the office of the board of elections or at another location designated by the board, special election judges shall be appointed by the board for that purpose having the same authority as is exercised by precinct judges. The votes so cast shall be added to the vote totals by the board, and the absentee ballots shall be preserved separately by the board, in the same manner and for the same length of time as provided by section 3505.31 of the Revised Code.

(D) Each of the envelopes purporting to contain absent voter's ballots delivered to the presiding judge of the precinct or the special judge appointed by the board of elections shall be handled as follows: The judge shall announce the name of the elector who appears to have signed the statement of voter on the outside of such envelope. In counties in which absent voter's ballots are counted in each precinct, the signature of the elector on the outside of such envelope shall be compared with the signature of such elector on his registration form. Any appointed challenger or any of the precinct officials may challenge the right of the elector named on such identification envelope to vote such absent voter's ballots upon the ground that the signature on such envelope is not the same as the signature on such registration form, or upon any other of the grounds upon which the right of persons to vote may be lawfully challenged. If no such challenge is made, or if such a challenge is made and not sustained, the presiding judge shall open the envelope without defacing the statement of voter and without mutilating the ballots therein, and shall remove the ballots contained therein and proceed to count them.

The name of each person voting who is entitled to vote only an absent voter's presidential ballot shall be entered in a pollbook or poll list or signature pollbook followed by the words "Absentee Presidential Ballot." The name of each person voting an absent voter's ballot, other than such persons entitled to vote only a presidential ballot, shall be entered in the pollbook or poll list or signature pollbook and his registration card marked to indicate that he has voted.

The date of such election shall also be entered on the elector's registration form. If any such challenge is made and sustained, the identification envelope of such elector shall not be opened and shall be endorsed "Not Counted" with the reasons therefor, and shall be delivered to the board.

Special election judges or employees or members of the board of elections shall not disclose the count or any portion of the count of absent voter's ballots prior to the time of the closing of the polling places.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

56 OS(3d) 1, 564 NE(2d) 407 (1990), State ex rel Bennett v Boards of Elections of Ohio Counties. Upon an action seeking a writ of mandamus to require the boards of elections in eighty-eight counties of the state to count "walk-in" ballots that were cast under RC 3503.11(E)(1)(b) as amended by 1990 HB 237, in the election held November 6, 1990, and all other absent voter ballots cast at that election, in a way that will maintain the absolute secrecy of the ballots, it is ordered that the secretary of state and boards of elections proceed to count the ballots in accordance with RC 3509.06, and that they set aside and refrain from opening any ballot that has been challenged.

35 App 271, 172 NE 391 (1928), Mullen v State. Absent voter's ballot was subject to right to challenge until after ballot had been opened at primary election (former GC 4866, 5073, 5078-5 (RC 3347.03, 3505.23, 3509.06)).

1930 OAG 1461. In the event a board of deputy state supervisors of elections failed to deliver to a precinct before the close of the polls the absent voters' ballots as provided in former GC 5078-5 (RC 3509.06) as in force and effect prior to January 1, 1930, and such absent voters' ballots, which were accordingly not counted, appear to have been such as to change the result of the election of one of the members of a board of education of a rural school district, any relief to one who feels himself entitled to the office should be secured through a court action in mandamus, quo warranto, or otherwise, there being no provision for a reconsideration by a board of education after such board has canvassed the vote.

1924 OAG p 667. Under the provisions of former GC 5078-5 (RC 3509.06), absent voters' ballots received by the deputy state supervisors of elections after the closing of the polls on election day cannot be counted.

1922 OAG p 905. An elector cannot vote absent voter's ballot and then go to polls on election day and withdraw it; the same safeguards surrounding the casting of an ordinary ballot should be employed by election officials to prevent fraudulent voting in the case of a so-called absent voter's ballot.

3509.07 Rejection of absentee vote

If it is found that the statement accompanying an absent voter's ballot or absent voter's presidential ballot is insufficient, that the signatures do not correspond with his registration signature, that the applicant is not a qualified elector in the precinct, that the ballot envelope contains more than one ballot of any one kind, or any voted ballot which such elector is not entitled to vote, such vote shall not be accepted or counted. Whenever it appears to the judges of election by sufficient proof that any elector who has marked and forwarded his ballot as provided in section 3509.05 of the Revised Code has died, then the ballot of such deceased voter shall not be counted. The vote of any absent voter may be challenged for cause in the same manner as other votes are challenged, and the judges shall determine the legality of such ballot. Every such ballot not counted shall be indorsed on the back thereof "Not Counted" with reasons therefor, and shall be enclosed and returned to or retained by the board of elections along with the contested ballots.

3509.08 Disabled electors; medical emergencies

(A) Any qualified elector, who, on account of his own personal illness, physical disability, or infirmity, or on account of his confinement in a jail or workhouse under sentence for a misdemeanor or awaiting trial on a felony or misdemeanor, will be unable to travel from his home or place of confinement to the voting booth in his precinct on the day of any general, special, or primary election may make application in writing for an absent voter's ballot to the director of the board of elections of his county stating the nature of his illness, physical disability, or infirmity, or the fact that he is confined in a jail or workhouse and his resultant inability to travel to the election booth in his precinct on election day. The application shall not be valid if it is delivered to the clerk before the ninetieth day or after twelve noon of the third day before the day of the election at which such ballots are to be voted.

The[1] absentee ballots may be mailed directly to the applicant at his voting residence or place of confinement as stated in his application, or the board may designate two board employees belonging to the two major political parties, for the purpose of delivering the ballots to the disabled or confined elector and returning them to the board, unless the applicant is confined to a public or private institution within the county, in which case the board shall designate two such employees for the purpose of delivering the ballots to the disabled or confined elector and returning them to the board. In all other instances, the ballots shall be returned to the office of the board in the manner prescribed in section 3509.05 of the Revised Code.

Any disabled or confined elector who declares to the two employees that he is unable to mark his ballot by reason of physical infirmity, and such physical infirmity is apparent to the employees to be sufficient to incapacitate the voter from marking his ballot properly, may upon request, receive the assistance of the two employees in marking his ballot and they shall thereafter give no information in regard to this matter. Such assistance shall not be rendered for any other cause.

When two board employees deliver ballots to a disabled or confined elector, each of the employees shall be present when the ballots are delivered, when assistance is given, and when the ballots are returned to the office of the board, and shall subscribe to the declaration on the identification envelope.

The secretary of state shall prescribe the form of application for absent voter's ballots under division (A) of this section.

Chapter 3509. of the Revised Code applies to disabled and confined absent voter's ballots except as otherwise provided in this section.

(B) Any qualified elector who is unable to travel to the voting booth in his precinct on the day of any general, special, or primary election because of being confined in a hospital as a result of an accident or unforeseeable medical emergency occurring not more than six days before the election, may apply to the director of the board of elections of the county where he is a qualified elector to vote in the election by absent voter's ballot. This application shall be made in writing and shall be delivered to the director not later than three p.m. on the day of the election. The application shall indicate the hospital where the applicant is confined, the date of his admission to the hospital, the offices for which he is qualified to vote, and, if he is requesting to vote in a primary election, his party affiliation. The applicant may also request that a member of his family, as listed in section 3509.05 of the Revised Code, deliver the absent voter's ballot to the applicant. The director, after establishing to his satisfaction the validity of the circumstances claimed by the applicant, shall supply an absent voter's ballot to be delivered to the applicant. When the applicant is in a hospital in the county where he is a qualified elector and no request is made for a member of the family to deliver the ballot, the director shall arrange for the delivery of an absent voter's ballot to the applicant, and for its return to the office of the board, by two employees according to the procedures prescribed in division (A) of this section. When the applicant is in a hospital outside the county where he is a qualified elector and no request is made for a member of the family to deliver the ballot, the director shall arrange for the delivery of an absent voter's ballot to the applicant by mail, and the ballot shall be returned to the office of the board in the manner prescribed in section 3509.05 of the Revised Code.

BALLOTS

3511.02 Application for ballot

Any section of the Revised Code to the contrary notwithstanding, whenever any person applies for registration as a voter on a form adopted in accordance with federal regulations relating to the "Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act," 100 Stat. 924, 42 U.S.C.A. 1973ff (1986), this application shall be sufficient for voter registration and as a request for an absentee ballot. Armed service absent voter's ballots may be obtained by any person meeting the requirements of section 3511.01 of the Revised Code by applying to the director of the board of elections of the county in which the person's voting residence is located, in one of the following ways:

(A) Such person may make written application for such ballots. He may personally deliver such application to the director or may mail or otherwise send it to the director.

Such application need not be in any particular form. It need only contain words which, liberally construed, indicate the request for ballots; the election for which such ballots are requested, and, if the request is for primary election ballots, his party affiliation; that he is serving in the armed forces of the United States or that he is the spouse or dependent of such person; and the length of residence in the state immediately preceding the commencement of service, or immediately preceding the date of leaving to be with or near the service member, as the case may be, and sufficient information to enable the director to determine the precinct in which the residence is located. If he desires that such ballots be mailed to him, such application shall state the address to which they shall be mailed.

A voter or any relative of a voter listed in division (B) of this section may use a single federal post card application to apply for armed service absent voter's ballots for use at the primary and general elections in a given year and any special election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May in that year, designated by the general assembly for the purpose of submitting constitutional amendments proposed by the general assembly to the voters of the state. Such an application shall be processed by the board of elections pursuant to section 3511.04 of the Revised Code the same as if the voter had applied separately for armed service absent voter's ballots for each election.

(B) Application to have such ballots mailed to such person may be made by the spouse when the person is a service member, or by the father, mother, father-in-law, mother-in-law, grandfather, grandmother, brother or sister of the whole blood or half blood, son, daughter, adopting parent, adopted child, stepparent, stepchild, uncle, aunt, nephew, or niece of such person. Such application shall be in writing upon a blank form furnished only by the director or on a single federal post card as provided in division (A) of this section. The form of such application shall be prescribed by the secretary of state. The director shall furnish such blank form to any of the relatives specified in this section, desiring to make such application, only upon the request of such relative made in person at the office of the board or upon the written request of such relative mailed to the office of the board. Such application, subscribed and sworn to by such applicant, shall contain:

(1) Full name of person for whom ballots are requested;

(2) Statement that such person is serving in the armed forces of the United States or that such person is a spouse or dependent of a person serving in the armed forces of the United States who resides outside this state for the purpose of being with or near such service member;

(3) Statement that such person has a residence in the county, and information as to the precinct in which it is located and length of residence in the state immediately preceding the commencement of service, or immediately preceding the date of leaving to be with or near a service member, as the case may be;

(4) Statement that applicant bears a relationship to such person as specified in this section;

(5) Election for which ballots are requested, and, if for a primary election, party affiliation of persons for whom ballots are requested;

(6) Address to which ballots shall be mailed;

(7) Signature and address of person making the application.

Each application for armed service absent voter's ballots shall be delivered to the director not earlier than the first day of January of the year of the elections for which the armed service absent voter's ballots are requested or not earlier than ninety days before the day of the election at which the ballots are to be voted, whichever is earlier, and not later than twelve noon of the third day preceding the day of the election.

(C) If the voter for whom the application is made is entitled to vote for presidential and vice-presidential electors only, the applicant shall submit to the director in addition to the requirements of divisions (A) and (B) of this section, a statement to the effect that the voter is qualified to vote for presidential and vice-presidential electors and for no other offices.

If, after the thirty-fifth day and before the close of the polls on the day of a general or primary election, a valid application for armed service absent voter's ballots is delivered to the director of the board of elections at the office of the board by a person making the application in his own behalf, the director shall forthwith deliver to the person all armed service absent voter's ballots then ready for use, together with an identification envelope. He shall then fold each ballot separately so as to conceal his markings thereon, and deposit all of the ballots in the identification envelope and securely seal it. Thereupon he shall fill in answers to the questions on the face of the identification envelope, and by writing his usual signature in the proper place thereon, he shall declare under penalty of election falsification that the answers to those questions are true and correct to the best of his knowledge and belief. He shall then deliver the identification envelope to the director. If thereafter, and before the third day preceding such election, the board provides additional separate official issue or special election ballots, as provided for in section 3511.04 of the Revised Code, the director shall promptly, and not later than twelve noon of the third day preceding the day of election, mail such additional ballots to such person at the address specified by him for that purpose.

In the event any person serving in the armed forces of the United States is discharged after the closing date of registration, and he or his spouse, or both, meets all the other qualifications set forth in section 3511.01 of the Revised Code, he or she shall be permitted to vote prior to the date of the election in the office of the board in his county, as set forth in this section.

489 US 214, 109 SCt 1013, 103 LEd(2d) 271 (1989), Eu v San Francisco County Democratic Central Committee. A state election law forbidding the official governing bodies of political parties to endorse or oppose candidates, punishing candidates who claim a party endorsement, restricting organization and composition of the governing bodies, limiting terms of office, and requiring rotation of office between residents of two different state sections is invalid under US Const Am 1 and 14; state regulation of internal political party affairs is justified only when shown necessary to ensure that elections are orderly, fair, and honest. (Ed. note: California law construed in light of federal constitution.)

873 F(2d) 957 (6th Cir Ohio 1989), Zielasko v Ohio. American citizens have no "fundamental right" to seek elective office and, as a result, an age limit on judges such as that imposed by O Const Art IV § 6 need only be rationally related to a legitimate state interest: this relation does exist, because the age limit prevents the harm some older, incompetent judges might cause, provides part-time judges to ease crowded dockets, and makes room for younger judges on the bench.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

3513.01 Holding of primary elections; changing to primary election method of nomination; changing to nonpartisan method of nomination

(A) Except as otherwise provided in this section, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May of each year, primary elections shall be held for the purpose of nominating persons as candidates of political parties for election to offices to be voted for at the next succeeding general election.

(B) The manner of nominating persons as candidates for election as officers of a municipal corporation having a population of two thousand or more, as ascertained by the next preceding federal census, shall be the same as the manner in which candidates were nominated for election as officers in the municipal corporation in 1989 unless the manner of nominating such candidates is changed under division (C), (D), or (E) of this section.

(C) Primary elections shall not be held for the nomination of candidates for election as officers of any township, or any municipal corporation having a population of less than two thousand persons, unless a majority of the electors of any such township or municipal corporation, as determined by the total number of votes cast in such township or municipal corporation for the office of governor at the next preceding regular state election, files with the board of elections of the county within which such township or municipal corporation is located, or within which the major portion of the population thereof is located, if the municipal corporation is situated in more than one county, not later than one hundred five days before the day of a primary election, a petition signed by such electors asking that candidates for election as officers of such township or municipal corporation be nominated as candidates of political parties, in which event primary elections shall be held in such township or municipal corporation for the purpose of nominating persons as candidates of political parties for election as officers of such township or municipal corporation to be voted for at the next succeeding regular municipal election. In a township or municipal corporation where a majority of the electors have filed a petition asking that candidates for election as officers of the township or municipal corporation be nominated as candidates of political parties, the nomination of candidates for a nonpartisan election may be reestablished in the manner prescribed in division (E) of this section.

(D)(1) The electors in a municipal corporation having a population of two thousand or more, in which municipal officers were nominated in the most recent election by nominating petition and elected by nonpartisan election, may place on the ballot in the manner prescribed in division (D)(2) of this section the question of changing to the primary-election method of nominating persons as candidates for election as officers of the municipal corporation.

(2) The board of elections of the county within which the municipal corporation is located, or, if the municipal corporation is located in more than one county, of the county within which the major portion of the population of the municipal corporation is located, shall, upon receipt of a petition signed by electors of the municipal corporation equal in number to at least ten per cent of the vote cast at the last regular municipal election, submit to the electors of the municipal corporation the question of changing to the primary-election method of nominating persons as candidates for election as officers of the municipal corporation. The ballot language shall be substantially as follows:

"Shall candidates for election as officers of _____ (name of municipal corporation) in the county of _____ (name of county) be nominated as candidates of political parties?

_____ Yes

_____ No"

The question shall be placed on the ballot at the next general election in an even-numbered year occurring at least seventy-five days after the petition is filed with the board. If a majority of the electors voting on the question vote in the affirmative, candidates for election as officers of the municipal corporation shall thereafter be nominated as candidates of political parties in primary elections, under division (A) of this section, unless a change in the manner of nominating persons as candidates for election as officers of the municipal corporation is made under division (E) of this section.

(E)(1) The electors in a township or municipal corporation in which the township or municipal officers are nominated as candidates of political parties in a primary election may place on the ballot, in the manner prescribed in division (E)(2) of this section, the question of changing to the nonpartisan method of nominating persons as candidates for election as officers of the township or municipal corporation.

(2) The board of elections of the county within which the township or municipal corporation is located, or, if the municipal corporation is located in more than one county, of the county within which the major portion of the population of the municipal corporation is located, shall, upon receipt of a petition signed by electors of the township or municipal corporation equal in number to at least ten per cent of the vote cast at the last regular township or municipal election, as appropriate, submit to the electors of the township or municipal corporation, as appropriate, the question of changing to the nonpartisan method of nominating persons as candidates for election as officers of the township or municipal corporation. The ballot language shall be substantially as follows:

"Shall candidates for election as officers of _____ (name of the township or municipal corporation) in the county of _____ (name of county) be nominated as candidates by nominating petition and be elected only in a nonpartisan election?

_____ Yes

_____ No"

The question shall appear on the ballot at the next general election in an even-numbered year occurring at least seventy-five days after the petition is filed with the board. If a majority of electors voting on the question vote in the affirmative, candidates for officer of the township or municipal corporation shall thereafter be nominated by nominating petition and be elected only in a nonpartisan election, unless a change in the manner of nominating persons as candidates for election as officers of the township or municipal corporation is made under division (C) or (D) of this section.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

OAG 73-094. When no primary is held, because on the basis of declarations of candidacy filed there are no contested races, a board of elections should refuse to accept the filing of declarations of intent to be write-in candidates.

1961 OAG 1990. The question of repeal of a township zoning plan may not be submitted for vote on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of May in a year if it would be the sole issue before the electors, since a "primary election" would not be held in the township in such a case.

1958 OAG 2276. Where a probate judge elected to a six-year term beginning February 9, 1955 resigns March 1, 1958, the vacancy for the unexpired term must be filled at the general election in November 1958 under O Const Art IV §13; as a result, a primary election in May 1958 is called for by RC 3513.01 to nominate candidates of political parties for the office.

1957 OAG 616. Where the legislative authority of a village of a population of less than two thousand persons, holding no primary election, determines, by a majority vote, to combine the duties of clerk and treasurer into one office to be known as clerk-treasurer, under RC 733.261, such legislative authority shall file certification of such action with the board of elections of the county in which such municipal corporation is located not less than 105 days before the second Tuesday of May preceding the regular municipal election at which such clerk-treasurer shall be elected.

1953 OAG 2710. No primaries may be held for nomination of township officers, unless petitions for such primary have been duly filed.

1951 OAG 217. Where two or more candidates for nomination as a party nominee for member of a city council from one ward, or two or more party candidates for nomination for any other office to be filled at a municipal election, have duly filed their declarations of candidacy, the board of elections would not be authorized by GC 4785-67a (RC 3513.02), to dispense with a primary election for that party, but must hold such primary election for that party for the nomination of members of council and all other offices that are to be filled at the next general election, as required by this section.

1949 OAG 410. Where a municipality has been created since the last federal census and no petition has been filed under the terms of statute, asking for a primary election, unless otherwise provided by law, such municipality is required to hold a primary election.

1939 OAG 888. Whenever total number of candidates, taking into consideration all political parties who have filed declarations of candidacy for offices to be voted upon at a primary election in an odd numbered year exceeds total number of candidates to be nominated by all political parties at such primary, provisions of statute do not apply and a primary election must be conducted in the usual manner.

3513.02 Certificates of nomination issued when no primary is held

If, in any odd-numbered year, no valid declaration of candidacy is filed for nomination as a candidate of a political party for election to any of the offices to be voted for at the general election to be held in such year, or if the number of persons filing such declarations of candidacy for nominations as candidates of one political party for election to such offices does not exceed, as to any such office, the number of candidates which such political party is entitled to nominate as its candidates for election to such office, then no primary election shall be held for the purpose of nominating party candidates of such party for election to offices to be voted for at such general election and no primary ballots shall be provided for such party. If, however, the only office for which there are more valid declarations of candidacy filed than the number to be nominated by a political party, is the office of councilman in a ward, a primary election shall be held for such party only in the ward or wards in which there is a contest, and only the names of the candidates for the office of councilman in such ward shall appear on the primary ballot of such political party.

The election officials whose duty it would have been to provide for and conduct the holding of such primary election, declare the results thereof, and issue certificates of nomination to the persons entitled thereto if such primary election had been held shall declare each of such persons to be nominated as of the date of the seventy-fifth day before the primary election, issue appropriate certificates of nomination to each of them, and certify their names to the proper election officials, in order that their names may be printed on the official ballots provided for use in the next succeeding general election in the same manner as though such primary election had been held and such persons had been nominated at such election.

1. Constitutional issues

118 App 161, 193 NE(2d) 540 (1963), State ex rel Rose v Ryan. The provisions of the charter of the city of Columbus establishing deadlines or cut-off dates for the filing of petitions for election to municipal offices are not an unreasonable limitation and are constitutional.

2. In general

20 OS(2d) 29, 252 NE(2d) 289 (1969), State ex rel Flex v Gwin. Where a declared candidate for public office is found to be ineligible there is, in effect, an involuntary withdrawal, a withdrawal by operation of law, and under RC 3513.31, another candidate may be appointed by a county district central committee to take his place.

433 F(2d) 989 (6th Cir Ohio 1970), Bennett v Cleveland; cert denied 400 US 827, 91 SCt 53, 27 LEd(2d) 56 (1970). A federal complaint seeking a declaration that a municipal charter is unconstitutional under US Const Am 14 presents no substantial federal question and is properly dismissed where the challenged charter section provides that (1) the two primary candidates for a council seat who receive the most votes shall be the candidates for council, and (2) if a primary candidate receives a majority of votes cast he shall be the candidate at the regular election, unless no more than two people file petitions for the office, in which case those individuals shall be the candidates at the regular election and no primary election will be held.

OAG 73-094. When no primary is held, because on the basis of declarations of candidacy filed there are no contested races, a board of elections should refuse to accept the filing of declarations of intent to be write-in candidates.

OAG 69-080. If for any reason a political party candidate for public office withdraws, dies, or is incapacitated to hold office at any time, not excluded by the time limits specified in RC 3513.31, such candidate vacancy may be filled pursuant to such section.

1951 OAG 217. Where two or more candidates for nomination as a party nominee for member of a city council from one ward, or two or more party candidates for nomination for any other office to be filled at a municipal election, have duly filed their declarations of candidacy, the board of elections would not be authorized by statute to dispense with a primary election for that party, but must hold such primary election for that party for the nomination of members of council and all other offices that are to be filled at the next general election, as required by GC 4785-67 (RC 3513.01).

1949 OAG 410. When the number of persons filing declarations of candidacy for the same office at a primary election does not exceed the number of candidates which such political party shall be entitled to nominate for such office, the board of elections of such county is required by virtue of the provisions of statute to issue certificates of nomination and to place the names of such candidates for such office on the official ballots at the general election.

3513.03 Primary election officers

The board of elections shall have all the powers and perform all the duties in connection with primary elections which are imposed by the provisions of Title XXXV of the Revised Code governing general elections. The election officials for primary elections shall be designated from those appointed under section 3501.22 of the Revised Code, and shall have the same powers, perform the same duties, and be subject to the same penalties as are provided by such title for the conduct of general elections.

CANDIDATE AND CANDIDACY

3513.04 Designation of candidates; joint candidates for governor and lieutenant governor

Candidates for party nominations to state, district, county, and municipal offices or positions, for which party nominations are provided by law, and for election as members of party controlling committees shall have their names printed on the official primary ballot by filing a declaration of candidacy and paying the required filing fee, except that the joint candidates for party nomination to the offices of governor and lieutenant governor shall, for the two of them, file one declaration of candidacy and pay one filing fee.

The secretary of state shall not accept for filing the declaration of candidacy of a candidate for party nomination to the office of governor unless the declaration of candidacy also shows a joint candidate for the same party's nomination to the office of lieutenant governor, shall not accept for filing the declaration of candidacy of a candidate for party nomination to the office of lieutenant governor unless the declaration of candidacy also shows a joint candidate for the same party's nomination to the office of governor, and shall not accept for filing a declaration of candidacy that shows a candidate for party nomination to the office of governor or lieutenant governor who has already been shown as a candidate for party nomination to the office of governor or lieutenant governor on a declaration of candidacy previously filed and accepted for the same primary election.

No person who seeks party nomination for an office or position at a primary election by declaration of candidacy shall be permitted to become a candidate at the following general election for any office by nominating petition or by write-in.

20 OS(3d) 19, 20 OBR 136, 485 NE(2d) 247 (1985), State ex rel Busch v Brown. The refusal of a board of elections to accept a declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate from an incumbent mayor who had been defeated in his party's primary election is not improper where the governing municipal charter permits write-in votes only where there is but one candidate for an office or where a nominated candidate is disqualified.

175 OS 238, 193 NE(2d) 270 (1963), State ex rel Gottlieb v Sulligan. A person selected as a party candidate for an office in a primary election who withdraws his candidacy for that office is eligible for selection as a party candidate by the party committee to fill a vacancy in the nomination for another office created by the withdrawal of the candidate originally nominated.

140 OS 339, 44 NE(2d) 263 (1942), State ex rel Anderson v Hyde. One who unsuccessfully seeks nomination for political office at primaries, either by filing a declaration of candidacy or by conducting a write-in campaign, may not become an independent candidate at ensuing election for identical office by filing petition.

69 App(2d) 115, 432 NE(2d) 210 (1980), State ex rel Moss v Franklin County Bd of Elections. A person who seeks election to the office of member of a party central committee at a primary election does not seek party nomination for an office or position at a primary election within the meaning of RC 3513.04.

69 App(2d) 115, 432 NE(2d) 210 (1980), State ex rel Moss v Franklin County Bd of Elections. RC 3513.04 does not preclude a person from being an independent candidate at the general election for the office of state representative because he sought election to the office of member of a party central committee at the primary election.

53 App(2d) 213, 373 NE(2d) 1274 (1977), Foster v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Pursuant to RC 3513.04, any person who seeks any public office or position at a party primary election by declaration of candidacy is prohibited from becoming a candidate for any public office by nominating petition or by write-in at the following general election.

53 App(2d) 213, 373 NE(2d) 1274 (1977), Foster v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. The limitations on candidacy set forth in RC 3513.04 do not conflict with rights protected by US Const Am 1 or 14.

104 App 418, 149 NE(2d) 576 (1957), State ex rel Mazaris v Gaylord. RC 3513.191 and 3513.23 are in pari materia and "candidate" as used in RC 3513.191 applies to RC 3513.23 and embraces not only one who seeks office, but includes one who is chosen by others as a contestant for office.

104 App 418, 149 NE(2d) 576 (1957), State ex rel Mazaris v Gaylord. An elector who voted in the democratic primary election in 1953, did not vote in any primary election in 1954, and voted in the republican primary elections in 1955, 1956 and 1957, is disqualified to be nominated as a candidate of the republican party by write-in votes cast for him in the primary election of 1957 notwithstanding he filed no declaration of candidacy and did nothing to promote or encourage such write-in vote.

OAG 73-094. When no primary is held, because on the basis of declarations of candidacy filed there are no contested races, a board of elections should refuse to accept the filing of declarations of intent to be write-in candidates.

1963 OAG 478. RC 3513.04 prohibits a candidate who runs and loses in the primary election from running in the following general election for a different office on a nonpartisan ticket.

1960 OAG 1787. A person who seeks a party nomination for an office or position at a primary election by declaration of candidacy is not eligible to be certified as the candidate of a political party at the following general election to fill the unexpired term of a person who holds an elective office and who dies subsequently to the one-hundredth day before the day of a primary election and prior to the fortieth day before the day of the next general election.

1958 OAG 2479. Where an individual has unsuccessfully sought his party's nomination for the office of county commissioner in the May 1958 primary, the provisions of RC 3513.04 forbid his candidacy in the 1958 general election for "any office" whether a primary election is provided by law to choose candidates therefor or whether nomination is achieved only by petition as in the case of county judge elections.

1949 OAG 1286. Statute prohibits a person who seeks party nomination for an office or position at a primary election to become a candidate at the following election for the same office by petition; it does not prohibit such person from becoming a "write-in" candidate.

1932 OAG 4595. An elector who was defeated in the primary as a candidate for the office of county commissioner may become a candidate by petition for the office of county commissioner for an unexpired term which it is necessary to fill at the following general election due to the death of the incumbent after the primaries.

3513.041 Write-in space required; declaration of intent of write-in candidate; joint candidates for governor and lieutenant governor

A write-in space shall be provided on the ballot for every office, but write-in votes shall not be counted for any candidate who has not filed a declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate pursuant to this section. A qualified person who has filed a declaration of intent may receive write-in votes at either a primary or general election. Any candidate, except one whose candidacy is to be submitted to electors throughout the entire state, shall file a declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate before four p.m. of the fortieth day preceding the election at which such candidacy is to be considered. If the election is to be determined by electors of a county or a district or subdivision within the county, such declaration shall be filed with the board of elections of that county. If the election is to be determined by electors of a subdivision located in more than one county, such declaration shall be filed with the board of elections of the county in which the major portion of the population of such subdivision is located. If the election is to be determined by electors of a district comprised of more than one county but less than all of the counties of the state, such declaration shall be filed with the board of elections of the most populous county in such district. Any candidate for an office to be voted upon by electors throughout the entire state shall file a declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate with the secretary of state before four p.m. of the fortieth day preceding the election at which such candidacy is to be considered. In addition, candidates for president and vice-president of the United States shall also file with the secretary of state by said fortieth day a slate of presidential electors sufficient in number to satisfy the requirements of the United States constitution.

No person shall file a declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate for the office of governor unless the declaration also shows the intent of another person to be a write-in candidate for the office of lieutenant governor. No person shall file a declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate for the office of lieutenant governor unless the declaration also shows the intent of another person to be a write-in candidate for the office of governor. No person shall file a declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate for the office of governor or lieutenant governor if he has previously filed a declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate to the office of governor or lieutenant governor at the same primary or general election. A write-in vote for the two candidates who file such a declaration shall be counted as a vote for them as joint candidates for the offices of governor and lieutenant governor.

The secretary of state shall not accept for filing the declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate of a person for the office of governor unless the declaration also shows the intent of another person to be a write-in candidate for the office of lieutenant governor, shall not accept for filing the declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate of a person for the office of lieutenant governor unless the declaration also shows the intent of another person to be a write-in candidate for the office of governor, and shall not accept for filing the declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate of a person to the office of governor or lieutenant governor if that person has already been shown, on a declaration of intent previously filed and accepted for the same primary or general election, to be a write-in candidate to the office of governor or lieutenant governor.

The secretary of state shall prescribe the form of the declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate.

OAG 73-094. When no primary is held, because on the basis of declarations of candidacy filed there are no contested races, a board of elections should refuse to accept the filing of declarations of intent to be write-in candidates.

OAG 70-011. It is not necessary to provide write-in spaces on primary election ballots for offices of member of state central committee of a political party in Ohio, or delegate or alternate to national convention of a political party, but such write-in space must be provided for office of member of county central committee and such office must appear on ballot even though no candidate has qualified to have his name printed on ballot for the office, in order that votes cast for eligible write-in candidates may be counted.

3513.05 Declarations of candidacy; certification of form of ballots on nominations; treatment of joint candidates

Each person desiring to become a candidate for a party nomination or for election to an office or position to be voted for at a primary election, except persons desiring to become joint candidates for the offices of governor and lieutenant governor, shall, not later than four p.m. of the seventy-fifth day before the day of the primary election, file a declaration of candidacy and petition and pay the fee required by section 3513.10 of the Revised Code. The declaration of candidacy and all separate petition papers shall be filed at the same time as one instrument. When the offices are to be voted for at a primary election, persons desiring to become joint candidates for the offices of governor and lieutenant governor shall, not later than four p.m. of the seventy-fifth day before the day of the primary election, comply with section 3513.04 of the Revised Code. The prospective joint candidates' declaration of candidacy and all separate petition papers of candidacies shall be filed at the same time, as one instrument.

If the declaration of candidacy declares a candidacy which is to be submitted to electors throughout the entire state, the petition, including a petition for joint candidates for the offices of governor and lieutenant governor, shall be signed by at least one thousand qualified electors who are members of the same political party as the candidate or joint candidates and the declaration of candidacy and petition shall be filed with the secretary of state; provided that the secretary of state shall not accept or file any such petition appearing on its face to contain signatures of more than three thousand electors.

Except as otherwise provided in this paragraph, if the declaration of candidacy is of one that is to be submitted only to electors within a district, political subdivision, or portion thereof, the petition shall be signed by not less than fifty qualified electors who are members of the same political party as the political party of which the candidate is a member. If the declaration of candidacy is for party nomination as a candidate for member of the legislative authority of a municipal corporation elected by ward, the petition shall be signed by not less than twenty-five qualified electors who are members of the political party of which the candidate is a member.

No such petition, except the petition for a candidacy that is to be submitted to electors throughout the entire state, shall be accepted for filing if it appears to contain on its face signatures of more than three times the minimum number of signatures. When a petition of a candidate has been accepted for filing by a board of elections, the petition shall not be deemed invalid if, upon verification of signatures contained in the petition, the board of elections finds the number of signatures accepted exceeds three times the minimum number of signatures required. A board of elections may discontinue verifying signatures on petitions when the number of verified signatures equals the minimum required number of qualified signatures.

If the declaration of candidacy declares a candidacy for party nomination or for election as a candidate of an intermediate or minor party, the minimum number of signatures on such petition is one-half the minimum number provided in this section, except that when the candidacy is one for election as a member of the state central committee or the county central committee of a political party the minimum number shall be the same for an intermediate or minor party as for a major party.

If a declaration of candidacy is one for election as a member of the state central committee or the county central committee of a political party, the petition shall be signed by five qualified electors of the district, county, ward, township, or precinct within which electors may vote for such candidate. The electors signing such petition shall be members of the same political party as the political party of which the candidate is a member.

For purposes of signing or circulating a petition of candidacy for party nomination or election, an elector is considered to be a member of a political party if he voted in that party's primary election within the preceding two calendar years, or if he did not vote in any other party's primary election within the preceding two calendar years.

If the declaration of candidacy is of one that is to be submitted only to electors within a county, or within a district or subdivision or part thereof smaller than a county, the petition shall be filed with the board of elections of the county. If the declaration of candidacy is of one that is to be submitted only to electors of a district or subdivision or part thereof that is situated in more than one county, the petition shall be filed with the board of elections of the county within which the major portion of the population thereof, as ascertained by the next preceding federal census, is located.

A petition shall consist of separate petition papers, each of which shall contain signatures of electors of only one county. Petitions or separate petition papers containing signatures of electors of more than one county shall not thereby be declared invalid. In case petitions or separate petition papers containing signatures of electors of more than one county are filed, the board shall determine the county from which the majority of signatures came, and only signatures from such county shall be counted. Signatures from any other county shall be invalid.

Each separate petition paper shall be circulated by one person only, who shall be the candidate or a joint candidate or a member of the same political party as the candidates, and each separate petition paper shall be governed by the rules set forth in section 3501.38 of the Revised Code.

The secretary of state shall promptly transmit to each board such separate petition papers of each petition accompanying a declaration of candidacy filed with him as purport to contain signatures of electors of the county of such board. The board of the most populous county of a district shall promptly transmit to each board within such district such separate petition papers of each petition accompanying a declaration of candidacy filed with it as purport to contain signatures of electors of the county of each such board. The board of a county within which the major portion of the population of a subdivision, situated in more than one county, is located, shall promptly transmit to the board of each other county within which a portion of such subdivision is located such separate petition papers of each petition accompanying a declaration of candidacy filed with it as purport to contain signatures of electors of the portion of such subdivision in the county of each such board.

All petition papers so transmitted to a board and all petitions accompanying declarations of candidacy filed with such board shall, under proper regulations, be open to public inspection until four p.m. of the seventieth day before the day of the next primary election. Each board shall, not later than the sixty-eighth day before the day of such primary election, examine and determine the validity or invalidity of the signatures on the petition papers so transmitted to or filed with it and shall return to the secretary of state all petition papers transmitted to it by the secretary of state, together with its certification of its determination as to the validity or invalidity of signatures thereon, and shall return to each other board all petition papers transmitted to it by such board, together with its certification of its determination as to the validity or invalidity of the signatures thereon. All other matters affecting the validity or invalidity of such petition papers shall be determined by the secretary of state or the board with whom such petition papers were filed.

Protests against the candidacy of any person filing a declaration of candidacy for party nomination or for election to an office or position, as provided in this section, may be filed by any qualified elector who is a member of the same political party as the candidate and who is eligible to vote at the primary election for the candidate whose declaration of candidacy he objects to, or by the controlling committee of such party. Such protest must be in writing, and must be filed not later than four p.m. of the sixty-fourth day before the day of the primary election. Such protest shall be filed with the election officials with whom the declaration of candidacy and petition was filed. Upon the filing of such protest the election officials with whom it is filed shall promptly fix the time for hearing it, and shall forthwith mail notice of the filing of such protest and the time fixed for hearing to the person whose candidacy is so protested. They shall also forthwith mail notice of the time fixed for such hearing to the person who filed the protest. At the time fixed such election officials shall hear the protest and determine the validity or invalidity of the declaration of candidacy and petition. If they find that such candidate is not an elector of the state, district, county, or political subdivision in which he seeks a party nomination or election to an office or position, or has not fully complied with this chapter, his declaration of candidacy and petition shall be determined to be invalid and shall be rejected, otherwise it shall be determined to be valid. Such determination shall be final.

A protest against the candidacy of any persons filing a declaration of candidacy for joint party nomination to the offices of governor and lieutenant governor shall be filed, heard, and determined in the same manner as a protest against the candidacy of any person filing a declaration of candidacy by himself.

The secretary of state shall, on the sixtieth day before the day of a primary election, certify to each board in the state the forms of the official ballots to be used at such primary election, together with the names of the candidates to be printed thereon whose nomination or election is to be determined by electors throughout the entire state and who filed valid declarations of candidacy and petitions.

The board of the most populous county in a district comprised of more than one county but less than all of the counties of the state shall on the sixtieth day before the day of a primary election, certify to the board of each county in the district the names of the candidates to be printed on the official ballots to be used at such primary election, whose nomination or election is to be determined only by electors within such district and who filed valid declarations of candidacy and petitions.

The board of a county within which the major portion of the population of a subdivision smaller than the county and situated in more than one county is located shall, on the sixtieth day before the day of a primary election, certify to the board of each county in which a portion of such subdivision is located the names of the candidates to be printed on the official ballots to be used at such primary election, whose nomination or election is to be determined only by electors within such subdivision and who filed valid declarations of candidacy and petitions.

51 OS(2d) 173, 367 NE(2d) 879 (1977), State ex rel Senn v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Court of appeals improperly reversed action of board of elections which denied candidate place on ballot on ground that he had filed his declaration of candidacy the day after he had filed his part-petitions.

29 OS(2d) 233, 281 NE(2d) 186 (1972), State ex rel Loss v Lucas County Bd of Elections. RC 3513.05 demands that a petition circulator affirm the validity of signatures under oath and that the signatures be made in the presence of both the circulator and the notary.

26 OS(2d) 169, 270 NE(2d) 649 (1971), State ex rel Capers v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Until candidate's nominating petition is filed with board of elections, no duty with respect thereto, enforceable by writ of mandamus, is incumbent upon such board.

22 OS(2d) 61, 258 NE(2d) 111 (1970), State ex rel Kucinich v Duffy. Signature of a candidate on his own nominating petition, as signer of that petition, cannot be included in determining whether such petition contains minimum number of signatures required by law.

4 OS(2d) 16, 212 NE(2d) 420 (1965), State ex rel Svete v Geauga County Bd of Elections. Advice by a deputy clerk that nominating petitions appeared to be in proper order does not estop the board of elections from declaring such petitions to be invalid.

176 OS 191, 198 NE(2d) 459 (1964), State ex rel Cofall v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. "Clerk of courts" is sufficient on a nominating petition for clerk of the court of common pleas.

176 OS 91, 197 NE(2d) 801 (1964), State ex rel Schwartz v Brown. Where the secretary of state refused to accept and certify a nominating petition for judge of the supreme court on February 13, relator filed a petition for writ of mandamus on February 25, respondent filed an answer on March 14 and relator a demurrer to the answer on March 23, with a brief in support thereof on March 31, relator's lack of diligence will bar relief in mandamus.

175 OS 237, 193 NE(2d) 269 (1963), State ex rel Keyse v Sarosy. Rejection of a petition because the affidavit says there are seventeen signatures when the petition contains (1) two signatures that are crossed out for a person who signed both before and after registering to vote and (2) fifteen other signatures, is an abuse of discretion.

173 OS 321, 181 NE(2d) 888 (1962), State ex rel Schwarz v Hamilton County Bd of Elections. Where a petition has twenty-eight signatures while the circulator's affidavit says twenty-seven signatures were made in his presence because he knew one signature was invalid because the signer resides in another county, rejection of the petition is too technical and is an abuse of discretion.

173 OS 317, 181 NE(2d) 890 (1962), State ex rel Ferguson v Brown; overruled by 22 OS(2d) 63, 258 NE(2d) 112 (1970), State ex rel Saffold v Timmins. The election laws contemplate essentially one declaration of candidacy which shall be uniform and complete in accordance with the statutory mandates, which may be an original one at the head of each petition paper circulated, signed by the candidate individually and sworn to, or there may be a single complete original declaration with identical copies thereof heading all other separate nominating petition papers placed in circulation, but there may not be a number of declarations varying in substance and form and with material omissions.

170 OS 511, 166 NE(2d) 759 (1960), State ex rel Higgins v Brown. Prohibition is an appropriate proceeding to prevent a board of elections from placing a candidate's name on a ballot where such name may not lawfully be placed thereon, and in such a prohibition proceeding a court may in effect reverse such a decision where the undisputed facts are such as to require a different decision as a matter of law.

170 OS 9, 161 NE(2d) 891 (1959), State ex rel Hanna v Milburn. Where a board of elections furnished nominating petitions which failed to state that the circulators were qualified electors of the state of Ohio, it was not an abuse of discretion for such board to find that such petitions were valid.

165 OS 139, 133 NE(2d) 369 (1956), State ex rel Clampitt v Brown. As used in RC 3513.05 "most populous county of such district" refers to a county not wholly situated in the district where the portion in the district is most populous.

154 OS 207, 94 NE(2d) 1 (1950), Cooper v Kosling. Where, in action to contest election proceeding brought under the provisions of GC 4785-166 (RC 3515.08), the petition alleges that at the primary election contestee's name was on the ballot although he was not a qualified elector, that he got his name on the ballot by fraud and perjury and that therefore he received no legal vote, the petition fails to state a cause of action to contest election; contestor's remedy was an action to determine validity of declaration of candidacy brought under this section.

149 OS 484, 79 NE(2d) 219 (1948), State ex rel Lane v Montgomery County Bd of Elections. Where petition and declaration of candidacy as originally filed contained more than 5 signatures of qualified electors and prior to final filing date the petitioner requested removal of excess signatures, which were so removed with knowledge of the members of board of elections, no protests were filed and board later certified nomination papers as valid, the board abused its discretion by thereafter, without notice to candidate, but after public hearing, finding petitioner had not qualified, and mandamus will issue to have candidate's name placed on ballot.

149 OS 193, 78 NE(2d) 352 (1948), State ex rel Burgstaller v Franklin County Bd of Elections. Where candidate files more than one petition form at the same time for election as member of county central committee of a political party, and the petition forms in the aggregate contain more than five names, candidate has not complied with statute.

131 OS 90, 1 NE(2d) 614 (1936), State ex rel Rowe v Schirmer. Provisions of GC 4785-70 and 4785-75 (RC 3513.05, 3513.12) require a minimum of one hundred names of electors upon the petition of a delegate to a national party convention from a congressional district less than a county.

131 OS 90, 1 NE(2d) 614 (1936), State ex rel Rowe v Schirmer. Term "subdivision" as employed in statute does not embrace a congressional district smaller than a county.

122 OS 278, 171 NE 315 (1930), State ex rel Thompson v Montgomery County Bd of Elections. A petition accompanying the declaration of a candidate for election as a member of a state central committee is sufficient if signed by five electors of the candidate's political party who are residents of the district.

122 OS 278, 171 NE 315 (1930), State ex rel Thompson v Montgomery County Bd of Elections. A petition of a candidate for an office to be voted for by the electors of the county or district larger than a county and less than a state, signed either by one hundred electors of the candidate's political party or by five per cent of the electors who voted for the party candidate for governor at the next preceding regular state election, meets the requirements of statute.

91 OS 36, 109 NE 590 (1914), State ex rel Murphy v Graves. A nominee must be affiliated with the party nominating him.

112 App 4, 167 NE(2d) 112 (1960), State ex rel Kay v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Where a board of elections concludes that a declaration of candidacy preceded and was printed and executed on the petition papers before the signing thereof by those supporting such candidacy, it may disregard an erroneous date typewritten thereon as the date of the acknowledgment thereof by the notary public.

110 App 543, 161 NE(2d) 243 (1959), State ex rel Bailey v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Where a candidate was advised by the board of elections at the time of the filing of his nominating petitions that there was nothing further to sign and where he had signed each petition twice, his failure to sign the acceptance on the front of the petition did not justify a rejection of the petitions.

106 App 61, 148 NE(2d) 519 (1958), State ex rel Donnelly v Green. Mandamus would not issue to compel board of elections to omit candidate's name from a ballot where candidate filed for both two and four year terms for the state senate and then withdrew his name from the former race.

97 App 43, 120 NE(2d) 898 (1954), State ex rel Bouse v Cickelli. One who votes a party ballot at a party primary becomes affiliated with that party, and such status continues until he changes his status by an affirmative act.

337 FSupp 1405 (ND Ohio 1971), Lippitt v Cipollone; affirmed by 404 US 1032, 92 SCt 729, 30 LEd(2d) 725 (1972). Ohio statutes seeking to prevent "raiding" of one party by members of another party and to preclude candidates from "altering their political party affiliations for opportunistic reasons" are valid.

OAG 66-005. A district established by the reapportionment plan is not a "subdivision smaller than a county" within the meaning of RC 3513.05, despite the geographical area included in such district, and all candidates filing declarations of candidacy for nomination for election to the office of representative to the general assembly must file petitions containing sufficient signatures to meet the requirements of that section as they apply to candidates to be elected from a county or a congressional district smaller than a county.

1948 OAG 2922. A person cannot lawfully file, in connection with the same primary election, declarations of candidacy to become candidate for nomination to two or more incompatible offices; and, consequently, a board of elections should reject second declaration of candidacy of person who has already filed a declaration of candidacy in connection with the same primary election, if such second declaration of candidacy is for nomination to an office which is incompatible with the one designated in the first.

1940 OAG 1983. Person desiring to become a party candidate for a county office by the method of declaration must accompany such declaration of candidacy with a petition signed by at least one hundred electors of his party, or, by at least five per cent of the vote cast within the county for his party candidate for governor at the next preceding state election, whichever number is the smaller.

1932 OAG 4237. Where a person residing in a registration precinct has filed a declaration of candidacy and is not registered as an elector, he is not entitled to have his name appear on the ballot of his party at the primary election as a candidate. In such a case the board of elections has the authority to reject and refuse to act upon the declaration.

1930 OAG 1763. Signatures to a petition accompanying a declaration of candidacy for an office to be voted for by the electors of a district larger than a county and less than the state may be secured in any one county within such district, since there is no statutory provision as to the territorial distribution of such petitioners.

2. Eligibility; protest

17 OS(3d) 61, 17 OBR 64, 477 NE(2d) 623 (1985), Chevalier v Brown. Where the secretary of state's office erroneously schedules an election to fill an unexpired mayoral term for a noncharter municipality, and where individuals relying upon the error file petitions for the mayoral election instead of for council elections, mandamus does not lie to compel election officials to either hold the erroneously scheduled mayoral election or accept late petitions for council seats.

56 OS(2d) 70, 381 NE(2d) 1129 (1978), State ex rel Lippitt v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Mandamus will not lie to declare a candidacy void where the relator has failed to file a written protest within the time specified.

22 OS(2d) 63, 258 NE(2d) 112 (1970), State ex rel Saffold v Timmins. That a declaration of candidacy is executed by more than one notary does not mislead or defraud the signers of the part-petitions.

14 OS(2d) 175, 237 NE(2d) 313 (1968), Stern v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Where, after the board of elections has conducted a public hearing upon a protest, the undisputed facts are that (1) a valid declaration of candidacy has been properly filed, (2) a proper petition containing a valid affidavit of the circulator of each part-petition has been filed, (3) in the jurat following the circulator's affidavit on one part-petition the notary who administered the oath to the circulator inadvertently omitted his handwritten signature and imprinted seal, (4) such jurat is properly dated and bears the name of the notary who administered the oath, the title of his office, the date his notary commission will expire and the limits of his jurisdiction (such matters having been stamped upon the jurat by the notary at the time he administered the oath to the circulator), a board of elections does not abuse its discretion when it rules that such part-petition is valid on the ground that there is substantial compliance with the form of the declaration of candidacy and petition.

4 OS(2d) 16, 212 NE(2d) 420 (1965), State ex rel Svete v Geauga County Bd of Elections. The mere failure of an election board to declare a nominating petition void within the time prescribed by RC 3513.263 does not render the petition valid.

167 OS 323, 148 NE(2d) 229 (1958), Maranze v Montgomery County Bd of Elections. A mandamus action to declare null and void certain certificates of nomination cannot be brought by a complainant who has failed to file a protest to the nominating petitions.

164 OS 193, 129 NE(2d) 623 (1955), State ex rel Flynn v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. A board of elections is authorized to conduct a hearing on a protest against the nominating petition of a candidate alleged to be ineligible to assume the office and to determine the validity of such petition; and its decision is final and, in the absence of allegations of fraud, corruption, abuse of discretion or a clear disregard of statutes or legal provisions applicable thereto, is not subject to judicial review.

153 OS 372, 92 NE(2d) 4 (1950), Pierce v Brushart. In the absence of fraud or bad faith, the courts may not override a finding of a board of elections, having jurisdiction of the subject matter, to the effect that a declaration of candidacy and petition of a candidate for nomination to a public office is valid, where no protest against such declaration and petition was filed with such board within the time required by statute.

149 OS 329, 78 NE(2d) 715 (1948), State ex rel McGinley v Bliss. Provisions of statute relating to notice and hearing apply only where protests are filed against candidacy of any person filing declaration of candidacy; and where the candidate is challenging the action of board of elections in rejecting nomination papers for failure to comply with GC 4785-71a (RC 3513.08), candidate is not entitled to notice and hearing and GC 4785-13 (RC 3501.11) does not provide for a hearing.

53 App(2d) 213, 373 NE(2d) 1274 (1977), Foster v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Where there is no provision in any state statute or in any local rule for a protest procedure before the board of elections to challenge the validity of a write-in candidacy, the initial approval or disapproval by the board is final absent allegations of fraud, corruption, abuse of discretion, or clear disregard of statutes or applicable legal provisions.

112 App 4, 167 NE(2d) 112 (1960), State ex rel Kay v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. There is no manner prescribed by statute in which a board of elections must conduct a hearing on a protest to a declaration of candidacy and petition for nomination at a primary election; any reasonable investigation conducted in good faith satisfies the statutory requirements therefor.

68 Abs 539, 119 NE(2d) 84 (App, Cuyahoga 1954), Marlin v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. A challenge to the candidacy of a person for nomination must be filed with the board of elections before an action can be brought for an injunction to restrain the board from placing such candidate on the ballot, unless fraud or bad faith on the part of the board is alleged.

479 US 189, 107 SCt 533, 93 LEd(2d) 499 (1986), Munro v Socialist Workers Party. State election laws denying a place on the ballot to independent and minor party candidates who received less than one per cent of all the votes cast in the primary election violate neither the First nor the Fourteenth Amendment. (Ed. note: Washington statute construed in light of federal constitution.)

873 F(2d) 957 (6th Cir Ohio 1989), Zielasko v Ohio. American citizens have no "fundamental right" to seek elective office and, as a result, an age limit on judges such as that imposed by O Const Art IV § 6 need only be rationally related to a legitimate state interest: this relation does exist, because the age limit prevents the harm some older, incompetent judges might cause, provides part-time judges to ease crowded dockets, and makes room for younger judges on the bench.

1964 OAG 1261. A person who falls within the prohibition in RC 3513.191 cannot lawfully be nominated as a candidate or elected at a party primary and the board of elections is without legal authority to place such person's name as a candidate for election on the ballot to be used in the general election in November.

3. Residency questions

1 OS(3d) 275, 1 OBR 384, 439 NE(2d) 893 (1982), State ex rel Speck v Licking County Bd of Elections. Where an election board has certified a candidate, the secretary of state has no jurisdiction to take action in respect thereto.

170 OS 511, 166 NE(2d) 759 (1960), State ex rel Higgins v Brown. Where a candidate states under oath in his declaration of candidacy that his voting residence is in a particular registration precinct and that he is a qualified elector in such precinct, when at the time of such sworn statement the candidate is not residing in such precinct, has not resided there for 40 or more days and has not even attempted to register as an elector therein, there is such a failure to fully comply with RC 3513.05 and 3513.07 as to require, at a hearing on a protest against the candidacy of such candidate, a determination that his declaration of candidacy be rejected.

167 OS 449, 150 NE(2d) 43 (1958), State ex rel Ford v Pickaway County Bd of Elections. Action of a board of elections in sustaining a protest to a candidate's petition on the ground that he was a nonresident of the county will not be set aside in the absence of fraud or gross irregularity.

157 OS 428, 105 NE(2d) 639 (1952), State ex rel McGowan v Summit County Bd of Elections. A protest against a candidacy will not be sustained where the sole ground therefor is that the candidate falsely stated in registration in 1930 that she was born in the United States and such statement was her honest belief at that time, and when it further appeared that she had become a citizen by a parent's naturalization at an early age.

157 OS 345, 105 NE(2d) 414 (1952), State ex rel Bass v Summit County Bd of Elections. When a petition of a candidate for convention delegate is circulated by a registered elector and properly filed, the petition cannot thereafter be rejected and the candidate disqualified upon a decision by the board upon collateral attack that the circulator had misrepresented her birthplace and citizenship, when such misrepresentation was unknown to the candidate.

157 OS 338, 105 NE(2d) 399 (1952), State ex rel Klink v Eyrich. A finding of the board of elections regarding the voting residence of a candidate will not be disturbed by a court unless the evidence before the board was such as to require as a matter of law a determination that the candidate's voting residence was not as stated in his declaration of candidacy. In other words, if there was substantial evidence to sustain that decision, the decision of the board must be sustained. In such an instance where there is no claim of any fraud or corruption on the part of the board, this court cannot say that the board abused its discretion.

155 OS 99, 97 NE(2d) 671 (1951), State ex rel Ehring v Bliss. An elector's petition and declaration of candidacy for the office of councilman-at-large are not invalid by reason of the fact that within forty days preceding the filing thereof the elector has in good faith removed from one precinct to another in the same ward of the municipality without changing his registration at the county board of elections.

16 App(2d) 140, 242 NE(2d) 672 (1968), State ex rel May v Jones. The factual decision of a board of elections as to the residence of a person seeking to become a voter is subject to judicial review, when such factual decision is arbitrary, unreasonable or constitutes an abuse of discretion.

OAG 84-025. Pursuant to RC 3513.05 and 3513.261, a board of elections may not certify as valid the petition of a candidate for county office who does not reside in the county in which he seeks office.

4. Petition requirements

157 OS 345, 105 NE(2d) 414 (1952), State ex rel Bass v Summit County Bd of Elections. Where the circulator of a candidate's petition is registered with the board of elections and the records of the board of elections represent such circulator to be a qualified elector, the qualifications of such circulator as a qualified elector cannot be attacked collaterally in a proceeding before the board of elections based upon a protest to the petition so circulated for and filed by such candidate. (Annotation from former RC 3513.27.)

3513.06 Effect of change of name on declaration of candidacy

If any person desiring to become a candidate for public office has changed his name within five years next preceding the filing of his declaration of candidacy, his declaration of candidacy and petition must both contain, immediately following his present name, his former names. Any person who has been elected under his changed name, without submission of his former name, shall be immediately suspended from the office and the office declared vacated, and shall be liable to the state for any salary he has received while holding such office. The attorney general in the case of candidates for state offices, the prosecuting attorney of the most populous county in a district in the case of candidates for district offices, and the prosecuting attorney of the county in the case of all other candidates shall institute necessary action to enforce this section.

This section does not apply to a change of name by reason of marriage; to a candidate for a state office who has once complied with this section and who has previously been elected to a state office; to a candidate for a district office who has once complied with this section and who has previously been elected to a state or district office; to a candidate for a county office who has once complied with this section and has previously been elected to a state, district, or county office; to a candidate for a municipal office who has once complied with this section and has previously been elected to a municipal office; or to a candidate for a township office who has once complied with this section and has previously been elected to a township office; provided that such previous election was one at which his candidacy complied with this section.

20 OS(2d) 41, 252 NE(2d) 641 (1969), State ex rel Sterne v Hamilton County Bd of Ed. Refusal of a board of elections to print a candidate's "nickname" on the ballot instead of or along with the individual's name as it appears on a birth certificate, deed, voter registration, and driver's license is not an abuse of discretion.

153 OS 372, 92 NE(2d) 4 (1950), Pierce v Brushart. Where a person, in the signing of a declaration of candidacy and petition for nomination to a public office, used a name which he had adopted and by which he had been generally known in the community in which he resided, for many years both before and after the enactment of GC 4785-70a and 4785-90a (RC 3513.06, 3513.26), and for more than 10 years before the filing of such declaration of candidacy and petition, the fact that during the same period of time he used another name on certain occasions does not make such signing a change of name within the purview and meaning of such sections.

114 App 497, 177 NE(2d) 616 (1961), State ex rel Krupa v Green. Where a woman arranges by antenuptial written contract to retain her maiden name and so notifies the board of elections which notes on her registration card that she "is married" and "will retain her single name," and where, after her marriage, she uses only her single name in all her activities, is known only by such name, and votes thereunder in three elections, a declaration of candidacy and nominating petition filed by such woman under and using her single name is not for such reason invalid.

1941 OAG 4026. Where person whose identity is not questioned and who is commonly known as "Frank H. Kearns" signs acceptance of candidacy for office of councilman of city of Columbus as "Frank H. Kearns," nominating petition of such person, if regular in all other respects, is valid, even though such person is registered in name of "Francis H. Kearns," and name which is to appear on ballot in ensuing primary election should be "Frank H. Kearns."

68 OS(2d) 39, 428 NE(2d) 402 (1981), Hill v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Part-petitions were not invalidated by virtue of fact petitions contained wrong date for election.

22 OS(2d) 63, 258 NE(2d) 112 (1970), State ex rel Saffold v Timmins. Nominating petitions are not invalidated by fact that the declaration of candidacy was executed before two different notaries.

22 OS(2d) 63, 258 NE(2d) 112 (1970), State ex rel Saffold v Timmins. That a declaration of candidacy is executed by more than one notary does not mislead or defraud the signers of the part-petitions.

22 OS(2d) 61, 258 NE(2d) 111 (1970), State ex rel Kucinich v Duffy. Signature of a candidate on his own nominating petition, as signer of that petition, cannot be included in determining whether such petition contains minimum number of signatures required by law.

6 OS(2d) 67, 215 NE(2d) 719 (1966), State ex rel Wolson v Kelly. Nominating petitions were not invalidated by candidate's failure to state precinct of residence where he did set forth his correct residential address.

6 OS(2d) 66, 215 NE(2d) 698 (1966), State ex rel Reese v Tuscarawas County Bd of Elections. Failure of some nominating petitions to specify number of persons signing and party affiliation of candidate justified rejection thereof.

6 OS(2d) 65, 215 NE(2d) 716 (1966), State ex rel Ellis v Sulligan. Nominating petition for common pleas judge was sufficient even though the name of the county was omitted from the declaration of candidacy.

176 OS 191, 198 NE(2d) 459 (1964), State ex rel Cofall v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. "Clerk of courts" is sufficient on a nominating petition for clerk of the court of common pleas.

176 OS 93, 197 NE(2d) 797 (1964), State ex rel Chatfield v Hamilton County Bd of Elections. A typed signature on a declaration of candidacy is insufficient.

173 OS 317, 181 NE(2d) 890 (1962), State ex rel Ferguson v Brown; overruled by 22 OS(2d) 63, 258 NE(2d) 112 (1970), State ex rel Saffold v Timmins. The election laws contemplate essentially one declaration of candidacy which shall be uniform and complete in accordance with the statutory mandates, which may be an original one at the head of each petition paper circulated, signed by the candidate individually and sworn to, or there may be a single complete original declaration with identical copies thereof heading all other separate nominating petition papers placed in circulation, but there may not be a number of declarations varying in substance and form and with material omissions.

170 OS 511, 166 NE(2d) 759 (1960), State ex rel Higgins v Brown. Where a candidate states under oath in his declaration of candidacy that his voting residence is in a particular registration precinct and that he is a qualified elector in such precinct, when at the time of such sworn statement the candidate is not residing in such precinct, has not resided there for 40 or more days and has not even attempted to register as an elector therein, there is such a failure to fully comply with RC 3513.05 and 3513.07 as to require, at a hearing on a protest against the candidacy of such candidate, a determination that his declaration of candidacy be rejected.

170 OS 9, 161 NE(2d) 891 (1959), State ex rel Hanna v Milburn. Where a public office is of such a nature that in accurately describing it it is necessary to state not only the title but also the time of its commencement, then failure to accurately state the date of commencement of the term will invalidate a nominating petition, but where the office is of such a nature that it may be accurately described without pinpointing the date of the commencement of the term, a slight error in the insertion of the date which does not mislead the signers of the petition does not invalidate the petition.

165 OS 175, 134 NE(2d) 154 (1956), State ex rel Pucel v Green. Mandamus will lie to compel the board to accept a signature on a nominating petition where the signer testifies that the signature is authentic and there is no evidence contradicting that testimony.

164 OS 178, 129 NE(2d) 632 (1955), State ex rel Leslie v Duffy. Where an independent candidate, prior to the circulation of his nominating petition, completely fills out the entire statement of candidacy down to the date of his signature, as well as the entire preamble of the petition preceding the signatures of electors, and where prior to filing such petition, the candidate signs the statement of candidacy and swears to the same, and such petition at the time of filing is complete, a board of elections is not authorized to reject the petition.

161 OS 344, 119 NE(2d) 278 (1954), State ex rel Patton v Bazzell. The signers of a nomination petition for member of the county central committee must be members of the same party as the nominee, but need not declare their party affiliation in the petition.

161 OS 281, 118 NE(2d) 840 (1954), State ex rel Halpin v Hamilton County Bd of Elections. Where in a declaration of candidacy the notary's name rather than the candidate's name is erroneously inserted as the party sworn, the declaration of candidacy is in substantial compliance with the law.

155 OS 99, 97 NE(2d) 671 (1951), State ex rel Ehring v Bliss. Under the provisions of statute the terms "voting residence" and "post office address" are not synonymous.

149 OS 211, 78 NE(2d) 368 (1948), State ex rel Lemert v Muskingum County Bd of Elections. Where relator failed to properly designate the precinct from which he sought election, on his declaration of candidacy as member of party county central committee, his declaration and petition were properly rejected under provisions of statute.

125 OS 251, 181 NE 107 (1932), Koehler v Butler County Bd of Elections. When a declaration of candidacy or a petition is void under GC 4785-70, 4785-71 or 4785-72 (RC 3513.05, 3513.07, 3513.09), because of lack of subscription, oath or affirmation, it cannot be cured subsequent to the statutory date for filing the same, and the board of elections must reject such declaration or petition.

120 App 64, 197 NE(2d) 412 (1964), State ex rel Cofall v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections; affirmed by 176 OS 191, 198 NE(2d) 459 (1964). A declaration of candidacy for party nomination at a primary election designating the office sought as "clerk of courts" instead of "clerk of the court of common pleas" satisfies RC 3513.07, and a board of elections does not abuse its discretion in finding such declaration of candidacy and petition valid.

110 App 543, 161 NE(2d) 243 (1959), State ex rel Bailey v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Where a candidate was advised by the board of elections at the time of the filing of his nominating petitions that there was nothing further to sign and where he had signed each petition twice, his failure to sign the acceptance on the front of the petition did not justify a rejection of the petitions.

98 App 89, 128 NE(2d) 121 (1954), State ex rel Wiethe v Hamilton County Bd of Elections. The trial court properly denied relator's request for a mandatory injunction ordering his name placed on the ballot as candidate for the central committee from a designated ward where his petition stated that he was a candidate from a precinct of the ward.

69 App 59, 42 NE(2d) 1009 (1941), State ex rel Raines v Tobin; affirmed by 138 OS 468, 35 NE(2d) 779 (1941). Provisions of statute are mandatory and failure of person who desires to become candidate at primaries to sign declaration of candidacy at end of declaration, although candidate did sign oath and acknowledgment thereto, is not merely a technical defect.

65 App 158, 29 NE(2d) 432 (1940), State ex rel Latimer v Leonard. Candidate for member of county central committee of a political party must reside at the address stated by him in his declaration of candidacy and be a qualified elector in the ward and precinct in which such address is located when he signs and swears to the declaration as required by statute.

337 FSupp 1405 (ND Ohio 1971), Lippitt v Cipollone; affirmed by 404 US 1032, 92 SCt 729, 30 LEd(2d) 725 (1972). Ohio statutes seeking to prevent "raiding" of one party by members of another party and to preclude candidates from "altering their political party affiliations for opportunistic reasons" are valid.

1941 OAG 4013. Person otherwise qualified who will attain the age of 21 years on or before the date of the next general election, may be a candidate in the party primary for that election.

1932 OAG 4158. Where a person has registered as "John A. Smith" and signs a nominating petition and a declaration as "Albert Smith," if there is no question about his identity and he is commonly known as "Albert Smith," his signature on the nominating petition can be counted and the declaration of candidacy is valid, provided said papers are in all other respects regular.

2. Irregularities in circulation

29 OS(2d) 233, 281 NE(2d) 186 (1972), State ex rel Loss v Lucas County Bd of Elections. Failure to insert in the jurat of nominating petition the number of signatures appearing thereon renders petition insufficient.

14 OS(2d) 175, 237 NE(2d) 313 (1968), Stern v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Where, after the board of elections has conducted a public hearing upon a protest, the undisputed facts are that (1) a valid declaration of candidacy has been properly filed, (2) a proper petition containing a valid affidavit of the circulator of each part-petition has been filed, (3) in the jurat following the circulator's affidavit on one part-petition the notary who administered the oath to the circulator inadvertently omitted his handwritten signature and imprinted seal, (4) such jurat is properly dated and bears the name of the notary who administered the oath, the title of his office, the date his notary commission will expire and the limits of his jurisdiction (such matters having been stamped upon the jurat by the notary at the time he administered the oath to the circulator), a board of elections does not abuse its discretion when it rules that such part-petition is valid on the ground that there is substantial compliance with the form of the declaration of candidacy and petition.

176 OS 105, 198 NE(2d) 76 (1964), State ex rel Van Aken v Duffy. A petition for candidate form which contains no space for the signature of the circulator of the petition and which was not in fact signed by the circulator is invalid, even though issued to him by a board of elections.

175 OS 237, 193 NE(2d) 269 (1963), State ex rel Keyse v Sarosy. Board of elections improperly rejected petition on grounds that affidavit attached thereto was false where affidavit referred to 17 signatures and two signatures on petition were crossed off, leaving 15 signatures.

173 OS 321, 181 NE(2d) 888 (1962), State ex rel Schwarz v Hamilton County Bd of Elections. Where evidence showed that circulator of nominating petition had sworn that 27 signatures were placed thereon in his presence and 28 signatures were on such petition, and the circulator testified that he had deliberately ignored one signature because it was by a resident of another county, such petition should have been accepted.

151 OS 197, 84 NE(2d) 910 (1949), State ex rel Kroeger v Leonard. Under the provisions of statute it is essential that the circulator of a nominating petition for candidacy for political office include in his oath to such petition a designation of the political party in which he holds membership; in the absence of such a declaration by the circulator in his oath, a board of elections does not act unlawfully in refusing to accept and validate such petition.

4 App(2d) 183, 211 NE(2d) 854 (1965), State ex rel Donofrio v Henderson. RC 3501.38(C) has been complied with when the signer of a nominating petition has personally signed his own name in the presence of the circulator, and the circulator or some other person under the authority and direction of the signer has written in all other information therein required, or when a signer of a nominating petition, or some other person under his authority and direction, uses ditto marks to indicate either the date of signing or the location of his voting address.

1952 OAG 1203. If the affidavit of a circulator of a petition contains a knowingly false statement, the petition should be rejected, but if signatures are invalid for reasons unknown to the circulator, the petition and valid signatures can be accepted.

3513.08 Declaration of candidacy for judge, county commissioner; candidate for any unexpired term

Each person filing a declaration of candidacy for nomination at a primary election as a candidate for election to the office of judge of the supreme court, court of appeals, court of common pleas, probate court, and such other courts as are established by law, in addition to designating in such declaration the office for election to which he seeks such nomination, shall, if two or more judges of the same court are to be elected at any one election, designate the term of the office for election to which he seeks such nomination by stating therein, if a full term, the date of the commencement of such term as follows: "Full term commencing _____(Date) _____," or by stating therein, if an unexpired term, the date on which such unexpired term will end as follows: "unexpired term ending _____(Date)_____."

Each person filing a declaration of candidacy for nomination at a primary election as a candidate for election to the office of county commissioner, in addition to designating in the declaration the office for election to which he seeks the nomination, shall, if two or more commissioners of the same county are to be elected at any one election, designate the term of the office for election to which he seeks the nomination by stating therein, if a full term, the date of the commencement of the term, as follows: "Full term commencing _____(Date)_____," or by stating therein, if an unexpired term, the date on which the unexpired term will end, as follows: "unexpired term ending _____(Date)_____."

Each person filing a declaration of candidacy for nomination at a primary election as a candidate for the unexpired term of any office shall designate in such declaration the date on which such unexpired term will end.

51 OS(3d) 87, 554 NE(2d) 895 (1990), State ex rel Clinard v Greene County Bd of Elections. RC 3513.08 mandates that the declaration of candidacy state the commencement date of the term sought.

36 OS(3d) 164, 522 NE(2d) 49 (1988), State ex rel Calhoun v Scioto County Bd of Elections. A declaration of candidacy form must include the term for which a primary candidate for judicial office seeks nomination and the language set forth in RC 3513.08 is mandatory; thus, a declaration of candidacy form for a judgeship nomination which states the nomination is sought for the "full term ending 2/8/95" rather than the "full term commencing 2/9/89" is invalid.

150 OS 127, 80 NE(2d) 899 (1948), State ex rel Beck v Hummel. Statute provides for nomination of candidates for election as presidential electors for those political parties which have nominated candidates for president and vice-president in national conventions to which delegates and alternates of this state have been elected at primary elections in presidential years; GC 4785-107 (RC 3505.10) provides for placing of names upon the presidential ballot in this state of candidates for president and vice-president of the United States who have been nominated as such by national conventions of those political parties to which delegates and alternates were elected at the next preceding primary election; the names of no other candidates for election to the offices of president and vice-president of the United States are authorized to be placed upon the presidential ballot in Ohio.

OAG 68-013. A political party formed pursuant to RC 3517.01 must have a state convention to nominate its presidential electors pursuant to RC 3513.11, and a national convention to nominate its presidential candidate pursuant to RC 3513.12, in order for its candidate to have a place on the presidential ballot.

3513.12 National convention delegates and alternates

At a primary election which shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May in the year 1988, and similarly in every fourth year thereafter, delegates and alternates to the national conventions of the different major political parties shall be chosen by direct vote of the electors as provided in this chapter. Candidates for delegate and alternate shall be qualified and the election shall be conducted in the manner prescribed in this chapter for the nomination of candidates for state and district offices, except as provided in section 3513.151 of the Revised Code and except that whenever any group of candidates for delegate at large or alternate at large, or any group of candidates for delegates or alternates from districts, file with the secretary of state statements as provided by this section, designating the same persons as their first and second choices for president of the United States, such a group of candidates may submit a group petition containing a declaration of candidacy for each of such candidates. The group petition need be signed only by the number of electors required for the petition of a single candidate. No group petition shall be submitted except by a group of candidates equal in number to the whole number of delegates at large or alternates at large to be elected or equal in number to the whole number of delegates or alternates from a district to be elected.

Each person seeking to be elected as delegate or alternate to the national convention of his political party shall file with his declaration of candidacy and certificate a statement in writing signed by him in which he shall state his first and second choices for nomination as the candidate of his party for the presidency of the United States. The secretary of state shall not permit any declaration of candidacy and certificate of a candidate for election as such delegate or alternate to be filed unless accompanied by such statement in writing. The name of a candidate for the presidency shall not be so used without his written consent.

A person who is a first choice for president of candidates seeking election as delegates and alternates shall file with the secretary of state, prior to the day of the election, a list indicating the order in which certificates of election are to be issued to delegate or alternate candidates to whose candidacy he has consented, if fewer than all of such candidates are entitled under party rules to be certified as elected. Each candidate for election as such delegate or alternate may also file along with his declaration of candidacy and certificate a statement in writing signed by him in the following form:

"Statement of Candidate For Election as _____ (Delegate) (Alternate) to the _____ (name of political party) National Convention

I hereby declare to the voters of my political party in the State of Ohio that, if elected as _____ (delegate) (alternate) to their national party convention, I shall, to the best of my judgment and ability, support that candidate for President of the United States who shall have been selected at this primary by the voters of my party in the manner provided in Chapter 3513. of the Ohio Revised Code, as their candidate for such office.

(Delegate) (Alternate)"

The procedures for the selection of candidates for delegate and alternate to the national convention of a political party set forth in this section and in section 3513.121 of the Revised Code are alternative procedures, and if the procedures of this section are followed, the procedures of section 3513.121 of the Revised Code need not be followed.

BALLOTS

3513.13 Separate ballots for political parties; specifications and contents

Separate primary election ballots shall be provided by the board of elections for each political party having candidates for nomination or election in a primary election. Such ballots shall have printed at the top thereof, and below the stubs "Official _____ (name of party) _____ primary ballot" and instructions to the voter to the effect that to vote for a candidate he must place "X" in the rectangular space at the left of the name of such candidate, except as provided in section 3513.151 of the Revised Code, and that if he tears, soils, defaces, or erroneously marks the ballot he may return it to the precinct election officers and obtain another ballot.

The name of each candidate for nomination for, or election to, an office or position shall be printed in an enclosed rectangular space at the left of which an enclosed blank rectangular space shall be provided. 3513.131 Candidates with identical names

In the event two or more persons with identical surnames run for the same office in a primary election on the same ballot, the names of the candidates shall be differentiated on the ballot by varying combinations of first and middle names and initials. Within twenty-four hours after the final date for filing declarations of candidacy or petitions for candidacy, the director of the board of elections for local, municipal, county, general, or special elections, or the director of the board of elections of the most populous county for district, general, or special elections, or the secretary of state for state-wide general and special elections shall notify the persons with identical given names and surnames that the names of such persons will be differentiated on the ballot. NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

77 Abs 570, 143 NE(2d) 879 (CP, Montgomery 1957), Dayton v Horstman. Where a city charter expressly prohibits write-in votes on a ballot for city commissioners, the court will not order a municipal primary to be held solely for the purpose of permitting write-in votes.

393 US 23, 89 SCt 5, 21 LEd(2d) 24 (1968), Williams v Rhodes. Ohio's election laws which require new political parties seeking ballot position in presidential elections to obtain petitions signed by qualified electors totalling fifteen per cent of the number of ballots cast in the last gubernatorial election and to file these petitions early in February of the election year violate the Equal Protection Clause.

290 FSupp 983 (SD Ohio 1968), Socialist Labor Party v Rhodes; modified sub nom Williams v Rhodes, 393 US 23, 89 SCt 5, 21 LEd(2d) 24 (1968). Court would not issue injunction compelling state to place name of candidate for president on ballot, but would enjoin state from prohibiting write-in voting.

OAG 70-011. It is not necessary to provide write-in spaces on primary election ballots for offices of member of state central committee of a political party in Ohio, or delegate or alternate to national convention of a political party, but such write-in space must be provided for office of member of county central committee and such office must appear on ballot even though no candidate has qualified to have his name printed on ballot for the office, in order that votes cast for eligible write-in candidates may be counted.

3513.15 Rotation of names; duties of secretary of state

The names of the candidates in each group of two or more candidates seeking the same nomination or election at a primary election, except delegates and alternates to the national convention of a political party, shall be rotated and printed as provided in section 3505.03 of the Revised Code, except that no indication of membership in or affiliation with a political party shall be printed after or under the candidate's name. When the names of the first choices for president of candidates for delegate and alternate are not grouped with the names of such candidates, the names of the first choices for president shall be rotated in the same manner as the names of candidates. The specific form and size of the ballot shall be prescribed by the secretary of state in compliance with this chapter.

It shall not be necessary to have the names of candidates for member of a county central committee printed on the ballots provided for absentee voters, and the board may cause the names of such candidates to be written on said ballots in the spaces provided therefor.

The secretary of state shall prescribe the procedure for rotating the names of candidates on the ballot and the form of the ballot for the election of delegates and alternates to the national convention of a political party in accordance with section 3513.151 of the Revised Code.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

156 OS 147, 101 NE(2d) 289 (1951), State ex rel Russell v Bliss. The provision of O Const Art V §2a, that "the names of all candidates for an office at any general election shall be arranged in a group under the title of that office, and shall be so alternated that each name shall appear (in so far as may be reasonably possible) substantially an equal number of times at the beginning, at the end, and in each intermediate place, if any, of the group in which such name belongs" is self-executing.

3513.151 Ballots for delegates to national convention; adoption of political party rules

(A) Candidates for delegate and alternate to the national convention of a political party shall be represented on the ballot, or their names shall appear on the ballot, in accordance with this section, but only in a manner that enables an X to be marked in the space provided therefor by the name of the first choice for president so that the X is counted as a vote cast for each candidate for delegate or alternate who has declared such person as his first choice for president.

(B) The names of candidates for delegate at large and alternate at large to the national convention of a political party shall not appear on the ballot. Such candidates shall be represented on the ballot by their stated first choice for president.

(C) The state central committee of each major political party, through its chairman, not later than seventy-five days prior to the date of the primary election, shall file with the secretary of state a statement that stipulates, in accordance with rules adopted by each state central committee at a meeting open to all members of the committee's party, whether or not the names of candidates for district delegate and district alternate to the national convention of his party are to be printed on the ballot. The secretary of state shall prescribe the form of the ballot for the election of district delegates and district alternates of each political party in accordance with such statement. If the state central committee of a political party fails to so provide such statement, the secretary of state shall prescribe a form of ballot on which the names of candidates for delegate and alternate to such national convention do not appear on the ballot. Only the names of the presidential first choices of such candidates for delegates and alternates shall appear on the ballot. If only the names of presidential first choices are printed, the ballot shall provide the opportunity for an X to be marked in the appropriate space provided beside such names and such a vote cast shall be counted as a vote for each candidate for delegate and alternate who has declared such person as his first choice for president.

If the number of candidates for district delegate or for district alternate to the national convention of a political party exceeds the number to be elected, the names of such candidates, when required to appear on the ballot, shall not be rotated, but shall be printed in a group on the ballot in alphabetical order immediately below or beside first choice for president. This form of the ballot shall be prescribed by the secretary so that an X marked in the space provided beside the name of such choice for president shall be a vote for each candidate whose name is included in the grouping.

(D) Candidates, grouped by first choice for president, shall be rotated in the same manner as though each grouping were a separate candidate. As many series of ballots shall be printed as the number of groups to be rotated, with the total number of ballots to be printed divided by the number of series to be printed in order to determine the number of ballots to be printed of each series. On the first series of ballots the candidates shall be alphabetically grouped by their first choice for president. On each succeeding series, the group of candidates which was the first in the preceding series shall be last and each of the other groups shall be moved up one place. The ballots shall be rotated and printed as provided in section 3505.03 of the Revised Code, except that no indication of membership in or affiliation with a political party shall be printed after or under the candidate's name.

(E) The state central committee of each major political party, through its chairman, not later than the fifteenth day prior to the date of the primary election, shall file with the secretary of state the rules of its political party adopted by the state central committee at a meeting open to all members of the committee's party, which affect the issuance of certificates of election to candidates for delegate or alternate to its party nominating convention, and the secretary of state shall issue certificates of election in accordance with such rules.

(F) If party rules prescribe that fewer than all such candidates for delegate and alternate are to be elected, certificates of election shall be issued in the order preferred by the first choice for president and in such numbers that the number of delegates and alternates certified as elected reflects, as nearly as possible, the proportion to be elected under the party rules.

(G) If the state central committee of a political party fails to file the rules with the secretary of state pursuant to this section, certificates of election shall be issued to the candidates for delegate and alternate receiving the highest number of votes.

3513.16 Primary ballot to designate term for judge of court of common pleas; exception

When two or more judges of the court of common pleas are to be elected in a county at any one election, the name of each candidate shall be placed upon the primary ballot under the designation of the term for which he is a candidate. Such designation shall correspond to that required by section 3513.08 of the Revised Code. The candidates for each term so designated shall be candidates for that term only, unless two or more new judgeships have been created, in which case from all candidates for a newly-created judgeship those receiving the highest number of votes shall be nominated.

13 App 259, 31 CC(NS) 511 (1920), Brower v State. Former GC 4976 (Repealed) recognized by inference the right of a candidate to withdraw his name, but a retraction or withdrawal of a withdrawal was not so recognized, and may be disregarded by the deputy state supervisors of elections, who cannot be compelled by mandamus to place the name of such person on the ballot.

3513.17 Death of candidate

If a person who has filed a declaration of candidacy, whose candidacy is to be submitted at a primary election to the electors of the entire state, dies prior to the tenth day before the day of such primary election, the secretary of state, upon proof of the death of such candidate, shall make certification of such death to the boards of elections of the state, and the name of such deceased candidate shall not appear on the ballots.

If a person who has filed a declaration of candidacy, whose candidacy is to be submitted at a primary election to the electors of a district comprised of more than one county but less than all the counties of the state, dies prior to the tenth day before the day of such primary election, the board of the most populous county of such district shall, upon proof of the death of such candidate, make certification of such death to the boards of such district, and the name of such deceased candidate shall not appear on the ballots.

If a person who has filed a declaration of candidacy, whose candidacy is to be submitted at a primary election to the electors of a subdivision smaller than a county but situated in more than one county, dies prior to the tenth day before the day of such primary election, the board of the county in which the major portion of the population of such subdivision is located shall, upon proof of the death of such candidate, make certification of such death to the boards of the other counties in which portions of the population of such subdivision are located, and the name of such deceased candidate shall not appear on the ballots.

If a person who has filed a declaration of candidacy, whose candidacy is to be submitted at a primary election to the electors of a county, or district or subdivision within a county, dies prior to the fifth day before the day of such primary election, upon proof of the death of such candidate to the board, the name of such deceased candidate shall not appear on the ballots.

If, at the time such certification or proof of death of a candidate is received by a board, ballots carrying the name of the deceased candidate have been printed, such board shall cause strips of paper to be pasted on such ballots so as to cover the name of the deceased candidate before such ballots are delivered to electors; except that in voting places using marking devices, the board shall cause strips of paper bearing the revised list of candidates for the office, after eliminating the deceased candidate's name, to be pasted on such ballot cards so as to cover the name or names formerly shown, before such ballot cards are delivered to the electors.

In no case shall votes cast for a deceased candidate be counted or recorded.

CONDUCT OF ELECTION AND CANVASS

3513.18 Conduct of primary election; special election on same day

Party primaries shall be held at the same place and time, but there shall be separate pollbooks, tally sheets, and ballot boxes provided at each polling place for each party participating in the election, and the ballot of each voter shall be placed in the ballot box of the party with which he is affiliated. Each ballot box shall be plainly marked with the name of the political party whose ballots are to be placed therein, by letters pasted or printed thereon or by a card attached thereto, or both, and so placed that the designation may be easily seen and read by the voter.

If a special election on a question or issue is held on the day of a primary election, there shall be provided in the pollbooks pages on which shall be recorded the names of all electors voting on said question or issue and not voting in such primary. It shall not be necessary for electors desiring to vote only on the question or issue to declare their political affiliation.

479 US 208, 107 SCt 544, 93 LEd(2d) 514 (1986), Tashjian v Connecticut Republican Party. A state law allowing only members of a particular political party to vote in that party's primary election impermissibly burdens the right of the party and its members under the First and Fourteenth Amendments to let independent voters take part in the primary. (Ed. note: Connecticut statute construed in light of federal constitution.)

3513.19 Challenges

(A) It is the duty of any witness or challenger and of any judge or clerk of elections and the right of any elector, whenever he doubts that a person attempting to vote at a primary election is legally entitled to vote at such election, to challenge the right of such person to vote. The right of a person to vote at a primary election may be challenged upon the following grounds:

(1) That the person whose right to vote is challenged is not a legally qualified elector;

(2) That he has received or has been promised some valuable reward or consideration for his vote;

(3) That he is not affiliated with or is not a member of the political party whose ballot he desires to vote. Such party affiliation shall be determined by examining the elector's voting record for the current year and the next two preceding calendar years as shown on the voter's registration card, using the standards of affiliation specified in division (D) of section 3513.05 of the Revised Code.

(B) When the right of a person to vote is challenged upon the ground set forth in division (A)(3) of this section, membership in or political affiliation with a political party shall be determined by the person's statement, made under penalty of election falsification, that the person desires to be affiliated with and supports the principles of the political party whose primary ballot the person desires to vote.

21 OS(2d) 253, 257 NE(2d) 389 (1970), State ex rel Young v Gasser. Membership in or affiliation with political party of a person who has never voted at regular state election is that which he desires it to be from time to time.

97 App 43, 120 NE(2d) 898 (1954), State ex rel Bouse v Cickelli. RC 3513.191 applies to primaries held after January 1, 1954, and is constitutional.

424 FSupp 588 (SD Ohio 1976), Kay v Brown. Although the state's legitimate interests of prohibiting candidacies prompted by short-range goals, rather than demonstrated loyalty to a party, support a waiting period, they do not support a four-year prohibition where the prospective candidate is effectively locked into a party which no longer exists; therefore, RC 3513.191 is unconstitutional as applied to a plaintiff who voted in the now-defunct Independent party primary of 1972 and who wishes to become a Democratic candidate in 1976.

424 FSupp 588 (SD Ohio 1976), Kay v Brown. Statute which barred candidate from filing in primary election because within four prior years he had voted in the primary of another party was unconstitutional as applied to candidate whose former party no longer had legal status in Ohio.

Secy of State Directive 84-12. RC 3513.191, barring individuals who vote in a primary election as members of one party from being candidates in any other party's primary during the next four years, cannot constitutionally be applied as written, and boards of election are directed to bar candidacies under that statute for a period no longer than two years.

2. In general

18 OS(2d) 63, 247 NE(2d) 461 (1969), State ex rel Gareau v Stillman. As used in RC 3513.191 "calendar year" means January 1 through December 31.

165 OS 191, 134 NE(2d) 834 (1956), State ex rel Bouse, Jr v Cickelli. A voter who voted in the republican primary in 1952 is ineligible to run in the democratic primary in 1956, and application of amended RC 3513.191, effective January 1, 1956, does not constitute retroactive legislation.

104 App 418, 149 NE(2d) 576 (1957), State ex rel Mazaris v Gaylord. RC 3513.191 and 3513.23 are in pari materia and "candidate" as used in RC 3513.191 applies to RC 3513.23 and embraces not only one who seeks office, but includes one who is chosen by others as a contestant for office.

104 App 418, 149 NE(2d) 576 (1957), State ex rel Mazaris v Gaylord. An elector who voted in the democratic primary election in 1953, did not vote in any primary election in 1954, and voted in the republican primary elections in 1955, 1956 and 1957, is disqualified to be nominated as a candidate of the republican party by write-in votes cast for him in the primary election of 1957 notwithstanding he filed no declaration of candidacy and did nothing to promote or encourage such write-in vote.

424 FSupp 588 (SD Ohio 1976), Kay v Brown. Where an election law provides that a person who voted in a primary election as a member of a different political party within four calendar years preceding that person's attempt to become a candidate for nomination in a party primary is barred from candidacy for that party, the fact that more than four 365-day periods would have passed between the May 1972 primary in which the plaintiff voted as an Independent party member and the June 1976 Democratic primary does not save the plaintiff from disqualification under the statute, which specifies calendar years.

341 FSupp 1187 (SD Ohio 1972), Gaunt v Brown; affirmed by 409 US 809, 93 SCt 69, 34 LEd(2d) 71 (1972). A state may validly deny voters who are seventeen at the time of primary, but will be eighteen at time of general election, right to vote in primary.

337 FSupp 1405 (ND Ohio 1971), Lippitt v Cipollone; affirmed by 404 US 1032, 92 SCt 729, 30 LEd(2d) 725 (1972). Ohio statutes seeking to prevent "raiding" of one party by members of another party and to preclude candidates from "altering their political party affiliations for opportunistic reasons" are valid.

OAG 72-024. Under RC 3513.191 an individual is eligible to be a candidate at a party primary if he has not voted as a member of a different party at any primary within the next preceding four calendar years; and the term, "calendar years," as used in the section, means the period from January 1 to December 31.

1964 OAG 1261. A person who falls within the prohibition in RC 3513.191, cannot lawfully be nominated as a candidate or elected at a party primary and the board of elections is without legal authority to place such person's name as a candidate for election on the ballot to be used in the general election in November.

3513.20 Statement required of person challenged; content; refusal of ballot

Before any challenged person shall be allowed to vote at a primary election he shall make a statement, under penalty of election falsification, before one of the precinct officials, blanks for which shall be furnished by the board of elections, giving name, age, residence, length of residence in the precinct, county, and state; stating that the person desires to be affiliated with and supports the principles of the political party whose ballot the person desires to vote; and giving all other facts necessary to determine whether he is entitled to vote in such primary election. Such statement shall be returned to the office of the board with the pollbooks and tally sheets.

If a person challenged refuses to make such statement under penalty of election falsification, he shall be refused a ballot. If a majority of the precinct officials finds that the statements of a person challenged or his voting record or other evidence shows that he lacks any of the qualifications required to make him a qualified elector at such primary election or that he is not affiliated with or is not a member of the political party whose ballot he desires to vote, he shall be refused a ballot.

3513.21 Counting votes; disputed ballots

At the close of the polls in a primary election, the judges and clerks of election shall proceed without delay to canvass the vote, sign and seal it, and make returns thereof to the board of elections forthwith on the forms to be provided by the board. The provisions of Title XXXV of the Revised Code relating to the accounting for and return of all ballots at general elections apply to primary ballots.

If there is any disagreement as to how a ballot should be counted it shall be submitted to all of the judges. If three of the judges do not agree as to how any part of the ballot shall be counted, that part of such ballot which three of the judges do agree shall be counted and a notation made upon the ballot indicating what part has not been counted, and shall be placed in an envelope provided for that purpose, marked "Disputed Ballots" and returned to the board. When the board has, by the adoption of a resolution, provided that the officials at a party primary election when only one party primary is to be held for the nomination of candidates for municipal office, shall be two judges and two clerks, the clerks shall be considered judges for the purposes of this section.

The board shall, on the day when the vote is canvassed, open such sealed envelopes, determine what ballots and for whom they should be counted, and proceed to count and tally the votes on such ballots.

3513.22 Canvass and certification of votes cast; certificates of nomination or election

Not earlier than the eleventh day nor later than the fifteenth day after a primary election the board of elections shall begin to canvass the election returns from the precincts in which electors were entitled to vote at such election and shall continue such canvass daily until it is completed.

The county executive committee of each political party which participated in the election, and each committee designated in a petition to represent the petitioners thereon pursuant to which a question or issue was submitted at such election, may designate a qualified elector who may be present at and may witness the making of such canvass. Each person for whom votes were cast in such election may also be present at and witness the making of such canvass.

When the canvass of the election returns from all of the precincts in the county in which electors were entitled to vote at such election has been completed, the board shall determine and declare the results of the elections determined by the electors of such county or of a district or subdivision within such county. If more than the number of persons to be nominated for or elected to an office received the largest and an equal number of votes, the tie shall be resolved by lot by the chairman of the board in the presence of a majority of the members of the board. Such declaration shall be in writing and shall be signed by at least a majority of the members of the board. It shall bear the date of the day upon which it is made, and a copy thereof shall be posted by the board in a conspicuous place in its office. The board shall keep such copy posted for a period of at least five days.

The board shall thereupon promptly certify abstracts of the results of such elections within its county upon such forms as the secretary of state prescribes. One certified copy of each abstract shall be kept in the office of the board, and one certified copy of each abstract shall promptly be sent to the secretary of state. The board shall also promptly send a certified copy of that part of such abstract which pertains to an election in which only electors of a district comprised of more than one county but less than all of the counties of the state voted to the board of the most populous county in such district. It shall also promptly send a certified copy of that part of such abstract which pertains to an election in which only electors of a subdivision located partly within the county voted to the board of the county in which the major portion of the population of such subdivision is located.

If, after certifying and sending abstracts and parts thereof, a board finds that any such abstract or part thereof is incorrect, it shall promptly prepare, certify, and send a corrected abstract or part thereof to take the place of each incorrect abstract or part thereof theretofore certified and sent.

When certified copies of abstracts are received by the secretary of state, he shall canvass such abstracts and determine and declare the results of all elections in which electors throughout the entire state voted. If more than the number of persons to be nominated for or elected to an office received the largest and an equal number of votes, the tie shall be resolved by lot by the secretary of state in the presence of the governor, the auditor of state, and the attorney general, who at the request of the secretary of state shall assemble to witness the drawing of such lot. Such declaration of results by the secretary of state shall be in writing and shall be signed by him. It shall bear the date of the day upon which it is made, and a copy thereof shall be posted by the secretary of state in a conspicuous place in his office. He shall keep such copy posted for a period of at least five days.

When certified copies of parts of abstracts are received by the board of the most populous county in a district from the boards of all of the counties in the district, the board receiving such abstracts shall canvass them and determine and declare the results of the elections in which only electors of the district voted. If more than the number of persons to be nominated for or elected to an office received the largest and equal number of votes, the tie shall be resolved by lot by the chairman of such board in the presence of a majority of the members of the board. Such declaration of results by such board shall be in writing and shall be signed by at least a majority of the members of such board. It shall bear the date of the day upon which it is made and a copy thereof shall be posted by such board in a conspicuous place in its office. The board shall keep such copy posted for a period of at least five days.

When certified copies of parts of abstracts are received by the board of a county in which the major portion of the population of a subdivision located in more than one county is located from the boards of each county in which other portions of such subdivision are located, the board receiving such abstracts shall canvass them and determine and declare the results of the elections in which only electors of such subdivision voted. If more than the number of persons to be nominated for or elected to an office received the largest and an equal number of votes, the tie shall be resolved by lot by the chairman of such board in the presence of a majority of the members of the board. Such declaration of results by such board shall be in writing and shall be signed by at least a majority of the members of such board. It shall bear the date of the day upon which it is made and a copy thereof shall be posted by such board in a conspicuous place in its office. The board shall keep such copy posted for a period of at least five days.

Election officials, who are required to declare the results of primary elections, shall issue to each person declared nominated for or elected to an office, an appropriate certificate of nomination or election, provided that the boards required to determine and declare the results of the elections for candidates for nomination to the office of representative to congress from a congressional district shall, in lieu of issuing a certificate of nomination, certify to the secretary of state the names of such candidates nominated, and the secretary of state upon receipt of such certification shall issue a certificate of nomination to each person whose name is so certified. Certificates of nomination or election issued by boards to candidates and certifications to the secretary of state shall not be issued before the expiration of the time within which applications for recounts of votes may be filed or before recounts of votes, which have been applied for, are completed.

Where, in the exercise of its discretionary authority under RC 3505.32 a board of elections opens sealed containers of ballots and "counts" them, and errors are found by it in its declaration of results and abstract previously certified, which errors required the issuance of a corrected declaration and abstract as provided in RC 3513.22, such procedure by the board of elections does not constitute a recount within the meaning of RC 3515.06 authorizing the person not nominated to make application for a recount of additional precincts not theretofore recounted.

134 OS 352, 16 NE(2d) 946 (1938), State ex rel Snyder v Secretary of State. Secretary of state is not required by this section, or any other provision of law, to certify to the several boards of elections the names of candidates for county offices.

134 OS 348, 16 NE(2d) 944 (1938), State ex rel Ward v Kennedy. Mandamus will not lie to compel secretary of state to determine the legality of votes cast in Trumbull county, since no duty is specifically enjoined upon the secretary to make that determination.

1959 OAG 708. If a person who was a candidate in a primary election fails to file the statement of contributions and expenditures or of no expenditures required by RC 3517.10 within the time prescribed, the disqualification provision of RC 3517.11 becomes operative and that person is barred from receiving a certificate of nomination and from becoming a candidate in the general election.

1956 OAG 6623. The eligibility of an individual, under the provisions of RC 315.02, for nomination as a party candidate for the office of county engineer is a matter for judicial rather than administrative determination, and a board of elections is without authority to make such determination by omitting from the ballot in the general election the name of an individual receiving the highest number of votes for such office in a party primary.

3513.23 Names written on ballot; number of votes required for nomination

If an elector voting at a primary election writes in a blank space provided therefor on the ballot of one political party under the title of an office for which a nomination is to be made the name of a person other than the persons whose names are printed on the ballot as candidates for such nomination, and if such elector places "X" in the rectangular space at the left of the name written, such ballot shall be counted as a vote for the nomination of the person whose name is written thereon, but in no event shall a person, whose name is written on a primary election ballot, be nominated as a candidate for election to an office if the name of no person living on the day of such primary election is printed on such ballot as a candidate for such nomination, unless the total number of votes cast for the person whose name is written on the ballot is not less than that number of petition signatures that would have been required for the printing of the person's name on the primary ballot pursuant to section 3513.05 of the Revised Code.

32 OS(2d) 17, 288 NE(2d) 816 (1972), State ex rel McIntyre v Mininni. RC 3513.23, to the extent that it requires write-in candidates at primary elections to receive that number of votes which is equal to fifteen per cent of the total number of electors who vote such primary election ballot, creates invidious distinctions between write-in candidates and candidates whose names are printed on the ballot.

1954 OAG 4012. Where a county commissioner dies prior to the time for filing declarations of candidacy and where no declaration of candidacy is filed for the unexpired term for such office and no person is nominated for such unexpired term at the primary election by receiving the required number of write-in votes there is no provision of law by which any person may be nominated for such office, and the election for such office should be had at the November general election by providing a blank space on the ballot.

1951 OAG 476. The use of pasters bearing the name of a "write-in" candidate, attached to the official ballot by individual voters, is not authorized by law.

When members of party committees are elected at a primary election, the returns shall be made and canvassed in the same manner as for the election of state, district, and county offices. The election authorities shall issue and deliver to each person who is elected a certificate of his election. A list of such party committeemen who are chosen shall be filed and kept in the office of the secretary of state and the board of elections for a period of two years.

3513.257 Independent candidate's petition for nomination at primary elections; treatment of joint candidates

Each person desiring to become an independent candidate for an office for which candidates may be nominated at a primary election, except persons desiring to become independent joint candidates for the offices of governor and lieutenant governor and for the offices of president and vice-president of the United States, shall file no later than four p.m. of the day before the day of the primary election immediately preceding the general election at which such candidacy is to be voted for by the voters, a statement of candidacy and nominating petition as provided in section 3513.261 of the Revised Code. Persons desiring to become independent joint candidates for the offices of governor and lieutenant governor shall file, not later than four p.m. of the day before the day of the primary election, one statement of candidacy and one nominating petition for the two of them. Persons desiring to become independent joint candidates for the offices of president and vice-president of the United States shall file, not later than four p.m. of the seventy-fifth day before the day of the general election at which the president and vice-president are to be elected, one statement of candidacy and one nominating petition for the two of them. The prospective independent joint candidates' statement of candidacy shall be filed with the nominating petition as one instrument.

The statement of candidacy and separate petition papers of each candidate or pair of joint candidates shall be filed at the same time as one instrument.

The nominating petition shall contain signatures of qualified electors of the district, political subdivision, or portion of a political subdivision in which the candidacy is to be voted on in an amount to be determined as follows:

(A) If the candidacy is to be voted on by electors throughout the entire state, the nominating petition, including the nominating petition of independent joint candidates for the offices of governor and lieutenant governor, shall be signed by no less than five thousand qualified electors, provided that no petition shall be accepted for filing if it purports to contain more than fifteen thousand signatures.

(B) If the candidacy is to be voted on by electors in any district, political subdivision, or part thereof in which less than five thousand electors voted for the office of governor at the next preceding election for that office, the nominating petition shall contain signatures of not less than twenty-five qualified electors of the district, political subdivision, or part thereof, or a number of qualified signatures equal to at least five per cent of that vote, if this number is less than twenty-five.

(C) If the candidacy is to be voted on by electors in any district, political subdivision, or part thereof in which five thousand or more electors voted for the office of governor at the next preceding election for that office, the nominating petition shall contain a number of signatures equal to at least one per cent of those electors.

All nominating petitions of candidates for offices to be voted on by electors throughout the entire state shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state. No nominating petition for the offices of president and vice-president of the United States shall be accepted for filing unless there is submitted to the secretary of state, at the time of filing the petition, a slate of presidential electors sufficient in number to satisfy the requirement of the United States Constitution. The secretary of state shall not accept for filing the statement of candidacy of a person who desires to be an independent candidate for the office of governor unless it also shows the joint candidacy of a person who desires to be an independent candidate for the office of lieutenant governor, shall not accept for filing the statement of candidacy of a person who desires to be an independent candidate for the office of lieutenant governor unless it also shows the joint candidacy of a person who desires to be an independent candidate for the office of governor, and shall not accept for filing the statement of candidacy of a person who desires to be an independent candidate to the office of governor or lieutenant governor who has already been shown as an independent candidate for governor or lieutenant governor on a statement of candidacy previously filed and accepted during the filing period preceding the same primary election.

Nominating petitions of candidates for offices to be voted on by electors within a district or political subdivision comprised of more than one county but less than all counties of the state shall be filed with the boards of elections of that county or part of a county within the district or political subdivision which had a population greater than that of any other county or part of a county within the district or political subdivision according to the last federal decennial census.

Nominating petitions for offices to be voted on by electors within a county or district smaller than a county shall be filed with the board of elections for such county.

No petition other than the petition of a candidate whose candidacy is to be considered by electors throughout the entire state shall be accepted for filing if it appears on its face to contain more than three times the minimum required number of signatures. When a petition of a candidate has been accepted for filing by a board of elections, the petition shall not be deemed invalid if, upon verification of signatures contained in the petition, the board of elections finds the number of signatures accepted exceeds three times the minimum number of signatures required. A board of elections may discontinue verifying signatures when the number of verified signatures on a petition equals the minimum required number of qualified signatures.

The purpose of establishing a filing deadline for independent candidates prior to the primary election immediately preceding the general election at which the candidacy is to be voted on by the voters is to recognize that the state has a substantial and compelling interest in protecting its electoral process by encouraging political stability, ensuring that the winner of the election will represent a majority of the community, providing the electorate with an understandable ballot, and enhancing voter education, thus fostering informed and educated expressions of the popular will in a general election. The filing deadline for independent candidates required in this section prevents splintered parties and unrestrained factionalism, avoids political fragmentation, and maintains the integrity of the ballot. The deadline, one day prior to the primary election, is the least drastic or restrictive means of protecting these state interests. The general assembly finds that the filing deadline for independent candidates in primary elections required in this section is reasonably related to the state's purpose of ensuring fair and honest elections while leaving unimpaired the political, voting, and associational rights secured by the first and fourteenth amendments to the United States constitution.

460 US 780, 103 SCt 1564, 75 LEd(2d) 547 (1983), Anderson v Celebrezze. The Ohio statute imposing a March deadline for the filing of nominating petitions as an independent candidate for president places an unconstitutional burden on voting and associational rights of supporters of independent candidates.

499 FSupp 121 (SD Ohio 1980), Anderson v Celebrezze; affirmed by 460 US 780, 103 SCt 1564, 75 LEd(2d) 547 (1983). Ohio statute requiring independent candidate to file nomination papers seventy-five days before the primary election in June is unconstitutional.

No. C-1-84-791 (SD, Ohio, 8-31-84), Ray v South. Requiring independent candidates' petitions to be signed by 1% of the number of electors voting in the next preceding gubernatorial election, as RC 3513.257(C) does, is not a violation of a potential candidate's constitutional rights, nor is it improper to make independent candidates produce more signatures than partisan candidates must.

No. C-1-84-791 (SD, Ohio, 8-31-84), Ray v South. The "injury" voters suffer because of the early filing deadline imposed on independent judicial candidates by RC 3513.257 differs in kind from that caused by imposition of the same deadline on legislative and executive posts, since judicial candidates campaign on the basis of personality rather than their positions on public issues; the state's interest in political stability is compelling, and the burden imposed on independent judicial candidates is constitutional because reasonably necessary to the promotion of that interest.

No. C-1-84-531 (SD, Ohio, 8-30-84), Denny v Eyrich. The command of RC 3513.357 that certain independent candidates file nominating petitions seventy-five days before the primary election is not justified as preventing independent campaigns by primary losers or party-changers, since it also applies to people who have never been affiliated with a political party; application of the deadline to a congressional candidate is an unconstitutional restriction of access to the ballot.

3513.259 Nomination of candidates for state board of education; filing of petitions

Nominations of candidates for the office of member of the state board of education shall be made only by nominating petition. The nominating petition of a candidate for the office of member of the state board of education shall be signed by not less than one per cent of the number of electors who voted for governor at the next preceding regular state election for the office of governor in the district, or five hundred electors, whichever is the lesser number.

No such nominating petition shall be accepted for filing if it appears on its face to contain signatures aggregating in number more than three times the minimum number of signatures required by this section. When a petition of a candidate has been accepted for filing by a board of elections, the petition shall not be deemed invalid if, upon verification of signatures contained in the petition, the board of elections finds the number of signatures accepted exceeds three times the minimum number of signatures required. A board of elections may discontinue verifying signatures when the number of verified signatures equals the minimum required number of signatures. Such petition shall be filed with the board of elections of the most populous county in such district not later than four p.m. of the seventy-fifth day before the day of the general election at which state board of education members are elected.

Each nominating petition shall be signed by qualified electors residing in the district in which the candidate designated therein would be a candidate for election to the office of member of the state board of education. Each candidate shall be a qualified elector residing in the district in which he seeks election to such office.

As the word "district" is used in this section, it refers to a district created under section 3301.011 of the Revised Code.

6 OS(2d) 66, 215 NE(2d) 698 (1966), State ex rel Reese v Tuscarawas County Bd of Elections. Failure of some nominating petitions to specify number of persons signing and party affiliation of candidate justified rejection thereof.

6 OS(2d) 65, 215 NE(2d) 716 (1966), State ex rel Ellis v Sulligan. Nominating petition for common pleas judge was sufficient even though the name of the county was omitted from the declaration of candidacy.

4 OS(2d) 29, 211 NE(2d) 830 (1965), State ex rel Haffey v Miller. A city charter provision providing that nominating petitions for city council may include the names of more than one candidate is valid.

4 OS(2d) 16, 212 NE(2d) 420 (1965), State ex rel Svete v Geauga County Bd of Elections. Advice by a deputy clerk that nominating petitions appeared to be in proper order does not estop the board of elections from declaring such petitions to be invalid.

4 OS(2d) 7, 211 NE(2d) 54 (1965), State ex rel Cline v Henderson. The entering by a notary public (through mistake or inadvertence) of a date in a jurat different from the date upon which such notary actually administered the oath will not invalidate the entire nominating petition and result in the disqualification of the candidate named in that part-petition paper from becoming a candidate for the office he seeks.

176 OS 93, 197 NE(2d) 797 (1964), State ex rel Chatfield v Hamilton County Bd of Elections. A typed signature on a declaration of candidacy is insufficient.

175 OS 249, 193 NE(2d) 390 (1963), State ex rel Andrews v Medina County Bd of Elections. Failure of the notary to attach his signature and seal to a nominating petition constitutes a lack of substantial compliance with RC 3513.261.

173 OS 317, 181 NE(2d) 890 (1962), State ex rel Ferguson v Brown; overruled by 22 OS(2d) 63, 258 NE(2d) 112 (1970), State ex rel Saffold v Timmins. The election laws contemplate essentially one declaration of candidacy which shall be uniform and complete in accordance with the statutory mandates, which may be an original one at the head of each petition paper circulated, signed by the candidate individually and sworn to, or there may be a single complete original declaration with identical copies thereof heading all other separate nominating petition papers placed in circulation, but there may not be a number of declarations varying in substance and form and with material omissions.

170 OS 17, 161 NE(2d) 777 (1959), State ex rel Troy v Lake County Bd of Elections. The failure of a candidate to file a written acceptance of the nomination for the municipal office he seeks does not make his nominating petition insufficient.

170 OS 9, 161 NE(2d) 891 (1959), State ex rel Hanna v Milburn. Where a public office is of such a nature that in accurately describing it it is necessary to state not only the title but also the time of its commencement, then failure to accurately state the date of commencement of the term will invalidate a nominating petition, but where the office is of such a nature that it may be accurately described without pinpointing the date of the commencement of the term, a slight error in the insertion of the date which does not mislead the signers of the petition does not invalidate the petition.

167 OS 19, 145 NE(2d) 666 (1957), State ex rel Schulman v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Where certain candidates for public office paid the filing fee requested by the board of elections, and it was subsequently discovered on the final day of filing that the salary had been increased and the candidates paid the additional amount requested a few days thereafter, mandamus will not issue to strike such candidates from the ballot.

164 OS 178, 129 NE(2d) 632 (1955), State ex rel Leslie v Duffy. Where an independent candidate, prior to the circulation of his nominating petition, completely fills out the entire statement of candidacy down to the date of his signature, as well as the entire preamble of the petition preceding the signatures of electors, and where prior to filing such petition, the candidate signs the statement of candidacy and swears to the same, and such petition at the time of filing is complete, a board of elections is not authorized to reject the petition.

155 OS 99, 97 NE(2d) 671 (1951), State ex rel Ehring v Bliss. Under the provisions of statute the terms "voting residence" and "post office address" are not synonymous.

150 OS 289, 82 NE(2d) 92 (1948), State ex rel Braverman v Vitullo. Board of elections properly rejected petition papers of independent candidate, where such papers contained signatures of electors of more than one county on a single petition paper, and where certain signatures were accompanied by addresses not corresponding with the voting residences appearing on the registration cards filed with the boards of election, such signatures were properly rejected. (Annotation from former RC 3513.27.)

125 OS 251, 181 NE 107 (1932), Koehler v Butler County Bd of Elections. When a declaration of candidacy or a petition is void under GC 4785-70, 4785-71 or 4785-72 (RC 3513.05, 3513.07, 3513.09), because of lack of subscription, oath or affirmation, it cannot be cured subsequent to the statutory date for filing the same, and the board of elections must reject such declaration or petition.

27 App(3d) 280, 27 OBR 324, 500 NE(2d) 905 (Lorain 1985), State ex rel Yacobozzi v Lorain County Bd of Elections. RC 3513.261 does not require candidates to date their signatures on nominating petitions, and a board of elections abuses its discretion by rejecting petitions on which the date of the signature was entered after the petitions had been circulated; the candidate is entitled to a writ of mandamus ordering the board to certify the petitions and place his name on the ballot.

66 App(2d) 102, 421 NE(2d) 162 (1979), State ex rel Taylor v Franklin County Bd of Elections. Although RC 3513.261 requires that a candidate for office name a committee to represent him on his nominating petitions, it does not require that a committee of five be named on the petitions, and so it should be interpreted, consistent with the principle favoring choices in elections, as permitting a committee of three acting unanimously to constitute "a majority of a committee of five" who are entitled to fill a vacancy created by the death of a candidate.

12 App(2d) 87, 231 NE(2d) 81 (1967), State ex rel Smith v Johnson. Where a candidate who is required to file nominating petitions pursuant to RC 3513.261 appears before a notary public and knowingly signs his statement of candidacy on a petition that follows the form prescribed by RC 3513.261, the law is complied with although no oral oath is administered.

120 App 64, 197 NE(2d) 412 (1964), State ex rel Cofall v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections; affirmed by 176 OS 191, 198 NE(2d) 459 (1964). A declaration of candidacy for party nomination at a primary election designating the office sought as "clerk of courts" instead of "clerk of the court of common pleas" satisfies RC 3513.07, and a board of elections does not abuse its discretion in finding such declaration of candidacy and petition valid.

110 App 543, 161 NE(2d) 243 (1959), State ex rel Bailey v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Where a candidate for public office files his nominating petitions, which petitions are proper in every respect except that such candidate failed to sign the acceptance of nomination, with the board of elections and is told by a clerk of such board that he has nothing else to sign, and the board fails to notify him of any claimed deficiency in such petition papers until two weeks after the discovery thereof, subsequent to the expiration of the time for filing such petitions, and where the signature of such candidate appears twice on each petition paper (a total of 12 times), signifying his desire and intention to become a candidate for the office sought, such candidate has substantially complied with all the requirements of law, and the board of elections is estopped from claiming a defect in the petition papers as filed.

110 App 543, 161 NE(2d) 243 (1959), State ex rel Bailey v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Where a candidate was advised by the board of elections at the time of the filing of his nominating petitions that there was nothing further to sign and where he had signed each petition twice, his failure to sign the acceptance on the front of the petition did not justify a rejection of the petitions.

103 App 527, 145 NE(2d) 149 (1957), State ex rel Schulman v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections; affirmed by 167 OS 19, 145 NE(2d) 666 (1957). Where a candidate for an elective office files his nominating petition and pays the fee determined by the board of elections to be then required, and the salary for the office has been previously increased effective with the commencement of the term of office for which such candidate seeks election, and the board of elections subsequently notifies such candidate that he must pay an increased fee due to the salary increase and the candidate pays the fee increase after the last day for filing nominating petitions for such office, the board of elections is afforded a "legal excuse" for, and is justified in, receiving the petition.

69 App 59, 42 NE(2d) 1009 (1941), State ex rel Raines v Tobin; affirmed by 138 OS 468, 35 NE(2d) 779 (1941). Provisions of statute are mandatory and failure of person who desires to become candidate at primaries to sign declaration of candidacy at end of declaration, although candidate did sign oath and acknowledgment thereto, is not merely a technical defect.

88 Abs 140, 179 NE(2d) 182 (CP, Montgomery 1961), State ex rel Jackson v Horstman. The candidate for office of municipal judge in the charter city of Dayton is required by paragraph two of RC 1901.07 to file for nomination in 1961 in the same manner as that which the charter provides for nomination and election of the city commissioners according to sections 7, 8 and 9 of that charter.

OAG 84-025. Pursuant to RC 3513.05 and 3513.261, a board of elections may not certify as valid the petition of a candidate for county office who does not reside in the county in which he seeks office.

OAG 65-7. A nominating petition filed pursuant to RC 1907.051 and 3513.261 is void where it states that the candidate is seeking election at the general election in November to a full term as county court judge and there is no full term for which an election could be held at that time, and a favorable vote cast by the electors for such candidate for a full term as judge of the county court is ineffective.

1962 OAG 3383. The fact that signatures affixed to a county charter commission petition under O Const Art X §4, have been written with a lead pencil does not render such signatures invalid.

1956 OAG 6919. An individual who seeks to qualify as a candidate for office by filing a nominating petition in the form prescribed in RC 3513.261 has an interest in such petition sufficient to disqualify him from administering the oath therein required to a circulator of such petition, and the act of such candidate in purporting to administer such oath renders such petition invalid.

2. Irregularities in circulation

2 OS(3d) 1, 2 OBR 102, 440 NE(2d) 801 (1982), State ex rel Schmelzer v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Board of elections properly disqualified nominee where necessary petition signatures were obtained by a circulator who was not a qualified elector.

29 OS(2d) 233, 281 NE(2d) 186 (1972), State ex rel Loss v Lucas County Bd of Elections. Failure to insert in the jurat of nominating petition the number of signatures appearing thereon renders petition insufficient.

20 OS(2d) 8, 251 NE(2d) 606 (1969), State ex rel Williams v Sulligan. Nominating petitions on which the circulator's affidavit is notarized by the candidate are invalid.

176 OS 105, 198 NE(2d) 76 (1964), State ex rel Van Aken v Duffy. A petition for candidate form which contains no space for the signature of the circulator of the petition and which was not in fact signed by the circulator is invalid, even though issued to him by a board of elections.

175 OS 237, 193 NE(2d) 269 (1963), State ex rel Keyse v Sarosy. Board of elections improperly rejected petition on grounds that affidavit attached thereto was false where affidavit referred to 17 signatures and two signatures on petition were crossed off, leaving 15 signatures.

173 OS 321, 181 NE(2d) 888 (1962), State ex rel Schwarz v Hamilton County Bd of Elections. Where evidence showed that circulator of nominating petition had sworn that 27 signatures were placed thereon in his presence and 28 signatures were on such petition, and the circulator testified that he had deliberately ignored one signature because it was by a resident of another county, such petition should have been accepted.

170 OS 19, 161 NE(2d) 896 (1959), State ex rel Allen v Lake County Bd of Elections. The fact that a candidate takes the acknowledgment of his circulator renders such acknowledgment insufficient and makes the petition invalid, and such defect cannot be cured subsequent to the filing date.

170 OS 9, 161 NE(2d) 891 (1959), State ex rel Hanna v Milburn. Where a board of elections furnished nominating petitions which failed to state that the circulators were qualified electors of the state of Ohio, it was not an abuse of discretion for such board to find that such petitions were valid.

165 OS 483, 137 NE(2d) 560 (1956), State ex rel Reed v Malrick. Where the candidate named in a nominating petition notarizes the circulator's affidavit regarding the signing thereof, the affidavit is insufficient and hence the petition is invalid.

151 OS 197, 84 NE(2d) 910 (1949), State ex rel Kroeger v Leonard. Under the provisions of GC 4785-71 (RC 3513.07), it is essential that the circulator of a nominating petition for candidacy for political office include in his oath to such petition a designation of the political party in which he holds membership. In the absence of such a declaration by the circulator in his oath, a board of elections does not act unlawfully in refusing to accept and validate such petition.

4 App(2d) 183, 211 NE(2d) 854 (1965), State ex rel Donofrio v Henderson. RC 3501.38(C) has been complied with when the signer of a nominating petition has personally signed his own name in the presence of the circulator, and the circulator or some other person under the authority and direction of the signer has written in all other information therein required, or when a signer of a nominating petition, or some other person under his authority and direction, uses ditto marks to indicate either the date of signing or the location of his voting address.

107 App 460, 160 NE(2d) 294 (1957), Clawson v Wilgus. A nominating petition erroneously signed by a person as the circulator thereof who deposes that all names thereon were signed in his presence but who did not circulate such petition and intended to sign only as an elector is invalid.

87 Abs 594, 177 NE(2d) 687 (App, Cuyahoga 1961), Simon v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Board of elections abused its discretion in holding nomination petitions valid although undisputed evidence showed some signatures were not affixed in presence of circulators and although some petitions contained signatures affixed in same handwriting (in respect to which only such signatures were disallowed).

3513.262 Filing of nominating petitions; written protests

The nominating petitions of all candidates required to be filed before four p.m. of the day before the day of the primary election immediately preceding the general election shall be processed as follows:

If such petition is filed with the secretary of state, he shall, not later than the fifteenth day of June following the filing of such petition, transmit to each board such separate petition papers as purport to contain signatures of electors of the county of such board. If such petition is filed with the board of the most populous county of a district or of a county in which the major portion of the population of a subdivision is located, such board shall, not later than such fifteenth day of June, transmit to each board within such district such separate petition papers of the petition as purport to contain signatures of electors of the county of such board.

All petition papers so transmitted to a board and all nominating petitions filed with a board shall, under proper regulations, be open to public inspection from the fifteenth day of June until four p.m. of the thirtieth day of that month. Each board shall, not later than the next fifteenth day of July, examine and determine the sufficiency of the signatures on the petition papers transmitted to or filed with it, and the validity of the petitions filed with it, and shall return to the secretary of state all petition papers transmitted to it by him, together with its certification of its determination as to the validity or invalidity of signatures thereon, and shall return to each other board all petition papers transmitted to it by such other board, as provided in this section, together with its certification of its determination as to the validity or invalidity of signatures thereon. All other matters affecting the validity or invalidity of such petition papers shall be determined by the secretary of state or the board with whom such petition papers were filed.

Written protests against nominating petitions may be filed by any qualified elector eligible to vote for the candidate whose nominating petition he objects to, not later than four p.m. of the thirtieth day of July. Such protests shall be filed with the election officials with whom the nominating petition was filed. Upon the filing of such protest, the election officials with whom it is filed shall promptly fix the time and place for hearing it, and shall forthwith mail notice of the filing of such protest and the time and place for hearing it to the person whose nomination is protested. They shall also forthwith mail notice of the time and place fixed for the hearing to the person who filed the protest. At the time fixed, such election officials shall hear the protest and determine the validity or invalidity of the petition. Such determination shall be final.

A protest against the nominating petition filed by joint candidates for the offices of governor and lieutenant governor shall be filed, heard, and determined in the same manner as a protest against the nominating petition of a candidate who files by himself.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

26 OS(2d) 169, 270 NE(2d) 649 (1971), State ex rel Capers v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Until candidate's nominating petition is filed with board of elections, no duty with respect thereto, enforceable by writ of mandamus, is incumbent upon such board.

167 OS 323, 148 NE(2d) 229 (1958), Maranze v Montgomery County Bd of Elections. A mandamus action to declare null and void certain certificates of nomination cannot be brought by a complainant who has failed to file a protest to the nominating petitions.

164 OS 193, 129 NE(2d) 623 (1955), State ex rel Flynn v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. A board of elections is authorized to conduct a hearing on a protest against the nominating petition of a candidate alleged to be ineligible to assume the office and to determine the validity of such petition; and its decision is final and, in the absence of allegations of fraud, corruption, abuse of discretion or a clear disregard of statutes or legal provisions applicable thereto, is not subject to judicial review.

16 App(2d) 140, 242 NE(2d) 672 (1968), State ex rel May v Jones. The factual decision of a board of elections as to the residence of a person seeking to become a voter is subject to judicial review, when such factual decision is arbitrary, unreasonable or constitutes an abuse of discretion.

12 App(2d) 87, 231 NE(2d) 81 (1967), State ex rel Smith v Johnson. An elector who files a protest with a board of elections pursuant to RC 3513.262, which protest is overruled by such board of elections, can appeal to the common pleas court pursuant to RC Ch 2506; if such an appeal is filed, a candidate whose petitions are being challenged is a necessary party to such an appeal and must be joined as a party defendant.

114 App 497, 177 NE(2d) 616 (1961), State ex rel Krupa v Green. Where a woman arranges by antenuptial written contract to retain her maiden name and so notifies the board of elections which notes on her registration card that she "is married" and "will retain her single name," and where, after her marriage, she uses only her single name in all her activities, is known only by such name, and votes thereunder in three elections, a declaration of candidacy and nominating petition filed by such woman under and using her single name is not for such reason invalid.

1956 OAG 6919. A board of elections is under a mandatory duty to determine the validity of nominating petitions whether or not a protest is filed against them.

3513.263 Processing of nominating petitions; protests

The nominating petitions of all candidates required to be filed before four p.m. of the seventy-fifth day before the day of the general election, shall be processed as follows:

If such petition is filed with the secretary of state, he shall promptly transmit to each board such separate petition papers as purports [sic] to contain signatures of electors of the county of such board.

If such petition is filed with the board of a county in which the major portion of the population of a subdivision is located, such board shall promptly transmit to the board of each county in which other portions of such subdivision are located such separate petition papers of the petition as purport to contain signatures of electors of such county.

All petition papers so transmitted to a board of elections, and all nominating petitions filed with a board of elections shall, under proper regulation, be open to public inspection until four p.m. of the seventieth day before the day of such general election. Each board shall, not later than the sixty-eighth day before the day of such general election examine and determine the sufficiency of the signatures on the petition papers transmitted to or filed with it and the validity or invalidity of petitions filed with it, and shall return to each other board all petition papers transmitted to it by such other board, together with its certification of its determination as to the validity or invalidity of signatures thereon. All other matters affecting the validity or invalidity of such petition papers shall be determined by the board with whom such petition papers were filed.

Written protests against such nominating petitions may be filed by any qualified elector eligible to vote for the candidate whose nominating petition he objects to, not later than the sixty-fourth day before the general election. Such protests shall be filed with the election officials with whom the nominating petition was filed. Upon the filing of such protests, the election officials with whom it is filed shall promptly fix the time and place for hearing it, and shall forthwith mail notice of the filing of such protest and the time and place for hearing it to the person whose nomination is protested. They shall also forthwith mail notice of the time and place fixed for the hearing to the person who filed the protest. At the time and place fixed, such election officials shall hear the protest and determine the validty [sic] or invalidity of the petition. Such determination shall be final.

2. In general

1. Constitutional issues

368 FSupp 999 (SD Ohio 1973), Headlee v Franklin County Bd of Elections. Statutory requirement that candidates in village elections be residents of the village for one year prior to the date of the election is invalid.

2. In general

56 OS(2d) 70, 381 NE(2d) 1129 (1978), State ex rel Lippitt v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Mandamus will not lie to declare a candidacy void where the relator has failed to file a written protest within the time specified.

14 OS(2d) 175, 237 NE(2d) 313 (1968), Stern v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Where, after the board of elections has conducted a public hearing upon a protest, the undisputed facts are that (1) a valid declaration of candidacy has been properly filed, (2) a proper petition containing a valid affidavit of the circulator of each part-petition has been filed, (3) in the jurat following the circulator's affidavit on one part-petition the notary who administered the oath to the circulator inadvertently omitted his handwritten signature and imprinted seal, (4) such jurat is properly dated and bears the name of the notary who administered the oath, the title of his office, the date his notary commission will expire and the limits of his jurisdiction (such matters having been stamped upon the jurat by the notary at the time he administered the oath to the circulator), a board of elections does not abuse its discretion when it rules that such part-petition is valid on the ground that there is substantial compliance with the form of the declaration of candidacy and petition.

4 OS(2d) 16, 212 NE(2d) 420 (1965), State ex rel Svete v Geauga County Bd of Elections. The mere failure of an election board to declare a nominating petition void within the time prescribed by RC 3513.263 does not render the petition valid.

167 OS 449, 150 NE(2d) 43 (1958), State ex rel Ford v Pickaway County Bd of Elections. Action of a board of elections in sustaining a protest to a candidate's petition on the ground that he was a nonresident of the county will not be set aside in the absence of fraud or gross irregularity.

160 OS 189, 115 NE(2d) 154 (1953), State ex rel Haffner v Green. Where a city charter fixes a final day by which nominating petitions must be filed with the board of elections but sets no hour deadline on that day, a candidate is entitled to file his nominating petition at any time until midnight of the final day for filing. (Annotation from former RC 3513.29.)

157 OS 338, 105 NE(2d) 399 (1952), State ex rel Klink v Eyrich. A finding of the board of elections regarding the voting residence of a candidate will not be disturbed by a court unless the evidence before the board was such as to require as a matter of law a determination that the candidate's voting residence was not as stated in his declaration of candidacy. In other words, if there was substantial evidence to sustain that decision, the decision of the board must be sustained. In such an instance where there is no claim of any fraud or corruption on the part of the board, this court cannot say that the board abused its discretion. (Annotation from former RC 3513.29.)

149 OS 329, 78 NE(2d) 715 (1948), State ex rel McGinley v Bliss. Provisions of statute relating to notice and hearing apply only where protests are filed against candidacy of any person filing declaration of candidacy and where the candidate is challenging the action of board of elections in rejecting nomination papers for failure to comply with GC 4785-71a (RC 3513.08), candidate is not entitled to notice and hearing and GC 4785-13 (RC 3501.11) does not provide for a hearing.

142 OS 186, 50 NE(2d) 991 (1943), State ex rel Cassidy v Zaller. Under former section which permits objections to nominating petitions to be filed during period of inspection of at least five days prior to fifty-fifth day preceding election, objections filed on fifty-fifth day before election are not filed within time provided by statute, and board of elections may refuse to consider them. (Annotation from former RC 3513.29.)

140 OS 339, 44 NE(2d) 263 (1942), State ex rel Anderson v Hyde. Decision of board of elections on objections to nominating petition for county office is final. (Annotation from former RC 3513.29.)

53 App(2d) 213, 373 NE(2d) 1274 (1977), Foster v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Where there is no provision in any state statute or in any local rule for a protest procedure before the board of elections to challenge the validity of a write-in candidacy, the initial approval or disapproval by the board is final absent allegations of fraud, corruption, abuse of discretion, or clear disregard of statutes or applicable legal provisions.

16 App(2d) 140, 242 NE(2d) 672 (1968), State ex rel May v Jones. The factual decision of a board of elections as to the residence of a person seeking to become a voter is subject to judicial review, when such factual decision is arbitrary, unreasonable or constitutes an abuse of discretion.

112 App 4, 167 NE(2d) 112 (1960), State ex rel Kay v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. There is no manner prescribed by statute in which a board of elections must conduct a hearing on a protest to a declaration of candidacy and petition for nomination at a primary election; any reasonable investigation conducted in good faith satisfies the statutory requirements therefor.

97 App 91, 114 NE(2d) 513 (1953), State ex rel Haffner v Green; affirmed by 160 OS 189, 115 NE(2d) 154 (1953). Where under a city charter the time within which candidates for councilman must file nominating petitions is fixed as the fortieth day prior to the primary election, without fixing an hour or time of day of the fortieth day within which such petitions must be filed, a candidate has until midnight of the fortieth day within which to file his nominating petitions. (Annotation from former RC 3513.29.)

74 App 295, 58 NE(2d) 793 (1943), State ex rel Behrens v Hamilton County Bd of Elections. A board of elections must declare a nominating petition void, where such petition does not conform to requirements specified by law, although objections to such petition were not filed before the fifty-fifth day prior to the election. (Annotation from former RC 3513.29.)

68 Abs 539, 119 NE(2d) 84 (App, Cuyahoga 1954), Marlin v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. WITHDRAWAL OF CANDIDATE

3513.30 Withdrawal of candidacy

Where only one valid declaration of candidacy is filed for nomination as a candidate of a political party for an office and such candidate dies prior to the tenth day before the primary election, the vacancy so created may be filled by said political party by the same committee in the same manner as provided in the first five paragraphs of section 3513.31 of the Revised Code for the filling of similar vacancies created by withdrawals after the primary election, except that the certification, when filling a vacancy created by death of a candidate prior to the primary election, may not be filed with the secretary of state, or with a board of the most populous county of a district, or with the board of a county in which the major portion of the population of a subdivision is located, later than four p.m. of the tenth day before the day of such primary election, or with any other board later than four p.m. of the fifth day before the day of such primary election.

Any person filing a declaration of candidacy may withdraw as such candidate at any time prior to four p.m. of the sixty-fifth day before the primary election. If such candidate's declaration of candidacy was filed with the secretary of state, his statement of withdrawal shall be addressed to and filed with the secretary of state. If such candidate's declaration of candidacy was filed with a board of elections, his statement of withdrawal shall be addressed to and filed with such board.

A person who is the first choice for president of the United States by a candidate for delegate or alternate to a national convention of a political party may withdraw his consent for his selection as such first choice no later than four p.m. of the thirtieth day before the day of the primary election. Withdrawal of consent shall be for the entire slate of candidates for delegates and alternates who named such person as their presidential first choice and shall constitute withdrawal from the primary election by such delegates and alternates. The withdrawal shall be made in writing and delivered to the secretary of state. The boards of elections shall remove both the name of the withdrawn first choice and the names of such withdrawn candidates from the ballots to the extent practicable in the time remaining before the election and according to the directions of the secretary of state. If such names are not removed from all ballots before the day of the election, the votes for the withdrawn first choice or candidates are void and shall not be counted.

Any person nominated in a primary election or by nominating petition as a candidate for election at the next general election may withdraw as such candidate at any time prior to the sixty-fifth day before the day of such general election. Such withdrawal may be effected by the filing of a written statement by such candidate announcing his withdrawal and requesting that his name not be printed on the ballots. If such candidate's declaration of candidacy or nominating petition was filed with the secretary of state, his statement of withdrawal shall be addressed to and filed with the secretary of state. If such candidate's declaration of candidacy or nominating petition was filed with a board of elections, his statement of withdrawal shall be addressed to, and filed with such board.

If a person nominated in a primary election as a candidate for election at the next general election, whose candidacy is to be submitted to the electors of the entire state, withdraws as such candidate prior to the eightieth day before the day of such general election, the vacancy in the party nomination so created may be filled by the state central committee of the major political party which made such nomination at said primary election, at a meeting called for such purpose. Such meeting shall be called by the chairman of such committee, who shall give each member of the committee at least two days' notice of the time, place, and purpose of the meeting. If a majority of the members of such committee are present at such meeting, a majority of those present may select a person to fill the vacancy. The chairman and secretary of such meeting shall certify in writing and under oath to the secretary of state, not later than the seventy-sixth day before the day of such general election, the name of the person selected to fill such vacancy. Such certification must be accompanied by the written acceptance of such nomination by the person whose name is certified. A vacancy which may be filled by an intermediate or minor political party shall be filled in accordance with such party's rules by authorized officials of such party. Certification must be made as in the manner provided for a major political party.

If a person nominated in a primary election as a party candidate for election at the next general election, whose candidacy is to be submitted to the electors of a district comprised of more than one county but less than all of the counties of the state, withdraws as such candidate prior to the eightieth day before the day of such general election, the vacancy in the party nomination so created may be filled by a district committee of the major political party which made such nomination at said primary election, at a meeting called for such purpose. Such district committee shall consist of the chairman and secretary of the county central committee of such political party in each county in such district. Such district committee shall be called by the chairman of the county central committee of such political party of the most populous county in such district, who shall give each member of such district committee at least two days' notice of the time, place, and purpose of such meeting. If a majority of the members of such district committee are present at such district committee meeting, a majority of those present may select a person to fill the vacancy. The chairman and secretary of such meeting shall certify in writing and under oath to the board of elections of the most populous county in such district, not later than four p.m. of the seventy-sixth day before the day of such general election, the name of the person selected to fill such vacancy. If a person nominated in a primary election as a party candidate for election at the next general election, whose candidacy is to be submitted to the electors of a county, withdraws as such candidate prior to the eightieth day before the day of such general election, the vacancy in the party nomination so created may be filled by the county central committee of the major political party which made such nomination at said primary election, or by the county executive committee if so authorized, at a meeting called for such purpose. Such meeting shall be called by the chairman of such committee who shall give each member of the committee at least two days' notice of the time, place, and purpose of the meeting. If a majority of the members of such committee are present at such meeting, a majority of those present may select a person to fill the vacancy. The chairman and secretary of such meeting shall certify in writing and under oath to the board of such county, not later than four p.m. of the seventy-sixth day before the day of such general election, the name of the person selected to fill such vacancy. Such certification must be accompanied by the written acceptance of such nomination by the person whose name is certified. A vacancy which may be filled by an intermediate or minor political party shall be filled in accordance with such party's rules by authorized officials of such party. If a person nominated in a primary election as a party candidate for election at the next general election, whose candidacy is to be submitted to the electors of a district within a county, withdraws as such candidate prior to the eightieth day before the day of such general election, the vacancy in the party nomination so created may be filled by a district committee consisting of those members of the county central committee in such county of the major political party which made such nomination at said primary election who represent the precincts or the wards and townships within such district, at a meeting called for such purpose. Such district committee meeting shall be called by the chairman of such county central committee who shall give each member of such district committee at least two days' notice of the time, place, and purpose of such meeting. If a majority of the members of such district committee are present at such district committee meeting, a majority of those present may select a person to fill the vacancy. The chairman and secretary of such district committee meeting shall certify in writing and under oath to the board of such county, not later than four p.m. of the seventy-sixth day before the day of such general election, the name of the person selected to fill such vacancy. Such certification must be accompanied by the written acceptance of such nomination by the person whose name is certified. A vacancy which may be filled by an intermediate or minor political party shall be filled in accordance with such party's rules by authorized officials of such party. A vacancy which may be filled by an intermediate or minor political party shall be filled in accordance with such party's rules by authorized officials of such party. Certification must be made as in the manner provided for a major political party.

If a person nominated in a primary election as a party candidate for election at the next general election dies, the vacancy so created may be filled by the same committee in the same manner as provided in this section for the filling of similar vacancies created by withdrawals, except that the certification, when filling a vacancy created by death, may not be filed with the secretary of state, or with a board of the most populous county of a district, or with the board of a county in which the major portion of the population of a subdivision is located, later than four p.m. of the tenth day before the day of such general election, or with any other board later than four p.m. of the fifth day before the day of such general election.

If a person nominated by petition as an independent or nonpartisan candidate for election at the next general election dies prior to the tenth day before the day of such general election, the vacancy so created may be filled by the committee of five designated in such nominating petition to represent the candidate named therein. To fill such vacancy the members of such committee, or a majority of them, shall not later than four p.m. of the fifth day before the day of such general election, file with the election officials with whom the petition nominating such person was filed, a certificate signed and sworn to under oath by each of them, designating the person they select to fill such vacancy. Such certification must be accompanied by the written acceptance of such nomination by the person whose name is so certified.

If a person holding an elective office dies or resigns subsequent to the one-hundredth day before the day of a primary election and prior to the fortieth day before the day of the next general election, and if, under the laws of this state, a person may be elected at such general election to fill the unexpired term of the person who has died or resigned, the appropriate committee of each political party, acting as in the case of a vacancy in a party nomination, as provided in the first four paragraphs of this section, may select a person as the party candidate for election for such unexpired term at such general election, and certify his name to the appropriate election official not later than four p.m. on the tenth day following the day on which the vacancy occurs. When the vacancy occurs fewer than six days before the fortieth day before the general election, the deadline for filing shall be four p.m. on the thirty-sixth day before the general election. Thereupon such name shall be printed as such candidate under proper titles and in the proper place on the proper ballots for use at such election. In the event that a person has been nominated in a primary election, the authorized committee of that political party shall not select and certify a person as the party candidate.

Each person desiring to become an independent candidate to fill the unexpired term shall file a statement of candidacy and nominating petition, as provided in section 3513.261 of the Revised Code, with the appropriate election official not later than four p.m. on the tenth day following the day on which the vacancy occurs, provided that when the vacancy occurs fewer than six days before the fortieth day before the general election, the deadline for filing shall be four p.m. on the thirty-sixth day before the general election. The nominating petition shall contain at least seven hundred fifty signatures and no more than one thousand five hundred signatures of qualified electors of the district, political subdivision, or portion of a political subdivision in which the office is to be voted upon, or the amount provided for in section 3513.257 of the Revised Code, whichever is less.

Any person who was a candidate at a general, special, or primary election for election to an office or position who was not declared elected may file with the board of a county a written application for a recount of the votes cast at such election in any precinct in such county for all candidates for election to such office or position.

Any group of five or more qualified electors may file with the board of a county a written application for a recount of the votes cast at an election in any precinct in such county upon any question or issue, provided that the members of such group shall state in such application either that they voted "Yes" or in favor of such question or issue and that such question or issue was declared defeated or rejected, or that they voted "No" or against such question or issue and that such question or issue was declared carried or adopted. Such group of electors shall, in such application, designate one of the members of the group as chairman, and shall indicate therein the voting residence of each member of such group. In all such applications the person designated as chairman is the applicant for the purposes of sections 3515.01 to 3515.07 of the Revised Code, and all notices required by section 3515.03 of the Revised Code to be given to an applicant for a recount shall be given to such person.

1. Constitutional issues
2. In general

1. Constitutional issues

65 OS(2d) 40, 417 NE(2d) 1375 (1981), State ex rel Byrd v Summit County Bd of Elections. There is no constitutional violation where the general assembly has provided exclusive remedies with specific limitations for the recount of votes in RC 3515.02 or the contest of elections in RC 3515.09 which are applicable to all candidates for elective office; RC 3515.02 and 3515.09 are constitutional.

2. In general

65 OS(2d) 40, 417 NE(2d) 1375 (1981), State ex rel Byrd v Summit County Bd of Elections. Mandamus and quo warranto will not lie to compel the withdrawal of a certificate of election issued following an election, and cannot be substituted in lieu of a request for a recount pursuant to RC 3515.02, or a contest of election pursuant to RC 3515.09, since these sections provide the exclusive remedy for a recounting of the votes, or a correction of all errors, frauds, and mistakes which may occur at an election.

11 App(3d) 277, 11 OBR 457, 464 NE(2d) 610 (Cuyahoga 1983), Walt's Friendly Tavern v Liquor Control Dept. A permit holder whose permit is cancelled pursuant to a local-option election may resort to only two remedies; the permit holder may either: (1) file a petition for recount within five days after certification of the election results under RC 3515.02; or (2) file an election contest within fifteen days after certification of the election results under RC 3515.09.

66 App 482, 35 NE(2d) 474 (1940), State ex rel Farnsworth v McCabe. On a recount of votes made on an application filed under this section, if errors in the returns from a precinct are discovered in the votes for candidates not specified in the application for recount, the county board is without authority to change its count made on such returns to correct the error so discovered.

3515.03 Recount; deposit required; notice; witnesses; losing candidate may stop recount

Each application for recount shall separately list each precinct as to which a recount of the votes therein is requested, and the person filing an application shall at the same time deposit with the board of elections ten dollars in currency, bank money order, bank cashier's check, or certified check for each precinct so listed in such application as security for the payment of charges for making the recount therein applied for, which charges shall be fixed by the board as provided in section 3515.07 of the Revised Code.

Upon the filing of an application, or upon declaration by the board or secretary of state that the number of votes cast in any election for the declared winning nominee, candidate, question, or issue does not exceed the number of votes cast for the defeated nominee, candidate, question, or issue, by the margins set forth in section 3515.011 of the Revised Code, the board shall promptly fix the time, method, and the place at which the recount will be made, which time shall be not later than ten days after the day upon which such application is filed or such declaration is made. In the event that the recount involves a candidate for election to an office comprising more than one county, the director of the board shall promptly mail notice of the time and place for such recount to the board of the most populous county of the district. If the contest involves a state office, the director shall promptly notify the secretary of state of the filing for such recount.

The director of the board shall mail notice of the time and place so fixed to any applicant and to each person for whom votes were cast for such nomination or election. Such notice shall be mailed by registered mail not later than the fifth day before the day fixed for the commencement of the recount. Persons entitled to have such notice mailed to them may waive their right to have it mailed by filing with the director a written waiver to that effect. Each person entitled to receive such notice may attend and witness the recount and may have any person whom he designates attend and witness the recount. At any time after a winning nominee or candidate is declared but before the time for a recount pursuant to section 3515.011 of the Revised Code commences, the declared losing nominee or candidate may file with the board a written request to stop the recount from commencing. In the case of more than one declared losing candidate or nominee, each of whom is entitled to a recount pursuant to section 3515.011 of the Revised Code, each such declared losing candidate or nominee must file with the board such written request to stop the recount from commencing. The board shall grant such request and shall not commence the recount.

In the case of a recount of votes cast upon a question or issue, any group of five or more qualified electors, who voted upon such question or issue and whose votes were in opposition to the votes of the members of the group of electors who applied for such recount, or for whom such recount was required by section 3515.011 of the Revised Code, may file with the board a written statement to that effect, shall designate therein one of their number as chairman of such group and may appoint an attorney at law as their legal counsel, and may request that the persons so designated be permitted to attend and witness the recount. Thereupon the persons so designated may attend and witness the recount.

1935 OAG 4974. When an application for recount of the votes cast in one or more precincts has been filed pursuant to the provisions of this section, there is no authority whereby the applicant may thereafter withdraw such application and receive a refund of moneys deposited in accordance with such section to defray the cost of such recount.

3515.04 Procedure for recount; stopping recount

At the time and place fixed for making a recount, the board of elections, in the presence of all witnesses who may be in attendance, shall open the sealed containers containing the ballots to be recounted, and shall recount them. Ballots shall be handled only by the members of the board or by the director or other employees of the board. Witnesses shall be permitted to see the ballots but they shall not be permitted to touch them, and the board shall not permit the counting or tabulation of votes shown on the ballots for any nomination, or for election to any office or position, or upon any question or issue, other than the votes shown on such ballots for the nomination, election, or question or issue concerning which a recount of ballots was applied for.

At any time before the ballots from all of the precincts listed in an application for the recount or involved in a recount pursuant to section 3515.011 of the Revised Code have been recounted, the applicant or declared losing candidate or nominee or each of the declared losing candidates or nominees entitled to file a request prior to the commencement of a recount, as provided in section 3515.03 of the Revised Code, may file with the board a written request to stop the recount and not recount the ballots from the precincts so listed and which have not been recounted prior to the time of such request. If, upon such request, the board finds that results of the votes in the precincts recounted, if substituted for the results of the votes in such precincts as shown in the abstract of the votes in such precincts, would not cause the applicant, if a person for whom votes were cast for nomination or election, to be declared nominated or elected or if an election upon a question or issue would not cause a result contrary to the result thereof as declared prior to such recount, it shall grant such request and shall not recount the ballots of the precincts listed in the application for recount which have not been recounted prior to such time. If the board finds otherwise, it shall deny such request and shall continue to recount ballots until the ballots from all of the precincts listed in the application for recount have been recounted; provided that if such request is denied it may be renewed from time to time. Upon any such renewal the board shall consider and act upon the request in the same manner as provided in this section in connection with an original request.

3515.05 Duties of board of elections when recount is completed

Upon completion of the recount of the ballots of all precincts listed in an application for a recount, or upon stopping the recount prior to such time, or in the case of a recount as provided in section 3515.011 of the Revised Code, the board of elections shall promptly prepare and certify an amended abstract showing the votes cast in each precinct in its county in which the nomination, election, or question or issue was submitted to electors, which amended abstract shall embody the votes of the precincts, the ballots of which were recounted, as shown by such recount. Copies of such certified amended abstracts shall be mailed to such other boards or election officials as required in the case of the original abstract which such amended abstract amends.

If the nomination, election, or question or issue concerning which a recount was made was submitted only to electors of a district comprised of more than one county but less than all of the counties of the state, the board of the most populous county in such district shall canvass the amended abstracts received from the board of each county in such district in which a recount was made, and shall make an amended declaration of the results of such election in such district in the same manner required in the making of its original declaration of the result of such election.

If the nomination, election, or question or issue concerning which a recount was made was submitted only to electors of a subdivision located in more than one county, the board of the county in which the major portion of the population of such subdivision is located shall canvass the amended abstracts received from the board of each county in which a portion of the population of such subdivision is located and in which a recount was made, and shall make an amended declaration of the results of such election in such subdivision in the same manner required in the making of its original declaration of the result of such election.

If the nomination, election, or question or issue concerning which a recount was made was submitted to electors throughout the entire state, the secretary of state shall canvass all amended abstracts received from the board of each county in the state in which a recount was made, and shall make an amended declaration of the results of such election throughout the entire state in the same manner required in the making of his original declaration of the result of such election.

3515.06 Application for recount in precincts not recounted

If, pursuant to section 3515.04 of the Revised Code, a person was declared nominated as a candidate for election to an office or elected to an office or position in an election and if it subsequently appears by the amended declaration of the results of such election made following a recount of votes cast in such election that such person was not so nominated or elected, such person may, within five days after the date of such amended declaration of the results of such election, file an application with the board of elections for a recount of the votes cast at such election for such nomination or election in any precinct, the ballots of which have not been recounted.

If, following a recount of votes cast in an election upon any question or issue, the amended declaration of the results of such election shows the result of such election to be contrary to the result thereof as declared in the original declaration of the results thereof, any group of five or more qualified electors which has filed a statement with the board as provided in the third paragraph of section 3515.03 of the Revised Code may, within five days after the date of the amended declaration, file an application with the board for a recount of the votes cast at such election upon such question or issue in any precinct of the county, the votes of which have not been recounted.

Sections 3515.01 and 3515.02 to 3515.05 of the Revised Code are applicable to any application provided for in this section and to the recount had pursuant thereto.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

171 OS 263, 169 NE(2d) 551 (1960), State ex rel Feighan v Green. Where, in the exercise of its discretionary authority under RC 3505.32 a board of elections opens sealed containers of ballots and "counts" them, and errors are found by it in its declaration of results and abstract previously certified, which errors required the issuance of a corrected declaration and abstract as provided in RC 3513.22, such procedure by the board of elections does not constitute a recount within the meaning of RC 3515.06 authorizing the person not nominated to make application for a recount of additional precincts not theretofore recounted.

3515.07 Charges for recount

The charges for making a recount of votes of precincts listed in an application for a recount filed with the board of elections shall be fixed by the board and shall include all expenses incurred by such board because of such application other than the regular operating expenses which the board would have incurred if the application had not been filed. The total amount of charges so fixed divided by the number of precincts listed in such application, the votes of which were recounted, shall be the charge per precinct for the recount of the votes of the precincts listed in such application, the votes of which were recounted; provided that the charges per precinct so fixed shall not be more than ten nor less than five dollars for each precinct the votes of which were recounted.

Such charge per precinct shall be deducted by the board from the money deposited with the board by the applicant for the recount at the time of filing his application, and the balance of the money so deposited shall be returned to such applicant; provided that no such charge per precinct shall be deducted by the board from the money deposited for a recount of votes cast for a nomination or for an election to an office or position in any precinct, if the total number of votes cast in such precinct for the applicant, as recorded by such recount, is more than four per cent larger than the number of votes for such applicant in such precinct recorded in the original certified abstract thereof, nor shall any charge per precinct be deducted for a recount of votes cast in any precinct upon a question or issue if the total number of votes in such precinct on the same side of such question or issue as the side represented by the applicant, as recorded by such recount, is more than four per cent larger than the number of votes in such precinct on the same side of such question or issue recorded in the original certified abstract thereof. No such charge per precinct shall be deducted if upon the completion of a recount concerning a nomination or election the applicant is declared nominated or elected, or if upon the completion of a recount concerning a question or issue the result of such election is declared to be opposite to the original declaration of the result of such election. All moneys deposited with a board by an applicant shall be deposited in a special depository fund with the county treasurer. The expenses of the recount and refunds shall be paid from said fund upon order of the board of elections. Any balance remaining in such fund shall be paid into the general fund of the county.

1944 OAG 7035. In a recount of votes conducted pursuant to provisions of this section, petitioner for such recount is entitled to refund of deposit made for each precinct in which he succeeds in establishing error sufficient to change results by at least two per cent of total vote cast for the office in question, regardless of whether or not a change in relative position of the candidates for such office was effected.

1936 OAG 5171. Where there has been a recount in accordance with this section, the petitioner for such recount is not entitled to a refund of the cost thereof deposited by him where, as a result of such recount, he has not established error sufficient to change the result of the election or to change the result in any precinct by at least two per cent of the total vote cast for the office involved, even though a later action to contest said election did change the result thereof.

1935 OAG 4074. Where there is a recount of votes cast at an election in pursuance of this section, the board of elections may, if it deems it advisable, employ guards necessary to protect the ballots until said ballots are recounted when it finds there is no other method of adequate protection, and pay the cost thereof from the county treasury out of its appropriation. If the recount is of votes cast at an election in an odd numbered year, such cost should then be charged to the subdivision for which the election is held. The cost of such guards is properly a part of the cost of such recount and should be taken out of the deposit made by the person demanding the recount, except where the deposit is refunded.

1932 OAG 3947. The actual cost of a recount, pursuant to this section, must be disregarded when such cost is less than $5 per precinct, such minimum cost being fixed by statute at $5 per precinct.

1932 OAG 3947. When the result of the election is not changed by the recount, the amount to be refunded to a candidate requiring such recount is determined by returning the entire deposit for any precinct in which an error of two per cent of the total vote cast concerning an issue or office is found; but in all other precincts in which the error does not amount to two per cent of the total of such recount and does not change the result of the election even though the cost is less than $5 per precinct, there should be deducted from the deposit the sum of $5 for each precinct in which a recount is required and the remainder of such excess deposit returned to the candidate.

3515.071 Public funding of recount

If the board of elections in a county orders a recount in any county or municipal election pursuant to section 3515.011 of the Revised Code, the expense of the recount shall be paid from the county treasury in the same manner as other expenses of the board under section 3501.17 of the Revised Code.

If the secretary of state orders a recount as provided in section 3515.011 of the Revised Code, the expense of the recount shall be paid from funds appropriated to the secretary of state, who may apply to the controlling board for funds to avert any deficiency that thereby would be created in current appropriations.

CONTEST OF ELECTION

3515.08 Contest of election

The nomination or election of any person to any public office or party position or the approval or rejection of any issue or question, submitted to the voters, may be contested by qualified electors of the state or a political subdivision.

In the case of an office to be filled or an issue to be determined by the voters of the entire state, or for the offices of members of congress, or for judicial offices higher than that of court of common pleas, or for an office to be filled or an issue to be determined by the voters of a district larger than a county, said contest shall be heard and determined by the chief justice of the supreme court or a justice of the supreme court assigned for that purpose by the chief justice; except that in a contest for the office of chief justice of the supreme court, such contest shall be heard by a justice of such court designated by the governor.

In the case of all other offices or issues, except judicial offices, such contests shall be heard and determined by a judge of the court of common pleas of the county in which the contest arose. In the case of a contest for a judicial office within a county, such contest shall be heard by the court of appeals of the district in which such county is located. If any contestant alleges prejudice on the part of the judges of the court of appeals or the court of common pleas, assigned to hear such appeal, then the chief justice of the supreme court, upon application of any such contestants and for good cause shown, may assign judges from another court to hear such contest.

62 OS(3d) 1 (1991), In re Election of November 6, 1990 for the Office of Attorney General of Ohio. Civ R 54(D) and RC 2323.51 are not applicable to election contests given the exclusivity of the election contest procedures in RC 3515.08, since relief can only be afforded as provided therein.

4 OS(3d) 174, 4 OBR 453, 447 NE(2d) 1299 (1983), Hitt v Tressler. O Const Art II §21, empowers the general assembly to determine before what authority and in what manner election contests shall be had.

56 OS(2d) 67, 381 NE(2d) 1128 (1978), Modarelli v Carney. RC 3515.15 does not authorize a review of the rulings of the chief justice of the Supreme Court in an election contest proceeding heard pursuant to RC 3515.08.

169 OS 50, 157 NE(2d) 351 (1959), McCall v Brown County Bd of Ed. Where it is apparent that the hearing of an election contest was not set in compliance with the statute, that no request for the setting of such hearing was made, and that no copy of the petition was served or was requested to be served on the contestee, the judge with whom the petition was filed has no alternative but to dismiss the same, on motion of the contestee, for lack of jurisdiction and authority to proceed.

Reference, in text of capital improvements bond issue amendment on ballot, to cigarette tax as source of revenue for payment did not invalidate amendment merely because other funds might also be used as source of revenue.

161 OS 339, 119 NE(2d) 283 (1954), Moore v Thompson. An election for municipal judge will not be set aside upon the grounds that the office appeared at the wrong place on the municipal ballot, there was no indication that the election was for an unexpired term, and the printed proofs of the ballot were not posted. (Annotation from former RC 3505.05.)

154 OS 207, 94 NE(2d) 1 (1950), Cooper v Kosling. Where, in action to contest election proceeding brought under this section, the petition alleges that at the primary election contestee's name was on the ballot although he was not a qualified elector, that he got his name on the ballot by fraud and perjury and that therefore he received no legal vote, the petition fails to state a cause of action to contest election; contestor's remedy was an action to determine validity of declaration of candidacy brought under GC 4785-70 (RC 3513.05).

138 OS 324, 34 NE(2d) 781 (1941), McClintock v Sweitzer. To establish fraud in an election contest case the degree of proof required is clear and convincing evidence.

135 OS 70, 19 NE(2d) 281 (1939), Smith v Polk. Ohio supreme court does not have jurisdiction of a proceeding to contest an election of representative in congress, since a decision of the supreme court would not be binding upon the House of Representatives in respect to the title to office.

135 OS 70, 19 NE(2d) 281 (1939), Smith v Polk. Certificate of election issued by secretary of state to a representative to congress is not binding on the house of representatives, since under US Const Art I §5, full power is granted to congress to be the judge of the elections and qualifications of its members.

130 OS 243, 199 NE 74 (1935), Foraker v Perry Twp Rural School Dist Bd of Ed. The procedure prescribed by the general assembly for the determination of election contests is within the power conferred upon it by the Constitution, and is exclusive.

In deciding the merits of an election contest, a court must apply a two-step test: (1) did fraud or irregularity exist in the subject election; and (2) where fraud or irregularity existed, was it so substantial and flagrant as to render the election results questionable.

11 Misc(2d) 7, 11 OBR 101, 463 NE(2d) 115 (CP, Hamilton 1984), Mirlisena v Fellerhoff. In order to prevail; the petitioner in an election contest is required to show affirmatively that the number of votes affected by the charged irregularities is sufficient to alter the result of the election.

1934 OAG 2295. The question of whether or not an election is void for irregularities can be determined only in a proceeding to contest the election where the law makes provision for such a contest.

1930 OAG 1363. There being no statutory provision for a recount or an election contest with respect to members of a board of education, quo warranto may be invoked.

3515.09 Filing contest petition

A contest of election shall be commenced by the filing of a petition with the clerk of the appropriate court signed by at least twenty-five voters who voted at the last election for or against a candidate for the office or for or against the issue being contested, or by the defeated candidate for said nomination or election, within fifteen days after the results of any such nomination or election have been ascertained and announced by the proper authority, or if there is a recount, within ten days after the results of the recount of such nomination or election have been ascertained and announced by the proper authority. Such petition shall be verified by the oath of at least two such petitioners, or by the oath of the defeated candidate filing the petition, and shall set forth the grounds for such contest.

Said petition shall be accompanied by a bond with surety to be approved by the clerk of the appropriate court in a sum sufficient, as determined by him, to pay all the costs of the contest. The contestor and the person whose right to the nomination or election to such office is being contested, to be known as the contestee, shall be liable to the officers and witnesses for the costs made by them respectively; but if the results of the nomination or election are confirmed or the petition is dismissed or the prosecution fails, judgment shall be rendered against the contestor for the costs; and if the judgment is against the contestee or if the results of the nomination or election are set aside, the county shall pay the costs as other election expenses are paid.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

1. Constitutional issues
2. In general

1. Constitutional issues

65 OS(2d) 40, 417 NE(2d) 1375 (1981), State ex rel Byrd v Summit County Bd of Elections. There is no constitutional violation where the general assembly has provided exclusive remedies with specific limitations for the recount of votes in RC 3515.02 or the contest of elections in RC 3515.09 which are applicable to all candidates for elective office; RC 3515.02 and 3515.09 are constitutional.

2. In general

62 OS(3d) 1 (1991), In re Election of November 6, 1990 for the Office of Attorney General of Ohio. A contestee in an election contest may recover as "costs" attributable to "officers and witnesses" against a contestor the charges of a court reporter and videotape technician and fees and mileage of witnesses, but he may not recover as costs any litigation expenses he has incurred.

4 OS(3d) 174, 4 OBR 453, 447 NE(2d) 1299 (1983), Hitt v Tressler. Under RC 3515.09, a defeated candidate has signed a petition to contest an election when he attaches his signature to the petition with the intent to authenticate it, even though the same signature is used also for purposes of verification.

65 OS(2d) 40, 417 NE(2d) 1375 (1981), State ex rel Byrd v Summit County Bd of Elections. Mandamus and quo warranto will not lie to compel the withdrawal of a certificate of election issued following an election, and cannot be substituted in lieu of a request for a recount pursuant to RC 3515.02, or a contest of election pursuant to RC 3515.09, since these sections provide the exclusive remedy for a recounting of the votes, or a correction of all errors, frauds, and mistakes which may occur at an election.

60 OS(2d) 5, 395 NE(2d) 493 (1979), Monnette v Malone. Delivery of $500 cash to the clerk of courts and its receipt as a surety bond for court costs met the requirements of RC 3515.09.

52 OS(2d) 199, 371 NE(2d) 536 (1977), State ex rel Daoust v Smith. Mandamus will lie to compel the clerk-treasurer of the school board to sign tax anticipation notes following adoption of a tax levy once the time limit for challenging the election authorizing such levy has passed.

142 OS 467, 52 NE(2d) 858 (1944), Williams v O'Neill. Under mandate of this section, it is necessary that a petition to contest an election be filed within ten days after results of a recount of votes have been ascertained and announced, "signed by at least twenty-five voters or by the defeated candidate," to give a court jurisdiction over the proceeding.

138 OS 449, 35 NE(2d) 838 (1941), Hannah v Roche. Where the record shows that a bond given to secure costs in an election contest case was executed in presence of clerk of court, who signed it as a witness, received it for filing and stamped it "filed," parol evidence is admissible to support an inference from the record that clerk did in fact determine the amount of the bond and approve its surety, as required by this section.

138 OS 449, 35 NE(2d) 838 (1941), Hannah v Roche. Under this section it is the duty of clerk of court to approve the surety upon and determine the amount of the bond required to secure the costs of a contest of election, but there is nothing in that section, or in the statutes defining generally the duties of the clerk, or in the inherent nature of the clerk's functions, which requires such approval and determination by him to be in written form.

136 OS 279, 25 NE(2d) 458 (1940), In re Contest of Special Election. In event of failure of contestors to comply with this section, court is without jurisdiction to hear or determine a controversy contesting a constitutional referendum election.

136 OS 279, 25 NE(2d) 458 (1940), In re Contest of Special Election. Under this section the petition shall be accompanied by a bond with surety to be approved by the clerk of the appropriate court in a sum sufficient, as determined by him, to pay all the costs of the contest.

119 OS 558, 165 NE 44 (1929), Price v State. Under former GC 5162 (renumbered GC 4785-166 (RC 3515.08)) et seq., when the notice of election contest, specifying the points on which the contest shall be based, did not as a matter of law set forth allegations sufficient, if proved, to invalidate the election, a decision rendered by the jury of freeholders upon such points of contest was void.

11 App(3d) 277, 11 OBR 457, 464 NE(2d) 610 (Cuyahoga 1983), Walt's Friendly Tavern v Liquor Control Dept. A permit holder whose permit is cancelled pursuant to a local-option election may resort to only two remedies; the permit holder may either: (1) file a petition for recount within five days after certification of the election results under RC 3515.02; or (2) file an election contest within fifteen days after certification of the election results under RC 3515.09.

16 Misc 255, 242 NE(2d) 563 (Chief Justice, Election Contest 1968), Cullinan v Hoose. A petition to contest an election must be signed by the contestor to create the necessary jurisdiction in the court.

16 Misc 255, 242 NE(2d) 563 (Chief Justice, Election Contest 1968), Cullinan v Hoose. A petition to contest an election must be filed within ten days after the results of a recount of votes have been ascertained and announced to give a court jurisdiction over the proceeding.

1961 OAG 2008. The 1959 amendments to O Const Art XVIII §6 are valid.

1939 OAG 815. Costs incurred in an action to contest an election, if results of such election be set aside, or if ordered by court to be paid by county as other election expenses are paid, shall be paid from the county treasury, but if such election is only within and for a subdivision of county, amount of costs so paid from county treasury shall be withheld by county auditor from moneys payable to such subdivision at time of next tax settlement.

1935 OAG 4580. Where there was a mistake in one of the initials of name of candidate as it appeared on the ballot, a certificate of election was issued, and where no demand for a recount was made and no suit was filed to contest his election and said candidate, duly qualified for said office, has since said election been performing the duties of said office, the question of his right to said office by reason of said error cannot be raised.

3515.10 Court shall fix time for trial

The court with which a petition to contest an election is filed shall fix a suitable time for hearing such contest, which shall be not less than fifteen nor more than thirty days after the filing of the petition. Such court shall have a copy of the contestor's petition served upon the contestee or upon the chairman of the committee taking the other side in advocacy of or opposition to any issue, in the same manner as a summons in a civil action. The contestee shall have ten days from the time service has been made upon him in which to answer the petition, and the contestor shall have five days in which to reply to the answer of the contestee. All parties may be represented by counsel and the hearing shall proceed at the time fixed, unless postponed by the judge hearing the case for good cause shown by either party by affidavit or unless the judge adjourns to another time, not more than thirty days thereafter, of which adjournment the parties interested shall take notice.

In view of the provisions of GC 4785-168 and 4785-169 (RC 3515.10, 3515.11), requiring the court in an election contest to fix a time for hearing the contest not more than thirty days after the filing of the petition, contesters who file dilatory pleas to the answer of the contestees, acquiesce in the continuance of the proceeding and fail to request the court to fix a date for such hearing within the time required by statute are not entitled to a reversal of a judgment sustaining a motion to dismiss the contest for lack of prosecution rendered more than one hundred days after the filing of the petition, where no action is taken on the merits of the case.

3515.11 Trial proceedings

The proceedings at the trial of the contest of an election shall be similar to those in judicial proceedings, in so far as practicable, and shall be under the control and direction of the court which shall hear and determine the matter without a jury, with power to order or permit amendments to the petition or proceedings as to form or substance. Such court may allow adjournments for not more than thirty days, for the benefit of either party, on such terms as to costs and otherwise as seem reasonable to the court, the grounds for such adjournment being shown by affidavit. The hearing shall proceed expeditiously and the total of such adjournments shall not exceed thirty days after the date set for the original hearing.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

62 OS(3d) 1 (1991), In re Election of November 6, 1990 for the Office of Attorney General of Ohio. RC 3515.11 does not incorporate Civ R 54(D) and RC 2323.51 into election contest proceedings although the statute incorporates some rules and statutes into election contest proceedings, since the incorporation is limited to those rules and statutes that would pertain "at the trial of the contest."

11 Misc(2d) 7, 11 OBR 101, 463 NE(2d) 115 (CP, Hamilton 1984), Mirlisena v Fellerhoff. In election contests, circumstantial evidence may be used in reaching a decision.

90 Abs 257, 185 NE(2d) 809 (CP, Putnam 1962), In re Sugar Creek Local School Dist. The reference of RC 3515.11 to adjournments of not more than thirty days refers to that requested by affidavit, and does not refer to any adjournments on continuance on the court's motion.

3515.12 Court powers and procedure in hearing contest petition

The court with which a petition to contest an election is filed may summon and compel the attendance of witnesses, including officers of such election, and compel the production of all ballot boxes, marking devices, lists, books, ballots, tally sheets, and other records, papers, documents, and materials which may be required at the hearing. The style and form of summons and subpoenas and the manner of service and the fees of officers and witnesses shall be the same as are provided in other cases, in so far as the nature of the proceedings admits. The court may require any election officer to answer any questions pertinent to the issue relating to the conduct of the election or the counting of the ballots and the making of the returns. Any witness who voted at the election may be required to answer touching his qualification as a voter and for whom he voted.

As applied to legal voters, that provision of RC 3515.12 which provides that any witness who voted at an election may be required to answer touching his qualifications as a voter and for whom he voted is unconstitutional.

3515.13 Contest involving recount

If any contest of election involves a recount of the ballots in any precincts, the court shall immediately order the ballots of the precincts in which the recount is demanded to be sent to the court in such manner as the court designates, and such court may appoint two master commissioners of opposite political parties to supervise the making of the recount. The attorneys representing the contestor and the prosecuting attorney of the county or the attorney general or one of his assistants representing the contestee shall be present at all hearings on such recount. Such commissioners shall receive ten dollars each per day and their actual traveling expenses when approved by the presiding judges. The compensation of such clerks as are deemed necessary by the court shall be determined by the court on the basis of similar compensation in other public offices for like work. Both the contestor and contestee may appoint one inspector who shall be allowed to see all ballots and tally sheets and witness the recount. If the court finds that the difference in the count from the original count by the election authorities was the result of fraud, gross negligence, or willfulness on the part of any election officer or other person, such court shall forthwith transmit a copy of its decision and of the evidence to the prosecuting attorney of the county wherein such fraud or gross negligence was found with directions to present the same to the next grand jury in the county or to the attorney general, in the case of state or federal offices, with directions to prosecute the cases on behalf of the state.

3515.14 Judgment of court

Upon completion of the trial of a contest of election, the court shall pronounce judgment as to which candidate was nominated or elected or whether the issue was approved or rejected by the voters; except that in the case of the contest of election of a member of the general assembly such judgment shall not be pronounced by the court but a transcript of all testimony taken and all evidence adduced in such contest shall be filed with the clerk or executive secretary of the branch of the legislative body to which the contestee was declared elected, which shall determine the election and qualification of its own members.

Any person declared nominated or elected by the court shall be entitled to his certificate of nomination or election. A certified copy of the order of such court constitutes such certificate. If the judgment is against the contestee or incumbent and he has already received a certificate of nomination or election, the judgment of the court shall work a cancellation of such certificate.

If the court decides that the election resulted in a tie vote, such decision shall be certified to the board of elections having jurisdiction and said board shall publicly determine by lot which of such persons shall be declared elected. If the court finds that no person was elected, the judgment shall be that the election be set aside.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

58 OS(3d) 103, 569 NE(2d) 447 (1991), In re Election of November 6, 1990 for Office of Ohio Attorney General. A contestor of an election held in Ohio must prove two facts by clear and convincing evidence to prevail: (1) that one or more irregularities occurred, and (2) that the irregularity or irregularities affected enough votes to change or make uncertain the result of the election.

7 OS(3d) 11, 7 OBR 404, 455 NE(2d) 667 (1983), Hitt v Tressler. RC 3515.14 does not give a court authority to order a new election.

155 OS 366, 98 NE(2d) 812 (1951), Otworth v Bays. Where irregularities in an election are so great and so flagrant in character as to render it impossible to separate the illegal from the legal votes and raise a doubt as to how the election would have resulted had such irregularities not occurred, they must be deemed fatal to the validity of the election and warrant the rejection of the entire vote of the election district.

155 OS 366, 98 NE(2d) 812 (1951), Otworth v Bays. Where, in an election contest, it appears that certain electors, in number several times greater than the plurality of votes awarded by the election authorities to the winning candidate over his opponent, were each delivered two identical ballots; that each such elector voted both ballots so delivered to him thus causing such ballots to be illegally cast; and that such illegal ballots were not subject to identification and rejection; such irregular and illegal voting is of such magnitude as to require the court to declare such election void and to set it aside.

133 OS 395, 14 NE(2d) 15 (1938), Mehling v Moorehead. Since definite remedy in contest of election is provided by this section, resort to proceedings in quo warranto is not proper.

131 OS 13, 1 NE(2d) 146 (1936), Heffner v State. Where the remedy for contest of election under the statute providing the procedure therefor is not available, an action in quo warranto may be maintained.

131 OS 13, 1 NE(2d) 146 (1936), Heffner v State. The names of H and K were on the ballot as candidates for justice of the peace at the November 1933 election. Although there were two such positions open, the only notice the electors had was to the effect that one justice of the peace was to be elected; the notice of proclamation of election contained no information on the subject; and on the ballot, printed immediately above the names of the candidates, were the words, "Vote for not more than one." The count disclosed that 529 votes had been cast at that election; and that K had received 349 votes, H 80, and E, whose name had been written in the blank space on the ballot, 24 votes. No voter had voted for more than one candidate. A certificate of election was issued to H as well as to K, and, pursuant thereto, a commission; and thereafter H gave bond and assumed the office. Held: (1) H is not entitled to the office; (2) title to such office may be challenged by action in quo warranto.

125 OS 440, 181 NE 868 (1932), Stratton v Moore. Under this section, when the court of common pleas finds, in an election contest, that no person was duly elected, the judgment shall be that the election be set aside.

90 Abs 257, 185 NE(2d) 809 (CP, Putnam 1962), In re Sugar Creek Local School Dist. Where three persons innocently and not fraudulently were not residents of a school district and voted, a failure to show any dereliction of any duty, or failure to follow any statute on the part of the election officials regarding such three votes, and where the record fails to show that contestants ever appointed challengers or exercised any challenges as provided by statute, the fact that the three votes, regarding them most beneficial to the challengers would make the election uncertain, will not cause the court to void the election.

80 Abs 373, 159 NE(2d) 807 (CP, Clark 1959), Leffel v Brown. On the evidence local option election should be set aside as a result of unqualified voters erroneously voting on certain issues due to mistakes in use of voting machines.

3515.15 Appeal on questions of law to supreme court

The person against whom judgment is rendered in a contest of election may appeal on questions of law, within twenty days, to the supreme court; but such appeal shall not supersede the execution of the judgment of the court. Such appeal takes precedence over all other causes upon the calendar, and shall be set down for hearing and determination at the earliest convenient date. The laws and rules of the court governing appeals apply in the appeal of contested election cases. If the judgment of the lower court is affirmed, the supreme court shall order the judgment of such lower court to be enforced, if the party against whom the judgment is rendered is in possession of the office.

1. Constitutional issues

135 OS 369, 21 NE(2d) 108 (1939), Jolly v Deeds. Former GC 4785-172 (RC 3515.15) is a valid exercise of grant of legislative power expressed in O Const Art II §21, and direct appeals from court of common pleas to the supreme court are procedurally proper inasmuch as they are addressed to the political rather than the judicial power of the supreme court in cases contesting the validity of elections.

2. In general

56 OS(2d) 67, 381 NE(2d) 1128 (1978), Modarelli v Carney. An appeal of an election contest filed pursuant to RC 3515.15 will be dismissed by the supreme court when the appellant has not been granted permission to appeal and no debatable constitutional question is presented.

56 OS(2d) 67, 381 NE(2d) 1128 (1978), Modarelli v Carney. RC 3515.15 does not authorize a review of the rulings of the chief justice of the Supreme Court in an election contest proceeding heard pursuant to RC 3515.08.

159 OS 186, 111 NE(2d) 395 (1953), Bees v Gilronan. Unless leave is granted to appeal an election contest to the supreme court on questions of law, the appeal will be dismissed on motion.

159 OS 184, 111 NE(2d) 394 (1953), Young v Fiedler. Contested election may not be appealed directly to the supreme court without its leave.

146 OS 4, 63 NE(2d) 438 (1945), State ex rel Wilson v Court of Common Pleas. Section provides an adequate remedy at law to one whose contest of an election is dismissed in trial court on jurisdictional grounds, and mandamus will not lie to compel trial court to hear issues on the merits.

130 OS 243, 199 NE 74 (1935), Foraker v Perry Twp Rural School Dist Bd of Ed. By virtue of this section, a petition in error from a common pleas court to the supreme court in such case may not be filed without the leave of the supreme court or a judge thereof.

52 App 474, 3 NE(2d) 923 (1935), Davis v Watts; affirmed by 130 OS 243, 199 NE 74 (1935), Foraker v Perry Twp Rural School Dist Bd of Ed. Since Ohio courts have no jurisdiction over election contests apart from statute, this court has no jurisdiction to review the judgment of the court of common pleas in such a contest, as this section, providing that a person in an election contest against whom a judgment is rendered may prosecute error within twenty days to the supreme court, gives no jurisdiction to the court of appeals.

3515.16 Testimony in supreme court

In a contest of election in the supreme court, all testimony shall be in the form of depositions. The contestor shall take and file his testimony within twenty days from the date of filing the petition, unless further time is allowed by the court or judge hearing the contest. The contestee or the committee defending the issue shall file its testimony within twenty days from the expiration of the contestor's time, unless such court or judge allows further time. The court may render such judgments and make such orders as the law and facts warrant, including judgment of ouster and induction, and the judgment of the supreme court shall be decisive of the contest.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

60 USLW 4075 (US 1992), Norman v Reed. Citizens' federal right to establish new political parties arises under the First and Fourteenth Amendments and furthers the constitutional interest of likeminded voters to gather and pursue common political ends and thereby enlarge all voters' opportunity to express political preferences; accordingly, new parties' ballot access may be limited by a severe restriction only if narrowly drawn to advance a compelling state interest. Where a state statute allows a new party to field candidates for offices in a large political subdivision only after collecting 25,000 signatures of subdivision voters (the same number needed of state voters to field candidates for state office), and if the subdivision has large separate districts for some offices then 25,000 signatures from each district, a decision of the state supreme court that a party's inability to get enough signatures in one district of a two-district subdivision dooms the party's entire slate in both districts is not the least restrictive means to advance the state's interest in limiting the ballot to parties with demonstrated public support since it requires twice as much support here for candidates in a county as is needed for statewide candidates. (Ed. note: Illinois law construed in light of federal constitution.)

489 US 214, 109 SCt 1013, 103 LEd(2d) 271 (1989), Eu v San Francisco County Democratic Central Committee. A state election law forbidding the official governing bodies of political parties to endorse or oppose candidates, punishing candidates who claim a party endorsement, restricting organization and composition of the governing bodies, limiting terms of office, and requiring rotation of office between residents of two different state sections is invalid under US Const Am 1 and 14; state regulation of internal political party affairs is justified only when shown necessary to ensure that elections are orderly, fair, and honest. (Ed. note: California law construed in light of federal constitution.)

842 F(2d) 825 (6th Cir Ohio 1988), Connaughton v Harte Hanks Communications, Inc; affirmed by 491 US 657, 109 SCt 2678, 105 LEd(2d) 562 (1989). The press is not released from liability for reckless or intentional publication of falsehoods simply because it is reporting on an election campaign or possible political misconduct.

DEFINITIONS

3517.01 Definitions

(A) A political party within the meaning of Title XXXV of the Revised Code is any group of voters which, at the last preceding regular state election, polled for its candidate for governor in the state or nominees for presidential electors at least five per cent of the entire vote cast for such office or which filed with the secretary of state, subsequent to any election in which it received less than five per cent of such vote, a petition signed by qualified electors equal in number to at least one per cent of the total vote for governor or nominees for presidential electors at the last preceding election, declaring their intention of organizing a political party, the name of which shall be stated in the declaration, and of participating in the next succeeding primary election, held in even-numbered years, that occurs more than one hundred twenty days after the date of filing. No such group of electors shall assume a name or designation that is similar, in the opinion of the secretary of state, to that of an existing political party as to confuse or mislead the voters at an election. When any political party fails to cast five per cent of the total vote cast at an election for the office of governor or president it shall cease to be a political party.

(B) Notwithstanding the definitions found in section 3501.01 of the Revised Code, as used in sections 3517.08 to 3517.15 and section 3517.99 of the Revised Code:

(1) "Campaign committee" means a candidate or a combination of two or more persons authorized by a candidate under section 3517.081 of the Revised Code to receive contributions and make expenditures.

(2) "Campaign treasurer" means an individual appointed by a candidate under section 3517.081 of the Revised Code.

(3) "Candidate" has the same meaning as in division (H) of section 3501.01 of the Revised Code and also includes any person who, at any time before or after an election, receives contributions or makes expenditures or other use of contributions, has given consent for another to receive contributions or make expenditures or other use of contributions, or appoints a campaign treasurer, for the purpose of bringing about his nomination or election to public office. When two persons jointly seek the offices of governor and lieutenant governor, "candidate" means the pair of candidates jointly. "Candidate" does not include candidates for election to the offices of member of a county or state central committee, presidential elector, and delegate to a national convention or conference of a political party.

(4) "Continuing association," as used in section 3517.08 of the Revised Code, means an association, other than a campaign committee or political party, which is intended to be a permanent organization which has a primary purpose other than supporting or opposing specific candidates, political parties, or ballot issues, and which functions on a regular basis throughout the year.

(5) "Contribution" means a loan, gift, deposit, forgiveness of indebtedness, donation, advance, payment, transfer of funds or transfer of anything of value, and the payment by any person other than the person to whom the services are rendered for the personal services of another person, which contribution is made, received, or used for the purpose of influencing the results of an election. "Contribution" does not include:

(a) Services provided without compensation by individuals volunteering a portion or all of their time on behalf of a person;

(b) Ordinary home hospitality;

(c) The personal expenses of a volunteer paid for by that volunteer campaign worker;

(d) Any gift given to a state or county political party pursuant to section 3517.101 of the Revised Code. As used in division (B)(5)(d) of this section, "political party" means only a major political party.

(6) "Expenditure" means the disbursement or use of a contribution for the purpose of influencing the results of an election or of making a charitable donation under division (G) of section 3517.08 of the Revised Code.

(7) "Personal expenses" include, but are not limited to, ordinary expenses for accommodations, clothing, food, personal motor vehicle or airplane, and home telephone.

(8) "Political action committee" means a combination of two or more persons the primary or incidental purpose of which is to support or oppose any candidate, political party, or issue, or to influence the result of any election, and that is neither a political party nor a campaign committee.

(9) "Public office" means any state, county, municipal, township, and district office, except an office of a political party, that is filled by an election and the offices of United States senator and congressman.

(10) "Anything of value" has the same meaning as in section 1.03 of the Revised Code.

(11) "Beneficiary of a campaign fund" means a candidate, a public official or employee for whose benefit a campaign fund exists, and any other person who has ever been a candidate or public official or employee and for whose benefit a campaign fund exists.

(12) "Campaign fund" means money or other property, including contributions.

(13) "Public official or employee" has the same meaning as in section 102.01 of the Revised Code.

OAG 75-068. RC Ch 3517 requires a candidate's campaign committee to report all contributions and expenditures, which are in excess of twenty-five dollars, regardless of who made the contributions or expenditures.

OAG 75-068. The changes to RC Ch 3517, effected by 1974 S 46, have no effect upon the identification requirements contained in RC 3599.09, which apply to published campaign materials whether they are designed to defeat or to promote a candidate or an issue.

OAG 75-017. The general assembly did not intend to exclude all candidates who are members of a multi-member public body, such as a board of county commissioners, from the provisions of RC 3517.10(C).

OAG 74-075. The requirement in RC 3517.10(A)(1) of a preelection statement of campaign contributions and expenditures is, pursuant to RC 3517.12, applicable to a political committee which is organized solely for the advocacy of, or opposition to, a proposition or issue submitted to the voters.

OAG 68-013. A political party formed pursuant to RC 3517.01 must have a state convention to nominate its presidential electors pursuant to RC 3513.11, and a national convention to nominate its presidential candidate pursuant to RC 3513.12, in order for its candidate to have a place on the presidential ballot.

OAG 67-039. RC 3517.01 requires that the signatures on the petition be examined and certified in the same manner as referendum petitions and it does not require full compliance with all of the statutes in RC Ch 3519.

1932 OAG 4587. Upon a petition being filed with the secretary of state and the signatures being examined and certified, all as provided in this section, a sufficient length of time before any primary election, the group of petitioners becomes a political party and is entitled to all privileges with respect to such primary election as are accorded under the law to political parties.

1930 OAG 1855. The only method provided for the creation of a new party which is entitled to have its name placed upon the ticket is that method provided in this section.

Elections Op 89-5. The balance of a candidate's federal campaign committee fund and of a candidate's state central committee fund may be transferred to the candidate's committee for state or local office, with no limitation on the amount transferred, but the funds to be transferred may not have been received from a source prohibited by the Revised Code; by virtue of the transfers, the federal committee and state central committee are transformed into campaign committees under RC 3517.01(B)(1) and must comply with the reporting requirements for candidate campaign committees. To conform with RC 3517.081, which prohibits individuals to have more than one campaign committe, only one transfer may be made, the entire balance must be transferred or otherwise distributed, and the donor committee must be terminated at the time its balance is transferred to the candidate's state or local campaign committee.

Elections Op 86-1. Since the terms "board" and "commission" are used in RC Ch 3517 but are not defined there or in any other generally applicable section of the Revised Code, the Ohio elections commission will follow the definitions given by Black's Law Dictionary.

Ethics Op 75-031. A person seeking election to city council who voluntarily withdraws from an election within twenty days after filing his petition of candidacy is no longer a candidate within the purview of section 102.02(A), and therefore is not required to file a financial disclosure statement.

The petition may be presented in separate parts but each part shall contain a full and correct copy of the declaration. Such petition or part petition shall be circulated and signed as required by section 3501.38 of the Revised Code.

COMMITTEES

3517.02 Election of controlling committees; filing of constitution and bylaws, and list of members

All members of controlling committees of a major or intermediate political party shall be elected by direct vote of the members of the party, except as otherwise provided in section 3517.05 of the Revised Code. Their names shall be placed upon the official ballot and the persons receiving the highest number of votes for committeemen shall be the members of such controlling committees. Each member of such controlling committee shall be a resident and qualified elector of the district, ward, or precinct which he is elected to represent. All members of controlling committees of a minor political party shall be determined in accordance with party rules.

Each political party shall file with the office of the secretary of state a copy of its constitution and bylaws, if any, within thirty days of adoption or amendment. Each such party shall also file with the office of the secretary of state a list of members of its controlling committees, and other party officials within thirty days of their election or appointment.

1962 OAG 3295. The action of a municipality in realigning the wards of a city and the action of a board of elections in rearranging the boundaries of the precincts within the county are effective as determining the geographical boundaries of the precincts for the election of county central committeemen at the primary election held in the even-numbered year which next follows said rearrangement, but has no effect upon the county central committeemen who were duly elected to said positions prior to said boundary changes and does not cause a vacancy to arise in any precinct where, as a result of said boundary change, a county central committeeman does not reside within the boundaries of the new precinct so designated.

1962 OAG 3108. A person who has moved out of a county to enter employment with the state and has retained his residence for voting purposes is an elector and resident of such precinct and may 1950 OAG 1680. A requirement that each member of a controlling committee be a resident and qualified elector of the district, ward or precinct which he is elected to represent is a continuing requirement which the member must meet in order to qualify and to hold such position.

3517.03 Party controlling committees

The controlling committees of each major political party or organization shall be a state central committee consisting of two members, one a man and one a woman, representing either each congressional district in the state or each senatorial district in the state, as the outgoing committee determines; a county central committee consisting of one member from each election precinct in the county, or of one member from each ward in each city and from each township in the county, as the outgoing committee determines; and such district, city, township, or other committees as the rules of the party provide.

All the members of such committees shall be members of the party and shall be elected for terms of either two or four years, as determined by party rules, by direct vote at the primary held in an even-numbered year. Candidates for election as state central committee members shall be elected at primaries in the same manner as provided in sections 3513.01 to 3513.32 of the Revised Code, for the nomination of candidates for office in a county. Candidates for election as members of the county central committee shall be elected at primaries in the same manner as provided in such sections for the nomination of candidates for county offices.

Each major party controlling committee shall elect an executive committee which shall have such powers as are granted to it by the party controlling committee, and as are provided by law. When a judicial, senatorial, or congressional district is comprised of more than one county, the chairman and secretary of the county central committee from each county in such district shall constitute the judicial, senatorial, or congressional committee of such district. When a judicial, senatorial, or congressional district is included within a county, the county central committee shall constitute the judicial, senatorial, or congressional committee of such district.

The controlling committee of each intermediate political party or organization shall be a state central committee consisting of two members, one a man and one a woman, from each congressional district in the state. All members of such committee shall be members of the party and shall be elected by direct vote at the primary held in the even-numbered years. Candidates for election shall be elected at the primary in the same manner as provided in sections 3513.01 to 3513.32 of the Revised Code. An intermediate political party may have such other party organization as its rules provide. Each intermediate party shall file the names and addresses of its officers with the secretary of state.

A minor political party may elect controlling committees at a primary election in the even-numbered year by filing a plan for party organization with the secretary of state on or before the ninetieth day before the day of the primary election. Such plan shall specify which offices are to be elected and provide the procedure for qualification of candidates for such offices. Candidates to be elected pursuant to such plan shall be required to be designated and qualified on or before the ninetieth day before the day of the election. Such parties may, in lieu of electing a controlling committee or other officials, choose such committee or other officials in accordance with party rules. Each such party shall file the names and addresses of members of its controlling committee and party officers with the secretary of state.

143 OS 604, 56 NE(2d) 167 (1944), State ex rel Humker v Hummel. Secretary of state has no right to investigate and determine whether county executive committee making recommendation of person for appointment to county board of elections was constituted in accordance with law, where such committee was sole group functioning as such committee and was universally recognized as such executive committee, and mandamus will lie to compel secretary of state to appoint person recommended.

133 OS 619, 15 NE(2d) 348 (1938), State ex rel Devitt v Kennedy. In absence of rules of central committee to contrary, presumption is that members of executive committee appointed under this section continue to serve from their election until next primary election unless they resign, die or are removed for cause.

9 App(2d) 280, 224 NE(2d) 353 (1967), State ex rel McCurdy v DeMaioribus. In the absence of a specific statute to the contrary, there is no requirement that the chairman of a county central committee of a political party be an elected member thereof.

98 App 89, 128 NE(2d) 121 (1954), State ex rel Wiethe v Bd of Elections of Hamilton County. The trial court properly denied relator's request for a mandatory injunction ordering his name placed on the ballot as candidate for the central committee from a designated ward where his petition stated that he was a candidate from a precinct of the ward.

80 App 70, 74 NE(2d) 759 (1946), State ex rel Pfeifer v Stoneking. This section, prescribing that outgoing party county central committee shall determine whether representation on such committee shall be by wards and townships or by precincts being silent as to when that action shall be taken, court will not fix time for determination, such being matter of policy to be settled by members of party.

80 App 70, 74 NE(2d) 759 (1946), State ex rel Pfeifer v Stoneking. Where petitions for candidates for membership on party county central committee from precincts are circulated and acknowledged prior to last day for filing nominating petitions, on which day outgoing committee lawfully adopts and files with county board of elections a resolution providing for representation on committee by precincts, and are filed with board on that day shortly after time of such filing of resolution, they are valid, speaking from time of their filing, and action of board in accepting them is not arbitrary or illegal.

75 App 194, 58 NE(2d) 483 (1944), Fifty West Broad Street, Inc v Poulson. 37 Misc 3, 305 NE(2d) 820 (CP, Hamilton 1973), Mann v Hamilton County Bd of Elections. Courts would not order board of elections to realign precincts merely because precincts using voting machines were permitted to include more than 400 electors.

707 FSupp 323 (SD Ohio 1989), Banchy v Hamilton County Republican Party; affirmed by 898 F(2d) 1192 (6th Cir Ohio 1990). While RC 3517.03 commands the selection of an executive committee, it does not set forth the manner of selecting its members, which may therefore be established by a party's constitution; the party's act of designating a manner of selection, and the actual selection of members at a primary election, are not "state action" for purposes of 42 USC 1983.

318 FSupp 1262, 29 Misc 111 (SD Ohio 1970), Socialist Labor Party v Rhodes. State officials enjoined from enforcing RC 3517.01, 3505.10, 3513.11, 3517.02, 3517.03, 3517.04 and 3513.12, insofar as these sections or provisions or parts thereof deprive plaintiffs of constitutionally guaranteed rights as adjudged.

1935 OAG 3978. The removal of the chairman of a county central committee from the precinct from which he was elected creates a vacancy in the office of chairman of such county central committee, since such person thereby ceases to be a member of such committee.

3517.04 Meetings and organization of major party central committees

The members-elect of each major political party state central committee shall, except as otherwise provided in this section, meet following the declaration of the results by the boards of elections of the election of members of the state central committees, at a suitable place and time to be designated by the retiring chairman of the committee in accordance with party rules. In the case of a county central committee, the meeting shall be held not earlier than six nor later than fifteen days following the declaration of the results by the board of elections of the election of members of county central committees in that county. Notice of any meeting held pursuant to this section, giving the place and time, shall be sent to each member-elect by the retiring secretary of the committee by mail and a copy of the notice shall be posted in the office of the secretary of state or board of elections, as the case may be, at least five days prior to any such meeting. The meeting shall be called to order by the retiring chairman or secretary or if there is no such officer, or if such officer is absent, then by a member of such committee designated by the secretary of state in the case of the state committees, and by a member of the board of elections of the same political party, designated by the board, in the case of county committees. A temporary chairman and secretary shall be chosen and the committee shall proceed to organize by the election of a chairman, vice-chairman, treasurer, secretary, and such other officers as the rules provide.

60 USLW 4075 (US 1992), Norman v Reed. Citizens' federal right to establish new political parties arises under the First and Fourteenth Amendments and furthers the constitutional interest of likeminded voters to gather and pursue common political ends and thereby enlarge all voters' opportunity to express political preferences; accordingly, new parties' ballot access may be limited by a severe restriction only if narrowly drawn to advance a compelling state interest. Where a state statute allows a new party to field candidates for offices in a large political subdivision only after collecting 25,000 signatures of subdivision voters (the same number needed of state voters to field candidates for state office), and if the subdivision has large separate districts for some offices then 25,000 signatures from each district, a decision of the state supreme court that a party's inability to get enough signatures in one district of a two-district subdivision dooms the party's entire slate in both districts is not the least restrictive means to advance the state's interest in limiting the ballot to parties with demonstrated public support since it requires twice as much support here for candidates in a county as is needed for statewide candidates. State officials enjoined from enforcing RC 3517.01, 3505.10, 3513.11, 3517.02, 3517.03, 3517.04 and 3513.12, insofar as these sections or provisions or parts thereof deprive plaintiffs of constitutionally guaranteed rights as adjudged.

3517.05 Term of committee members; vacancies; rightful county central or executive committee

All party committees, the selection of which is provided for in sections 3517.02 and 3517.03 of the Revised Code, shall, except as otherwise provided in this section, serve until the date of the organizational meeting provided for in section 3517.04 of the Revised Code. A county central committee shall serve until the sixth day after the date of the declaration of the results by the board of elections of the primary election in that county. In case of vacancies caused by death, resignation, failure to elect, or removal from the precinct, ward, township, or district from which a committeeman was chosen, the controlling committee or, if authorized, the executive committee shall fill the vacancy for the unexpired term by a majority vote of the members of such committee.

If more than one organized group claims to be the rightful county central or executive committee, each such group shall file a list of its officers and members as provided in section 3517.06 of the Revised Code, and the board of elections with which such lists are filed shall certify them to the state central committee of the party concerned. The state central committee shall meet within thirty days after receipt of such certification and forthwith determine and certify which committee shall be recognized as the rightful county central or executive committee.

136 OS 526, 27 NE(2d) 142 (1940), State ex rel O'Neil v Griffith. If a person recommended by a county executive committee of his party is found to be competent, it is the duty of the secretary of state to appoint him, and it is only when conflicting recommendations are made by more than one committee, each claiming to be the rightful executive committee, that the secretary of state is authorized and required to call upon the state central committee of such party to determine and certify which is the rightful county executive committee of such party.

136 OS 526, 27 NE(2d) 142 (1940), State ex rel O'Neil v Griffith. GC 4785-9 (RC 3501.07) and this section are in pari materia and full effect must be given to provisions of both sections if the same can be reconciled.

1962 OAG 3295. The action of a municipality in realigning the wards of a city and the action of a board of elections in rearranging the boundaries of the precincts within the county are effective as determining the geographical boundaries of the precincts for the election of county central committeemen at the primary election held in the even-numbered year which next follows said rearrangement, but has no effect upon the county central committeemen who were duly elected to said positions prior to said boundary changes and does not cause a vacancy to arise in any precinct where, as a result of said boundary change, a county central committeeman does not reside within the boundaries of the new precinct so designated.

1962 OAG 3108. A person who has moved out of a county to enter employment with the state and has retained his residence for voting purposes is an elector and resident of such precinct and may be appointed a county central committeeman and chairman of the county executive committee of his party in that county.

1950 OAG 1680. If due to action of a county board of elections rearranging, changing or dividing precincts, no qualified person has filed a petition for committeeman from the new district, and, therefore, no election can be held for the position, the controlling committee is authorized to fill the vacancy thus created.

3517.06 Lists of members of party committees filed; report of changes

A list of the names and addresses of the members and officers of the county central committee and the county executive committee of each political party shall be filed by the secretary of each committee in the office of the board of elections of the county in which such committee exists and in the office of the secretary of state promptly after the organization of each of such committees. A list of the names and addresses of the members of the state central committee and the state executive committee of each political party shall be filed by the secretary of each committee in the office of the secretary of state promptly after the organization of each of such committees.

All changes occurring in the membership of a county central or executive committee after such filing shall be reported promptly by the secretary of such committee to the board and to the secretary of state. All changes occurring in the membership of a state central or executive committee after such filing shall be reported promptly by the secretary of such committee to the secretary of state. All such lists shall be open to public inspection at all times when the offices in which they are filed are open for business.

UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES OF PARTY

3517.07 Parties or groups engaged in un-American activities barred from ballot

No political party or group which advocates, either directly or indirectly, the overthrow, by force or violence, of our local, state, or national government or which carries on a program of sedition or treason by radio, speech, or press or which has in any manner any connection with any foreign government or power or which in any manner has any connection with any group or organization so connected or so advocating the overthrow, by force or violence, of our local, state, or national government or so carrying on a program of sedition or treason by radio, speech, or press shall be recognized or be given a place on the ballot in any primary or general election held in the state or in any political subdivision thereof.

Any party or group desiring to have a place on the ballot shall file with the secretary of state and with the board of elections in each county in which it desires to have a place on the ballot an affidavit made by not less than ten members of such party, not less than three of whom shall be executive officers thereof, under oath stating that it does not advocate, either directly or indirectly, the overthrow, by force or violence, of our local, state, or national government; that it does not carry on any program of sedition or treason by radio, speech, or press; that it has no connection with any foreign government or power; that it has no connection with any group or organization so connected or so advocating, either directly or indirectly, the overthrow, by force or violence, of our local, state, or national government or so carrying on a program of sedition or treason by radio, speech, or press.

Said affidavit shall be filed not less than six nor more than nine months prior to the primary or general election in which the party or group desires to have a place on the ballot. The secretary of state shall investigate the facts appearing in the affidavit and shall within sixty days after the filing thereof find and certify whether or not this party or group is entitled under this section to have a place on the ballot.

Any qualified member of such party or group or any elector of this state may appeal from the finding of the secretary of state to the supreme court of Ohio.

This section does not apply to any political party or group which has had a place on the ballot in each national and gubernatorial election since the year 1900.

1. Constitutional issues

42 Abs 40, 59 NE(2d) 238 (App, Franklin 1944), State ex rel Berry v Hummel. GC 4785-100 (Repealed) is not unconstitutional as being in derogation of any provision of our state or federal constitutions.

406 US 583, 92 SCt 1716, 32 LEd(2d) 317 (1972), Socialist Labor Party v Gilligan. Supreme court will not pass on constitutionality of requirement that political party file an affidavit that party is not engaged in an attempt to overthrow government by force or violence, is not associated with a group making such an attempt, and does not carry on a program of sedition or treason as defined by criminal law.

318 FSupp 1262, 29 Misc 111 (SD Ohio 1970), Socialist Labor Party v Rhodes. RC 3517.07, narrowly construed to require an oath that (1) the party is not engaged in an attempt to overthrow the government by force or violence, (2) the party does not carry on a program of sedition or treason as defined by the criminal law and (3) the party is not knowingly associated with a group attempting to overthrow the government by force or violence, is constitutional.

2. In general

150 OS 127, 80 NE(2d) 899 (1948), State ex rel Beck v Hummel. Although ordinarily this court will not substitute its judgment for that of secretary of state as to inferences to be drawn from facts developed from his investigation, if he finds and certifies that the party of group on whose behalf the affidavit is made is not entitled to have a place on the ballot, such finding and certification will be reversed and set aside where it appears in record of his investigation that there is no substantial evidence to controvert the truth or the good faith of the affidavit filed.

140 OS 279, 43 NE(2d) 239 (1942), Johnson v Sweeney. This section authorizes an appeal to the supreme court from a finding by the secretary of state.

414 US 441, 94 SCt 656, 38 LEd(2d) 635 (1974), Communist Party of Indiana v Whitcomb. Indiana Statute 29-3812, which requires any existing or newly organized political party to file an affidavit stating that it does not advocate the overthrow of local, state, or national government by violence before its candidates' names will be printed on the ballot, violates US Const Am 1 and 14. (Editor's note: Indiana law construed in light of federal constitution.)

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES; ELECTIONS COMMISSION

3517.08 Matters not considered contribution or expenditure

(A) The personal expenses of a candidate paid for by the candidate, from his personal funds, shall not be considered as a contribution by or expenditure by the candidate, and shall not be reported under section 3517.10 of the Revised Code.

(B) An expenditure by any political action committee or political party shall not be considered a contribution by the political action committee or political party or an expenditure by or on behalf of the candidate if the purpose of the expenditure is to inform only its members by means of mailed publications or other direct communication of its activities or endorsements.

(C) An expenditure by a continuing association or political party shall not be considered a contribution to any campaign committee or an expenditure by or on behalf of any campaign committee if the purpose of the expenditure is for the staff and maintenance of the continuing association's or political party's headquarters, or for a political poll, survey, index, or other type of measurement not on behalf of a specific candidate.

(D) The expenses of maintaining a constituent office paid for, from his personal funds, by a candidate who is a member of the general assembly at the time of the election shall not be considered a contribution by or an expenditure by or on behalf of the candidate, and shall not be reported, if the constituent office is not used for any candidate's campaign activities.

(E) Expenditures made by any person for a social or fund-raising activity shall not be considered an expenditure by or on behalf of a campaign committee. The net contribution of each such activity shall be calculated by totaling all contributions to the activity minus the expenditures made for the activity.

(F) An expenditure which purchases goods or services shall be attributed to an election when the disbursement of funds is made, rather than at the time the goods or services are used. The secretary of state shall, under the procedures of Chapter 119. of the Revised Code, establish rules for the attribution of expenditures to a candidate when he is a candidate for more than one office during a reporting period and for expenditures made in a year in which no election is held. He shall further define by rule those expenditures which are or are not by or on behalf of a candidate.

(G) An expenditure for the purpose of a charitable donation may be made if it is made to an organization that is exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3), (501)(c)(4), 501(c)(8), 501(c)(10), or 501(c)(19) of the Internal Revenue Code or is approved by advisory opinion of the Ohio elections commission as a legitimate charitable organization. Each such expenditure shall be separately itemized on reports made pursuant to section 3517.10 of the Revised Code.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

OAG 75-068. RC Ch 3517 requires a candidate's campaign committee to report all contributions and expenditures, which are in excess of twenty-five dollars, regardless of who made the contributions or expenditures.

Elections Op 90-3. The funds of a campaign committee may be used to pay legal expenses incurred by another campaign committee of the same candidate in connection with defending charges against the second committee before the Ohio elections commission only when the first committee's balance is transferred to the second committee and the first committee is terminated.

Elections Op 89-5. The balance of a candidate's federal campaign committee fund and of a candidate's state central committee fund may be transferred to the candidate's committee for state or local office, with no limitation on the amount transferred, but the funds to be transferred may not have been received from a source prohibited by the Revised Code; by virtue of the transfers, the federal committee and state central committee are transformed into campaign committees under RC 3517.01(B)(1) and must comply with the reporting requirements for candidate campaign committees. To conform with RC 3517.081, which prohibits individuals to have more than one campaign committee, only one transfer may be made, the entire balance must be transferred or otherwise distributed, and the donor committe must be terminated at the time its balance is transferred to the candidate's state or local campaign committee.

Elections Op 89-5. A prospective candidate for state or local office may establish a campaign committee without stating on the "Designation of Treasurer" form what office is being sought, but only when the candidate is truly undecided between alternate offices; the "Designation of Treasurer" form must be amended to indicate the specific office being sought immediately upon the decision to seek a specific office, which may be evidenced by the first written or oral public statement (including solicitations for contributions) in which a specific office is named.

Elections Op 87-7. An individual who is or may be a candidate for more than one public office may establish a separate campaign committee for each candidacy, provided each committee is distinct, is established and run in good faith, pays only the expenses of the one candidacy it espouses, has a name reflecting the office sought, and has a treasurer and deputy treasurers who do not hold like positions on the other committee.

3517.082 Corporation establishing political action committee or campaign fund; employee contributions

(A) Any corporation engaged in business in this state or any nonprofit corporation may establish, administer, and solicit contributions from the persons listed in division (B) of this section, to either or both of the following:

(1) A political action committee of the corporation with respect to state and local elections;

(2) A separate segregated fund pursuant to the "Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971," 86 Stat. 11, 2 U.S.C.A. 431, et. seq., as amended.

(B)(1) A corporation engaged in business in this state and a nonprofit corporation may solicit contributions from its stockholders, officers, directors, trustees that are not corporations, and employees.

(2) A nonprofit corporation also may solicit contributions from:

(a) Its members that are not corporations;

(b) Officers, directors, trustees that are not corporations, and employees of any members of the nonprofit corporation.

(C) A corporation shall report to a political action committee, or to a separate segregated fund with respect to state and local elections, the following costs expended by the corporation that are associated with establishing, administering, and soliciting contributions to the political action committee or separate segregated fund pursuant to division (A) of this section:

(1) Mailing and printing expenses for direct solicitation of contributions pursuant to division (D) of this section;

(2) The portion of an employee's salary or wages attributable to time he spends in activities related to establishing, administering, and soliciting contributions to a political action committee or separate segregated fund, if such time exceeds during a reporting period fifty per cent of the time for which the employee is compensated by the corporation;

(3) The cost associated with the purchase, lease, operation, and use of equipment for activities related to establishing, administering, and soliciting contributions to a political action committee or separate segregated fund if during a reporting period more than fifty per cent of the use of the equipment is for such activities;

(4) Professional fees paid by the corporation for establishing, administering, and soliciting contributions to a political action committee or separate segregated fund.

The political action committee shall itemize the amounts and purposes of such costs expended by the corporation and file them as part of the report required of political action committees under division (A) of section 3517.10 of the Revised Code on a form prescribed by the secretary of state. The separate segregated fund with respect to state and local elections shall file with the secretary of state a copy of the portion of each report and statement required under the "Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971," 86 Stat. 11, 2 U.S.C. 431, et seq., as amended, that applies to state and local elections at the same time that the entire original report is filed in accordance with that act.

(D) Solicitations of contributions pursuant to division (A) of this section from employees other than executive and administrative employees shall be in writing, shall be sent by mail addressed to the employee's residence, and shall not be made more than twice during each calendar year. Any person who solicits any employee of a corporation for a contribution to a political action committee established or administered by the corporation under division (A)(1) of this section shall inform the employee at the time of the solicitation that he may refuse to make a contribution without suffering any reprisal.

(C) No person or organization shall fail to comply with the requirements of division (A) or (B) of this section.

(D) This section does not apply to the solicitation activities of any charitable organization as defined in division (H) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code.

3517.10 Times for filing statement of contributions and expenditures; contents

(A) Except as otherwise provided in this division, every campaign committee, political action committee, and political party which made or received a contribution or made an expenditure in connection with the nomination or election of any candidate or in connection with any ballot issue or question at any election held or to be held in this state shall file, on a form prescribed under this section, a full, true, and itemized statement, made under penalty of election falsification, setting forth in detail the contributions and expenditures, no later than four p.m. of the following dates:

(1) The twelfth day before the election to reflect contributions received and expenditures made from the close of business on the last day reflected in the last previously filed statement, if any, to the close of business on the twentieth day before the election;

(2) The thirty-eighth day after the election to reflect the contributions received and expenditures made from the close of business on the last day reflected in the last previously filed statement, if any, to the close of business on the seventh day before the filing of the statement;

(3) The last business day of January of every year to reflect the contributions received and expenditures made from the close of business on the last day reflected in the last previously filed statement, if any, to the close of business on the last day of December of the previous year.

A campaign committee shall only be required to file the statements prescribed under divisions (A)(1) and (2) of this section in connection with the nomination or election of the committee's candidate.

The statement required under division (A)(1) of this section shall not be required of any campaign committee, political action committee, or political party which has received contributions of less than one thousand dollars and has made expenditures of less than one thousand dollars at the close of business on the twentieth day before the election. Such contributions and expenditures shall be reported in the statement required under division (A)(2) of this section.

If an election to select candidates to appear on the general election ballot is held within sixty days before a general election, the campaign committee of a successful candidate in the earlier election may file the statement required by division (A)(1) of this section for the general election instead of the statement required by division (A)(2) of this section for the earlier election if the pre-general election statement reflects the status of contributions and expenditures for the period twenty days before the earlier election to twenty days before the general election.

If a person becomes a candidate less than twenty days before an election, his campaign committee is not required to file the statement required by division (A)(1) of this section.

No statement under division (A)(3) of this section shall be required for any year in which a campaign committee, political action committee, or political party is required to file a post-general election statement under division (A)(2) of this section. However, such a statement may be filed, at the option of the campaign committee, political action committee, or political party.

No statement under division (A)(3) of this section shall be required if the campaign committee, political action committee, or political party has no contributions which it has received and no expenditures which it has made since the last date reflected in its last previously filed statement. However, the campaign committee, political action committee, or political party shall file a statement to that effect, on a form prescribed under this section and made under penalty of election falsification, on the date required in division (A)(3) of this section.

If a campaign committee or political action committee has no balance on hand and no outstanding obligations and desires to terminate itself, it shall file a statement to that effect, on a form prescribed under this section and made under penalty of election falsification, with the official with whom it files a statement under division (A) of this section after filing a final statement of contributions and a final statement of expenditures, if contributions have been received or expenditures made since the period reflected in its last previously filed statement.

(B) Each statement required by division (A) of this section shall contain the following information:

(1) The full name and address of each campaign committee, political action committee, or political party, including any treasurer thereof, filing a contribution and expenditure statement;

(2) In the case of a campaign committee, the candidate's full name and address;

(3) The date of the election and whether it was or will be a general, primary, or special election;

(4) A statement of contributions received, which shall include:

(a) The month, day, and year of the contribution;

(b) The full name and address of each person, political party, campaign committee, or political action committee from whom contributions are received. The requirement of filing the full address does not apply to any statement filed by a state or local committee of a political party, to a finance committee of such committee, or to a committee recognized by a state or local committee as its fund-raising auxiliary. Notwithstanding division (F) of this section, the requirement of filing the full address shall be considered as being met if the address filed is the same address the contributor provided under division (E) of this section.

(c) A description of the contribution received, if other than money;

(d) The value in dollars and cents of the contribution;

(e) All contributions and expenditures shall be itemized separately regardless of the amount except a receipt of a contribution from a person in the sum of twenty-five dollars or less at one social or fund-raising activity. An account of the total contributions from each such social or fund-raising activity shall be listed separately, together with the expenses incurred and paid in connection with such activity. No continuing association which makes a contribution from funds which are derived solely from regular dues paid by members of the association shall be required to list the name or address of any members who paid such dues.

(5) A statement of expenditures which shall include:

(a) The month, day, and year of expenditure;

(b) The full name and address of each person, political party, campaign committee, or political action committee to whom the expenditure was made;

(c) The object or purpose for which the expenditure was made;

(d) The amount of each expenditure.

(C) The statement of contributions and expenditures must be signed by the person completing the form.

The person filing the statement shall, under penalty of election falsification, include with it a list of each anonymous contribution, the circumstances under which it was received, and the reason it cannot be attributed to a specific donor.

Each statement of a campaign committee of a candidate who holds public office shall contain a designation of each contributor who is an employee in any unit or department under the candidate's direct supervision and control. In a space provided in the statement the person filing the statement shall affirm that each such contribution was voluntarily made.

A campaign committee which did not receive contributions or make expenditures in connection with the nomination or election of its candidate shall file a statement to that effect, on a form prescribed under this section and made under penalty of election falsification, on the date required in division (A)(2) of this section.

The campaign committee of any person who attempts to become a candidate and who, for any reason, does not become certified in accordance with Title XXXV of the Revised Code for placement on the official ballot of a primary, general, or special election to be held in this state, and who, at any time prior to or after an election, receives contributions or makes expenditures, or has given consent for another to receive contributions or make expenditures, for the purpose of bringing about the person's nomination or election to public office, shall file the statement or statements prescribed by this section and a termination statement, if applicable. This paragraph does not apply to any person with respect to an election to the offices of member of a county or state central committee, presidential elector, or delegate to a national convention or conference of a political party.

The statements shall specify the balance in the hands of the campaign committee, political action committee, or political party and the disposition intended to be made thereof. The form for all statements to be filed under this section shall be prescribed by the secretary of state, and furnished to the boards of elections in the several counties, and such boards shall supply printed copies of such forms without charge.

(D) Prior to receiving any contribution or making any expenditure, every campaign committee, political action committee, or political party shall appoint a treasurer and shall file, on a form prescribed by the secretary of state, a designation of such appointment including the full name and address of the treasurer and of the campaign committee, political action committee, or political party. Such designation shall be filed with the official with whom the campaign committee, political action committee, or political party is required to file statements under section 3517.11 of the Revised Code. The treasurer shall keep a strict account of all contributions, from whom received and the purpose for which they were disbursed. Every expenditure in excess of twenty-five dollars shall be vouched for by a receipted bill, stating the purpose of the expenditures, which shall be filed with the statement of expenditures. A canceled check with a notation of the purpose of the expenditure is a receipted bill for purposes of this section. The secretary of state or the board of elections, as the case may be, shall issue a receipt for each such statement filed and preserve a copy of such receipt for a period of at least six years. All such statements shall be open to public inspection in the office where they are filed, and shall be carefully preserved for a period of at least six years after the year in which they are filed.

(E) Any person, political party, campaign committee, or political action committee that makes a contribution in connection with the nomination or election of any candidate or in connection with any ballot issue or question at any election held or to be held in this state shall provide its full name and address to the recipient of the contribution at the time the contribution is made.

(F) As used in this section, "address" means all of the following if they exist: apartment number, street, road, or highway name and number, rural delivery route number, city or village, and state as used in a person's post-office address, but not zip code or post-office box. Where an address is required in this section, a post-office box and office, room, or suite number may be included in addition to but not in lieu of an apartment, street, road, or highway name and number, and a zip code may be used. Where an address is required in this section, a campaign committee, political action committee, or political party may use the business or residence address of its treasurer or deputy treasurer. The post-office box number of the campaign committee, political action committee, or political party may be used in addition to such address.

2. In general

1. Constitutional issues

368 FSupp 1340 (SD Ohio 1974), Lukens v Brown. RC 3517.10 and 3517.11 are constitutional.

2. In general

49 OS(2d) 291, 361 NE(2d) 244 (1977), State ex rel Halak v Cebula. Where the candidate receiving the highest number of votes is ineligible to election, the candidate receiving the next highest number of votes for the same office is not elected, and therefore is ineligible to bring a quo warranto action challenging the former's right to office.

20 OS(2d) 13, 251 NE(2d) 862 (1969), State ex rel Jedlicka v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. The failure of a board of elections to perform its obligation under RC 3517.11 to notify a candidate for public office of his duty to file a statement of receipts and expenses imposed by RC 3517.10 does not excuse a candidate's failure to perform that duty.

20 OS(2d) 13, 251 NE(2d) 862 (1969), State ex rel Jedlicka v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. The penalty imposed by RC 3517.11 disqualifying a person from becoming a candidate for public office in any future election for a period of five years for that person's failure to file a candidate's statement of receipts and expenses required by RC 3517.10 does not impinge upon a fundamental right secured by the constitution nor is it so grossly unreasonable as to subject it to judicial interference.

50 App(2d) 334, 363 NE(2d) 744 (1976), State ex rel Halak v Cebula; affirmed by 49 OS(2d) 291, 361 NE(2d) 244 (1977). Where there are five candidates in an election for three positions as city councilmen-at-large, the disqualification of the candidate receiving the third highest number of votes does not result in the election of the candidate receiving the fourth highest number of votes; rather, if the position is declared vacant a new councilman is selected as provided for under city charter.

102 App 566, 136 NE(2d) 772 (1956), Brewer v DeMaioribus. Where a candidate for office files with the board of elections a statement of expenditures within the time prescribed by RC 3517.10, and is informed by the board after the time for filing that the statement has apparently been mislaid in the board's office and a duplicate statement is then filed, and where a second candidate is erroneously informed by the board that it is too late to mail his statement and such candidate then files his statement in person 14 minutes after the time prescribed by RC 3517.10, it is within the sound discretion of the board to conclude in each case that there was substantial compliance with the terms of the statute.

102 App 566, 136 NE(2d) 772 (1956), Brewer v DeMaioribus. RC 3517.11 and 3517.10 make the filing of a statement of expenditures mandatory, but the time within which it is to be filed merely directory.

78 Abs 263, 152 NE(2d) 355 (App, Mahoning 1957), State ex rel Vasvari v Rickert. Failure to file an account of expenditures incurred in candidacy for precinct committeeman is a violation of RC 3517.10, and will disqualify the candidate for subsequent office within the provisions of RC 3517.11.

459 US 87, 103 SCt 416, 74 LEd(2d) 250 (1982), Brown v Socialist Workers '74 Campaign Committee (Ohio). US Const Am 1 prohibits a state from compelling disclosures of addresses of campaign contributors and recipients of campaign funds of a minor political party, where the disclosures will subject the party to threats and harassment; therefore, Ohio's campaign disclosure law, RC 3517.01 et seq., cannot be applied to the socialist workers party. (Ed. note: Ohio law construed in light of federal constitution.)

OAG 75-068. RC Ch 3517 requires a candidate's campaign committee to report all contributions and expenditures, which are in excess of twenty-five dollars, regardless of who made the contributions or expenditures.

OAG 75-068. The changes to RC Ch 3517, effected by 1974 S 46, eff. 7-23-74, have no effect upon the identification requirements contained in RC 3599.09, which apply to published campaign materials whether they are designed to defeat or to promote a candidate or an issue.

OAG 75-017. The general assembly did not intend to exclude all candidates who are members of a multi-member public body, such as a board of county commissioners, from the provisions of RC 3517.10(C).

OAG 75-017. Under the provisions of the new campaign expense reporting act, a candidate who holds the office of county commissioner must report, pursuant to RC 3517.10(C), the name of every contributor who is a county employee appointed or employed by the board of county commissioners.

OAG 74-087. The investigative procedures set forth in 1974 S 46, eff. 7-23-74, are applicable to an investigation, after the effective date of that act, of an alleged violation which occurred before its effective date, in order to determine whether the election laws as they read on such earlier date were violated.

OAG 74-075. The requirement in RC 3517.10(A)(1) of a preelection statement of campaign contributions and expenditures is, pursuant to RC 3517.12, applicable to a political committee which is organized solely for the advocacy of, or opposition to, a proposition or issue submitted to the voters.

OAG 65-162. The provision of RC 3517.11 barring a candidate who has failed to file a timely statement of expenses, as required by RC 3517.10 and 3517.11, from seeking any office for a period of years, has no application to any person other than a candidate for office who so defaults.

1963 OAG 485. Notification of candidates by ordinary mail is sufficient to meet the requirement of RC 3517.11.

1963 OAG 485. A candidate in a primary election who fails to file his statement of receipts and expenditures in accordance with RC 3517.11 shall not be disqualified from running in the following general election if the board of elections has failed to give the notice required by this section.

1962 OAG 3494. A candidate who fails to file a statement of expenditures within the time prescribed by RC 3517.10 is barred from becoming a candidate in any future election for a period of five (or seven) years, but is not, by reason of such failure, barred from being appointed to a public office such as a member of the legislative authority of a village, and from serving in such capacity.

1962 OAG 2875. A candidate for office who fails to file a statement of expenditures within the time prescribed by RC 3517.10 is subject to the specific penalty provided in RC 3517.11, but is not subject to the penalty provision of RC 3599.40, but where a candidate fails to file at any time, he may be prosecuted for such failure and the penalty provided by RC 3599.40 may be imposed.

1960 OAG 1147. The requirement of RC 3517.11 that candidates shall be notified on or before the twentieth day after the election of the requirements of RC 3517.10 and 3517.11 is mandatory; and, where a candidate who is not so notified fails to file his statement of expense within the time specified, such candidate is not disqualified from becoming a candidate in any future election.

1959 OAG 708. If a person who was a candidate in a primary election fails to file the statement of contributions and expenditures or of no expenditures required by RC 3517.10 within the time prescribed the disqualification provision of RC 3517.11 becomes operative and that person is barred from receiving a certificate of nomination and from becoming a candidate in the general election.

1957 OAG 1415. All candidates in the November 1957 election who did not file expense statements within the prescribed thirty day period are disqualified for candidacy for office for a period of five years.

1957 OAG 1415. A candidate who received no contributions and made no contributions in connection with his candidacy need not file a statement thereof within the prescribed thirty day period, but he should file an affidavit to that effect.

1957 OAG 1415. RC 3517.08, 3517.10 and 3517.11 do not apply to write-in candidates who did not solicit votes.

1957 OAG 1415. Certificates of election should be issued to candidates who file expense statements within a reasonable time after the election.

1957 OAG 535. The requirement in RC 3517.10 that a statement of contributions and expenditures be filed by a candidate at any election is mandatory, but the requirement therein that such statement be filed "not later than four p.m. of the thirtieth day after such election" is directory only. A candidate who has failed to file such statement within such period is under a continuing obligation to do so, and the board of elections, or the secretary of state, as the case may be, is under a continuing obligation to receive and file such statement.

1956 OAG 6211. As to the November 1955 election, the ten day requirement of RC 3517.10 is directory rather than mandatory, and certificates of election may be issued to successful candidates for justice of the peace who file such statements within a reasonable time and prior to the filling of the vacancy under RC 1907.04.

1956 OAG 6211. Prior to January 1, 1956, RC 3517.10 did not require the filing of a statement of receipts and expenditures where none were involved, and an affidavit to this effect need not be filed within the ten day period.

1952 OAG 1666. Where the board of elections determines that the facts in its possession indicate a probability that a candidate subscribed and swore to a statement of expenditures, knowing the same to be false, it is the duty of such board, to report such facts promptly to the prosecuting attorney for such action as may be appropriate, and the board would be warranted in refusing to issue a certificate of nomination on the basis of an amended or corrected statement of expenditures pending an investigation by the prosecuting attorney of such matter.

Elections Op 90-4. Funds received and payments made for legal expenses incurred in bringing a complaint before the Ohio elections commission are reportable as contributions and expenditures to the extent required by RC 3517.10.

Elections Op 90-3. Funds received and payments made for legal fees incurred in defending charges brought before the commission related to seeking nomination or election to public office must be reported by the candidate's campaign committee pursuant to RC 3517.10.

Elections Op 90-2. A charitable contribution is not for the purpose of promoting a present or future candidacy when an officeholder who is statutorily barred from seeking re-election (1) has filed a final report, (2) has not indicated an intention of seeking any other elected office, and (3) does not intend to do so. Such a contribution need not be reported pursuant to RC 3517.10.

Elections Op 90-1. An officeholder who makes a charitable contribution from his personal funds to a charity is not required to report such an expenditure in compliance with RC 3517.10(A) when the contribution is not made in whole or in part for the purpose of promoting a present or possible future candidacy, as determined by the following factors including but not limited to whether: (1) the officeholder has control or significant input over the publicity resulting from the contribution; (2) the title by which the officeholder is listed in the publicity is an honorific title and not the title to a specific office; (3) the officeholder has a history of charitable giving to the same charity; (4) the officeholder or the charity initiated the contribution; and (5) the timing of the contribution is significant in relation to the election at which the officeholder will seek election.

Elections Op 89-4. An officer who uses personal funds purchasing pencils, rulers, emery boards, and similar items with his name and office printed on them and who distributes this merchandise to promote a possible future candidacy, or who buys advertisements in various organizations and publications for the same purpose, must report these expenditures in accordance with RC 3517.10.

Elections Op 87-1. A political party is required by RC 3517.10 to file reports under that section as a single reporting entity; all contributions received and expenditures made by the party in its own name or the name of a fundraising committee or organization of the party during a reporting period must be included.

Elections Op 87-1. A political party that receives a contribution or makes an expenditure in connection with an election during the pre-election reporting period is required to file the report prescribed by RC 3517.10(A)(1); a political party that receives a contribution or makes an expenditure in connection with an election during the post-election reporting period is required to file the report prescribed by RC 3517.10(A)(2).

3517.101 Gifts to political parties for office facilities

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Gift" means a gift, subscription, loan, advance, or deposit of money or anything of value, given to a state or county political party, that is specifically designated and used to defray any cost incurred on or after the effective date of this section for the construction, renovation, or purchase of any office facility that is not used solely for the purpose of directly influencing the election of any individual candidate in any particular election for any office.

(2) "Address" has the meaning given in division (F) of section 3517.10 of the Revised Code.

(3) "Political party" means only a major political party.

(B) Any person, including a corporation engaged in business in this state but not including a public utility, may make a gift to a state or county political party if the gift is specifically designated and used to defray any cost incurred on or after the effective date of this section for the construction, renovation, or purchase of any office facility that is not used solely for the purpose of directly influencing the election of any individual candidate in any particular election for any office and, if it is a gift of money from a corporation engaged in business in this state, if the gift does not exceed ten per cent of the cost of the construction, renovation, or purchase. Such gift shall not be considered a contribution or expenditure prohibited by any section of the Revised Code.

(C)(1) Each state or county political party that receives a gift pursuant to this section shall file on a form prescribed by the secretary of state, a full, true, and itemized statement describing the gift received and how it was disbursed. The statement shall be made under penalty of election falsification and shall be filed not later than four p.m. of the last day of January of every year to reflect gifts received and disbursed during the immediately preceding calendar year.

(2) Each statement required under division (C)(1) of this section shall contain all of the following information:

(a) The full name and address of the state or county political party filing the statement, including its treasurer;

(b) A description of each gift received, which shall include:

(i) The month, day, and year on which the gift was received;

(ii) The full name and address of each person from whom or from which the gift was received;

(iii) The nature of the gift, if other than money;

(iv) The value of the gift in dollars and cents.

Each gift received shall be itemized separately regardless of its amount or value.

(c) An itemization of how each gift was disbursed;

(d) The total value of gifts received and gifts disbursed during each reporting period;

(e) The total cost of the construction, renovation, or purchase of any office facility for which a gift is used.

(D)(1) All monetary gifts and all income from the lease or rental of an office facility for which a gift is used shall be deposited in an account separate from other funds and maintained in that separate account. Except as provided in division (D)(2) of this section, moneys in the account shall be used only for the construction, renovation, or purchase of an office facility as described in division (B) of this section.

(2) Any moneys remaining in an account under division (D)(1) of this section after the construction, renovation, or purchase of an office facility shall be used only for the maintenance and repair of the facility or for the construction, renovation, or purchase of another office facility as described in division (B) of this section and shall not be used for operating costs of the facility or for any other purpose.

(3) When a state or county political party sells an office facility that was constructed, renovated, or purchased in whole or in part from monetary gifts, the party shall deposit in the account under division (D)(1) of this section an amount that is the same percentage of the total proceeds of the sale as the monetary gifts used in the construction, renovation, or purchase of the facility were of the total cost of that construction, renovation, or purchase. Proceeds deposited in the account shall be used only for the construction, renovation, or purchase of another office facility as described in division (B) of this section.

(E) A state political party shall file a statement required under this section with the secretary of state and a county political party shall file a statement required under this section with the board of elections of the county in which the party is located.

(F)(1) No state or county political party shall fail to file a statement required to be filed under this section.

(2) No state or county political party shall knowingly fail to report, or shall knowingly misrepresent, a gift required to be reported on a statement required to be filed under this section.

(G) No state or county political party shall expend or use a gift for a purpose other than to defray any cost incurred on or after the effective date of this section for the construction, renovation, or purchase of an office facility as described in division (B) of this section or for the maintenance and repair of such a facility as provided in division (D)(2) of this section.

(H) Prior to receiving any gift under this section, every political party shall appoint a treasurer and file, on a form prescribed by the secretary of state, a designation of the appointment, including the full name and address of the political party. The designation shall be filed with the official with whom the political party is required to file statements under division (E) of this section. The treasurer shall keep a strict account of all gifts required to be reported under this section. The secretary of state or board of elections, as the case may be, shall, if requested, issue a receipt for each statement filed under this section and preserve a record of the filing for at least six years. All such statements shall be open to public inspection in the office where they are filed, and shall be carefully preserved for a period of at least six years after the year in which they are filed.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

1. Constitutional issues
2. In general

1. Constitutional issues

34 OS(2d) 257, 298 NE(2d) 132 (1973), State ex rel Lukens v Brown. RC 3517.11 is constitutional.

20 OS(2d) 13, 251 NE(2d) 862 (1969), State ex rel Jedlicka v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. The penalty imposed by RC 3517.11 disqualifying a person from becoming a candidate for public office in any future election for a period of five years for that person's failure to file a candidate's statement of receipts and expenses required by RC 3517.10 does not impinge upon a fundamental right secured by the Constitution nor is it so grossly unreasonable as to subject it to judicial interference.

368 FSupp 1340 (SD Ohio 1974), Lukens v Brown. RC 3517.10 and 3517.11 are constitutional.

2. In general

49 OS(2d) 291, 361 NE(2d) 244 (1977), State ex rel Halak v Cebula. Where the candidate receiving the highest number of votes is ineligible to election, the candidate receiving the next highest number of votes for the same office is not elected, and therefore is ineligible to bring a quo warranto action challenging the former's right to office.

32 OS(2d) 145, 290 NE(2d) 575 (1972), State ex rel Roseboro v Franklin County Bd of Elections. To the extent that administrative practice departs from the strict terms of RC 3517.11 so as to consider as valid a filing one day late simply because the document to be filed was deposited in the mail on the appointed day, and to deny as valid a filing actually made twenty-four minutes late on the appointed day, a clear denial of equal protection occurs.

20 OS(2d) 13, 251 NE(2d) 862 (1969), State ex rel Jedlicka v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. The failure of a board of elections to perform its obligation under RC 3517.11 to notify a candidate for public office of his duty to file a statement of receipts and expenses imposed by RC 3517.10 does not excuse a candidate's failure to perform that duty.

50 App(2d) 334, 363 NE(2d) 744 (1976), State ex rel Halak v Cebula; affirmed by 49 OS(2d) 291, 361 NE(2d) 244 (1977). Where there are five candidates in an election for three positions as city councilmen-at-large, the disqualification of the candidate receiving the third highest number of votes does not result in the election of the candidate receiving the fourth highest number of votes; rather, if the position is declared vacant a new councilman is selected as provided for under city charter.

102 App 566, 136 NE(2d) 772 (1956), Brewer v DeMaioribus. RC 3517.11 and 3517.10 make the filing of a statement of expenditures mandatory, but the time within which it is to be filed merely directory.

78 Abs 263, 152 NE(2d) 355 (App, Mahoning 1957), State ex rel Vasvari v Rickert. Failure to file an account of expenditures incurred in candidacy for precinct committeeman is a violation of RC 3517.10, and will disqualify the candidate for subsequent office within the provisions of RC 3517.11.

78 Abs 263, 152 NE(2d) 355 (App, Mahoning 1957), State ex rel Vasvari v Rickert. Where a board of elections rejects a candidates petition, basing its action on RC 3517.11, and when it construed the statute with its natural and fundamental meaning, its action is final.

459 US 87, 103 SCt 416, 74 LEd(2d) 250 (1982), Brown v Socialist Workers '74 Campaign Committee (Ohio). US Const Am 1 prohibits a state from compelling disclosures of addresses of campaign contributors and recipients of campaign funds of a minor political party, where the disclosures will subject the party to threats and harassment; therefore, Ohio's campaign disclosure law, RC 3517.01 et seq., cannot be applied to the socialist workers party. (Ed. note: Ohio law construed in light of federal constitution.)

OAG 65-162. The provision of RC 3517.11 barring a candidate who has failed to file a timely statement of expenses, as required by RC 3517.10 and 3517.11, from seeking any office for a period of years, has no application to any person other than a candidate for office who so defaults.

1963 OAG 485. A candidate in a primary election who fails to file his statement of receipts and expenditures in accordance with RC 3517.11 shall not be disqualified from running in the following general election if the board of elections has failed to give the notice required by this section.

1963 OAG 485. Notification of candidates by ordinary mail is sufficient to meet the requirement of RC 3517.11.

1962 OAG 3494. A candidate who fails to file a statement of expenditures within the time prescribed by RC 3517.10 is barred from becoming a candidate in any future election for a period of five (or seven) years, but is not, by reason of such failure, barred from being appointed to a public office such as a member of the legislative authority of a village, and from serving in such capacity.

1962 OAG 2875. A candidate for office who fails to file a statement of expenditures within the time prescribed by RC 3517.10 is subject to the specific penalty provided in RC 3517.11, but is not subject to the penalty provision of RC 3599.40, but where a candidate fails to file at any time, he may be prosecuted for such failure and the penalty provided by RC 3599.40 may be imposed.

1960 OAG 1147. The requirement of RC 3517.11 that candidates shall be notified on or before the twentieth day after the election of the requirements of RC 3517.10 and 3517.11 is mandatory; and, where a candidate who is not so notified fails to file his statement of expense within the time specified, such candidate is not disqualified from becoming a candidate in any future election.

1959 OAG 708. If a person who was a candidate in a primary election fails to file the statement of contributions and expenditures or of no expenditures required by RC 3517.10 within the time prescribed the disqualification provision of RC 3517.11 becomes operative and that person is barred from receiving a certificate of nomination and from becoming a candidate in the general election.

1957 OAG 1415. Certificates of election should be issued to candidates who file expense statements within a reasonable time after the election.

1957 OAG 1415. RC 3517.08, 3517.10 and 3517.11 do not apply to write-in candidates who did not solicit votes.

1957 OAG 1415. All candidates in the November 1957 election who did not file expense statements within the prescribed thirty day period are disqualified for candidacy for office for a period of five years.

1957 OAG 535. The provision in RC 3517.11 that "failure of any candidate to file a statement of expenditures shall disqualify said person from becoming a candidate in any future election for a period of five years" is operative during a period of five years following the thirty-day period provided for in RC 3517.10, provided the "failure of any candidate to file a statement of expenditures" should that long continue, but where, during such period, a candidate actually files such statement the disqualification provided in this section is terminated.

1956 OAG 6211. Prior to January 1, 1956, RC 3517.10 did not require the filing of a statement of receipts and expenditures where none were involved, and an affidavit to this effect need not be filed within the ten day period.

1956 OAG 6211. As to the November 1955 election, the ten day requirement of RC 3517.10 is directory rather than mandatory, and certificates of election may be issued to successful candidates for justice of the peace who file such statements within a reasonable time and prior to the filling of the vacancy under RC 1907.04.

1952 OAG 1666. Where a successful candidate for nomination for a county office files within the ten day period a statement of expenditures with the board of elections and such board determines that such statement is incorrect in that such candidate failed to list all of his campaign expenditures, but further determines that such omission was inadvertent and not made willfully, the board may accept an amended or corrected statement of expenditures, even after the ten day period, and if such amended or corrected statement is found to contain a full, true and itemized statement of such expenditures, issue to such candidate a certificate of nomination.

1952 OAG 1666. Where the board of elections determines that the facts in its possession indicate a probability that a candidate subscribed and swore to a statement of expenditures, knowing the same to be false, it is the duty of such board, to report such facts promptly to the prosecuting attorney for such action as may be appropriate, and the board would be warranted in refusing to issue a certificate of nomination on the basis of an amended or corrected statement of expenditures pending an investigation by the prosecuting attorney of such matter.

3517.12 Report of receipts and expenditures on initiative and referendum petitions

The circulator or the committee in charge of an initiative or referendum petition, or supplementary petition for additional signatures, for the submission of a constitutional amendment, proposed law, section, or item of any law shall, within thirty days after such petition papers are filed, file with the secretary of state, on a form prescribed by the secretary of state, an itemized statement, made under penalty of election falsification, showing in detail:

(A) All money or things of value paid, given, or promised for circulating such petitions;

(B) All appointments, promotions, or increases in salary, in positions which were given or promised, or to obtain which assistance was given or promised as a consideration for work done in circulating petitions;

(C) Full names and addresses, including street, city, and state, of all persons to whom such payments or promises were made;

(D) Full names and addresses, including street, city, and state, of all persons who contributed anything of value to be used in circulating such petitions;

(E) Time spent and salaries earned while soliciting signatures to petitions by persons who were regular salaried employees of some person or whom said employer authorized to solicit as part of their regular duties.

If no money or things of value were paid or if no promises were made or received as a consideration for work done in circulating such petition, the statement shall contain words to that effect.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

169 OS 42, 157 NE(2d) 331 (1959), State ex rel Corrigan v Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. A corporation may lawfully contribute to a committee organized and conducted merely for the purposes of advocating the adoption of a constitutional amendment and the passage of bond issues and tax levies.

79 Abs 232, 152 NE(2d) 1 (App, Cuyahoga 1958), State ex rel Corrigan v Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co; reversed by 169 OS 42, 157 NE(2d) 331 (1959). Corporations may not contribute funds for the purpose of supporting or opposing issues or propositions submitted to the voters.

459 US 87, 103 SCt 416, 74 LEd(2d) 250 (1982), Brown v Socialist Workers '74 Campaign Committee (Ohio). US Const Am 1 prohibits a state from compelling disclosures of addresses of campaign contributors and recipients of campaign funds of a minor political party, where the disclosures will subject the party to threats and harassment; therefore, Ohio's campaign disclosure law, RC 3517.01 et seq., cannot be applied to the socialist workers party. (Ed. note: Ohio law construed in light of federal constitution.)

OAG 74-075. The requirement in RC 3517.10(A)(1) of a preelection statement of campaign contributions and expenditures is, pursuant to RC 3517.12, applicable to a political committee which is organized solely for the advocacy of, or opposition to, a proposition or issue submitted to the voters.

OAG 65-162. The provision of RC 3517.11 barring a candidate who has failed to file a timely statement of expenses, as required by

RC 3517.10 and 3517.11, from seeking any office for a period of years, has no application to any person other than a candidate for office who so defaults.

The rate shall take into account the amount of space used, as well as the type of advertising copy submitted by or on behalf of the campaign committee. All discount privileges otherwise offered by a newspaper or periodical to general rate advertisers shall be available upon equal terms to all campaign committees.

(1) Legitimate and verifiable prior campaign expenses incurred by the beneficiary;

(2) Legitimate and verifiable, ordinary, and necessary prior expenses incurred by the beneficiary in connection with duties as the holder of a public office, including, without limitation, expenses incurred through participation in nonpartisan or bipartisan events where the participation of the holder of a public office would normally be expected;

(3) Legitimate and verifiable ordinary and necessary prior expenses incurred by the beneficiary while:

(a) Engaged in activities in support of or opposition to a candidate other than the beneficiary, political party, or ballot issue;

(b) Raising funds for a political party, political action committee, campaign committee, or other candidate;

(c) Participating in the activities of a political party, political action committee, or campaign committee; or

(d) Attending a political party convention or other political meeting.

For purposes of this division, an expense is incurred whenever a beneficiary has either made payment or is obligated to make payment, as by the use of a credit card or other credit procedure or by the use of goods or services received on account.

(P) No beneficiary of a campaign fund shall knowingly accept, and no person shall knowingly give to the beneficiary of a campaign fund, reimbursement for an expense under division (O) of this section to the extent that the expense previously was reimbursed or paid from another source of funds. If an expense is reimbursed under division (O) of this section and is later paid or reimbursed, wholly or in part, from another source of funds, the beneficiary shall repay the reimbursement received under division (O) of this section to the extent of the payment made or reimbursement received from the other source.

(Q) No candidate or public official or employee shall accept for personal or business use anything of value from a political party, political action committee, or campaign committee other than the candidate's or public official or employee's own campaign committee, and no person shall knowingly give to a candidate or public official or employee anything of value from a political party, political action committee, or such a campaign committee, except for the following:

(1) Reimbursement for legitimate and verifiable, ordinary, and necessary prior expenses not otherwise prohibited by law incurred by the candidate or public official or employee while engaged in any legitimate activity of the political party, political action committee, or such campaign committee. Without limitation, reimbursable expenses under this division include those incurred while:

(a) Engaged in activities in support of or opposition to another candidate, political party, or ballot issue;

(b) Raising funds for a political party, campaign committee, or another candidate; or

(c) Attending a political party convention or other political meeting.

(2) Compensation not otherwise prohibited by law for actual and valuable personal services rendered under a written contract to the political party, political action committee, or such campaign committee for any legitimate activity of the political party, political action committee, or such campaign committee.

Reimbursable expenses under this division do not include, and it is a violation of this division for a candidate or public official or employee to accept, or for any person to knowingly give to a candidate or public official or employee from a political party, political action committee, or campaign committee other than the candidate's or public official or employee's own campaign committee, anything of value for activities primarily related to the candidate's or public official or employee's own campaign for election, except for contributions to the candidate's or public official or employee's campaign committee.

For purposes of this division, an expense is incurred whenever a candidate or public official or employee has either made payment or is obligated to make payment, as by the use of a credit card or other credit procedure, or by the use of goods or services on account.

(R)(1) Division (O) or (P) of this section does not prohibit a campaign committee from making direct advance or post payment from contributions to vendors for goods and services for which reimbursement is permitted under division (O) of this section, except that no campaign committee shall pay its candidate or other beneficiary for services personally performed by the candidate or other beneficiary.

(2) When any expense that may be reimbursed under division (O), (P), or (Q) of this section is part of other expenses that may not be paid or reimbursed, the separation of the two types of expenses for the purpose of allocating for payment or reimbursement those expenses that may be paid or reimbursed may be by any reasonable accounting method, considering all of the surrounding circumstances.

(3) For purposes of divisions (O), (P), and (Q) of this section, mileage allowance at a rate not greater than that allowed by the internal revenue service at the time the travel occurs may be paid instead of reimbursement for actual travel expenses allowable.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

1. Constitutional issues
2. Definitions of terms
3. Controls on use of campaign funds
4. Restrictions on awarding of contracts

1. Constitutional issues

26 Misc 47, 265 NE(2d) 345 (CP, Cuyahoga 1970), In re Metzenbaum. RC 3517.13 purports to assign powers of the executive department of state government to the judiciary and is unconstitutional and void. (Annotation from former RC 3517.13.)

2. Definitions of terms

Elections Op 89-3. Under RC 3517.13, campaign funds may be used to pay for furniture for the office of a public officeholder, so long as the expenditures serve a purpose related to performance of the duties of the officeholder and are reasonable in cost and form.

Elections Op 86-4. That an officeholder's campaign committee "returns" the portion of a contribution in excess of $1000 does not change the fact that the contribution was made and received for purposes of RC 3517.13.

Elections Op 86-1. Since the terms "board" and "commission" are used in RC Ch 3517 but are not defined there or in any other generally applicable section of the Revised Code, the Ohio elections commission will follow the definitions given by Black's Law Dictionary.

Elections Op 86-1. Whether a group of individuals constitutes a "board" or "commission" depends not on the name assigned to it, but on the nature of its authority and the manner of its exercise; the Ohio building authority is a "board" or "commission" of public officers because (1) it is created by statute, (2) it is empowered to perform essential state duties, (3) its members may act only as a group, and (4) the members are not subordinate to the governor but appointed for fixed terms, and are removable only for cause.

3. Controls on use of campaign funds

424 US 1, 96 SCt 612, 46 LEd(2d) 659 (1976), Buckley v Valeo. Provisions of federal campaign act limiting individual contributions to political campaigns and requiring their disclosure upheld; however, expenditures by or on behalf of a candidate cannot be limited without abridging First Amendment rights.

OAG 74-087. Neither O Const Art II §28, nor any other constitutional provision prohibits the elections commission from taking jurisdiction of an alleged violation of the election laws which occurred prior to the effective date of 1974 S 46, which established the commission.

Bd of Commrs on Grievances & Discipline Op 88-017 (8-12-88). Nothing in the code of judicial conduct forbids the campaign committee of a judge or a candidate for judge to contribute to other candidates for public office, regardless of whether the individual who has the committee is seeking election in the year the contribution is made; a judicial candidate may contribute to his own political party, however, only in the years that he is not a candidate.

Elections Op 91-1. A public officeholder may not use campaign funds to pay administrative and travel expenses relating to participation in an exchange program when the purposes of that program are not truly related to the performance of the officeholder's public duties.

Elections Op 90-4. A candidate who files a complaint with the Ohio elections commission regarding a matter related to his campaign may use his or her campaign funds to pay legitimate legal expenses incurred in filing the complaint.

Elections Op 88-1. An individual who wants to be a candidate for public office may use campaign funds to pay for legal counsel to determine his right to appear on the ballot.

Elections Op 87-15. A candidate may use campaign funds to pay legal fees incurred defending himself against charges brought before the Ohio elections commission; a political party or political action committee may also pay these fees.

Elections Op 87-14. A state representative may use funds from his campaign committee for the expense of a bona fide fact-finding journey outside the country to gather information on matters that are or may be the subjects of legislation.

Elections Op 87-13. Pursuant to RC 3517.13(O), campaign funds may be used to pay for: (1) gifts for employees of an officeholder (e.g., birthdays, weddings, and retirements); (2) flowers given due to the illness or death of an employee or employee's family member; (3) Christmas cards sent to an officeholder's staff and campaign contributors; (4) Christmas parties for an officeholder's staff; and (5) an officeholder's inauguration party, so long as such expenditures are reasonable in cost and form and relevant to a campaign or the duties of the office.

Elections Op 87-12. A state representative may use his campaign fund to pay the cost of a video camera to be used to influence legislation and in connection with his campaign for election.

Elections Op 87-12. The purchase of a video camera for use in an election campaign may be made directly from campaign funds, if the camera will be used exclusively for purposes set forth in RC 3517.13(O); if the camera will also be used for other purposes, then a percentage of the cost may be paid directly from campaign funds to the extent it is possible to determine with reasonable certainty the percentage of time the camera will be used for statutory purposes. Otherwise, campaign funds may be used only to reimburse the candidate, officeholder, or other person who purchased the camera in an amount equal to the proportionate usage of the camera for purposes specified in RC 3517.13(O).

Elections Op 87-9. A public officeholder cannot use campaign funds to pay for legal counsel to defend himself against criminal charges of tampering with records, theft in office, falsification, and bribery.

Elections Op 87-6. A candidate or public officer may pay for an automotive telephone with campaign funds where the telephone is used solely for the purposes set forth in RC 3517.13(O); where the telephone is used in part for other purposes, the individual can be reimbursed for an amount reflecting the cost of use for purposes stated in the statute, but cannot be paid directly from campaign funds.

Elections Op 87-4. A state representative may pay another individual from campaign funds for secretarial services legitimately related to the representative's campaign or duties as a state representative.

Elections Op 87-3. Campaign funds may be used to pay the expenses of purchasing or leasing and operating a car only to the extent the car is used for the purposes set forth in RC 3517.13(O) or other purposes authorized by the Revised Code, by reimbursement to the beneficiary of the campaign fund or by direct payments to vendors. In lieu of reimbursement for actual expenses, or if the car is also used for purposes not authorized by the Revised Code, a beneficiary of a campaign fund may be reimbursed for authorized uses on a per mile basis at a rate not to exceed that permitted by the internal revenue service at the time of the travel.

Elections Op 87-3. If an expense, previously paid or reimbursed from campaign funds, is later paid or reimbursed from another source, including a governmental entity, the amount previously paid or reimbursed must be refunded to the campaign fund.

Elections Op 87-3. For purposes of reimbursing car expenses from campaign funds, recordkeeping should include the date of travel, point of origin, destination, number of miles traveled, travel purpose and the odometer readings at the beginning and end of a reimbursement period.

Elections Op 87-3. Car expenses for campaign travel may be shared by two campaign funds, but car expenses for travel related to the performance of official duties may not be shared by two officeholders' campaign funds.

4. Restrictions on awarding of contracts

OAG 83-034. RC 3517.13(J) does not operate to prohibit the department of development from awarding a contract to a corporation in a situation in which the spouse of an owner of more than twenty per cent of the corporation (who had been an owner for the two previous calendar years), within the two previous calendar years, made a contribution in excess of one thousand dollars to a candidate for governor who subsequently became governor, or to such individual's campaign committee.

OAG 83-034. The governor does not have "ultimate responsibility" for the awarding of a contract by the department of development, as that term is used in RC 3517.13(J).

OAG 83-034. A contract for personal services may be let by competitive bidding, absent applicable statutory provisions, if reasonable action is taken to provide all qualified persons with the opportunity to submit proposals, and if the contract is awarded on the basis of the merit of the proposals.

OAG 83-034. RC 3517.13(J) does not apply to contracts which are let by competitive bidding.

OAG 83-034. RC 3517.13(J), which prohibits an agency or department of the state or any political subdivision from awarding contracts in certain instances, applies only if a contribution in excess of one thousand dollars was made to the holder of a public office or to such person's campaign committee, and not if such a contribution was made to an individual, or to the campaign committee of an individual, who was merely a candidate for public office, and not the holder of a public office, at the time of the contribution.

Elections Op 88-2. For purposes of RC 3517.13(I) and 3517.13(J), contributions to a "federal nonconnected political committee" will also be considered contributions to the holder of a public office who (1) is closely identified with the committee, (2) influences decisions of the committee, and (3) benefits substantially from contributions received by the committee.

Elections Op 87-11. Under a method by which county contracts for unique or professional services are awarded that involves actual awarding of the contracts by a board of control, with a purely advisory role reserved for the county executive and department heads, the office of the county executive is not considered to have ultimate responsibility for the award of such contracts for purposes of divisions (I) and (J) of RC 3517.13.

Elections Op 87-8. Contributions to a campaign for federal office conducted by a state or local officeholder are to be considered in determining whether RC 3517.13 forbids a contract award by an agency, department, or subdivision for whose contracts the officeholder has ultimate responsibility; the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, 2 USC 453, does not preempt RC 3517.13(I) or 3517.13(J).

Elections Op 87-5. The words "two previous calendar years" in RC 3517.13 mean the two preceding periods of January 1 through December 31; thus, the "two . . . years" previous to June 1986 are 1985 and 1984 in their entirety, not June 1984 to June 1985 and June 1985 to June 1986.

Elections Op 87-5. In a county having a charter and a "county executive" as chief officer, where county contracts exceeding $500 are awarded by a board of control consisting of the executive, council president, prosecutor, engineer, and budget director, this board is among the "other such entities" referred to by RC 3517.13(M).

Elections Op 87-2. RC 3517.13(I) and 3517.13(J) are not applicable to provider agreements entered into by the Ohio department of health's bureau of crippled children's services, communicative and sensory disorders unit, and women, infants and children coupon merchants program so long as the department continues to administer these programs by entering into provider agreements with all qualified provider applicants.

Elections Op 86-5. Amended RC 3517.13(K), under which the governor is deemed ultimately responsible for the award of contracts by public officers he appointed, does not apply to contracts awarded to campaign contributors who gave money before September 17, 1986.

Elections Op 86-3. RC 3517.13(I) and 3517.13(J), which forbid the state and its political subdivisions to contract except after competitive bidding with certain contributors to the campaign of the official ultimately responsible for awarding the contract, do not apply to contracts "awarded" under RC 5111.21(A)(1), since the state's action in that regard is purely ministerial.

Elections Op 86-2. RC 3517.13(I) and 3517.13(J), which forbid state agencies and departments to contract except after competitive bidding with certain contributors to the campaign of the official ultimately responsible for awarding the contract, cannot apply to purchases of spirits by the department of liquor control, since it is required to either stock or order on request every brand of spirit available.

3517.14 Elections commission; appointment; terms; compensation; conflict of interest; meetings; staff provided

(A) There is hereby created the Ohio elections commission consisting of five members, four of whom shall be appointed by the secretary of state with the advice and consent of the senate. Of the initial appointments by the secretary of state to the commission, one shall be for a term ending July 23, 1975, one shall be for a term ending July 23, 1976, one shall be for a term ending July 23, 1977, and one shall be for a term ending July 23, 1978. Thereafter, terms of office shall be for five years, each term ending on the same day of the same month of the year as did the term which it succeeds. The length of the term of office of each of the secretary of state's initial appointees to membership on the commission shall be determined by lot at the initial organizational meeting of the commission.

(B) In making the initial appointments to the commission, the secretary of state shall appoint two persons each from a list of five names submitted by the chairmen of the state central committee of each of the two political parties having the highest total vote cast at the previous election for the office of governor. The four members of the commission so appointed shall by a majority vote appoint a fifth member who is to serve as a member and as chairman of the commission for five years from July 23, 1974. Thereafter, the term of office of the chairman of the commission shall be for five years, each term ending on the same day of the same month of the year as did the term which it succeeds.

(C) Each member of the commission shall hold office from the date of his appointment until the end of the term for which he was appointed. Any member appointed to fill a vacancy occurring prior to the expiration of the term for which his predecessor was appointed shall hold office for the remainder of such term. Any member shall continue in office subsequent to the expiration date of his term until his successor takes office, or until a period of sixty days has elapsed, whichever occurs first.

(D) A vacancy in the Ohio elections commission may be caused by death, resignation, or three absences from commission meetings in a calendar year, provided such absences are caused by reasons declared insufficient by a majority vote of the remaining members of the commission. Any vacancy in the position of chairman of the commission shall be filled by a majority vote of the four other appointed members of the commission. Upon any other vacancy occurring on the commission, the secretary of state shall appoint a successor from a list of five names submitted by the chairman of the central committee of the political party from whose list of names the member being replaced was appointed.

(E) Each member of the commission while in the performance of the business of the commission shall be entitled to receive compensation at the rate of fifty dollars per day and shall be reimbursed for expenses actually and necessarily incurred in the performance of his duties.

(F) No member of the commission shall serve more than one full term.

(G) No person may hold or be a candidate for any public office or serve on a committee supporting or opposing any issue or proposition at the time he takes office or during the time he serves as a member of the commission.

(H) The commission shall meet at the call of the chairman or upon the written request of a majority of the members. The commission shall adopt rules for its procedures. A majority of the members constitutes a quorum. No action shall be taken without the concurrence of a majority of the members.

(I) The secretary of state shall provide such technical, professional, and clerical employees as are necessary, and any funding that is necessary, for the commission to carry out its duties.

POLITICAL PARTY FUND

3517.16 Deposit of moneys into fund

There is hereby created in the state treasury the Ohio political party fund. All moneys received as a result of individuals exercising the checkoff option on their state income tax returns provided for in section 5747.081 of the Revised Code shall be deposited in this fund. The tax commissioner shall pay money from the fund only to political parties qualifying for it under division (B) of section 3517.17 of the Revised Code.

3517.17 Division of moneys in fund among political parties

(A) At the beginning of each calendar quarter, moneys that have accrued in the Ohio political party fund during the previous quarter shall be divided equally among all qualified political parties in the following manner. Of the public moneys to which a party is entitled:

(1) One-half shall be paid to the treasurer of the state executive committee of the party;

(2) One-half shall be distributed to the treasurer of each county executive committee of the various counties in accordance with the ratio that the number of checkoffs in each county bears to the total number of checkoffs, as determined by the tax commissioner.

Each party treasurer receiving public moneys from the Ohio political party fund shall maintain such moneys in an account separate from all other assets of the political party and shall file statements of contributions and expenditures as required by sections 3517.10 and 3517.11 of the Revised Code. Each treasurer of a state executive committee who files such a statement shall file it with the secretary of state and each treasurer of a county executive committee who files such a statement shall file it with the appropriate board of elections. All such statements filed shall clearly indicate the amounts of public moneys received and the manner of their expenditure. The auditor of state shall annually audit the statements of the state committee of a political party that has received public moneys collected during the previous year, to ascertain that such moneys are expended in accordance with law. The auditor of state shall audit the statements of each county committee of such a political party at the time of the public office audit of that county under Chapter 117. of the Revised Code.

(B) Only major political parties, as defined in section 3501.01 of the Revised Code, may apply for public moneys from the Ohio political party fund. At the end of each even-numbered calendar year the secretary of state shall announce the names of all such political parties, indicating that they may apply to receive such moneys during the ensuing two years. Any political party named at this time may, not later than the last day of January of the ensuing odd-numbered year, make application with the tax commissioner to receive public moneys. No political party that fails to make a timely application shall receive public moneys during that two-year period. The tax commissioner shall prescribe an appropriate application form. Moneys from the fund shall be provided during the appropriate two-year period to each political party that makes a timely application in accordance with this division.

3517.18 Purposes for which moneys from fund may be used by political parties

(A) A political party receiving moneys from the Ohio political party fund may expend the moneys only for the following purposes:

(1) The defraying of operating and maintenance costs associated with political party headquarters, including rental or leasing costs, staff salaries, office equipment and supplies, postage, and the purchase, lease, or maintenance of computer hardware and software;

(2) The organization of voter registration programs and get-out-the-vote campaigns;

(3) The administration of party fund-raising drives;

(4) Paid advertisements in the electronic or printed media, sponsored jointly by two or more qualified political parties, to publicize the Ohio political party fund and to encourage taxpayers to support the income tax checkoff program;

(5) Direct mail campaigns or other communications with the registered voters of a party that are not related to any particular candidate or election;

(6) The preparation of reports required by law.

(B) Moneys from the Ohio political party fund shall not be used for any of the following purposes:

(1) To further the election or defeat of any particular candidate or to influence directly the outcome of any candidate or issue election;

(2) To pay party debts incurred as the result of any election;

(3) To make a payment clearly in excess of the market value of that which is received for the payment.

(C) Any designated agent of a political party receiving moneys from the Ohio political party fund may, if there is a question about the legitimacy of a party expenditure of public moneys, ask the Ohio elections commission for an advisory opinion on the matter prior to making such an expenditure. The commission shall afford the highest priority to such a request.

486 US 414, 108 SCt 1886, 100 LEd(2d) 425 (1988), Meyer v Grant. A state law making the payment of money to people circulating petitions needed to put a proposed constitutional amendment on the general election ballot abridges the right to engage in political speech secured by the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the federal constitution. (Ed. note: Colorado statute construed in light of federal constitution.)

PETITION COMMITTEE; PETITION APPROVAL

3519.01 Attorney general's approval of petition required; duties of secretary of state regarding petitions

(A) Whoever seeks to propose a law or constitutional amendment by initiative petition shall, by a written petition signed by one hundred qualified electors, submit the proposed law or constitutional amendment and a summary of it to the attorney general for examination. If in the opinion of the attorney general the summary is a fair and truthful statement of the proposed law or constitutional amendment, he shall so certify. A verified copy of the proposed law or constitutional amendment, together with the summary and the attorney general's certification, shall then be filed with the secretary of state.

(B)(1) Whoever seeks to file a referendum petition against any law, section, or item in any law shall, by a written petition signed by one hundred qualified electors, submit the measure to be referred and a summary of it to the secretary of state and, on the same day or within one business day before or after that day, submit a copy of the petition, measure, and summary to the attorney general.

(2) Not later than ten business days after receiving the petition, measure, and summary, the secretary of state shall do both of the following:

(a) Have the validity of the signatures on the petition verified;

(b) After comparing the text of the measure to be referred with the copy of the enrolled bill on file in his office containing the law, section, or item of law, determine whether the text is correct and, if it is, so certify.

(3) Not later than ten business days after receiving a copy of the petition, measure, and summary, the attorney general shall examine the summary and, if in his opinion the summary is a fair and truthful statement of the measure to be referred, so certify.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

1. Constitutional issues
2. In general

1. Constitutional issues

No. 87AP-596 (10th Dist Ct App, Franklin, 6-28-88), State ex rel Alexander v Brown. The right of referendum granted by O Const Art II §1c is not infringed by the circumstance that the time to obtain signatures on the referendum petition is reduced by the time the attorney general and secretary of state use performing their duties under RC 3519.01 and 3519.05.

2. In general

51 OS(2d) 169, 365 NE(2d) 887 (1977), State ex rel Barren v Brown. Mandamus would lie to compel attorney general to certify that summary of legislation in referendum petition was a fair and truthful statement of the measures to be referred; whether the matters in the petition are subject to referendum is irrelevant to the attorney general's certification of the summary.

32 OS(2d) 4, 288 NE(2d) 821 (1972), State ex rel Schwartz v Brown. By virtue of the provisions of O Const Art II §1a and 1g, the terms of a proposed constitutional amendment are determined by reference to the text of such proposal as contained on the initiative petition and part-petitions signed by the requisite number of electors; and any discrepancy between such text and the text of the preliminary petition submitted to the attorney general and filed with the secretary of state, under RC 3519.01, does not affect the duty of the secretary of state, prescribed in O Const Art II §1a, to submit such a proposal to the vote of the electorate if such proposal has been signed by ten per cent of the electorate.

29 OS(2d) 235, 281 NE(2d) 187 (1972), State ex rel Tulley v Brown. Where attorney general has advised proponents of constitutional amendment that he finds the summary of proposed amendment to be sufficient, mandamus will lie to compel attorney general so to certify it.

165 OS 495, 137 NE(2d) 749 (1956), State ex rel Lautz v Diefenbach. Where a city charter provides that the city council shall fix the compensation of all city employees, an ordinance fixing the working hours and compensation of the division of police is not properly submissible under initiative and referendum provisions.

51 App(3d) 26, 554 NE(2d) 125 (Franklin 1988), State ex rel Alexander v Brown. In election cases, time is a critical factor and extreme diligence and promptness are required to assert an alleged violation of the state's election laws.

63 App(2d) 125, 409 NE(2d) 1044 (1979), State ex rel Durell v Celebrezze. Where the attorney general of Ohio determines that the summary of a second initiative petition qualifies for certification to the secretary of state under RC 3519.01 and submits such with a copy of the signatures obtained on the first petition, procedural error by the attorney general in so doing does not affect the validity of part-petitions which are thereafter circulated and filed with the secretary of state in reliance upon the attorney general's certification.

OAG 72-010. The summary of proposed constitutional amendment (O Const Art XII §8) does not contain a fair and truthful statement of proposed amendment because it is not a fair, accurate and clear summary of amendment and does not contain an explanation of character and effect of proposed amendment as required by RC 3519.01.

3519.02 Committee for petitioners

The petitioners shall designate in any initiative, referendum, or supplementary petition and on each of the several parts of such petition a committee of not less than three nor more than five of their number who shall represent them in all matters relating to such petitions. Notice of all matters or proceedings pertaining to such petitions may be served on said committee, or any of them, either personally or by registered mail, or by leaving such notice at the usual place of residence of each of them.

63 OS(2d) 326, 410 NE(2d) 1249 (1980), State ex rel Carter v Celebrezze. Initiative petitions for constitutional amendment rejected where one sentence of existing language was inadvertently omitted from the text of the proposed amendment which accompanied some of the petitions.

63 App(2d) 125, 409 NE(2d) 1044 (1979), State ex rel Durell v Celebrezze. Where the attorney general of Ohio determines that the summary of a second initiative petition qualifies for certification to the secretary of state under RC 3519.01 and submits such with a copy of the signatures obtained on the first petition, procedural error by the attorney general in so doing does not affect the validity of part-petitions which are thereafter circulated and filed with the secretary of state in reliance upon the attorney general's certification.

25 Misc 104, 266 NE(2d) 275 (CP, Clermont 1970), Sidwell v Clepper. Original petitions for referendum on township zoning act do not require appointment of a committee to serve on behalf of signers of petitions.

3519.03 Committee to prepare arguments

The committee named in an initiative petition may prepare the argument or explanation, or both, in favor of the measure proposed and the committee named in a referendum petition may prepare the argument or explanation, or both, against any law, section, or item of law. The persons who prepare the argument or explanation, or both, in opposition to the initiated proposal, or the argument or explanation, or both, in favor of the measure to be referred shall be named by the general assembly, if in session, and if not in session, then by the governor. Such argument or explanation, or both, shall not exceed three hundred words, and shall be filed with the secretary of state at least seventy-five days prior to the date of the election at which the measure is to be voted upon.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

52 OS(2d) 7, 368 NE(2d) 837 (1977), State ex rel Glass v Brown. Prohibition will not lie to prohibit the secretary of state from placing a proposed constitutional amendment on the ballot.

48 OS(2d) 17, 356 NE(2d) 296 (1976), State ex rel O'Grady v Brown. The placing of issues on ballots and tabulating the votes cast thereon do not constitute the exercise of quasi-judicial power by the secretary of state, and therefore prohibition will not lie to prevent such action.

138 OS 574, 37 NE(2d) 584 (1941), Bigelow v Brumley. Whether persons officially appointed by governor or general assembly, under O Const Art II §1g, and GC 4785-180a and 4785-180b (RC 3519.03, 3519.19), to prepare official argument to be distributed by secretary of state to electors of state, in opposition to proposed "Bigelow Amendments" to Ohio Constitution, be absolutely privileged against liability for defamation for statement made in argument, and pertinent to occasion of privilege, that sponsor of proposed amendments was "paid lobbyist for Single Tax Movement," such absolute privilege does not extend to person who enjoys no such official capacity, but is only alleged to have conspired with official appointees to defame plaintiff by combining with official appointees in preparation of argument published over names of appointees.

138 OS 574, 37 NE(2d) 584 (1941), Bigelow v Brumley. Statement in official argument opposing proposed constitutional amendment, that sponsor of amendment is "paid lobbyist for Single Tax Movement" is not defamatory per se.

3519.04 Estimate of proposed annual expenditures and annual yield of proposed taxes

Upon receipt of the verified copy of a proposed state law or constitutional amendment proposing the levy of any tax or involving a matter which will necessitate the expenditure of any funds of the state or any political subdivision thereof, the secretary of state shall request of the tax commissioner an estimate of any annual expenditure of public funds proposed and the annual yield of any proposed taxes. The tax commissioner on receipt of such request shall prepare the estimate and file it in the office of the secretary of state. The secretary of state shall distribute copies of such estimate with the pamphlets prescribed in section 3519.19 of the Revised Code.

By virtue of the provisions of O Const Art II §1a and 1g, the terms of a proposed constitutional amendment are determined by reference to the text of such proposal as contained on the initiative petition and part-petitions signed by the requisite number of electors; and any discrepancy between such text and the text of the preliminary petition submitted to the attorney general and filed with the secretary of state, under 3519.01, does not affect the duty of the secretary of state, prescribed in O Const Art II, § 1a, to submit such a proposal to the vote of the electorate if such proposal has been signed by ten percent of the electorate.

31 OS(2d) 188, 287 NE(2d) 630 (1972), State ex rel Tulley v Brown. There is no duty on the part of the secretary of state to transmit improperly verified part-petitions to boards of elections, and prohibition will not lie to prevent the boards from determining the validity of signatures of part-petitions.

124 OS 24, 176 NE 664 (1931), State ex rel Hubbell v Bettman. An initiated petition may propose several separate and distinct amendments to the Constitution of Ohio, even though they do not all relate to the same subject-matter, provided the same are so separated and distinguished from each other in the petitions that the electors may appreciate and understand that they are proposing distinct and unrelated propositions, and further provided that when the same are printed upon the ballot the individual voters may vote separately upon each separate proposal.

51 App(3d) 26, 554 NE(2d) 125 (Franklin 1988), State ex rel Alexander v Brown. In election cases, time is a critical factor and extreme diligence and promptness are required to assert an alleged violation of the state's election laws.

63 App(2d) 125, 409 NE(2d) 1044 (1979), State ex rel Durell v Celebrezze. Where the attorney general of Ohio determines that the summary of a second initiative petition qualifies for certification to the secretary of state under RC 3519.01 and submits such with a copy of the signatures obtained on the first petition, procedural error by the attorney general in so doing does not affect the validity of part-petitions which are thereafter circulated and filed with the secretary of state in reliance upon the attorney general's certification.

1930 OAG 1854. Before the attorney general may execute the certificates provided in statute, to be printed upon an initiative or referendum petition, there should be submitted to him a petition signed by one hundred or more qualified electors of the state requesting such certifications.

1930 OAG 1626. Under this section, the synopsis of an amendment or law, together with the attorney general's certification thereof, should be printed on each part of an initiative or referendum petition in capital letters.

1930 OAG 1626. Notice of the penalty for falsely signing an initiative or referendum petition should, under statute, be printed in red immediately above the place for signatures upon each part of such petition, and such notice need be printed in no other place thereon.

1930 OAG 1499. In the event an initiative petition proposing an amendment to the Constitution has been circulated in the year 1929, and a number of signatures then secured thereto, such signatures if secured in accordance with the laws then in force and effect may be considered sufficient and counted in determining the requisite number of signatures upon such petition when filed in 1930.

3519.06 Verification of part-petition

No initiative or referendum part-petition is properly verified if it appears on the face thereof, or is made to appear by satisfactory evidence:

(A) That the statement required by section 3519.05 of the Revised Code is not properly filled out;

(B) That the statement is not properly signed;

(C) That the statement is altered by erasure, interlineation, or otherwise;

(D) That the statement is false in any respect;

(E) That any one person has affixed more than one signature thereto.

3519.10 Signer must be qualified elector; information to be given; each petition to contain signatures of electors of only one county

Each signer of any initiative or referendum petition must be a qualified elector of the state. He shall place on such petition after his name the date of signing and the location of his voting residence, including the street and number in which such voting residence is located, if in a municipal corporation, and the rural route or other post-office address and township in which such voting residence is located, if outside a municipal corporation. Petitions containing signatures of electors of more than one county shall not thereby be declared invalid. In case petitions containing signatures of electors of more than one county are filed, the secretary of state shall determine the county from which the majority of signatures came, and only signatures from such county shall be counted. The boards shall make note opposite such signatures and submit a report to the secretary of state indicating the sufficiency or insufficiency of such signatures and indicating whether or not each part-petition is properly verified, eliminating, for the purpose of such report, all signatures on any part-petition that are not properly verified.

In determining the sufficiency of such a petition, only the signatures of those persons shall be counted who are electors at the time the boards examine the petition.

136 OS 1, 22 NE(2d) 907 (1939), State ex rel Herbert v Mitchell. Secretary of state has authority to reject part of petition not verified as required by O Const Art II §1g.

29 App(2d) 133, 279 NE(2d) 624 (1971), Durell v Brown. If there are sufficient presumptively valid signatures in an initiative petition meeting the requirements of Const Art II §1, there is an absolute duty on the secretary of state to certify the petition to the general assembly irrespective of whether it can be proved that in some way some or all of the signatures contained in the initiative petition are invalid.

No. 87AP-933 (10th Dist Ct App, Franklin, 6-7-88), In re Protest on Behalf of Issue III, Merit Selection of Judges; reversed by 49 OS(3d) 102 (1990). The signers of an initiative petition, who were as of the date of signature registered voters on the permanent list of the Franklin county board of elections, were eligible to sign the initiative petition despite the fact that they listed Franklin county residence addresses different than that found on the permanent registration list.

OAG 72-082. The filing of additional signatures, after an initial finding and notification of insufficient signatures by the secretary of state, does not cause the postponement of the issue to a later election.

OAG 72-082. As a matter of practice, the secretary of state may find, and give notice of insufficient signatures on an original petition, proposing a constitutional amendment under O Const Art II §1a and 1g, at any time reports from the counties are received by him and he is able to determine the insufficiency, but in no event may he make a general finding of insufficiency later than the fortieth day prior to the election, at which the issue is to appear on the ballot.

OAG 67-039. RC 3517.01 requires that the signatures on the petition be examined and certified in the same manner as referendum petitions and it does not require full compliance with all of the statutes in RC Ch 3519.

1939 OAG 1203. If total number of valid signatures to referendum petition is less than the number required by the Constitution, the secretary of state may not transmit the petition or any parts thereof to the various boards of elections.

1939 OAG 1203. With respect to a referendum petition the secretary of state may not reject and must consider valid (a) all signatures which appear on a part-petition where the signature on the circulator's affidavit is in different handwriting than that on the statement with respect to moneys received by the circulator; (b) all signatures which are dated later in point of time than the date of the circulator's affidavit; (c) the signatures of persons signing, who claim that the part-petition was not presented to them by the person who executed the circulator's affidavit; (d) the signatures of persons signing who claim that the circulator was not present when they signed the part-petition; (e) the signatures of all persons who claim they did not sign any petition.

1939 OAG 1203. When a referendum petition is filed with the secretary of state within ninety days after filing of a law by the governor in the office of the secretary of state, it is the duty of the secretary of state to ascertain whether or not such petition contains the required number of signatures valid on the face thereof, and in so doing he must reject (1) the names of all signers written in black or colored lead pencil; (2) all signatures which appear on a part-petition, where the affidavit attached to said part-petition was not signed by the circulator thereof; (3) all signatures which appear on a part-petition where the notary failed to sign his name on the circu-lator's affidavit; (4) all signatures which appear on a part-petition, where the circulator failed to sign his name on the statement of "what money, if any, he received for circulating the petition."

3519.16 Protest against board's findings; establishing of sufficiency or insufficiency of signatures; supplementary petition

If the circulator of any part-petition, the committee interested therein, or any elector files with the board of elections a protest against the board's findings made pursuant to section 3519.15 of the Revised Code, then the board shall proceed to establish the sufficiency or insufficiency of the signatures and of the verification thereof in an action before the court of common pleas in the county. Such action must be brought within three days after the protest has been filed, and the case shall be heard forthwith by a judge of such court whose decision shall be certified to the board. The signatures which are adjudged sufficient or the part-petitions which are adjudged properly verified shall be included with the others by the board, and those found insufficient and all those part-petitions which are adjudged not properly verified shall not be included. The properly verified part-petitions, together with the report of the board, shall be returned to the secretary of state not less than fifty days before the election, provided that in the case of an initiated law to be presented to the general assembly the boards shall promptly check and return the petitions together with their report. The secretary of state shall notify the chairman of the committee in charge of the circulation as to the sufficiency or insufficiency of the petition and the extent of the insufficiency. If the petition is found insufficient because of an insufficient number of valid signatures, such committee shall be allowed ten additional days after such notification by the secretary of state for the filing of additional signatures to such petition. The part-petitions of the supplementary petition which appear to the secretary of state to be properly verified, upon receipt thereof by the secretary of state, shall forthwith be forwarded to the boards of the several counties together with the part-petitions of the original petition which have been properly verified, and shall be immediately examined and passed upon as to the validity and sufficiency of the signatures thereon by each of such boards and returned within five days to the secretary of state with the boards' report. No signature on a supplementary part-petition which is the same as a signature on an original part-petition shall be counted. The number of signatures in both the original and supplementary petitions, properly verified, shall be used by the secretary of state in determining the total number of signatures to the petition which he shall record and announce. If they are sufficient, then such amendment, proposed law, or law shall be placed on the ballot as required by law. If the petition is found insufficient, the secretary of state shall notify the committee in charge of the circulation of the petition.

1950 OAG 1419. A petition seeking to initiate a proposed law is required to have valid signatures totaling three per cent of the total vote for governor at the last preceding general election and in addition must include names from forty-four counties from each of which there must be valid signatures equal to or exceeding one and one-half per cent of the total vote for governor in each county at the last preceding general election; where such a petition contains a requisite total number of valid signatures for the state as a whole but contains the required totals in only forty-three counties of the state, and the number of signatures from the forty-fourth county is below the legal minimum, such petition is insufficient and the secretary of state is required by law to give notice of such insufficiency and the extent thereof to the committee charged with the circulation of the petition.

1950 OAG 1419. Where a defect in the part-petitions from a particular county operates to reduce the number of sufficient signatures so that only in forty-three counties rather than forty-four are there the constitutional number of valid signatures and such deficiency arises from defects other than the number of valid signatures, the committee in charge of circulating such petition is not entitled to file additional signatures to cure such defects.

3519.21 Ballot title of propositions or issues

The order in which all propositions, issues, or questions, including proposed laws and constitutional amendments, shall appear on the ballot and the ballot title of all such propositions, issues, or questions shall be determined by the secretary of state in case of propositions to be voted upon in a district larger than a county, and by the board of elections in a county in the case of a proposition to be voted upon in a county or a political subdivision thereof. 165 OS 139, 133 NE(2d) 369 (1956), State ex rel Clampitt v Brown. As used in RC 3513.05, "most populous county of such district" refers to a county not wholly situated in the district where the portion in the district is most populous.

60 USLW 4279 (US 1992), United States Commerce Dept v Montana. The general principle in US Const Art I §2, that apportionment be according to the states "respective members," is constrained by the constitutional requirements that (1) the number of representatives not exceed one for each 30,000 people, (2) each state have at least one representative, and (3) district boundaries not cross state lines, as well as constrained by the problem of fractional remainders that results when a state's total population is divided by the population of the "ideal district" and the remainder must either be disregarded or treated as if sufficient to have another representative; Congress does not have authority to choose any one of the alternative methods of apportionment since the issue is not a political question excluded from judicial review, but the present "Hill Method" of equal proportions is constitutionally adequate.

478 US 109, 106 SCt 2797, 92 LEd(2d) 85 (1986), Davis v Bandemer. That the manner in which electoral district boundaries are drawn diminishes one political party's likelihood of electing candidates in one election in proportion to the party's number of electors does not show the boundaries violate US Const Am 14. (Ed. note: Indiana law construed in light of federal constitution.)

478 US 109, 106 SCt 2797, 92 LEd(2d) 85 (1986), Davis v Bandemer. Whether the boundaries of electoral districts are drawn in a manner favoring one political party is a question raising an issue of equal protection of the laws under US Const Am 14 and accordingly may be considered by federal courts. (Ed. note: Indiana law construed in light of federal constitution.)

462 US 725, 103 SCt 2653, 77 LEd(2d) 133 (1983), Karcher v Daggett. To provide the equal representation called for by US Const Art I §2 congressional districts must be apportioned to be as equal in population as is practicable, and no variation in population that could be avoided in a practical manner is tolerable; the fact a deviation from the ideal size for a district is less than the predictable "undercount" in census figures does not justify consideration of the deviation as the "functional equivalent of zero," because the census count is the only reliable, if imperfect, measure of district population. (Ed note: New Jersey statute construed in light of federal constitution.)

775 FSupp 1044 (ND Ohio 1991), Armour v Ohio. Under the Voting Rights Act of 1965, 42 USC 1973, a politically cohesive and geographically compact minority population cannot be divided between two single-member districts in which the minority bloc vote will consistently be minimized by white bloc voting merely because the minority population is not more than half of the single district's population.

561 FSupp 36 (SD Ohio 1982), Flanagan v Gillmor. If the general assembly uses the location of racial groups as a factor in drawing congressional districts an inference of purposeful discrimination could be drawn, but mere awareness of the location and size of racial and ethnic populations does not make division of a racial or ethnic community discrimination, absent a showing part of the reason for the division was an invidiously discriminatory motive or intent.

305 FSupp 269, 24 Misc 185 (SD Ohio 1969), Heiser v Rhodes. Candidate for state board of education was not entitled to have his name placed on ballot even if apportionment of membership was invalid.

Such appointee shall hold office until the fifteenth day of December next succeeding the next regular state election which occurs more than one hundred eighty days after such vacancy happens. At such next regular state election a special election to fill such vacancy shall be held, provided, that when the unexpired term ends within one year immediately following the date of such regular state election, an election to fill such unexpired term shall not be held and the appointment shall be for the unexpired term. The special election shall be governed in all respects by the laws controlling regular state elections for such office. Candidates to be voted for at such special election shall be nominated in the same manner as is provided for the nomination of candidates at regular state elections.

At least one hundred eighty days prior to the date of such regular state election, the governor shall issue a writ directing that a special election be held to fill such vacancy as provided in this section. Such writ shall be directed to the secretary of state and a copy thereof sent by mail to the board of elections of each county in the state which shall give notice of the time and place of holding such special election in the same manner and at the same time provided in section 3501.03 of the Revised Code for giving similar notice for regular elections.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

3523.01 Amendment to constitution of United States

Whenever congress proposes an amendment to the constitution of the United States, and proposes that it be ratified by conventions in the several states, the governor shall fix, by proclamation, the date of an election for the purpose of electing the delegates to such convention. Such election may either be at a special election or may be held at the same time as a general election, but shall be held at least as soon as the next general election occurring more than three months after the amendment has been proposed by congress.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

127 OS 104, 186 NE 918 (1933), State ex rel Donnelly v Myers. An act of the state legislature setting up the machinery by which a convention may be assembled to take final action to ratify or reject an amendment to the federal Constitution is not subject to referendum and the referendum provisions of the Ohio Constitution and laws are inapplicable. The calling of such convention is but a step necessary and incidental to the final action of the convention in registering the voice of the state upon the amendment proposed by the congress. The action of the legislature in performing this function rests upon the authority of US Const Art V. It is a federal function which in the absence of action by congress the state legislature is authorized to perform.

3523.02 Qualification of voters

At an election held for the purpose of electing delegates to a convention to ratify an amendment to the constitution of the United States, all persons qualified to vote for members of the general assembly shall be entitled to vote.

No. 88-C-54 (7th Dist Ct App, Columbiana, 3-30-89), Gosney v Bd of Elections. The investigation of elections is a discretionary function of a prosecutor; thus, there is no clear legal right to such an investigation and mandamus will not lie to compel such investigation.

29 Case WR L Rev 808 (Summer 1979). Corporate Spending on State and Local Referendums: First National Bank of Boston v. Bellotti, Gary Hart and William Shore.

63 OS(3d) 190 (1992), State ex rel Taft v Franklin County Court of Common Pleas. Since neither the secretary of state nor the elections commission has exclusive jurisdiction over alleged violations of RC 3599.03, a common pleas court may entertain a declaratory judgment action to determine whether an organization constitutes a political action committee.

169 OS 42, 157 NE(2d) 331 (1959), State ex rel Corrigan v Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. A corporation may lawfully contribute to a committee organized and conducted merely for the purposes of advocating the adoption of a constitutional amendment and the passage of bond issues and tax levies.

79 Abs 232, 152 NE(2d) 1 (App, Cuyahoga 1958), State ex rel Corrigan v Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co; reversed by 169 OS 42, 157 NE(2d) 331 (1959). Corporations may not contribute funds for the purpose of supporting or opposing issues of propositions submitted to the voters.

110 SCt 1391, 108 LEd(2d) 652 (1990), Austin v Michigan Chamber of Commerce. A state political campaign finance law that forbids corporations other than those owning news media to use general treasury funds for independent expenditures in connection with state candidate elections, while allowing such expenditures from segregated funds used solely for political purposes, does not violate US Const Am 1; moreover, neither the express exemption of "media corporations" nor the exclusion of unincorporated associations from coverage puts the statute in conflict with the Equal Protection Clause of US Const Am 14. (Ed. note: Michigan statute construed in light of federal constitution.)

1930 OAG 2055. Financial assistance by corporations to a committee appointed by the governor to conduct research work to report to the governor as to tax legislation, is not a violation of this section.

3599.031 Deduction of political contribution from employee's wages; written authorization required

(A) Notwithstanding any section of the Revised Code, any employer may deduct from the wages and salaries of its employees such amounts for the support of such candidates, separate segregated funds, political action committees, political parties, or ballot issues as the employee by written authorization may designate and shall transmit any amounts so deducted as the authorization shall direct. Any such authorization may be on a form that is used to apply for or authorize membership in or authorize payment of dues or fees to any organization. The employer may either deduct from the amount to be so transmitted a uniform amount determined by the employer to be necessary to defray the actual cost of making such deduction and transmittal, or may utilize its own funds in an amount it determines is necessary to defray the actual administrative cost, including making the deduction and transmittal.

(B) Any person who solicits an employee to authorize a deduction from his wages or salary pursuant to division (A) of this section shall inform the employee at the time of the solicitation that he may refuse to authorize a deduction without suffering any reprisal.

3599.09 Political communications must be identified; penalty

(A) No person shall write, print, post, or distribute, or cause to be written, printed, posted, or distributed, a notice, placard, dodger, advertisement, sample ballot, or any other form of general publication which is designed to promote the nomination or election or defeat of a candidate, or to promote the adoption or defeat of any issue, or to influence the voters in any election, or make an expenditure for the purpose of financing political communications through newspapers, magazines, outdoor advertising facilities, direct mailings, or other similar types of general public political advertising, or through flyers, handbills, or other nonperiodical printed matter, unless there appears on such form of publication in a conspicuous place or is contained within said statement the name and residence or business address of the chairman, treasurer, or secretary of the organization issuing the same, or the person who issues, makes, or is responsible therefor. The disclaimer "paid political advertisement" is not sufficient to meet the requirements of this division. When such publication is issued by the regularly constituted central or executive committee of a political party, organized as provided in Chapter 3517. of the Revised Code, it shall be sufficiently identified if it bears the name of the committee and its chairman or treasurer. No person, firm, or corporation shall print or reproduce any notice, placard, dodger, advertisement, sample ballot, or any other form of publication in violation of this section. This section does not apply to the transmittal of personal correspondence that is not reproduced by machine for general distribution.

The secretary of state may, by rule, exempt, from the requirements of this division, printed matter and certain other kinds of printed communications such as campaign buttons, balloons, pencils, or like items, the size or nature of which makes it unreasonable to add an identification or disclaimer. The disclaimer or identification, when paid for by a campaign committee, shall be identified by the words "paid for by" followed by the name and address of the campaign committee and the appropriate officer of the committee, identified by name and title.

(B) No person shall utter or cause to be uttered, over the broadcasting facilities of any radio or television station within this state, any communication which is designed to promote the nomination or election or defeat of a candidate, or the adoption or defeat of any issue or to influence the voters in any election, unless the speaker identifies himself with his name and residence address or unless such communication identifies the chairman, treasurer, or secretary of the organization responsible for the same with the name and residence or business address of such officer, except that communications by radio need not broadcast the residence or business address of such officer. However, a radio station shall, for a period of at least six months, keep the residence or business address on file and divulge it to any person upon request.

No person operating a broadcast station or any organ of printed media shall broadcast or print any paid political communication that does not contain the identification required by this section.

Division (B) of this section does not apply to any communications made on behalf of a radio or television station or network by any employee of such radio or television station or network while acting in the course of his employment.

No person shall use or cause to be used a false, fictitious, or fraudulent name or address in the making or issuing of a publication or communication included within the provisions of this section.

(C) No prosecution under this section shall commence until the procedures prescribed in division (C) of section 3599.091 of the Revised Code have been followed. If the commission finds a violation of division (A) or (B) of this section, it shall do only one of the following:

(1) Impose a fine not to exceed the fine specified pursuant to section 3517.991 of the Revised Code;

(2) Report its findings to the appropriate prosecuting authority, which shall institute such civil or criminal proceedings as are appropriate;

(3) Enter a finding that good cause has been shown for the commission not to impose a fine or report its findings to the appropriate prosecuting authority.

Any person adversely affected by the action of the commission under division (C)(1) of this section may appeal from such action in accordance with section 119.12 of the Revised Code.

(1) Serve, or place another person to serve, as an agent or employee in the election campaign organization of a candidate for the purpose of acting to impede the conduct of the candidate's campaign for nomination or election or of reporting information to the employee's employer or the agent's principal without the knowledge of the candidate or his organization;

(2) Promise, offer, or give any valuable thing or valuable benefit to any person who is employed by or is an agent of a candidate or his election campaign organization for the purpose of influencing the employee or agent with respect to the improper discharge of his campaign duties or to obtain information about the candidate or his campaign organization.

(B) No person, during the course of any campaign for nomination or election to public office or office of a political party, by means of campaign materials, including sample ballots, an advertisement on radio or television or in a newspaper or periodical, a public speech, press release, or otherwise, shall knowingly and with intent to affect the outcome of such campaign do any of the following:

(1) Use the title of an office not currently held by a candidate in a manner that implies that the candidate does currently hold that office or use the term "re-elect" when the candidate has never been elected at a primary, general, or special election to the office for which he is a candidate;

(2) Make a false statement concerning the formal schooling or training completed or attempted by a candidate; a degree, diploma, certificate, scholarship, grant, award, prize, or honor received, earned, or held by a candidate; or the period of time during which a candidate attended any school, college, community technical school, or institution;

(3) Make a false statement concerning the professional, occupational, or vocational licenses held by a candidate, or concerning any position the candidate held for which he received a salary or wages;

(4) Make a false statement that a candidate or public official has been indicted or convicted of a theft offense, extortion, or other crime involving financial corruption or moral turpitude;

(5) Make a statement that a candidate has been indicted for any crime or has been the subject of a finding by the Ohio elections commission without disclosing the outcome of any legal proceedings resulting from the indictment or finding;

(6) Make a false statement that a candidate or official has a record of treatment or confinement for mental disorder;

(7) Make a false statement that a candidate or official has been subjected to military discipline for criminal misconduct or dishonorably discharged from the armed services;

(8) Falsely identify the source of a statement, issue statements under the name of another person without authorization, or falsely state the endorsement of or opposition to a candidate by a person or publication;

(9) Make a false statement concerning the voting record of a candidate or public official;

(10) Post, publish, circulate, distribute, or otherwise disseminate a false statement, either knowing the same to be false or with reckless disregard of whether it was false or not, concerning a candidate that is designed to promote the election, nomination, or defeat of the candidate.

As used in this section, "voting record" means the recorded "yes" or "no" vote on a bill, ordinance, resolution, motion, amendment, or confirmation.

(C) Before any prosecution may commence, a complaint shall be presented to the Ohio elections commission by an affidavit of any person, made on personal knowledge and subject to the penalties for perjury, setting forth any violation of division (A) or (B) of this section. The commission shall proceed to investigate the charges made in the affidavit, and shall, whenever possible, complete the investigation of all matters before an election. The commission or a member of the commission may administer oaths, and the commission may issue and enforce subpoenas with regard to an investigation under this section in the same manner as provided in division (C) of section 3517.15 of the Revised Code. The commission shall issue copies of its findings to the committees or persons involved in its investigation.

(D)(1) If the commission finds that division (A) or (B) of this section has been violated, it shall do only one of the following:

(a) Impose a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars;

(b) Forthwith transmit a copy of its findings and the evidence to the prosecuting attorney of the appropriate county.

(2) Notwithstanding any provision of Chapters 1901., 1905., 1907., and 2931. of the Revised Code, the common pleas court has exclusive original jurisdiction over prosecutions under this section.

(3) Any person adversely affected by the action of the commission under division (D)(1)(a) of this section may appeal from such action in accordance with section 119.12 of the Revised Code.

(E) If the commission finds upon the preponderance of the evidence that the violation is a continuing one, or if it has reason to believe that recurrence of the violation is imminent, it may issue an order to cease and desist. The commission or the person who filed the affidavit, or the treasurer of the campaign committee of any candidate who filed an affidavit may bring an action for an injunction against any person violating or attempting to violate the order. Any person adversely affected by a cease and desist order of the commission may appeal as provided in section 119.12 of the Revised Code. No appeal, however, shall stay enforcement of a cease and desist order. In an action for injunction to enforce any final order of the commission brought pursuant to this section, the findings of the commission, after hearing, are prima-facie evidence of the facts found.

(F) In any action before the commission, if the allegations of the person who filed the affidavit are not proved, and the commission seeks neither civil nor criminal relief in court, the commission may find that the complaint is frivolous and order the complainant to pay costs. If so, the person filing the complaint may be required to pay such costs of the commission as would be assessed for the same service in a civil action before the court of common pleas. Such costs paid to the commission shall be deposited in the general revenue fund of the state. The commission shall provide each person under investigation, by mail or in person, prior to each meeting of the commission at which the person's presence is requested, a notice for the hearing, and shall supply to each person under investigation, prior to the person's first appearance before the commission, a statement of the legal rights and obligations of those under investigation by the commission.

(G) Whoever violates division (A) or (B) of this section is guilty of unfair campaign practices, a misdemeanor of the first degree.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

1. Constitutional issues
2. In general

1. Constitutional issues

27 App(3d) 65, 27 OBR 84, 499 NE(2d) 1255 (Geauga 1985), State v Davis. RC 3599.091(B)(10), which prohibits certain false statements in an election campaign, is constitutional.

61 App(2d) 25, 399 NE(2d) 99 (1978), Dewine v Ohio Elections Comm. RC 3599.091(B)(9) affronts neither US Const Am 1, nor provisions of the Ohio Constitution.

61 App(2d) 25, 399 NE(2d) 99 (1978), Dewine v Ohio Elections Comm. RC 3599.091(C) does not comprise an unconstitutional delegation of judicial power, or legislative authority.

677 FSupp 534 (SD Ohio 1988), Pestrak v Ohio Elections Comm. RC 3599.091(B) as enforced by RC 3599.091(C), 3599.091(D), and 3599.091(E), forbidding falsehoods in election campaigns, is held to violate the First Amendment to the federal constitution on the grounds the administrative adjudication it calls for constitutes a burden upon and prior restraint of protected speech, and allows imposition of liability using a standard of proof less than clear and convincing; the constitutionality of RC 3599.091(C), 3599.091(D), and 3599.091(E) in the enforcement of RC 3599.091(A) is not affected.

670 FSupp 1368 (SD Ohio 1987), Pestrak v Ohio Elections Comm. Under RC 3599.091(B)(10), defamatory speech during a political campaign that is not protected by the First Amendment is made a crime, but RC 3599.091(D)(1) and 3599.091(E) are unconstitutional because the elections commission can find a violation thereunder using a standard of proof less than "clear and convincing."

2. In general

9 OS(3d) 190, 9 OBR 504, 459 NE(2d) 866 (1984), State ex rel Unger v Quinn. The court of common pleas has exclusive jurisdiction over prosecutions for violations of RC 3599.091; such a prosecution may not therefore be transferred to a municipal court pursuant to Crim R 21, although it otherwise meets the requirements of that rule.

1 OS(3d) 85, 1 OBR 122, 438 NE(2d) 410 (1982), MacDonald v Bernard. An election contest proceeding conducted pursuant to RC 3515.08 is not a proper forum for determining whether violation of RC 3599.091 or 3599.01 has occurred.

44 App(3d) 3, 540 NE(2d) 329 (Franklin 1988), In re Pirko. Although a pamphlet which is printed and circulated for the purpose of causing a candidate's defeat contains a statement which is potentially misleading and fails to disclose all the relevant facts surrounding the candidate's actions, such statement does not constitute a "false statement" within the meaning of former RC 3599.091.

44 App(3d) 3, 540 NE(2d) 329 (Franklin 1988), In re Pirko. Ohio's Unfair Campaign Practices Act, RC 3599.091, prohibits certain unfair campaign practices and permits the Ohio elections commission to impose a fine of up to $1,000 upon an individual found to have violated the statute; further, the statute defines an "offense" and must be strictly construed against the state and liberally in favor of an accused.

27 App(3d) 65, 27 OBR 84, 499 NE(2d) 1255 (Geauga 1985), State v Davis. Sentence for a conviction of RC 3599.091(B)(10), for making false statements in an election campaign, may not include a condition on probation that the defendant not engage in any political activity during probation, since such a condition borders on infringement of First Amendment rights.

61 App(2d) 25, 399 NE(2d) 99 (1978), Dewine v Ohio Elections Comm. Under RC 3599.091, the standard of proof to be used by the Ohio elections commission, in determining whether a violation has occurred, encompasses a test based upon the "preponderance of the evidence," rather than one calling for "proof beyond a reasonable doubt."

Elections Op 87-10. A candidate may not use campaign funds to pay a fine imposed directly upon the candidate by the Ohio elections commission for a violation of RC 3599.091, which prohibits certain campaign practices.

3599.092 Unfair activities in issue campaign

(A) No person during the course of any campaign in advocacy of or in opposition to the adoption of any proposition or issue submitted to the voters shall knowingly and with intent to affect the outcome of such campaign do any of the following:

(1) Serve, or place another person to serve, as an agent or employee in the election campaign organization of a committee which advocates or is in opposition to the adoption of any ballot proposition or issue for the purpose of acting to impede the conduct of the campaign on the proposition or issue or of reporting information to the employee's employer or the agent's principal without the knowledge of the committee;

(2) Promise, offer, or give any valuable thing or valuable benefit to any person who is employed by or is an agent of a committee in advocacy of or in opposition to the adoption of any ballot proposition or issue, for the purpose of influencing the employee or agent with respect to the improper discharge of his campaign duties or to obtain information about the committee's campaign organization.

(B) No person, during the course of any campaign in advocacy of or in opposition to the adoption of any ballot proposition or issue, by means of campaign material, including sample ballots, an advertisement on radio or television or in a newspaper or periodical, a public speech, a press release, or otherwise, shall knowingly and with intent to affect the outcome of such campaign do any of the following:

(1) Falsely identify the source of a statement, issue statements under the name of another person without authorization, or falsely state the endorsement of or opposition to a ballot proposition or issue by a person or publication;

(2) Post, publish, circulate, distribute, or otherwise disseminate, a false statement, either knowing the same to be false or acting with reckless disregard of whether it was false or not, that is designed to promote the adoption or defeat of any ballot proposition or issue.

(C) Before any prosecution may commence, a complaint shall be presented to the Ohio elections commission by an affidavit of any person, made on personal knowledge and subject to the penalties for perjury, setting forth any violation of division (A) or (B) of this section. The commission shall proceed to investigate the charges made in the affidavit, and shall, whenever possible, complete the investigation of all matters before an election. The commission shall provide each person under investigation, by mail or in person, prior to each meeting of the commission at which the person's presence is requested, a notice for the hearing, and shall supply to each person under investigation, prior to the person's first appearance before the commission, a statement of the legal rights and obligations of those under investigation by the commission. The commission or a member of the commission may administer oaths, and the commission may issue and enforce subpoenas with regard to an investigation under this section in the same manner as provided in division (C) of section 3517.15 of the Revised Code. The commission shall issue copies of its findings to the committee or person involved in its investigation.

(D)(1) If the commission finds that division (A) or (B) of this section has been violated, it shall do only one of the following:

(a) Impose a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars;

(b) Forthwith transmit a copy of its findings and the evidence to the prosecuting attorney of the appropriate county.

(2) Any person adversely affected by the action of the commission under division (D)(1)(a) of this section may appeal from such action in accordance with section 119.12 of the Revised Code.

(E) If the commission finds upon the preponderance of the evidence that the violation is a continuing one, or if it has reason to believe that recurrence of the violation is imminent, it may issue an order to cease and desist. The commission or the person who filed the affidavit, or the treasurer of any committee in advocacy of or in opposition to the adoption of a proposition or issue which filed an affidavit may bring an action for an injunction against any person violating or attempting to violate the order. Any person adversely affected by a cease and desist order of the commission may appeal as provided in section 119.12 of the Revised Code. No appeal, however, shall stay enforcement of a cease and desist order. In an action for injunction to enforce any final order of the commission brought pursuant to this section, the findings of the commission, after hearing, are prima-facie evidence of the facts found.

(F) In any action before the commission, if the allegations of the person who filed the affidavit are not proved, and the commission seeks neither civil nor criminal relief in court, the commission may find that the complaint is frivolous and order the complainant to pay costs. If so, the person filing the complaint may be required to pay such costs of the commission as would be assessed for the same service in a civil action before the court of common pleas. Such costs paid to the commission shall be deposited in the general revenue fund of the state. Notwithstanding any provision of Chapters 1901., 1905., 1907., and 2931. of the Revised Code, the common pleas court has exclusive original jurisdiction over prosecutions under this section.

(G) Whoever violates division (A) or (B) of this section is guilty of unfair campaign practices, a misdemeanor of the first degree.

125 OS 415, 181 NE 890 (1932), Miller v State. When the law makes it a crime to knowingly persuade and induce one who is under twenty-one years of age to register as a lawful voter, and the indictment charges that the accused did knowingly violate this statute, the trial court must instruct the jury in its charge that the jury must find that the accused knew that the person so persuaded and induced to register was then under twenty-one years of age. To omit this essential makes the charge a positive misstatement of the law, prejudicial to the accused, and available on error under a general exception to the charge made at the trial.

3599.12 Illegal voting

No person shall vote or attempt to vote in any primary, special, or general election in a precinct in which he is not a legally qualified voter; or vote or attempt to vote more than once at the same election; or impersonate or sign the name of another person, real or fictitious, living or dead, and vote or attempt to vote as such person in any such election; or vote or attempt to vote at any primary the ballot of a political party with which he has not been affiliated, as required by section 3513.19 of the Revised Code, or with which he did not vote at the last election; or cast a ballot at any such election after objection has been made and sustained to his vote; or knowingly vote or attempt to vote a ballot other than the official ballot.

The attempted false certification of nominating petitions by use of photocopied petitions from a prior election does not constitute a violation of RC 2913.31(A)(3), as RC 2913.31(A)(3) and 3599.14 are allied offenses of similar import and as such, the more specific statute, RC 3599.14, must prevail over the more general statute, RC 2913.31(A)(3).

1. Constitutional issues

134 OS 178, 16 NE(2d) 261 (1938), State ex rel Wheatley v Kirk. GC 8 (RC 3.01) in providing for continuity in government, is a valid exercise of legislative power and is not in conflict with O Const Art XVII §2, in respect to maximum length of term for which elective county officers may be elected.

2. In general

134 OS 206, 16 NE(2d) 334 (1938), State ex rel Bolsinger v Oridge. When president pro tem of a city council, becomes president of the council by operation of law (GC 4274 (RC 733.08)), he holds the office of president until the end of the term and until his successor is appointed or elected and qualified, by virtue of GC 8 (RC 3.01), but his right to hold the office ends with the expiration of the term which he is filling when his successor has been duly elected for the ensuing term at the last general election, has duly qualified and at the inception of his term has not resigned or abandoned the position or failed or refused to accept or assume the office.

132 OS 421, 8 NE(2d) 434 (1937), State ex rel Kopp v Blackburn. The distinction between GC 8 (now RC 3.01) and GC 10 (now RC 3.02) is that the former is general in scope and character, while the latter is specific; GC 8 applies to persons holding office generally, while GC 10 prescribes the tenure of appointees.

OAG 70-131. Person appointed to board of trustees of university may be seated and take part in meetings pending confirmation or rejection by Ohio senate, and fact that new trustee was previously university business manager is no bar to exercise of powers by new appointee, except to extent that new member exercise sound judgment and intelligent discretion in performance of his duties and his personal relationship thereto.

1959 OAG 774. The terms of office of members of the public utilities commission expire in every sixth year following the first day of February in 1915, 1917 and 1919, respectively, commence on the date that a member qualifies for office, and an incumbent member whose term has expired serves until his successor is appointed and qualified for office.

1959 OAG 671. Where, at an election held in 1955, following the organization of a local school district, two members of a local board of education were elected for a period of two years and three for a period of four years, and no election was held in 1957 to fill the expiring terms of the two-year members, they will hold over until December 31, 1961; and at the election to be held in November 1959 only three members shall be elected for four-year terms to succeed those whose terms expire December 31, 1959.

1957 OAG 176. An officer whose fixed statutory term of office has expired and who is continued in office by operation of law "until his successor is elected or appointed and qualified" does not, during such period of continuance in office hold such office for any fixed or definite term, nor for an "existing term" within the meaning of O Const Art II §20, and the inhibition therein against a change in salary "during his existing term" has no application during such period of continued tenure.

1934 OAG 2311. A village mayor and marshal cannot legally refuse to qualify for a second term to which they have been elected, and thereby hold office under a continuation of their first term of office.

3. Election or appointment and qualification

7 OS(2d) 109, 218 NE(2d) 729 (1966), State ex rel Brothers v Zellar. Appointment to and qualification for a public office are separate and distinct acts performed by different people; appointment relates to the acts of the authority in whom the appointing power reposes, while qualification relates to the acts which the appointee must perform before he is entitled to enter upon the duties of the office.

7 OS(2d) 109, 218 NE(2d) 729 (1966), State ex rel Brothers v Zellar. An appointment by the governor submitted to the senate, while it is in session, vests title to the appointed office in the appointee as soon as the appointee performs the necessary acts on his part to qualify for such office, and such title is vested subject to being divested by the action of the senate rejecting the appointment.

132 OS 546, 9 NE(2d) 497 (1937), State ex rel Cox v Riffle. R and C were both candidates for the office of county engineer at the November 1936, general election. R received the higher number of votes. Neither R nor C was licensed as a professional engineer and registered surveyor in Ohio. C was the incumbent county engineer serving in that office "immediately prior to" the 1936 election. R, by reason of being ineligible was not legally elected county engineer. Although eligible as a candidate, having served as county engineer "immediately prior to" the election, C was not elected county engineer. Where no one is legally elected to the office of county engineer, the incumbent in that office will hold over under this section, until his successor is elected and qualified.

132 OS 466, 9 NE(2d) 288 (1937), State ex rel Gahl v Lutz. A person appointed to an unexpired term in the office of sheriff until his successor is elected and qualified will be deemed to hold the office from the date of appointment and qualification, and not from the date of the receipt of the commission, even though the governor's commission is received by the appointee after the unexpired term has terminated.

58 App 491, 16 NE(2d) 840 (Hamilton 1938), State ex rel Bolsinger v Oridge. A city council president who has succeeded to that office by operation of law by reason of having been the president pro tem of council when the vacancy occurred in the office of council president holds such title only until a successor is elected and qualified under GC 8, even though the duly elected successor never occupies the office.

1962 OAG 3463. Where the term of a member of the waterways safety commission expires when the senate is not in session, a vacancy occurs and the governor is authorized to fill the vacancy and report the appointment to the next session of the senate, and the appointee takes office upon receiving the governor's commission and taking an oath of office.

1962 OAG 3318. A member of the board of trustees of the Ohio state university serves until his successor is appointed, confirmed by the senate, and qualifies by receiving a governor's commission and taking the oath of office.

1961 OAG 2006. The service of a member of the racing commission after the senate adjourned without consenting to his appointment, is as a de facto officer "until his successor is appointed and qualified," and he may serve legally as a de facto officer until the governor makes a new appointment to the position.

4. Who are officers

3 App(2d) 43, 209 NE(2d) 460 (1965), State ex rel Brothers v Zellar; reversed by 7 OS(2d) 109, 218 NE(2d) 729 (1966). The position of member of the board of tax appeals is an office of public trust within the meaning of RC 3.01.

20 CC(NS) 478, 29 CD 631 (Lorain 1904), Essex v Ault. The chief of a volunteer fire department elected by the city council under an ordinance is an officer within this section, and therefore holds until his successor is elected and qualified.

11 CC(NS) 569, 21 CD 215 (Hamilton 1909), State v Withrow; affirmed by 81 OS 523, 91 NE 1143 (1909). The president of a board of education is an officer within the meaning of this section.

4 CC(NS) 560, 16 CD 241 (Cuyahoga 1904), State ex rel Myers v Coon. A clerk of a city board of education is a public officer within the meaning of the school code and RS 8 and, as such, continues in office until his successor is elected or appointed and qualified.

1953 OAG 3249. The office of member of the board of directors of a conservancy district is "an office of public trust" and the incumbent of such office continues to serve therein following the expiration of his statutory term until such time as his successor is appointed and qualified.

5. Section governs

4 App 260, 22 CC(NS) 254 (1915), Case v Burrell. GC 8 (RC 3.01), that a public officer continues until his successor is qualified controls GC 3268 (RC 505.01), as to the terms of township trustees as does also O Const Art IV §10, and where the terms of township trustees expired at midnight but their successors did not qualify for several days, their establishment of a ditch next day and levying an assessment are acts of a de jure board.

OAG 82-074. The term of a community mental health board member expires at midnight on June thirtieth, four years after his July first appointment, if a successor has been appointed and qualified to assume office at the expiration of the member's term; if no successor has been appointed and qualified to assume office at the expiration of an incumbent community mental health board member's term, the incumbent may continue to hold office, pursuant to RC 3.01, until a successor has been appointed and qualified.

OAG 66-155. When a vacancy in the office of township trustee occurred on November 19, 1965, by reason of the death of an incumbent who had been reelected at the November 2, 1965 election, and where such vacancy for the term ending December 31, 1965, was filled by appointment under RC 503.24, there would be no vacancy in the office for the full term commencing January 1, 1966, and no new appointment is necessary, since the person appointed to the unexpired term would continue in office in accordance with RC 3.01 for the entire unexpired term ending December 31, 1967.

1928 OAG 2860. Where a candidate for county surveyor dies before election day on a day too late for a substitution to be made and a majority of the electors cast their ballot for the deceased candidate, the opponent cannot be declared elected. The present incumbent will hold over under GC 8 (RC 3.01) until his successor is elected or appointed and qualified, providing the total tenure under his election shall not exceed four years.

6. Other law governs

101 OS 65, 127 NE 871 (1920), State ex rel Spaulding v Baldwin. Upon the death of a county treasurer-elect before the beginning of his term, the incumbent does not hold over, but the vacancy is filled by the county commissioners by appointment under GC 2636 (RC 321.03).

1949 OAG 1181. Under the practice of the general assembly providing each biennium for the establishment of the controlling board, and authorizing the board to appoint a comptroller, for the period during which liabilities may be incurred under the general appropriations act (Am HB 654, 98th General Assembly), the position of such Comptroller is not a continuing public office to which GC 8 (RC 3.01) applies.

3.02 Term of appointee to elective office; certificate of appointment

(A) When an elective office becomes vacant and is filled by appointment, such appointee shall hold the office until his successor is elected and qualified; and such successor shall be elected for the unexpired term, at the first general election for the office which is vacant that occurs more than forty days after the vacancy has occurred; provided that when the unexpired term ends within one year immediately following the date of such general election, an election to fill such unexpired term shall not be held and the appointment shall be for such unexpired term.

(B) When an elective office becomes vacant and is filled by appointment, the appointing authority shall, immediately but no later than seven days after making the appointment, certify it to the board of elections and to the secretary of state. The board of elections or, in the case of an appointment to a statewide office, the secretary of state shall issue a certificate of appointment to the appointee. Certificates of appointment shall be in such form as the secretary of state shall prescribe.

(C) When an elected candidate fails to qualify for the office to which he has been elected, the office shall be filled as in the case of a vacancy. Until so filled, the incumbent officer shall continue to hold office. This section does not postpone the time for such election beyond that at which it would have been held had no such vacancy occurred, or affect the official term, or the time for the commencement thereof, of any person elected to such office before the occurrence of such vacancy.

Successor of appointee appointed to fill vacancy in office of county engineer, which vacancy occurred more than thirty days before next general election at which county officers can be voted for, must be elected at next general election for county officers.

146 OS 341, 66 NE(2d) 111 (1946), State ex rel Smith v Hummel. Until his death on December 16, 1944, O was sheriff of Summit county; on November 7, 1944, he was re-elected for a term of four years beginning January 1, 1945; vacancy having resulted from O's death, S became his duly appointed successor on December 21, 1944; on February 13, 1945, S resigned; next day he was reappointed and he still holds office; R, M and S have filed declarations and petitions as candidates for nomination for office of sheriff of such county at primary election to be held May 7, 1946; S brings this proceeding in prohibition to prevent placing of names of those candidates on party ballots. Writ of prohibition will issue to prevent placing on primary ballots candidates' names which may not lawfully be placed there; by S's original appointment as sheriff, he held office for unexpired term which ended December 31, 1944 and thereafter until election and qualification of his successor; by his resignation and reappointment, S did not acquire any right to tenure that he did not have before, and he continues to hold office until his successor is elected in November 1946 and qualified.

134 OS 206, 16 NE(2d) 334 (1938), State v Oridge. GC 10 (RC 3.02) applies only in those instances in which an elective office becomes vacant and is filled by appointment.

132 OS 421, 8 NE(2d) 434 (1937), State ex rel Kopp v Blackburn. The distinction between GC 8 (now RC 3.01) and GC 10 (now RC 3.02) is that the former is general in scope and character, while the latter is specific; GC 8 applies to persons holding office generally, while GC 10 prescribes the tenure of appointees.

126 OS 633, 186 NE 809 (1933), State ex rel Haff v Pask. When there is a vacancy in the office of sheriff, and the county commissioners duly appoint a person for the unexpired part of such vacancy, the appointee is by statute entitled to hold the office until the expiration of such unexpired term and until his successor is elected and qualified. (See also State ex rel Crawford v McGregor, 44 OS 628, 10 NE 66 (1887).)

125 OS 235, 181 NE 16 (1932), State ex rel Harsha v Troxel. The successor of an appointee appointed to fill a vacancy in the office of county auditor, which vacancy occurred more than thirty days before the next general election at which county officers can be voted for, must be elected at the next general election for county officers.

80 OS 244, 88 NE 738 (1909), State ex rel Hoyt v Metcalfe. The capacity conferred upon an elective officer by O Const Art XVII to serve until a successor is elected and qualified attaches to and may be enjoyed by one appointed to succeed after the elected officer has resigned, and such appointee succeeds to the entire term and capacity to hold over enjoyed by his predecessor, and no vacancy occurs at the expiration of the original term for which the resigning judge was elected.

66 OS 612, 64 NE 558 (1902), State ex rel Tranger v Nash. The phrase "the first proper election" in RS 11 (now RC 3.02) means the first election appropriate to the office, i.e., the election at which such officers are regularly and properly elected, and therefore the first proper election for the successor to the lieutenant governor is one at which a lieutenant governor would have been elected had no such vacancy occurred. (See also State v Barbee, 45 OS 347, 13 NE 731 (1887).)

62 OS 156, 56 NE 871 (1900), State ex rel Sheets v Speidel. Where an incumbent sheriff running for re-election dies on election day before the polls close, a vacancy is created in his unexpired term but not in the term for which he was a candidate; therefore, one who is duly appointed and qualified to fill the vacancy will hold the office for and during the unexpired term of his predecessor and until his successor is elected and qualified at the next election held more than thirty days after the vacancy occurred.

59 OS 167, 52 NE 125 (1898), State ex rel Springer v Hadley. County auditors are elected triennially, and there is no authority of law for the election of a county auditor for a term shorter than three years; therefore, a successor elected to fill a vacancy in that office holds office for the full term of three years.

55 OS 195, 45 NE 56 (1896), State ex rel Mark v Dahl. The death of a duly elected county auditor before his term of office is to begin, where the term is to begin less than thirty days before the general election, creates no vacancy in the office, and where the office is then filled by a duly elected, qualified and acting auditor who will continue as such until the end of his term.

79 App 311, 71 NE(2d) 531 (1946), State ex rel Heck v Ahlers. A county official died more than thirty days prior to a general election; neither political party made a nomination to fill vacancy for unexpired term; at general election, names of various persons were written in blank space and properly marked. The person receiving highest number of votes was duly and legally elected to fill unexpired term.

58 App 491, 16 NE(2d) 840 (Hamilton 1938), State ex rel Bolsinger v Oridge. A city council president who has succeeded to that office by operation of law by reason of having been the president pro tem of council when the vacancy occurred in the office of council president holds such title only until a successor is elected and qualified under GC 8, even though the duly elected successor never occupies the office.

7 CC 258, 4 CD 585 (Hamilton 1893), State ex rel Burke v Comer. This section is a general provision which cannot be set aside unless there is some other provision which does so in clear and positive terms; therefore, where a vacancy occurs in the office of constable more than thirty days before a general election, an appointment to fill the vacancy can be made only to the next general election.

OAG 77-042. The provisions of 1976 H 1207 are prospective and do not affect vacancies in boards of education that were filled prior to August 31, 1976. Persons appointed prior to August 31, 1976 to boards of education shall fill such vacancies for the unexpired term as provided by RC 3313.11 prior to amendment by 1976 H 1207, eff. 8-31-76.

OAG 76-013. RC 733.31 sets out the proper procedure to be followed for appointment to a vacancy resulting from death of an incumbent elected official, and RC 733.31, as it existed at the time the appointment was made, controls over RC 733.31 as it was thereafter amended; RC 3.02 is a general statute providing for the length of an appointee's term, and controls over the more specific terms of RC 733.31, where 733.31 contained no such specific terms at the time of appointment.

OAG 66-155. When a vacancy in the office of township trustee occurred on November 19, 1965 by reason of the death of an incumbent who had been reelected at the November 2, 1965 election, and where such vacancy for the term ending December 31, 1965 was filled by appointment under RC 503.24, there would be no vacancy in the office for the full term commencing January 1, 1966 and no new appointment is necessary, since the person appointed to the unexpired term would continue in office in accordance with RC 3.01 for the entire unexpired term ending December 31, 1967.

1963 OAG 389. RC 731.43 provides the sole statutory methods by which a vacancy in the office of a member of the legislative authority of a municipal corporation may be filled, and such section was not repealed by implication by the amendment of RC 3.02.

1961 OAG 2439. Vacancies occurring in a board of education are to be filled pursuant to RC 3313.11, which operates as a special exception to the general provisions of RC 3.02, which latter section does not apply to the filling of vacancies in boards of education.

1957 OAG 200. Where an incumbent of the office of county engineer has been elected at the general election in November 1956 for a four year term, commencing on the first Monday in January 1957, and where such incumbent resigns effective January 31, 1957, the individual thereafter appointed by the board of county commissioners to fill such vacancy will hold such office until the election and qualification of his successor; and such successor should be elected for the unexpired term at the general election in November 1958.

1950 OAG 1870. An appointment made by the county commissioners to fill a vacancy in the office of county engineers is valid and the period of appointment expires on the day of the following general election which occurs more than thirty (now forty) days after the vacancy becomes effective.

1949 OAG 800. The term of the clerk pro tempore of the court of common pleas ends when his successor is elected and qualified; said election of the successor shall be at the first general election for the office which is vacant that occurs more than thirty days after the vacancy shall have occurred; the candidates for said office shall run for the unexpired term of the original clerk of common pleas court and not for the full four-year term.

1940 OAG 3184. A person appointed and holding the office of sheriff is entitled to hold over when the person elected to the office fails to qualify until the expiration of the unexpired term to which he was appointed and until his successor is elected and qualified.

1917 OAG p 1676. A vacancy does not occur in office where there is an incumbent duly authorized to hold over, and who is legally qualified to perform the duties of the office.

1915 OAG p 1566. Under the provisions of GC 4748 (Repealed), a person elected by the board of education of a school district to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of a member of such board, holds office for the unexpired term for which the member so resigning was elected, and until his successor is elected and qualified.

1912 OAG p 1102. In case of vacancies in the school board filled by appointment, this section provides that a successor shall be elected for the unexpired term at the first general election for such office, if such vacancy occurs more than thirty days before such election. Such appointee, however, has the same right as an elective officer to hold over until his successor is elected and qualified.

3.07 Forfeiture of office for misconduct in office

Any person holding office in this state, or in any municipal corporation, county, or subdivision thereof, coming within the official classification in Section 38 of Article II, Ohio Constitution, who willfully and flagrantly exercises authority or power not authorized by law, refuses or willfully neglects to enforce the law or to perform any official duty imposed upon him by law, or is guilty of gross neglect of duty, gross immorality, drunkenness, misfeasance, malfeasance, or nonfeasance is guilty of misconduct in office. Upon complaint and hearing in the manner provided for in sections 3.07 to 3.10, inclusive, of the Revised Code, such person shall have judgment of forfeiture of said office with all its emoluments entered thereon against him, creating thereby in said office a vacancy to be filled as prescribed by law. The proceedings provided for in such sections are in addition to impeachment and other methods of removal authorized by law, and such sections do not divest the governor or any other authority of the jurisdiction given in removal proceedings.

43 App 76, 181 NE 905 (1931), In re Bostwick. The statute (GC 10-1 (RC 3.07)) under which ouster proceeding of probate judge was brought violates no provision of the state constitution. On the contrary, its provisions are in direct response to the mandate imposed by O Const Art II §38. (See also In re Bostwick, 125 OS 182, 180 NE 713 (1932).)

29 NP(NS) 21 (CP, Franklin 1931), In re Bostwick; affirmed by 43 App 76, 181 NE 905 (1931). O Const Art II §38 authorizes the legislature to provide for the prompt removal from office of judges and other officers, for any misconduct involving moral turpitude, or for other causes provided by law. Pursuant thereto, the legislature did enact GC 10-1 (RC 3.07). (See also In re Bostwick, 125 OS 182, 180 NE 713 (1932).)

2. In general

175 OS 114, 191 NE(2d) 723 (1963), State ex rel Hover v Wolven. Where an individual accepts a second office whose duties are incompatible with those of another office already held by such individual, the first held office is thereby vacated.

62 App(3d) 417, 575 NE(2d) 1186 (Franklin 1989), Hughes v Brown. There is no requirement for a hearing pursuant to RC 3.07 prior to forfeiture of a public office where the officeholder has been convicted of a felony; the appeal of a felony conviction does not operate to negate the conviction.

17 App(2d) 247, 246 NE(2d) 607 (1969), State ex rel Stokes v Cuyahoga County Probate Court. RC 3.07 to 3.10 do not repeal by implication RC 733.72 to 733.77.

47 App 17, 189 NE 855 (1933), In re Diehl; affirmed sub nom McMillen v Diehl, 128 OS 212, 190 NE 567 (1934). The taking of the so-called bankrupt act is not ground for removal of an official when he has made full disclosure of his assets, and is not seeking to avoid the payment of his obligations.

47 App 17, 189 NE 855 (1933), In re Diehl; affirmed sub nom McMillen v Diehl, 128 OS 212, 190 NE 567 (1934). Borrowing money from practicing lawyers is disapproved and condemned, but is not ground for removal of a judge from office, when there is no proof that such borrowing resulted in favoritism or discrimination, or affected the conduct of the judge.

No. 83-B-25 (7th Dist Ct App, Belmont, 11-30-83), State ex rel McGee v Wright. Where taxpayers brought a mandamus action to compel a mayor to fill vacancies existing in the zoning official's office pursuant to RC 733.58, the trial court erred in holding that mandamus would not lie on the grounds that an adequate legal remedy was available by way of removal of the mayor pursuant to RC 3.07 where there was no assertion that the mayor refused or willfully neglected to fill the vacancies.

32 Abs 263 (CP, Jackson 1940), In re Removal of Leach. Member of board of education who had a pecuniary interest in a contract with such board within meaning of GC 4757 (Repealed) and also had a pecuniary interest in the employment of his unemancipated son as janitor by the board of education was subject to removal under this section.

15 Abs 140 (App, Franklin 1933), State ex rel Newman v Skinner. A state librarian appointed by the state library board is not a public officer within the meaning of O Const Art II §38 and GC 10-1 and need not be removed in the manner provided by this section which requires the filing and hearing of a complaint; the state library board has the power to remove a state librarian.

29 NP(NS) 21 (CP, Franklin 1931), In re Bostwick; affirmed by 43 App 76, 181 NE 905 (1931). Neither the constitutional grant of power to the legislature to provide for the removal of judges for misconduct involving moral turpitude and for other causes provided by law (O Const Art II §38), nor the legislative act (GC 10-1 (RC 3.07)) enacted in exercise of this power, require that the immoral conduct shall be connected with the office or arise out of official duties. The statute also contemplates moral conduct in the judge's general relation to society and acts practiced outside his official occupation. (See also In re Bostwick, 125 OS 182, 180 NE 713 (1932).)

1919 OAG 650. Laws relating to the removal from office prior to the enactment of RC 3.07 and exclusive of this section do not define causes or fix the procedure for removal from office which applies uniformly to all officers.

3. Procedures

31 OS(2d) 41, 285 NE(2d) 376 (1972), State ex rel Hughes v Brown. A formal complaint and hearing are required prior to any removal of member of board of elections.

125 OS 182, 180 NE 713 (1932), In re Bostwick. Decision is reviewable by proceedings in error. (See also In re Bostwick, 43 App 76, 181 NE 905 (1931).)

66 App(2d) 79, 419 NE(2d) 1108 (1979), 2,867 Signers of Petition for Removal of Mack v Mack. Any amendment to the charges in a complaint filed pursuant to RC 3.07 to 3.10 requires recirculation of the petitions and the filing of a new action.

47 App 17, 189 NE 855 (1933), In re Diehl; affirmed sub nom McMillen v Diehl, 128 OS 212, 190 NE 567 (1934). Removal statutes are to be construed strictly and to warrant removal of an official, the evidence must be clear and convincing.

43 App 76, 181 NE 905 (1931), In re Bostwick. A complaint filed to secure the removal of a public official under GC 10-1 (RC 3.07), need not be verified. Where such complaint appears on its face to have been signed by the required number of signers, and such required number are apparently qualified to so sign, no issue on either the number of signers or their qualifications can be made by answer. (See also In re Bostwick, 125 OS 182, 180 NE 713 (1932).)

36 Abs 46, 42 NE(2d) 724 (App, Summit 1940), Ridgeway v Akron. Under GC 10-1 (RC 3.07) in class of cases enumerated, it is an indispensable prerequisite to an order of removal that there shall have been a complaint filed and an opportunity for a hearing had.

1933 OAG 169. Where a proceeding was instituted under GC 10-1 (RC 3.07) et seq., for the removal of a township trustee in which such officer was removed by the common pleas court, the township trustees had no authority to employ an attorney to prosecute such a proceeding and pay for his services out of township funds. In such a case, the county commissioners have no authority to pay attorney fees for prosecuting the same.

4. Positions affected

66 App(2d) 79, 419 NE(2d) 1108 (1979), 2,867 Signers of Petition for Removal of Mack v Mack. A member of a board of education is subject to removal from office pursuant to RC 3.07 to 3.10.

5 App(2d) 265, 215 NE(2d) 434 (1966), Thomas v Liberty Twp Bd of Trustees. A township police constable is not a public officer within the provisions of RC 3.07 or O Const Art II §38.

1963 OAG 561. Members of a county child welfare board are "public officers" within the meaning of O Const Art II §38, and may be removed by the board of county commissioners only upon "complaint and hearing" and only "for good cause."

5. Nonfeasance

53 App(2d) 327, 374 NE(2d) 160 (1977), In re Augenstein. Where nonfeasance alone is the ground for removal of a public officer under RC 3.07, the record must show by clear and convincing evidence a substantial departure from the faithful performance of duty.

67 App 191, 36 NE(2d) 291 (Trumbull 1941), State ex rel Robinson v Niles. An action in mandamus will not lie against the mayor, director of public service, auditor, and treasurer of a municipality to compel them to collect electric and water bills owed and allowed to go uncollected for several years, as there is an adequate legal remedy available by way of removal under GC 10-1 and GC 10-2 for misconduct in office.

45 App 365, 187 NE 196 (1933), In re Whisner. A member of a board of education cannot be said to have willfully neglected to perform an official duty, because he persistently voted to elect a particular teacher, with the result that the election had to be made by the county board.

29 NP(NS) 92 (CP, Cuyahoga 1931), In re Sulzmann; affirmed by 125 OS 594, 183 NE 531 (1932). Nonfeasance by an officer is an omission to perform a required duty.

29 NP(NS) 92 (CP, Cuyahoga 1931), In re Sulzmann; affirmed by 125 OS 594, 183 NE 531 (1932). Neglect of duty by a public official is willful if it is conscious or intentional, and the word does not necessarily imply corruption or criminal intent.

OAG 65-70. The failure of a member of a board of township trustees to regularly attend the meetings of such board and to properly discharge his duties does not result in a vacancy in such office, but it may be ground for removal of such township officer under RC 3.07.

1963 OAG 3519. Failure of a member of a board of township trustees to regularly attend the meetings of such board does not result in a vacancy in such office, but may be ground for removal of such township officer.

1928 OAG 2461. If the failure of a state officer to comply with GC 24 (RC 131.01) is willful and flagrant, such conduct would be ground for removal under GC 10-1 (RC 3.07).

6. Misfeasance

128 OS 212, 190 NE 567 (1934), McMillen v Diehl. Statutes authorizing the removal of an incumbent from office are quasi penal in character and should be strictly construed, and the evidence sustaining the removal of an official from office should be clear and convincing; therefore, where the evidence shows that a judge sought to be removed borrowed money from lawyers practicing before him during previous terms of office, such sums remaining unpaid in the present term, but no proof is shown of any kind of favoritism or discrimination resulting from these transactions, the judge will not be removed.

125 OS 594, 183 NE 531 (1932), In re Sulzmann. While a sheriff is not required to patrol his county as a policeman, nor to ferret out crime as a detective, where a sheriff knows that betting on horse races is going on in his county, neglects to stop it, and issues permits to some tracks but not to others, such sheriff is guilty of misfeasance in office, and is rightfully removed from office.

25 App(2d) 58, 266 NE(2d) 248 (1970), In re Removal of Pickering. Where there is evidence that a riot was taking place, that commands to disperse and use of tear gas proved insufficient and ineffectual to cause dispersal, that a shotgun loaded with birdshot was fired by the village mayor into the air and in direction of rioters, but there is no evidence that the shotgun was fired by him with intent to actually hit any rioter, or at a range that such would probably occur, and there is no evidence that any person was hit or injured by birdshot except one person whose wounds were merely superficial, there is no clear and convincing evidence that force used was more than was necessary and proper to suppress the riot or disperse or apprehend rioters, and no evidence that acts of mayor in such regard constituted misfeasance.

32 Abs 263 (CP, Jackson 1940), In re Removal of Leach. A member of the board of education who has a pecuniary interest in a contract for the purchase of coal and in the employment of his minor son as a janitor by the board of education may be removed from office under this section.

31 LR 120 (App 1929), Staples v Sprague. Proceedings for the removal of a municipal judge, because of his conduct in the trial of or refusal to try persons charged with the operation of motion picture theaters on Sunday may properly be brought under this section and following providing that such a proceeding be based on a written complaint signed by five per cent of the qualified electors.

29 NP(NS) 92 (CP, Cuyahoga 1931), In re Sulzmann; affirmed by 125 OS 594, 183 NE 531 (1932). Where the evidence in support of a petition for removal of a sheriff shows that he knew that betting and gambling on horse races was going on in his county, that he issued permits for some tracks to operate and denied permits for others, and that he neglected not only to stop the gambling but even to investigate it, such sheriff must be deemed guilty of misconduct in office, to which his claim that he did not know what his duties were is no defense, and under the law he should be removed from office.

3.08 Procedure for removal of public officers

Proceedings for the removal of public officers on any of the grounds enumerated in section 3.07 of the Revised Code shall be commenced by the filing of a written or printed complaint specifically setting forth the charge and signed by qualified electors of the state or political subdivision whose officer it is sought to remove, not less in number than fifteen per cent of the total vote cast for governor at the last preceding election for the office of governor in the state or political subdivision whose officer it is sought to remove, or, if the officer sought to be removed is the sheriff or prosecuting attorney of a county or the mayor of a municipal corporation, the governor may sign and file such written or printed complaint without the signatures of qualified electors. Such complaint shall be filed with the court of common pleas of the county where the officer against whom the complaint is filed resides, except that when the officer against whom the complaint is filed is a judge of the court of common pleas, such complaint shall be filed in the court of appeals of the district where such judge resides, and all complaints against state officers shall be filed with the court of appeals of the district where the officer against whom the complaint is filed resides. The judge or clerk of the court shall cause a copy of such complaint to be served upon the officer, against whom the complaint has been filed, at least ten days before the hearing upon such complaint. Such hearing shall be had within thirty days from the date of the filing of the complaint by said electors, or by the governor. The court may suspend the officer pending the hearing.

The removal proceedings filed in the court of common pleas shall be tried by a judge unless a jury trial is demanded in writing by the officer against whom the complaint has been filed. If a jury is demanded, it shall be composed of twelve persons who satisfy the qualifications of a juror specified in section 2313.42 of the Revised Code. If nine or more persons of that jury find one or more of the charges in the complaint are true, such jury shall return a finding for the removal of the officer, which finding shall be filed with the clerk of the court and be made a matter of public record. If less than nine persons of that jury find that the charges on the complaint are true, the jury shall return a finding that the complaint be dismissed. The proceedings had by a judge upon such removal shall be matters of public record and a full detailed statement of the reasons for such removal shall be filed with the clerk of the court and shall be made a matter of public record.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

22 OS(2d) 120, 258 NE(2d) 594 (1970), State ex rel Stokes v Cuyahoga County Probate Court. RC 733.72 is quasi-penal in character and should be strictly construed, and so strictly construed, pertains solely to acts of misfeasance or malfeasance occurring in the then existing term of the office, and does not authorize removal for noncontinuing acts of misconduct occurring in a term prior to re-election of said officer by the electors of the municipality.

125 OS 182, 180 NE 713 (1932), In re Bostwick. Decision is reviewable by proceedings in error.

66 App(2d) 79, 419 NE(2d) 1108 (1979), 2,867 Signers of Petition for Removal of Mack v Mack. Any amendment to the charges in a complaint filed pursuant to RC 3.07 to 3.10 requires recirculation of the petitions and the filing of a new action.

66 App(2d) 79, 419 NE(2d) 1108 (1979), 2,867 Signers of Petition for Removal of Mack v Mack. Removal proceedings pursuant to RC 3.07 to 3.10 are quasi-penal in nature and should be strictly construed, for the law does not favor the removal of a duly elected official.

66 App(2d) 79, 419 NE(2d) 1108 (1979), 2,867 Signers of Petition for Removal of Mack v Mack. An action for removal of a public officer pursuant to RC 3.07 to 3.10 is a special statutory proceeding to which the civil rules do not apply.

66 App(2d) 79, 419 NE(2d) 1108 (1979), 2,867 Signers of Petition for Removal of Mack v Mack. Pursuant to RC 3.07 to 3.10, although the charges in the complaint or in the petitions need not conform to the technical niceties of a criminal indictment, the charges must be stated with specificity and set out with substantial certainty so as to aver facts and not conclusions, thus permitting the officer charged with misconduct in office to adequately prepare his defense.

47 App 17, 189 NE 855 (1933), In re Diehl; affirmed sub nom McMillen v Diehl, 128 OS 212, 190 NE 567 (1934). The court of appeals has jurisdiction to hear complaints against, and remove from office, judges of the common pleas court.

No. 3664 (11th Dist Ct App, Trumbull, 3-21-86), Petitioners v Stringer. Any number of separate printed or written complaints, identical in form and substance, bound together as one document, would conform to the RC 3.08 requirement that the complaint be signed by the requisite number of electors.

No. 3664 (11th Dist Ct App, Trumbull, 3-21-86), Petitioners v Stringer. Pursuant to RC 3.08, the charges in a complaint for removal from public office must be set out with specificity and substantial certainty.

No. 83-B-34 (7th Dist Ct App, Belmont, 5-8-84), In re Recall of Each Member of St. Clairsville-Richland Bd of Ed. Signed petitions which seek the recall of the members of a board of education because of misconduct "in the execution of the contract of employment for the Superintendent" do not specifically set forth the charge, and the action based thereon is properly dismissed.

28 Abs 635 (CP, Cuyahoga 1939), In Re Tunstall. In a proceeding under this section for removal of members of the board of education, where the charges are not specific and are uncertain and indefinite they should be dismissed in order that the respondents may not be deprived of their right to due process of law.

29 NP(NS) 92 (CP, Cuyahoga 1931), In re Sulzmann; affirmed by 125 OS 594, 183 NE 531 (1932). Petitions under GC 10-1, 10-2 (RC 3.07, 3.08) for removal of a public official for misconduct in office are not invalidated by the fact that they had been acknowledged before a notary public who had himself signed a petition and who was active in circulating the petitions. Petitions in present case for removal of sheriff found sufficient to confer jurisdiction.

470 F(2d) 163 (6th Cir Ohio 1972), Burks v Perk. The mayor of Cleveland has power pursuant to the city charter to determine charges of neglect of duty and malfeasance in office of civil service commissioners, and state statute provides for judicial review of the mayor's determination in the common pleas court, which could restrain enforcement of the mayor's decision pending review; therefore, since adversely affected commissioners have an adequate remedy under state law, they may not resort to the federal courts in the first instance.

339 FSupp 1194 (ND Ohio 1972), Burks v Perk; reversed by 470 F(2d) 163 (6th Cir Ohio 1972). In action by members of city civil service commission against the mayor challenging the validity of proceedings for their removal, the federal courts will apply the doctrine of abstention to allow the Ohio courts to determine the validity of the city charter provisions providing therefor, but the state removal proceedings will be stayed until such determination is made by the state court.

1963 OAG 561. Members of a county child welfare board are "public officers" within the meaning of O Const Art II §38, and may be removed by the board of county commissioners only upon "complaint and hearing" and only "for good cause."

1928 OAG 2167. Under the provisions of this section, proceedings for the removal of the county recorder in question can only be had by the filing of a written complaint specifically setting forth the charge, signed by five per cent of the qualified electors, and filed in the common pleas court of the county to be heard, after proper notice has been given and within thirty days, by the common pleas court, and a judgment of forfeiture should then be entered if the facts so warrant.

3.11 A person may hold but one of certain offices

No person shall hold at the same time by appointment or election more than one of the following offices: sheriff, county auditor, county treasurer, clerk of the court of common pleas, county recorder, prosecuting attorney, and probate judge.

Incompatibility, under common-law doctrine, of office of state legislator and position or post in local political subdivision. 89 ALR2d 632

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

65 Abs 495, 115 NE(2d) 62 (CP, Madison 1953), Allison v Baynes. Offices are incompatible when one is subordinate to, or in any way a check upon the other, or where it is physically impossible for one person to discharge the duties of both.

65 Abs 495, 115 NE(2d) 62 (CP, Madison 1953), Allison v Baynes. The offices of deputy sheriff and special constable are not incompatible.

OAG 81-078. A township trustee may serve as the holder of a certificate of competency as an electrical safety inspector privately employed in the business of conducting electrical inspections so long as he removes himself from any situation involving self-dealing or conflict of interest, since the possession of such a certificate does not in itself constitute a public office.

OAG 73-127. The positions of county treasurer and member of a township board of zoning appeals are incompatible, since the treasurer is a member of the county budget commission and as such is in a position where he can check on a township budget in which, as a member of the zoning board, he has a pecuniary interest.

OAG 73-024. The position of a member of a board of governors of a joint township hospital is incompatible with that of a county commissioner, since the legislature intended for the office of county commissioners to serve as a check upon the office of board of hospital governors.

OAG 71-027. There is no incompatibility in full-time employee of county treasurer or county engineer serving also as part-time investigator on staff of prosecuting attorney, as long as it is understood that his duties will not involve any investigation of his full-time employer.

OAG 65-150. The Ohio common law test of incompatibility of offices is when one is subordinate to, or in any way a check upon, the other, or when it is physically impossible for one person to discharge the duties of both.

OAG 65-138. The positions of secretary of the municipal civil service commission and stenographer clerk in the finance department are compatible, since only one of the two is a public office, and the other is merely a clerical job.

OAG 63-161. The positions of deputy sheriff and township clerk are compatible, unless it is physically impossible for the same person to perform the duties of the two positions, since there is no inconsistency between them and neither office is subordinate to nor in any way a check upon the other.

OAG 59-120. A director of a county agricultural society is not a public officer but is the agent of a private corporation, and therefore no incompatibility exists between the office of clerk of courts and the position of director of a county agricultural society.

OAG 56-6398. A school district may lawfully employ as a school bus driver a member of a board of township trustees.

OAG 56-6327. So long as the appointing authorities concerned find it to be physically possible for one individual to perform the duties of both positions, a probation officer of the juvenile court may lawfully be appointed to act also as school attendance officer of a city school district under RC 3321.14.

OAG 55-5565. The offices of township trustee and director of public safety in a city located in the township are compatible and may be held by one and the same person.

1952 OAG 2178. A deputy sheriff may not serve in that capacity and also hold the office of county coroner.

1943 OAG 6305. The positions of deputy sheriff and inspector of nuisances are compatible and may be held by the same person unless it is physically impossible for one person to discharge faithfully and efficiently the duties of both employments.

1938 OAG 1910. A public officer cannot in the interval between the date on which his resignation is offered and the date it is to take effect hold an office which is incompatible with the one in which he serves, once his resignation is duly accepted by the proper authority.

1938 OAG 1910. When an officer of one subdivision draws the salary incident to an incompatible office under a second subdivision, and is not a legal incumbent of that office, a finding should be made against the officer for the salary paid him by the second subdivision, and against the official or officials of the second subdivision who are responsible for such payments having been made.

1938 OAG 1312. A sheriff cannot accept appointment as a deputy of the tax commission because it creates an untenable condition which makes the holding of both offices incompatible.

3.15 Residency requirements

(A) Except as otherwise provided in division (B) of this section, at all times during his term of office:

(1) Each member of the general assembly or of the state board of education shall be a resident of the district he represents.

(2) Each judge and each elected officer of a court shall be a resident of the territory of that court.

(3) Each person holding an elective office of a political subdivision shall be a resident of that political subdivision.

(4) Each member of a municipal legislative authority who represents a ward shall be a resident of the ward he represents, and each member of a board of education of a city school district who represents a subdistrict shall be a resident of the subdistrict he represents.

(B) Any person who fails to meet any of the requirements of division (A) of this section that apply to him shall forfeit his office. Division (A) of this section applies to persons who have been either elected or appointed to an elective office. Division (A) of this section does not apply to a member of the general assembly or the state board of education, to a member of a municipal legislative authority who represents a ward, or to a member of a board of education of a city school district who represents a subdistrict, during the remainder of his existing term of office after there is a change in his district's, ward's, or subdistrict's boundaries that leaves his permanent residence outside the district, ward, or subdistrict.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

OAG 91-045. For purposes of the residency requirement of RC 3.15, if, as a result of the adoption of a new apportionment plan, the number used to identify the district from which a representative was elected is assigned to a geographic region that differs in any way from the geographic region of the district from which the representative was elected, the boundaries of the representative's district have changed. Should such a boundary change occur, thereby causing the representative's permanent residence to be located outside the boundaries of the numerical district from which he was elected, the representative may, pursuant to RC 3.15(B), continue to represent his current district for the remainder of his term without complying with the residency requirement of RC 3.15(A) that he reside for his entire term within the district from which he was elected.

OAG 91-045. A member of the Ohio house of representatives who is affected by the operation of RC 3.15(B) may move his permanent residence outside of the district he was elected to represent without threat of forfeiture of office as of the date of the adoption of the 1991 apportionment plan, whether that plan is ultimately deemed valid or invalid under applicable law.

OAG 91-045. For purposes of RC 3.15, a person is a resident of the place where he dwells or has his abode; a person's "permanent residence" is his dwelling place or the place where he has established his home on other than temporary or transient basis.

OAG 90-070. Pursuant to RC 3.15, a person serving as county coroner, whether elected or appointed, must be a resident of the county in which he serves at all times during his term of office.

3.23 Oath of office of judges and other officers

The oath of office of each judge of a court of record shall be to support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of this state, to administer justice without respect to persons, and faithfully and impartially to discharge and perform all the duties incumbent on him as such judge, according to the best of his ability and understanding. The oath of office of every other officer, deputy, or clerk shall be to support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of this state, and faithfully to discharge the duties of his office.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

43 OS(3d) 1, 1989 SERB 4-41, 539 NE(2d) 103 (1989), Rocky River v SERB. Judges in Ohio are charged with supporting the Ohio Constitution by O Const Art XV §7 and RC 3.23; they are not sworn to support someone else's interpretation of it.

43 OS(3d) 1, 1989 SERB 4-41, 539 NE(2d) 103 (1989), Rocky River v SERB. Reexamining constitutional precedent is a personal decision for each supreme court judge, in an ever-evolving society that requires innovative thinking and change to cope with problems of the future; hidebound, slavish adherence to the past is unnecessary, and if a constitutional matter is of "deep concern" to the majority of the current members of a court they have not merely the power but the duty to reconsider it.

47 App(2d) 28, 351 NE(2d) 777 (1975), Cuyahoga County Bd of Mental Retardation v Assn of Cuyahoga County Teachers of Trainable Retarded. When the undisputed facts are such that a trial judge is under a clear and mandatory duty to disqualify himself from hearing a case, his attempt to act in violation of that duty is null and void, and when an affidavit of disqualification has been properly filed with the clerk of courts, a trial judge is without authority to proceed with the case or to enter judgment therein, until the chief justice of the Ohio supreme court has passed upon the issue of disqualification.

OAG 81-085. A newly-appointed county auditor becomes entitled to compensation upon giving bond and taking the oath of office required by O Const Art XV §7 and RC 3.22 and 3.23.

1961 OAG 2035. A person who has been elected to serve an unexpired term in the court of common pleas must present a legal certificate of his election, and receive a governor's commission to fill such office, and take the required oath of office before he is entitled to serve in such capacity and receive the salary provided therefor.

UCBR B90-00071-0000 (6-11-90), In re Williams. A public employee's oath to "support the Constitution of the State of Ohio" does not include a prohibition against violating any criminal statute enacted thereunder, and does not give a public employer just cause to dismiss a public employee who commits a fourth-degree felony unrelated to her work by shooting her boyfriend in a barroom.

3.24 Elected officials may administer oaths of office

Every person holding an elected office under the constitution or laws of this state may administer oaths of office to persons elected or appointed to offices under the constitution or laws of this state if those persons are elected or appointed to offices within the geographical limits of his constituency, except that members of the general assembly may administer oaths of office to persons elected or appointed to any office under the constitution or laws of this state. Nothing in this section shall forbid the judge of a court established by the constitution of this state from administering an oath to any person.

When an oath of office is required to be certified in writing, the person taking the oath shall write his signature immediately under the text of the oath. The person administering the oath under authority of this section shall then write his signature, the title of the elected office which he holds, and the date; and shall affix the seal of his office if a seal is prescribed for, or has been adopted by, his office.

7.10 Rates for legal advertising

For the publication of advertisements, notices, and proclamations, except those relating to proposed amendments to the Ohio constitution, required to be published by a public officer of the state, county, municipal corporation, township, school, benevolent or other public institution, or by a trustee, assignee, executor, or administrator, or by or in any court of record, except when the rate is otherwise fixed by law, publishers of newspapers may charge and receive for such advertisements, notices, and proclamations rates charged on annual contracts by them for a like amount of space to other advertisers who advertise in its general display advertising columns.

Legal advertising, except that relating to proposed amendments to the Ohio constitution, shall be set up in a compact form, without unnecessary spaces, blanks, or headlines, and printed in not smaller than six point type. The type used must be of such proportions that the body of the capital letter M is no wider than it is high and all other letters and characters are in proportion.

110 OS 360, 144 NE 256 (1924), Cleveland v Legal News Publishing Co. This section does not permit city authorities and the publisher of a newspaper to agree orally for the payment of a greater rate than that herein fixed, and the payment of any such greater rate, even though the contract and payment be made without fraud or collusion, does not preclude a recovery, under GC 286 (RC 117.10), of the excess illegally paid.

1951 OAG 771. Newspapers with a circulation of over 25,000 are not required to base their charges for legal advertisements on the rates applicable to advertisers who contract to use a minimum amount of periodical space.

1951 OAG 771. Statute specifying rate of one dollar for each square of the first insertion and fifty cents per square for each additional insertion refers to the rate to be charged for legal advertising by newspapers having a circulation of less than 25,000 and not those having circulation of more than 25,000.

1951 OAG 771. Where a newspaper prescribed rates for advertisements other than legal advertisements, classifying them as transient, with no prescribed number of insertions, or on a twelve months basis, the newspaper may charge a rate for legal advertising not inconsistent with the transient rate for other advertisements.

1940 OAG 2920. Publisher of a newspaper who prints the notice required to be attached to the list of delinquent lands pursuant to provisions of GC 5704 (RC 5721.03), is entitled to be compensated therefor at the rate prescribed by GC 6251 (RC 7.10).

1936 OAG 5582. When a display advertisement explaining the three plans of payment of real estate taxes, and requesting payment of real estate taxes which are delinquent, is inserted by a county treasurer in a newspaper having less than 25,000 circulation, in order to determine the number of squares used, each line of such advertisement shall be calculated as to the number of ems it contains in accordance with the size of type employed and then the number of lines of each type shall be determined in accordance 1928 OAG 2365. Publishers of newspapers in which are published the advertisements, notices and proclamations described in this section, may not charge in excess of the maximum rate prescribed in such section for such publication, but where the statute specifically provides that proof of publication be furnished by the publisher, such proof constitutes an essential part of the publication and must be furnished and no additional payment may be demanded therefor.

1921 OAG p 409. The word "circulation," which prescribes rates of charges for legal advertisements, means the bona fide circulation of the issue of the newspaper in which the advertisement is published.

1916 OAG 1397. Advertisements deemed by the county auditor, treasurer, probate judge, or commissioners to be of general interest to taxpayers under this section and ordered published are to be paid for at the rate fixed at GC 6251 (now RC 7.10).

7.101 Rates and specifications for publishing proposed constitutional amendments

For publication of proposed amendments to the Ohio constitution, ballot language, and explanations and arguments both for and against proposed amendments, referenda, or laws proposed by initiative petitions, publishers of newspapers may charge and receive rates charged on annual contracts by them for a like amount of space to other advertisers who advertise in its general display advertising columns.

Legal advertising of proposed amendments to the constitution shall be printed in display form and shall meet the following specifications. The advertisements shall contain a headline entitled "proposed amendment to the Ohio constitution" printed in not smaller than thirty point type. The ballot language, and explanations and arguments both for and against the proposed amendments, shall be printed in type not smaller than ten point type. For referenda and laws proposed by initiative petitions, the advertisement shall contain a headline entitled "referendum" or, when appropriate, "proposed law" printed in not smaller than thirty point type. All advertisements shall contain such normal spaces and blanks as contribute to clarity and understanding and the entire section of each publication shall be enclosed by a black border line of the same point type size as corresponds to the type size of the ballot language. NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

68 OS 362, 67 NE 733 (1903), Vindicator Printing Co v State. Publication of a sheriff's proclamation is authorized by RS 2977, supplemented by RS 4367, which requires publication in two newspapers of opposite politics, and taken together the meaning is one insertion in each newspaper; insofar as these several statutes provide for the number of publications, they control, and publications in excess of the limit fixed are unauthorized.

56 App 88 (Hamilton 1937), Dallman v Campbell. This section is not applicable where the county commissioners comply with GC 6945 by publishing notice in a newspaper of general circulation, since GC 6945 is a special statute and controls in situations involving road construction bids.

36 App 455, 173 NE 252 (1929), Grooms v Adams County Bd of Commrs. This section in no way changes the provision of GC

6864 (RC 5553.05), as applied to the advertisement involved in this case.

18 App 462 (1923), State ex rel Compton v Butler County Bd of Commrs. Applies to publication of notice of submission to the electors of question of expenditure for construction of bridge by county commissioners under GC 5639-1 (Repealed).

18 App 462 (1923), State ex rel Compton v Butler County Bd of Commrs. GC 6864 (RC 5553.05), relating to publication of notice of view and hearing by county commissioners in road improvement proceedings, and GC 6252 (RC 7.11) relating to the publication of legal advertisements, are statutes of a general nature having uniform operation throughout the state and should be construed in pari materia.

30 CC(NS) 273, 35 CD 387 (Lorain 1918), Reefy v Elyria. The standard of political orthodoxy by which two newspapers are measured to see if they are "opposite" with the contemplation of this section is their conduct and affiliations during an election time when partisanship holds sway and party organization and discipline finds expression in party platforms, not their claims and declarations at a time of political inactivity.

30 CC(NS) 273, 35 CD 387 (Lorain 1918), Reefy v Elyria. What constitute "newspapers of opposite politics."

6 CC(NS) 151, 17 CD 264 (Franklin 1905), Columbus v Barr. Conformity with this section requires that publication shall be made in two papers which are the recognized organs of parties politically opposed, and an independent paper which refuses to be bound by the ties of allegiance is not within the classification, and this section does not permit an award of such advertising to an independent newspaper.

7 NP 239, 1 D 584 (CP, Defiance 1900), State v Defiance County Bd of Commrs. This section is not unconstitutional as depriving publishers from outside the county seat from competing for public printing, since the law does not provide for competitive bidding, and the publication of such notice is not a private enterprise.

20 D 548, 55 Bull 217 (CP, Cuyahoga 1910), Doster v Cleveland. This section, requiring papers for publication of ordinances to be of opposite politics, means party newspapers, advocating and expounding party politics.

1963 OAG 395. Requirements for public hearings under RC 711.10 and 711.101 imply that there must be notice prior to the hearing; no particular form of notice is required so long as it is reasonably calculated to apprise all interested parties, and a single publication in a newspaper of general circulation thirty days before such hearing constitutes reasonable notice.

1959 OAG 354. RC 7.11 requires that certain proclamations, orders and notices (1) be published in two newspapers of opposite politics published at the county seat, if two such papers are published at such county seat, and (2) that, in counties having cities of eight thousand population or more, not the county seats of such counties, additional publication of such proclamations, orders and notices shall be made in each such other city in two newspapers of opposite politics and, as to any other city, of general circulation therein, regardless of the place at which such newspapers are physically produced.

1952 OAG 1235. County officers have authority to publish advertisements to encourage the payment of delinquent real estate taxes and to stimulate interest in pending sales of delinquent and forfeited lands, and such latter advertisements must be published in two papers published in the county seat.

1936 OAG 5209. A county treasurer has discretionary authority to enter into a contract to publish a display advertisement explaining the three different plans of payment of real estate taxes and requesting the payment of real estate taxes which are delinquent, providing such advertisement is published in two newspapers of opposite politics at the county seat, if there are such.

1933 OAG 1657. Where there are not two newspapers of opposite politics published in a city of over eight thousand population in a county, but there are two nonpartisan newspapers published in such city and of general circulation in the county, the county treasurer should publish the notices of the rates of taxation in those two newspapers as a compliance with the terms of this section and GC 2648 (RC 323.08), and the said treasurer may not, at his own discretion, insert the tax rates in either of such newspapers.

1932 OAG 4092. Additional publication of the notice of rates of taxation must be made for six consecutive weeks in two newspapers of opposite politics in each city of 8,000 inhabitants or more which is not the county seat.

1931 OAG 3394. Whether or not newspapers are of opposite politics is a question of fact to be determined from all the pertinent circumstances by the public official charged with the duty of having publication made, and the decision of such question of fact is final, in the absence of fraud or gross abuse of discretion.

1928 OAG 1566. County commissioners may, if they so deem proper, further advertise the sale of county bonds in accordance with the provisions of this section, provided that such additional publications shall not be in excess of the three weeks provided by GC 2293-28 (RC 133.35). Where such additional advertisement is authorized it must be published in two newspapers of opposite politics at the county seat if there be such newspapers published thereat, and, in addition thereto, notices shall be published in two newspapers of opposite politics in each city of eight thousand inhabitants or more within such county.

1927 OAG 2333. The delivery of the tax duplicate to the county treasurer at a later date than that prescribed by statute does not absolve the county treasurer from the duty of publishing the tax rates.

1927 OAG 1292. Under GC 2648 (RC 323.08) and this section it is mandatory upon the county treasurer to publish the rates of taxation.

1927 OAG 1292. The publication of the rates of taxation should be made in two newspapers of opposite politics at the county seat, if there be such newspapers published thereat; and such publication should be made for six successive weeks as provided in GC 2648 (RC 323.08). If two newspapers of opposite politics are not published at the county seat, publication should be made in one such newspaper if there be one. There is no authority for the publication of such notice in a newspaper which is not published at the county seat except in cities other than a county seat having a population of eight thousand inhabitants or more.

1919 OAG 458. The publication of notice to contractors must comply with both this section and GC 2352, since these two statutes are cumulative.

1918 OAG 1648. The county treasurer may be compelled by mandamus to make the publication of the tax rate in two newspapers as provided in this section and GC 2648.

1918 OAG 937. Notice under this section has been complied with when published in the only newspaper of a city of 8,000 population which is not a county seat.

1915 OAG 941. A federal census is not conclusive for purposes of this section, but a census taken by a city itself under GC 3625 (now RC 715.17) may be adopted in determining whether additional publication of the notice provided for in this section shall be made in such city.

1915 OAG 897. The provisions of this section requiring the publication of the "times for holding courts" to be made in two newspapers of "opposite politics" as specified therein are supplementary to and control the provisions of the special statutes requiring such publications to be made in one or more newspapers of general circulation, and whether a publication is a "newspaper" or a "newspaper of general circulation" or a newspaper of "opposite politics" is a mixed question of law and fact which can only be determined under the particular facts of each case.

7.12 Newspapers qualified for publication of legal notices; office of publication; general circulation

Whenever any legal publication is required by law to be made in a newspaper published in a municipal corporation, county, or other political subdivision, the newspaper shall also be a newspaper of general circulation in the municipal corporation, county, or other political subdivision, without further restriction or limitation upon a selection of the newspaper to be used. If no newspaper is published in such municipal corporation, county, or other political subdivision, such legal publication shall be made in any newspaper of general circulation therein. If there are less than two newspapers published in any municipal corporation, county, or other political subdivision in the manner defined by this section, then any legal publication required by law to be made in a newspaper published in a municipal corporation, county, or other political subdivision may be made in any newspaper regularly issued at stated intervals from a known office of publication located within the municipal corporation, county, or other political subdivision. As used in this section, a known office of publication is a public office where the business of the newspaper is transacted during the usual business hours, and such office shall be shown by the publication itself.

In addition to all other requirements, a newspaper or newspaper of general circulation, except those publications performing the functions described in section 2701.09 of the Revised Code for a period of one year immediately preceding any such publication required to be made, shall be a publication bearing a title or name, regularly issued as frequently as once a week for a definite price or consideration paid for by not less than fifty per cent of those to whom distribution is made, having a second class mailing privilege, being not less than four pages, published continuously during the immediately preceding one-year period, and circulated generally in the political subdivision in which it is published. Such publication must be of a type to which the general public resorts for passing events of a political, religious, commercial, and social nature, current happenings, announcements, miscellaneous reading matter, advertisements, and other notices.

56 OS(3d) 145, 565 NE(2d) 536 (1990), State ex rel Daily Reporter v Franklin County Court of Common Pleas. The manifest intent of the legislature was that the special provision, RC 2329.26, prevail over and be an exception to the general provision, RC 7.12, in regard to the authority of a court to designate a newspaper for publication of an order of sale of property taken in execution.

56 OS(3d) 140, 565 NE(2d) 532 (1990), State ex rel Court Index Press, Inc v Deters. A daily law journal which is designated as "the journal in which shall be published all calendars of the courts of record" pursuant to RC 2701.09 qualifies as a "newspaper of general circulation" under RC 7.12 and legal notices may be published in it.

49 OS(3d) 296, 551 NE(2d) 1286 (1990), Record Publishing Co v Kainrad. To be a "newspaper of general circulation," a publication must meet all the requirements of RC 7.12, including the requirement that the publication be of a type to which the general public resorts for news of passing events.

49 OS(3d) 296, 551 NE(2d) 1286 (1990), Record Publishing Co v Kainrad. The judges of the courts of record in a county do not have the authority to designate a specific publication to be the exclusive carrier of all notices which, by law, are required to be published in a newspaper of general circulation.

91 OS 354, 110 NE 922 (1915), Elmwood Place v Schanzle. In light of the settled policy of the state as indicated by the history of legislation on the subject of legal notice, the general assembly did not intend by the codification of this section and others that in a village in which only one newspaper is published and of general circulation no publication of its ordinances would be required.

32 Abs 308 (App, Montgomery 1940), State ex rel Dayton-Oakwood Press v Dissinger. A newspaper publisher cannot urge that he is entitled to a writ of mandamus compelling either the city manager or clerk of counsel to publish ordinances in his newspaper, as there is no statute wherein the legislature has specifically placed upon either or both the duty to attend to the publication of ordinances or resolutions.

OAG 91-059. For purposes of selecting a newspaper for advertisement of constitutional amendments pursuant to O Const Art XVI §1, the provision of RC 7.12 governing instances where there are "less than two newspapers published in" a county applies when only one newspaper is actually printed in a county.

OAG 91-059. For purposes of selecting a newspaper for advertisement of constitutional amendments pursuant to O Const Art XVI §1, when only one newspaper is actually printed in a county RC 7.12 authorizes selection of a newspaper printed out of the county if, in addition to being a newspaper of "general circulation," it is also "a newspaper regularly issued at stated intervals from a known office of publication located within" the county.

OAG 86-097. RC 7.12 does not permit a county to make the required publication of legal notices in a newspaper which has no second class mailing privilege and is distributed free of charge.

1963 OAG 395. Requirements for public hearings under RC 711.10 and 711.101 imply that there must be notice prior to the hearing; no particular form of notice is required so long as it is reasonably calculated to apprise all interested parties, and a single publication in a newspaper of general circulation thirty days before such hearing constitutes reasonable notice.

1946 OAG 824. Change in ownership and suspension of publication for period of approximately two months does not cause newspaper to lose its character as "newspaper of general circulation" as that phrase is defined in GC 5704 (RC 5721.03) and this section.

1918 OAG 1309. The officers of a municipality in which the only newspaper published in the city is printed in the German language are not compelled to insert legal advertising in it unless it has a bona fide paid circulation of not less than 1,000 copies.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

Ethics Op 74-004. Since the clause "who receives less than one thousand dollars per year for serving in such position," as used in RC 102.01(B), applies only to persons who are members of a board, commission, or bureau of any county or city, village officials and employees are exempted from the definition of "public official or employee" regardless of the amount of compensation received for serving in such position.

(5) The names of all persons residing or transacting business in the state to whom the person filing the statement owes, in his own name or in the name of any other person, more than one thousand dollars. This division shall not be construed to require the disclosure of debts owed by the person resulting from the ordinary conduct of a business or profession or debts on the person's residence or real property used primarily for personal recreation, except that the superintendent of building and loan associations shall disclose the names of all state-chartered building and loan associations and of all service corporations subject to regulation under division (E)(2) of section 1151.34 of the Revised Code to whom the superintendent in his own name or in the name of any other person owes any money, and that the superintendent of banks and any deputy superintendent shall disclose the names of all state-chartered banks and all bank subsidiary corporations subject to regulation under section 1107.35 of the Revised Code to whom such superintendent or deputy superintendent owes any money.

A person who holds elective office shall file his statement on or before the fifteenth day of April of each year, unless he is a candidate for office. A person who is appointed to fill a vacancy for an unexpired term in an elective office shall file his statement within fifteen days after he qualifies for office. Other persons shall file an annual statement on or before the fifteenth day of April, or if appointed or employed after such date, within ninety days after appointment or employment. No person shall be required to file more than one statement for any one calendar year with the appropriate ethics commission.

The appropriate ethics commission may for good cause extend, for a reasonable time, the deadline for filing a disclosure statement under this section.

(B) The Ohio ethics commission, the house and senate legislative ethics committees, and the board of commissioners on grievances and discipline of the supreme court may, using the rule-making procedures of Chapter 119. of the Revised Code, require any class of public officials or employees under its jurisdiction and not specifically excluded by this section whose positions involve a substantial and material exercise of administrative discretion in the formulation of public policy, expenditure of public funds, enforcement of laws and rules of the state or a county or city, or the execution of other public trusts, to file an annual statement on or before the fifteenth day of April under division (A) of this section. The appropriate ethics commission shall send the public officials or employees written notice of the requirement by the fifteenth day of February of each year the filing is required, unless the public official or employee is appointed after such date, in which case the notice shall be sent within thirty days after appointment and the filing shall be made not later than ninety days after appointment.

Disclosure statements filed under this division with the Ohio ethics commission by members of boards, commissions, or bureaus of the state for which no compensation is received other than reasonable and necessary expenses shall be kept confidential. The Ohio ethics commission shall examine each disclosure statement required to be kept confidential to determine whether a potential conflict of interest exists for the person who filed the disclosure statement. A potential conflict of interest exists if the private interests of the person, as indicated by his disclosure statement, might interfere with the public interests he is required to serve in the exercise of his authority and duties in his office or position of employment. If the commission determines that a potential conflict of interest exists, it shall notify the person who filed the disclosure statement and shall make the portions of the disclosure statement that indicate a potential conflict of interest subject to public inspection in the same manner as is provided for other disclosure statements. Any portion of the disclosure statement that the commission determines does not indicate a potential conflict of interest shall be returned immediately to the person who filed the statement.

(C) No person shall knowingly fail to file a statement that is required by this section.

(D) No person shall knowingly file a false statement that is required to be filed under this section.

OAG 76-009. The financial disclosure statement to be filed annually pursuant to Code of Jud Cond Canon 6(C) and RC 102.02 is a public record to be made available to the press if requested and may be divulged without the written consent of the board of commissioners on grievances and discipline of the supreme court of Ohio or the ethics commission.

Bd of Commrs on Grievances & Discipline Op 91-028 (12-6-91). The clerk and deputy clerk of the Court of Claims are not required under RC 102.02 to file annual financial disclosure statements, but are persons whom the bd of commrs on grievances & discipline could require to file through rule-making procedures of RC Ch 119; however, under Canon 6(C) and the compliance section of Code of Jud Cond, the clerk and deputy clerk of the Court of Claims must file financial disclosure statements with the secretary of the bd of commrs on grievances & discipline.

Ethics Op 90-014. RC 102.02(A) does not require a person who was elected as a village council member to file a financial disclosure statement with the Ohio ethics commission during the remainder of his term when, as a result of the decennial federal census, the municipality's status has changed from a village to a city.

Ethics Op 90-014. RC 102.02(A) requires a council member of a village that has been advanced to a city as a result of the federal decennial census who desires to seek election as a city council member to file his first financial disclosure statement with the Ohio ethics commission no later than the thirtieth day before the first election at which his candidacy as a city official will be voted upon.

Ethics Op 89-007. A county treasurer is required to file a financial disclosure statement on or before April 15 of the year after his election by RC 102.02(A), even though his term of office does not begin until the first Monday in September of the year following the election.

Ethics Op 89-001. A public official or employee required to file a financial disclosure statement pursuant to RC 102.02 is deemed to owe a person more than $1000 for purposes of RC 102.02(A)(5) where he has made purchases from that person costing more than $1000 and has deferred payment for those items under the terms of a credit agreement, even though the public official or employee subsequently pays the entire amount owed during the grace period allowed under the credit agreement, so that no interest charges are incurred.

Ethics Op 89-001. RC 102.02(A)(5) requires a public official or employee to disclose the names of all persons residing or transacting business in the state to whom he has owed, in his own name or in the name of any other person, more than $1000 at any time during the preceding calendar year.

Ethics Op 89-001. RC 102.02(A)(6) requires a public official or employee to disclose the names of all persons residing or transacting business in the state who owed the public official or employee, either in his own name or in the name of any other person for his use or benefit, more than $1000 at any time during the preceding calendar year.

Ethics Op 80-005. RC 102.02(A) requires a person who holds an elective office to file a financial disclosure statement on or before the fifteenth day of April of each year, unless he is a qualified candidate for office.

Ethics Op 76-013. A county commissioner, who is a general partner in partnership A which, in turn, is a partner in partnership B, is required by RC 102.02(A)(3) to disclose on his financial disclosure statement his interest in partnership A, but not partnership A's interest in partnership B.

Ethics Op 76-012. A person required to file a financial disclosure statement under RC 102.02(A)(3) must disclose the name of the partnership in which he has an investment of more than one thousand dollars and give a description of the nature of his investment.

Ethics Op 76-012. A person who meets the specifications of RC 102.02 and who is a general partner in a partnership which owns real property is required to disclose partnership property on his financial disclosure statement.

Ethics Op 76-011. A trust, for the purposes of RC 102.02(A)(3), is a relationship in which one person holds a property interest, subject to an equitable obligation to keep or use that interest for the benefit of another.

Ethics Op 76-011. A fiduciary relationship, for the purposes of RC 102.02(A)(3), includes the relationship of director to a corporation and a trustee to a trust.

Ethics Op 75-036. RC 102.02(A) does not require a councilwoman, who must file a financial disclosure statement, to disclose sources of income of her spouse which exceed $500, unless the income as initially received by her spouse is specifically designated for the use and benefit of the councilwoman.

Ethics Op 75-032. A person who is appointed to the office of city councilman on December 30, 1974 and resigns from that office on January 2, 1975, is required to file a financial disclosure statement based on calendar year 1974, within fifteen days after he qualifies for office, but if he complies with this requirement, he is not required to file an additional financial disclosure statement based on calendar year 1974 on or before April 15, 1975. He will, however, be required to file a financial disclosure statement based on calendar year 1975, on or before April 15, 1976.

Ethics Op 75-031. A person seeking election who voluntarily withdraws from an election within twenty days after filing his petition of candidacy is no longer a candidate within the purview of RC 102.02(A), and therefore is not required to file a financial disclosure statement.

Ethics Op 75-031. For the purposes of RC 102.02, a "candidate" is a person who has filed his or her petition of candidacy whether or not that petition has been certified.

Ethics Op 75-029. Criteria of whether a person occupies an "office" for the purposes of RC 102.02 include whether he was appointed or elected, whether he has a title, whether he exercises a function of government concerning the public, whether he is not subject to a contract of employment, and whether he exercises the sovereign power.

Ethics Op 75-003. The requirement to file a financial disclosure statement does not apply during the then current term of office to any elected official or any person who was appointed to an elective office and was serving in such capacity prior to December 19, 1973.

Ethics Op 74-002. An appointed member of a council or board, excluding the board of commissioners on grievances of the supreme court, the Ohio ethics commission, and those required by rule of the ethics commission, is not the director or deputy director of that council or board for the purposes of RC 102.02.

102.03 Restrictions during and after employment; bribery prohibited; honorarium for personal appearance; reimbursement for travel expenses; membership in organizations

(A) No present or former public official or employee shall, during his public employment or service or for twelve months thereafter, represent a client or act in a representative capacity for any person on any matter in which he personally participated as a public official or employee through decision, approval, disapproval, recommendation, the rendering of advice, investigation, or other substantial exercise of administrative discretion. For twenty-four months after the conclusion of his service, a former commissioner or attorney examiner of the public utilities commission may not represent a public utility, as defined in section 4905.02 of the Revised Code, or act in a representative capacity on behalf of such a utility before any state board, commission, or agency. For twenty-four months after the conclusion of his employment or service, no former public official or employee who personally participated as a public official or employee through decision, approval, disapproval, recommendation, the rendering of advice, the development or adoption of solid waste management plans, investigation, inspection, or other substantial exercise of administrative discretion under Chapter 343. or 3734. of the Revised Code shall represent a person who is the owner or operator of a facility, as defined in section 3734.01 of the Revised Code, or who is an applicant for a permit or license for a facility under that chapter, on any matter in which he personally participated as a public official or employee. As used in this division, "matter" includes any case, proceeding, application, determination, issue, or question, but does not include the proposal, consideration, or enactment of statutes, rules, ordinances, resolutions, or charter or constitutional amendments. As used in this division, "represent" includes any formal or informal appearance before, or any written or oral communication with, any public agency on behalf of any person. Nothing contained in this division shall prohibit, during such period, a former public official or employee from being retained or employed to represent, assist, or act in a representative capacity for the public agency by which he was employed or on which he served. This division shall not be construed to prohibit the performance of ministerial functions, including, but not limited to, the filing or amendment of tax returns, applications for permits and licenses, incorporation papers, and other similar documents.

(B) No present or former public official or employee shall disclose or use, without appropriate authorization, any information acquired by him in the course of his official duties which is confidential because of statutory provisions, or which has been clearly designated to him as confidential when such confidential designation is warranted because of the status of the proceedings or the circumstances under which the information was received and preserving its confidentiality is necessary to the proper conduct of government business.

(C) No public official or employee shall participate within the scope of his duties as a public official or employee, except through ministerial functions as defined in division (A) of this section, in any license or rate-making proceeding that directly affects the license or rates of any person, partnership, trust, business trust, corporation, or association in which the public official or employee or his immediate family owns or controls more than five per cent. No public official or employee shall participate within the scope of his duties as a public official or employee, except through ministerial functions as defined in division (A) of this section, in any license or rate-making proceeding that directly affects the license or rates of any person to whom the public official or employee or his immediate family, or a partnership, trust, business trust, corporation, or association of which he or his immediate family owns or controls more than five per cent, has sold goods or services totaling more than one thousand dollars during the preceding year, unless the public official or employee has filed a written statement acknowledging such sale with the clerk or secretary of the public agency and the statement is entered in any public record of the agency's proceedings. This division shall not be construed to require the disclosure of clients of attorneys or persons licensed under section 4732.12 or 4732.15 of the Revised Code, or patients of persons certified under section 4731.14 of the Revised Code.

(D) No public official or employee shall use or authorize the use of the authority or influence of his office or employment to secure anything of value or the promise or offer of anything of value that is of such a character as to manifest a substantial and improper influence upon him with respect to his duties.

(E) No public official or employee shall solicit or accept anything of value that is of such a character as to manifest a substantial and improper influence upon him with respect to his duties.

(F) No person shall promise or give to a public official or employee anything of value that is of such a character as to manifest a substantial and improper influence upon him with respect to his duties.

(G) In the absence of bribery or another offense under the Revised Code or a purpose to defraud, contributions, as defined in section 3517.01 of the Revised Code, made to a campaign committee, political party, or political action committee on behalf of an elected public officer or other public official or employee who seeks elective office shall be considered to accrue ordinarily to the public official or employee for the purposes of divisions (D), (E), and (F) of this section.

(H) Divisions (D), (E), and (F) of this section do not prohibit a public official or employee from soliciting or accepting or prohibit a person from promising or giving to a public official or employee an honorarium or similar fee for making a personal appearance or speech, or soliciting, accepting, promising, or giving prepayment or reimbursement of travel, meal, and lodging expenses incurred in connection with the personal appearance or speech if either division (H)(1) or (2) of this section applies:

(1) The public official or employee is required to file a financial disclosure statement under section 102.02 of the Revised Code covering the time period in which he accepts payment; neither the honorarium or similar fee nor the prepaid or reimbursed expenses are paid by any person or other entity, or any representative or association of such persons or entities, that is regulated by, doing business with, or seeking to do business with the department, division, institution, board, commission, authority, bureau, or other instrumentality of the governmental entity with which the public official or employee serves; and the expenses paid or reimbursed do not exceed the actual cost of items actually furnished;

(2) The honorarium, expenses, or both were paid in recognition of demonstrable business, professional, or esthetic interests of the public official or employee that exist apart from his public office or employment, including, but not limited to, such a demonstrable interest in public speaking and were not paid by any person or other entity, or by any representative or association of such persons or entities, that is regulated by, doing business with, or seeking to do business with the department, division, institution, board, commission, authority, bureau, or other instrumentality of the governmental entity with which the public official or employee serves.

(I) A public official or employee may accept travel, meals, and lodging or expenses or reimbursement of expenses for travel, meals, and lodging in connection with conferences, seminars, and similar events related to his official duties if the travel, meals, and lodging, expenses, or reimbursement is not of such a character as to manifest a substantial and improper influence upon him with respect to his duties. The house of representatives and senate, in their respective codes of ethics, and the Ohio ethics commission, under section 111.15 of the Revised Code, may adopt rules setting standards and conditions for the furnishing and acceptance of such travel, meals, and lodging, expenses, or reimbursement.

A person who acts in compliance with this division and any applicable rules adopted under it, or any applicable, similar rules adopted by the supreme court governing judicial officers and employees, does not violate division (D), (E), or (F) of this section. This division does not preclude any person from seeking an advisory opinion from the appropriate ethics commission under section 102.08 of the Revised Code.

(J) For purposes of divisions (D), (E), and (F) of this section, the membership of a public official or employee in an organization shall not be considered, in and of itself, to be of such a character as to manifest a substantial and improper influence on him with respect to his duties. As used in this division, "organization" means a church or a religious, benevolent, fraternal, or professional organization that is tax exempt under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3), (4), (8), (10), or (19) of the "Internal Revenue Code of 1986." This division does not apply to a public official or employee who is an employee of an organization, serves as a trustee, director, or officer of an organization, or otherwise holds a fiduciary relationship with an organization. This division does not allow a public official or employee who is a member of an organization to participate, formally or informally, in deliberations, discussions, or voting on a matter or to use his official position with regard to the interests of the organization on the matter if he has assumed a particular responsibility in the organization with respect to the matter or if the matter would affect his personal, pecuniary interests.

66 App(2d) 17, 419 NE(2d) 1128 (1979), State v Nipps. RC 102.03 is not unconstitutional on its face.

Ethics Op 91-005. The exemption to the revolving door law of RC 102.03(A), which permits a former public official or employee to be "retained or employed to represent, assist, or act in a representative capacity for the public agency by which he was employed or on which he served," allows a former official or employee to be employed by all of the public agencies by which he was employed or on which he served.

Ethics Op 91-005. The exemption to the revolving door law of RC 102.03(A), which permits a former public official or employee to be "retained or employed to represent, assist, or act in a representative capacity for the public agency by which he was employed or on which he served," applies to the two-year prohibition governing former officials and employees who personally participated while in public service under RC Ch 343 or Ch 3734, as well as to the general, one-year prohibition of the revolving door law.

Ethics Op 89-013. The Ohio ethics law, RC Ch 102, and related statutes prohibit a public official or employee from accepting from a vendor interested in doing business with the official's or employee's agency the travel, meal, and lodging expenses incurred in viewing the vendor's product and prohibit the vendor from paying such expenses, regardless of whether the expenses would be paid directly to the public official or employee or as reimbursement to the official's or employee's agency.

Ethics Op 89-003; superseded in part by statute as stated in Ethics Op 91-003. RC 102.03(A) does not apply to an independent contractor with a governmental agency so long as the independent contractor does not exercise sovereign powers of government through his authority and administrative discretion.

Ethics Op 89-002. The Ohio ethics law, RC Ch 102, and related statutes do not prohibit private companies from donating industrial and safety equipment to the industrial commission, so long as no official or employee of the commission benefits personally from the equipment and the donation is voluntary.

Ethics Op 88-002. RC 102.03 forbids a deputy director of the office of budget and management who is president of the controlling board from accepting, soliciting, or using his official authority or influence to secure employment with a state agency.

Ethics Op 88-001. RC 2921.42(A)(1) and 102.03(D) prohibit a physician who is employed by the department of mental retardation and developmental disabilities from authorizing, or using the authority or influence of his employment to secure authorization of a contract under which he would provide on-call medical services to the department.

Ethics Op 85-012. An officer or board member of a professional association is not, as such, forbidden by law to serve on the state licensing board that regulates his profession, but RC 102.03(D) does forbid him to solicit or receive expenses or other things of value from the professional association, or to participate in state licensing board deliberations or votes on any matter with respect to which the professional association has taken a formal position.

Ethics Op 81-003. The Ohio ethics law and RC 2921.42 prohibit a board member of a private contract agency from serving on a county board of mental retardation and developmental disabilities.

Ethics Op 81-001. RC 2921.42 prohibits a member of city council from knowingly authorizing, voting, or otherwise using the authority or influence of his office to secure approval of a public contract in which his employer has an interest.

Ethics Op 79-008. A city council member is prohibited from voting on a zoning change affecting real property owned by his wife.

Ethics Op 79-003. RC 102.03(D) prohibits a member of a township zoning commission from voting to approve a zoning change or variance for property in which he has a commission interest as a real estate agent.

Ethics Op 76-008. A "state official or employee" is a person elected or appointed to an office of an instrumentality of the state or employed by a state agency.

Ethics Op 75-022. A member of the Ohio board of regents is not a "public official or employee" as that phrase is defined in RC 102.01(B), and therefore is not subject to the provisions of RC 102.03.

2. Improper representation of client

Ethics Op 91-009. RC 102.03(A) prohibits a former chief deputy administrator for a board of county commissioners, for twelve months from the time he leaves his public position, from representing a client or acting in a representative capacity for any person, before any public agency, on any matter in which he personally participated while he was a public official.

Ethics Op 91-009. For purposes of RC 102.03(A), a former chief deputy administrator for a board of county commissioners will be deemed to have "personally participated" in a matter if he participated through decision, approval, disapproval, recommendation, the rendering of advice, investigation, or other substantial exercise of administrative discretion; he will be deemed to have "personally participated" in a matter if he exercised supervision, oversight, or administrative responsibility over other county officials or employees on that specific matter.

Ethics Op 91-009. RC 102.03(A) prohibits a former chief deputy administrator for a board of county commissioners from representing, within one year after he leaves his public position, the officials or employees of any department, division, institution, board, commission, authority, bureau, or other instrumentality of the county, or any other governmental entity, except the board of county commissioners, on any matter in which he personally participated while he was employed by the board of county commissioners.

Ethics Op 90-008. RC 102.03(D) prohibits a city council member who is employed by a private law firm from voting, discussing, or otherwise using the authority or influence of his official position, formally or informally, with regard to a matter pending before city council if an employee or partner of his law firm is representing a client on that specific matter pending before council.

Ethics Op 90-008. RC 102.03(E) prohibits a city council member who is employed by a law firm from receiving a distributive share of client fees earned by members of his law firm for representing a client on matters pending before city council or for providing consultation and advice to a party which is presenting a matter before council.

Ethics Op 89-016. RC 102.03(D) prohibits a member of a public body who is a partner or associate in a law firm from voting, discussing, participating in deliberations, or otherwise using his official position, formally or informally, with regard to matters pending before his public body on which a member of his law firm is representing a client.

Ethics Op 89-016. RC 102.03(E) prohibits a member of a public body who is a partner in a law firm from receiving a distributive share of fees paid by clients for legal services rendered by members of his law firm on matters pending before the public body.

Ethics Op 89-015. RC 102.03 prohibits an individual from serving as a city law director where the law firm of which he is a member represents clients in adversarial actions against the city.

Ethics Op 89-003; superseded in part by statute as stated in Ethics Op 91-003. RC 102.03(A) prohibits a former public official or employee who participated as a public official or employee through the exercise of administrative discretion under RC Ch 343 or Ch 3734 from representing or acting in a representative capacity for an owner or operator of a facility defined in RC 3734.01(N) or an applicant for a permit or license for a facility under that chapter before any public agency for twenty-four months after the conclusion of his service on any matter, regardless of whether he personally participated in the matter as a public official or employee, and regardless of whether the matter was handled by a governmental agency other than his former employer, or is unrelated to the regulation of solid, hazardous, or infectious wastes.

Ethics Op 89-003; superseded in part by statute as stated in Ethics Op 91-003. As used in RC 102.03(A), the term "represent" is defined to include any formal or informal appearance before or written or oral communication with any public agency, including all courts.

Ethics Op 89-003; superseded in part by statute as stated in Ethics Op 91-003. A former public official or employee who is subject to the postemployment restrictions in RC 102.03(A) is prohibited from formally or informally appearing before, or communicating orally or in writing with, any public agency on behalf of a facility owner or operator or applicant for a permit or license for a facility, and from preparing any letters, reports, or other documents that are presented to a public agency on behalf of such a party, regardless of whether the former official or employee personally participates in the presentation of the materials to the public agency.

Ethics Op 89-003; superseded in part by statute as stated in Ethics Op 91-003. A former public official or employee who is subject to the postemployment restrictions in RC 102.03(A) is prohibited from representing a facility owner or operator, or applicant for a permit or license for a facility, before a public agency on any legislation or administrative rules in which he participated while in public service.

Ethics Op 89-003; superseded in part by statute as stated in Ethics Op 91-003. The twenty-four-month period imposed by RC 102.03(A) commences when the public official or employee leaves public service, not when he ceases to have responsibility for matters under RC Ch 343 or Ch 3734.

Ethics Op 89-003; superseded in part by statute as stated in Ethics Op 91-003. A public official or employee who is subject to the postemployment restrictions in RC 102.03(A) is prohibited from representing a political subdivision or governmental agency which is a facility owner or operator, or an applicant for a permit or license for a facility.

Ethics Op 89-003; superseded in part by statute as stated in Ethics Op 91-003. The postemployment restrictions in RC 102.03(A) do not apply to a former public official or employee who exercised administrative discretion under RC Ch 343 or Ch 3734 prior to June 24, 1988.

Ethics Op 89-003; superseded in part by statute as stated in Ethics Op 91-003. The restrictions in RC 102.03(A) do not apply to present, as opposed to former, public officials and employees, but the general provision of RC 102.03(A) prohibits a present public official or employee who exercises administrative discretion under RC Ch 343 or Ch 3734 from representing or acting in a representative capacity for a facility owner or operator or applicant for a permit or license for a facility before any public agency on any matter in which the official personally participated as a public official or employee; other provisions of the Ohio ethics law, RC Ch 102, also restrict the conduct of a present public official or employee in representing a facility owner, operator, or applicant.

Ethics Op 84-005. RC 102.03(A) prohibits a former employee of a state department from representing his new employer before the department or any other public agency for a period of one year after his departure from state service on any matter in which he personally participated as a state employee; however, RC 102.03(A) does not prohibit a former employee of a state department from representing his new employer before the department on a new matter that arose after his departure from state service.

Ethics Op 82-002. RC 102.03(A) prohibits a former examiner for the state auditor's office from representing a city by which he is now employed before the state auditor's office, on any matter in which he personally participated while employed by the state auditor.

Ethics Op 81-002. RC 102.03(A) prohibits a former state employee from representing a private client before any public agency on a matter in which he personally participated as a state employee.

Ethics Op 80-008. RC 102.03(A) prohibits a former state employee from representing a private client on a matter in which he personally participated as a state employee, for a period of twelve months after he leaves state service.

Ethics Op 79-007. A city council member, who is an engineer and surveyor, is prohibited from representing a private client on any matter with which he is directly concerned and in which he personally participates by a substantial and material exercise of administrative discretion in his capacity as a city council member, including a zoning change or variance. He is also prohibited from voting to approve plats and plans which he has drafted, for compensation, in his capacity as a private engineer and surveyor.

Ethics Op 78-002. "Represent ... or act in a representative capacity" comprehends any formal or informal appearance or written or oral communication.

3. Abuse of confidential information

49 App(3d) 150, 551 NE(2d) 625 (Hocking 1988), Wilson v Patton. A correctional facility is exempted from RC Ch 1347 by RC 1347.04(A)(1)(d), but a prisoner's claim to a right of nondisclosure of confidential prison medical records does state a cause of action for invasion of privacy under RC 102.03 and 42 USC 1983.

66 App(2d) 17, 419 NE(2d) 1128 (1979), State v Nipps. RC 102.03(A), when read in context with the other subdivisions of RC 102.03, clearly indicates a legislative purpose to ensure that no public official or employee will engage in a conflict of interest or realize personal gain at public expense from the use of "inside" information.

Ethics Op 90-012. RC 102.03(B) prohibits a respiratory care board member who serves a professional organization as a board member or officer, or in some other capacity, from disclosing or using confidential information he has acquired in his official duties, or taking any action on behalf of the organization if he will base his action on confidential information acquired in his official duties.

Ethics Op 90-009. RC 102.03(D) prohibits members of the real estate appraiser board who will take the real estate appraiser examination from having a direct personal involvement in the development of the specific questions and answers used in the examination and from using the authority or influence of their positions to secure their success on the examination.

Ethics Op 88-009. RC 102.03(B) prohibits a board member of a joint-county community mental health district from disclosing or using, without appropriate authorization, confidential information acquired in his official capacity as a board member for the joint-county community mental health district.

Ethics Op 88-003. RC 102.03(B) prohibits a county officer or employee from using, without appropriate authorization, confidential information acquired by him in his official capacity with regard to the county's plans to construct a public improvement or acquire property in connection therewith.

4. Conflict of interest

OAG 84-007. RC 102.03(D) prohibits a district supervisor of oil and gas well inspectors employed by the division of oil and gas of the department of natural resources from reviewing or supervising the inspection or regulation of a gas or oil well in which he has an interest.

Ethics Op 91-008. A city director of public safety is not prohibited by RC 102.03 from accepting an increase in compensation enacted by city council during his tenure unless a local provision authorizes the safety director to exercise discretionary authority with respect to the enactment of legislation, the appropriation of city funds, or the establishment of the compensation for the position of safety director.

Ethics Op 91-007. The clerk of a city council and the city treasurer are not prohibited by RC 102.03 or 2921.42 from accepting an increase in compensation enacted by city council during their current term of office unless a local provision authorizes the clerk or treasurer to exercise discretionary authority with respect to the enactment of legislation, the appropriation of city funds, or the establishment of the compensation for their respective positions.

Ethics Op 91-006. RC 102.03(A) does not prohibit a member of city council, who is employed by a local school district which includes the city, from participating in the enactment of general legislation which would uniformly regulate all gas and oil well drilling within the city, despite the fact that the school district desires to drill gas wells upon its property which would be subject to the city regulation.

Ethics Op 91-006. RC 102.03(D) does not prohibit a member of city council, who is employed by a local school district which includes the city, from participating in matters with regard to the enactment of legislation which would enable the development of an industrial plant or a housing tract, despite the possibility that such development could, in some indefinite manner, result in increased tax revenue for the school district or increase the school district's student population.

Ethics Op 91-004. RC 102.03(D) would not, as a general matter, prohibit a city council member whose spouse is employed by a bank from participating in matters involving customers of the bank unless her spouse would derive a definite and direct personal pecuniary benefit from council's action.

Ethics Op 91-002. RC 2921.42(A)(4) and 102.03(E) do not prohibit a city council member from serving as an unpaid volunteer paramedic with the fire department of the city, provided he receives no definite and direct personal pecuniary benefit from such service.

Ethics Op 90-013. The Ohio ethics law does not, per se, prohibit a person from serving as a member of a port authority on the basis that he is pursuing a lawsuit against the authority or is a defendant in a lawsuit brought by the authority.

Ethics Op 90-011. RC 102.03(D) does not prohibit a city council member from participating in a matter presented to council by a former client of his law firm or law partner, even though his law partner had previously represented the client before council on that matter, so long as there is no ongoing relationship between the party and his law firm or law partner, and no understanding that the attorney-client relationship will be resumed at some time in the future, and so long as the council member would not be required to review, approve, base his decision upon, or otherwise act upon legal work or services previously performed by his law firm or law partner.

Ethics Op 90-009. RC 102.03(D) does not prohibit members of the real estate appraiser board who will take the real estate appraiser examination from adopting rules which establish general examination specifications and criteria for the successful completion of the examination or from procuring questions and answers for the development of the examination from a knowledgeable, disinterested source.

Ethics Op 90-008. RC 102.03(D) does not generally prohibit a city council member from participating in a matter pending before city council which is brought by a party who is a client of the council member's law firm but is not represented by the law firm on the matter before council, unless the relationship between the council member and client is such that the council member's independence of judgment could be impaired.

Ethics Op 90-008. RC 102.03(D) does not generally prohibit a city council member who is employed by a private law firm from participating in a matter pending before city council in which a client of the city council member's law firm has a contingent interest, unless the law firm's receipt of client fees is dependent upon council's determination of the matter, or unless the council member's independence of judgment could otherwise be impaired.

Ethics Op 90-006. The employees of the Ohio student loan commission are not prohibited by the Ohio ethics law and related statutes from accepting, soliciting, or using their positions to secure employment with a nonprofit corporation to which the OSLC has been restructured, so long as the compensation and benefits paid to the employees by the nonprofit corporation are not substantially greater than the compensation and benefits they receive as state employees.

Ethics Op 90-006. The members of the Ohio student loan commission are not prohibited by the Ohio ethics law and related statutes from accepting, soliciting, or using their authority or influence to secure positions as directors of a nonprofit corporation to which the OSLC has been restructured, so long as the members receive no compensation or benefits as directors.

Ethics Op 90-004. RC 102.03(D) does not prohibit a city council member whose spouse is the elected municipal court judge from voting, discussing, participating in deliberations, or otherwise using his official position to secure an appropriation from city council for the municipal court since the amount of a municipal court judge's compensation and the share payable by the city are statutorily established and the judge receives no definite and direct, private pecuniary benefit from the remainder of the appropriation for court accommodations, personnel, supplies, and services.

Ethics Op 90-004. RC 102.03(D) does not prohibit a city council member whose spouse is the elected municipal court judge from voting, discussing, participating in deliberations, or otherwise using his official position to secure a general appropriation for health care benefits which are uniformly available for eligible municipal personnel even though his spouse's benefits are paid from this appropriation.

Ethics Op 90-004. RC 102.03(E) does not prohibit a city council member whose spouse is the elected municipal court judge from continuing to receive city health care benefits he was receiving prior to his election and as a result of his spouse's position, until such time as the city council takes action which will alter the insurance program currently available.

Ethics Op 90-003. Ohio ethics law does not prohibit a member of a board of education who is the owner of a store from donating goods or services to the school district with which he serves provided that he receives no pecuniary gain from the donation and he does not use the donation to secure anything of value for himself or his business.

Ethics Op 89-009. For purposes of RC 102.03(A), the twelve-month period of post-employment restrictions commences when a public official or employee resigns from his office or employment; this period is not extended if the public official or employee is retained as an independent contractor or consultant to represent or assist his former public agency during the twelve-month period.

Ethics Op 89-009. RC 102.03(A) does not prohibit an official or employee of a regional transit authority from being retained or employed to represent or assist the transit authority during the twelve-month period following his resignation from the transit authority.

Ethics Op 89-009. RC 102.03(A) does not prohibit a company which employs the former manager of a regional transit authority from bidding upon or entering into a contract to supply liability insurance to the transit authority.

Ethics Op 89-008. Neither RC 2921.42(A)(1) nor 102.03(D) prohibits a city council member who is a member of a labor organization from voting, deliberating, participating in discussions, or otherwise using the authority or influence of his position with regard to an application for a property tax abatement submitted by a company which employs members of the labor organization to which he belongs if he is not employed by the applicant company, and is not an officer, board member, or member of the negotiating team of the labor organization.

Ethics Op 89-008. Neither RC 2921.42(A)(1) nor 102.03(D) prohibits a city council member from voting, deliberating, participating in discussions, or otherwise authorizing or using the authority or influence of his position with regard to an application for a property tax abatement submitted by a company which employs a member of the official's family, if the family member has no definite and direct pecuniary or fiduciary interest in the award of the abatement and does not receive a definite and direct benefit therefrom.

Ethics Op 89-002. The Ohio ethics law, RC Ch 102, and related statutes do not prohibit private companies from donating industrial and safety equipment to the industrial commission, so long as no official or employee of the commission benefits personally from the equipment and the donation is voluntary.

Ethics Op 88-009. RC 102.03(A) does not prohibit the former director of a private, nonprofit agency which has entered into a contract with a joint-county community mental health board from serving as a board member of the mental health district even though he signed the existing contract between the agency and the mental health board in his capacity as director of the contract agency.

Ethics Op 88-005. RC 102.03(D) does not prohibit the participation of a member of a city planning commission in discussions about or a decision to rezone property owned by a designated community improvement corporation of which he is a trustee, where he has been properly designated by the city to serve as trustee in his capacity as a city official.

Ethics Op 88-005. RC 102.03(D) does not forbid a city planning commission member's participation in discussions about or a decision to rezone property owned by a community improvement corporation, where his daughter's supervisor is the president of the community improvement corporation.

Ethics Op 88-004. RC 102.03 and related statutes do not prevent a city council member from participating in matters that would provide a general, uniform benefit to citizens within the city.

Ethics Op 87-007 (8-14-87). Where bid specifications for a public contract and the contract itself provide that the party doing business with the agency must pay expenses of necessary travel for agency officers and employees, RC 102.03(D), 102.03(E), and 102.03(H) are not violated.

Ethics Op 87-005 (6-25-87). Under RC 1321.53, applicants for registration as second mortgage lenders can be charged by the division of consumer finance for certain expenses of investigators, such as meals and lodging; this practice does not conflict with RC 102.03(E), as that law does not forbid public agencies to solicit or accept expenses from a regulated party that the agency is otherwise allowed by statute to recover, nor does it conflict with RC 102.03(H), which does not forbid parties to promise or give a public agency expense money that the agency is allowed by statute to recover.

Ethics Op 86-008. A city councilman is not forbidden by RC 102.03 to establish a "consulting" firm to assist minority businesses seeking contracts with state agencies.

Ethics Op 85-011. Neither RC 102.03 nor RC 2921.42 prohibits the wife of a city law director from leasing space in a building constructed by a developer on land purchased from the city under a revolving loan program, provided that the law director does not use his official position to secure the lease for his spouse.

Ethics Op 85-007. A county treasurer is not forbidden to serve on the board of directors of a bank, but he is forbidden to participate in an official decision about a transaction with the bank if he has a financial stake in the transaction.

Ethics Op 85-006. A realtor is not forbidden to serve on a city planning commission by RC 102.03(D).

Ethics Op 83-009. The Ohio ethics law and RC 102.03, RC 102.04, and RC 2921.42 do not prohibit a county prosecutor from representing a joint ambulance district in his private capacity, provided that the representation is not before agencies of the county, and not on a matter in which he personally participated as a public official.

Ethics Op 83-001. RC 102.03(D) prohibits a county engineer from reviewing a survey prepared by him or by other members of his firm that has been filed with an office of the county with which he serves; RC 102.04(C) does not prohibit a county engineer from receiving compensation for performing survey work for a private client as part of a real estate conveyance that is not part of a case, proceeding, application, or other matter before the county.

Ethics Op 75-023. RC 102.03(C) does not prohibit per se a person from serving as director of the department of agriculture when he also owns and operates one farm and owns a majority interest in a corporation for which he operates another farm when the director personally, and the corporation-owned farm receive licenses from the department of agriculture.

Ethics Op 75-014. A former deputy administrator of the bureau of employment services is not prohibited from representing a client on a matter before the unemployment compensation board of review or the courts.

102.04 Unauthorized compensation prohibited; restricted transactions; exemptions

(A) Except as provided in division (D) of this section, no person elected or appointed to an office of or employed by the general assembly or any department, division, institution, instrumentality, board, commission, or bureau of the state, excluding the courts, shall receive or agree to receive directly or indirectly compensation other than from the agency with which he serves for any service rendered or to be rendered by him personally in any case, proceeding, application, or other matter that is before the general assembly or any department, division, institution, instrumentality, board, commission, or bureau of the state, excluding the courts.

(B) Except as provided in division (D) of this section, no person elected or appointed to an office of or employed by the general assembly or any department, division, institution, instrumentality, board, commission, or bureau of the state, excluding the courts, shall sell or agree to sell, except through competitive bidding, any goods or services to the general assembly or any department, division, institution, instrumentality, board, commission, or bureau of the state, excluding the courts.

(C) Except as provided in division (D) of this section, no person who is elected or appointed to an office of or employed by a county, township, municipal corporation, or any other governmental entity, excluding the courts, shall receive or agree to receive directly or indirectly compensation other than from the agency with which he serves for any service rendered or to be rendered by him personally in any case, proceeding, application, or other matter which is before any agency, department, board, bureau, commission, or other instrumentality, excluding the courts, of the entity of which he is an officer or employee.

(D) A public official who is appointed to a nonelective office or a public employee shall be exempted from division (A), (B), or (C) of this section if both of the following apply:

(1) The agency to which the official or employee wants to sell the goods or services, or before which the matter that involves the rendering of his services is pending, is an agency other than the one with which he serves;

(2) Prior to rendering the personal services or selling or agreeing to sell the goods or services, he files a statement with the appropriate ethics commission, with the public agency with which he serves, and with the public agency before which the matter is pending or that is purchasing or has agreed to purchase goods or services.

The required statement shall contain the official's or employee's name and home address, the name and mailing address of the public agencies with which he serves and before which the matter is pending or that is purchasing or has agreed to purchase goods or services, and a brief description of the pending matter and of the personal services to be rendered or a brief description of the goods or services to be purchased. The statement shall also contain the public official's or employee's declaration that he disqualifies himself for a period of two years from any participation as such public official or employee in any matter involving any public official or employee of the agency before which the present matter is pending or to which goods or services are to be sold. The two-year period shall run from the date of the most recently filed statement regarding the agency before which the matter was pending or to which the goods or services were to be sold. No person shall be required to file statements under this division with the same public agency regarding a particular matter more than once in a calendar year.

(E) No public official or employee who files a statement or is required to file a statement under division (D) of this section shall knowingly fail to disqualify himself from any participation as a public official or employee of the agency with which he serves in any matter involving any official or employee of an agency before which a matter for which he rendered personal services was pending or of a public agency that purchased or agreed to purchase goods or services.

(F) This section shall not be construed to prohibit the performance of ministerial functions including, but not limited to, the filing, or amendment of tax returns, applications for permits and licenses, incorporation papers, and other documents.

1. In general

27 Ohio School Boards Assn Jour 15 (1983). Ohio Ethics Commission Advisory Opinions: Ethical Restrictions on School Board Members, James M. Long.

Ethics Op 89-010. RC 102.04(B) prohibits an employee of the department of agriculture from selling or agreeing to sell tool sharpening services to the department of rehabilitation and correction except through competitive bidding, unless the provisions of RC 102.04(D) and 102.04(E) are met.

Ethics Op 89-010. RC 102.03(D) and 102.03(E) prohibit a department of agriculture employee from accepting, soliciting, or using the authority or influence of his public employment to secure employment as an independent contractor at an institution where he performs regulatory responsibilities for the department of agriculture, regardless of the fact that the service performed for the institution as an independent contractor is unrelated to his duties as a department of agriculture employee, and regardless of the fact that he has complied with the requirements of RC 102.04(D) and 102.04(E).

Ethics Op 85-001. RC 2921.42(A)(5) and RC 102.04(B) prohibit a park manager employed by the department of natural resources from contracting with the department to provide machine repair and maintenance services in his park and elsewhere in the state park system except by competitive bidding.

Ethics Op 83-009. The Ohio ethics law and RC 102.03, RC 102.04, and RC 2921.42 do not prohibit a county prosecutor from representing a joint ambulance district in his private capacity, provided that the representation is not before agencies of the county, and not on a matter in which he personally participated as a public official.

Ethics Op 75-013. Although its functions are of a public nature, a nonprofit corporation is not a governmental agency for the purposes of RC 102.04.

Ethics Op 75-012. For the purposes of RC 102.04, an independent contractor is not a person "employed by" a state agency.

Ethics Op 75-004. "Instrumentality" includes the type of organizational unit of government called a "council."

Ethics Op 75-004. One criterion of whether a person occupies an "office" within the meaning of RC 102.04 is whether he exercises the sovereign power, i.e., whether his duties involve some discretionary, decision-making qualities and whether he exercises substantial and material administrative discretion.

Ethics Op 74-007. Some of the tests which will determine whether a person is an "officer" within the meaning of RC 102.04 are: whether the person was appointed, whether the person has a title, whether the person exercises functions of government concerning the public, and whether the person is not subject to a contract of employment.

2. Pay for services before government agency

Ethics Op 89-016. RC 102.04(C) prohibits a member of a city commission from representing clients or rendering any other personal service in a case, proceeding, application, or other matter that is pending before the city commission.

Ethics Op 89-010. RC 102.04(D) and 102.04(E) allow for an exception to the competitive bidding requirement of RC 102.04(B) for an employee of the department of agriculture who wishes to sell tool sharpening services to the department of rehabilitation and correction, provided the employee files the required statements describing his interest in the unbid contract and stating he will disqualify himself for two years from any participation as an employee of the department of agriculture in any matter involving any public official or employee of the department of rehabilitation and correction.

Ethics Op 87-009. A city council member is forbidden by RC 102.04(C) to receive compensation directly or indirectly for personally representing or otherwise serving landowners on their application for annexation pending before the council.

Ethics Op 84-008. RC 102.04(A) prohibits an employee of a state commission from receiving compensation, other than from the commission, for personal services rendered as a consultant on a case, proceeding, application, or other matter before any agency of the state, unless the exemption of RC 102.04(D) is applicable.

Ethics Op 84-004. RC 102.04(C) prohibits a city auditor/tax commissioner from receiving compensation from private clients for tax or accounting services provided in a case, proceeding, application, or other matter before any agency of the city, excluding the courts.

Ethics Op 83-001. RC 102.03(D) prohibits a county engineer from reviewing a survey prepared by him or by other members of his firm that has been filed with an office of the county with which he serves; RC 102.04(C) does not prohibit a county engineer from receiving compensation for performing survey work for a private client as part of a real estate conveyance that is not part of a case, proceeding, application, or other matter before the county.

Ethics Op 82-006. RC 102.04(A) prohibits a physician who is a member of the state medical board from receiving compensation, directly or indirectly, other than from the medical board, for services rendered as a consultant to the department of mental retardation and developmental disabilities and as a provider for the department of public welfare.

Ethics Op 82-001. RC 102.04(C) prohibits an individual or firm, serving as city engineer, from receiving compensation from private clients for engineering services provided in a matter before the city engineer's office or any other agency of the city.

Ethics Op 81-006. RC 102.04(A) prohibits a state employee, who is a psychologist, from receiving or agreeing to receive compensation as a consultant to a private hospital on a matter that requires the approval of the agency that employs him.

Ethics Op 80-002. A city council member may not receive compensation from a community improvement corporation designated by the city with which he serves.

Ethics Op 79-007. A city council member is prohibited from receiving compensation for engineering services rendered by him personally for a private client on a matter which is before the city council or any agency of the city.

Ethics Op 79-003. RC 102.04(C) prohibits a member of a township zoning commission from receiving compensation, in the form of a real estate commission, for any service rendered by him personally in a zoning change or variance that is before the zoning commission.

Ethics Op 79-002. RC 102.03(D) prohibits a public official or employee from soliciting or receiving a fee for consulting services from a private firm if the fee is from a party either interested in matters before the agency with which the official serves or is regulated by that agency, nor may the official or employee receive compensation for services rendered or to be rendered by him for a private firm in a matter before the agency with which he serves.

Ethics Op 78-004. A city engineer is forbidden by RC 102.04(C) to receive or agree to receive direct or indirect compensation other than from the city for any service rendered or to be rendered by him personally in any matter before the city council or any city agency other than the courts.

Ethics Op 76-009. "Rendering services" includes the activities of a lobbyist whose duty it is to promote, advocate, amend, or oppose any matter before the general assembly.

Ethics Op 76-009. RC 102.04(A) applies to a "person ... appointed to an office of ... any ... board ... of the state" irrespective of whether he receives compensation as a member of that board.

3. Exemptions

Ethics Op 88-001. RC 102.04(B) does not apply to the provision of personal, professional services, and thus would not prohibit a physician employed by the department of mental retardation and developmental disabilities from contracting to provide on-call medical services to the department, regardless of whether the contract was bid competitively.

Ethics Op 82-006. RC 102.04(D) exempts a member of the state medical board from the prohibition in RC 102.04(A), if both of the following apply: (1) the agency to which he is rendering the services, or before which the matter that involves the rendering of his services is pending, is an agency other than the one with which he serves; and (2) prior to rendering the services, the public official files a statement with the agency with which he serves, the agency to which he is rendering services or before which the matters are pending, and the Ohio ethics commission, (1) identifying the agencies involved; (2) describing the matters involved and the services to be rendered; and (3) including a statement of disqualification for two years from participation in matters concerning personnel of the agencies to which he is rendering the services or before which the matters are pending.

Ethics Op 78-007. RC 102.04(A) prohibits state commission members from receiving direct or indirect compensation other than from the commission they serve for any service rendered or to be rendered in any case, proceeding, application, or other matter before the general assembly, or any state department or agency other than the courts; RC 102.04(D) establishes an exemption from the prohibition where: (1) the agency before which the matter that involves a commission member's services comes is an agency other than the one he serves; and (2) before rendering the services, the official files a statement with the commission he serves and the agency before which the matter is pending identifying the agencies involved, describing the matter in question and the services to be rendered, and including a statement of disqualification for two years from official involvement with employees or officials of the agency before which the matter is pending.

Ethics Op 75-017. A ministerial function as that term is used in RC 102.04(C) is a function which is performed in a prescribed manner in obedience to the mandate of legal authority, without regard to or the exercise of personal judgment upon the propriety of the act being done, and includes but is not limited to the filing of applications for permits and licenses.

Ethics Op 75-015. RC 102.04(A) does not prohibit an employee of a state institution from receiving compensation from more than one agency of the state.

Ethics Op 75-010. RC 102.04 does not prohibit the receipt of compensation from more than one agency of a particular governmental entity.

Ethics Op 75-006. A "ministerial" act is one performed in a prescribed manner without the exercise of discretion.

Ethics Op 74-001. RC 102.04 operates to restrict remuneration from the same governmental entity; it does not prohibit remuneration from different governmental entities for different work.

ETHICS COMMISSION

102.06 Powers and duties; annual report

The appropriate ethics commission shall receive, and may initiate, complaints against persons subject to Chapter 102. of the Revised Code concerning conduct alleged to be in violation of this chapter, section 2921.42, or section 2921.43 of the Revised Code. All complaints except those by the commission shall be by affidavit made on personal knowledge, subject to the penalties of perjury. Complaints by the commission shall be by affidavit, based upon reasonable cause to believe that a violation has occurred.

The commission shall investigate complaints and may investigate charges presented to it and may request further information, including the specific amount of income from a source, from any person filing with the commission a statement required by section 102.02 of the Revised Code, if the information sought is directly relevant to a complaint or charges received by the commission pursuant to this section. Such information is confidential. The person so requested shall furnish the information to the commission, unless within fifteen days from the date of the request the person files an action for declaratory judgment challenging the legitimacy of the request in the court of common pleas of the county of his residence, of his place of employment, or of Franklin county. The requested information need not be furnished to the commission during the pendency of the judicial proceedings. Proceedings of the commission in connection therewith, shall be kept confidential except as otherwise provided by this section. Before the commission proceeds to take any formal action against a person who is the subject of an investigation based on charges presented to the commission, a complaint shall be filed against the person. If the commission finds that a complaint is not frivolous, and there is reasonable cause to believe that the facts alleged in a complaint constitute a violation of section 102.02, section 102.03, section 102.04, section 2921.42, or section 2921.43 of the Revised Code, it shall hold a hearing. If the commission does not so find, it shall dismiss the complaint. The person against whom the complaint is directed shall be given reasonable notice by certified mail of the date, time, and place of the hearing, a statement of the charges and the law directly involved, and shall be given the opportunity to be represented by counsel, to have counsel appointed for him if he is unable to afford counsel without undue hardship, to examine the evidence against him, to produce evidence and to call and subpoena witnesses in his defense, to confront his accusers, and to cross-examine witnesses. The commission shall have a stenographic record made of the hearing. The hearing shall be closed to the public.

If upon the basis of the hearing, the commission finds based upon a preponderance of the evidence that the facts alleged in the complaint are true and constitute a violation of section 102.02, section 102.03, section 102.04, section 2921.42, or section 2921.43 of the Revised Code, it shall report its findings to the appropriate prosecuting authority for proceedings in prosecution of the violations and to the appointing or employing authority of the accused.

If the commission does not find based upon a preponderance of the evidence that the facts alleged in the complaints are true and constitute a violation of section 102.02, section 102.03, section 102.04, section 2921.42, or section 2921.43 of the Revised Code, or if the commission has not scheduled a hearing within ninety days after the complaint is filed or has not finally disposed of the complaint within six months after it has been heard, it shall dismiss the complaint and, upon the request of the accused person, make a public report of the finding, but in such case all evidence and the record of the hearing shall remain confidential unless the accused person also requests that the evidence and record be made public. Upon request by the accused person, the commission shall make the evidence and the record available for public inspection.

The commission, or a member of the commission, may administer oaths, and the commission may issue subpoenas to any person in the state compelling the attendance of witnesses and the production of relevant papers, books, accounts, and records. The commission shall issue any such subpoena upon the request of an accused person. Section 101.42 of the Revised Code shall govern the issuance of such subpoenas insofar as applicable. Upon refusal of any person to obey a subpoena or to be sworn or to answer as a witness, the commission may apply to the court of common pleas of Franklin county under section 2705.03 of the Revised Code. The court shall hold proceedings in accordance with Chapter 2705. of the Revised Code. The commission or the accused person may take the depositions of witnesses residing within or without the state in the same manner as prescribed by law for the taking of depositions in civil actions in the court of common pleas.

At least once each year, the Ohio ethics commission shall report on its activities of the immediately preceding year to the majority and minority leaders of the senate and house of representatives of the general assembly. The report shall indicate the total number of complaints received, initiated, and investigated by the commission, the total number of complaints for which formal hearings were held, and the total number of complaints for which formal prosecution was recommended by the commission. The report shall also indicate the nature of the inappropriate conduct alleged in each complaint and the governmental entity with which any employee or official that is the subject of a complaint was employed at the time of the alleged inappropriate conduct.

All papers, records, affidavits, and documents upon any complaint, inquiry, or investigation relating to the proceedings of the commission shall be sealed and are private and confidential, except as otherwise provided in this section.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

OAG 76-020. The county prosecuting attorney and the city solicitor have the authority to initiate prosecutions for alleged violations of RC Ch 102 when appropriately requested to do so by the Ohio ethics commission so that either such prosecutor would be an "appropriate law enforcement agency" under RC 102.06.

OAG 76-020. The "appropriate law enforcement agency" referred to in RC 102.06, for the purpose of prosecuting violations of RC Ch 102, is the prosecuting authority vested with the authority to initiate prosecutions for misdemeanor violations which occur within his jurisdiction.

OAG 76-009. The financial disclosure statement to be filed annually pursuant to Code of Jud Cond Canon 6(C) and RC 102.02 is a public record to be made available to the press if requested and may be divulged without the written consent of the board of commissioners on grievances and discipline of the supreme court of Ohio or the ethics commission.

OAG 74-089. A representative of the attorney general's office is the proper person to present complaints before hearings of the ethics commission, under present circumstances.

102.08 Recommendations and opinions of commissions; immunity from prosecution

The Ohio ethics commission, the board of commissioners on grievances and discipline of the supreme court, and the house and senate legislative ethics committees may recommend legislation relating to ethics, conflicts of interest, and financial disclosure, and render advisory opinions with regard to questions concerning these matters for persons for whom it is the appropriate ethics commission. When the appropriate ethics commission renders an advisory opinion relating to a special set of circumstances involving ethics, conflict of interest, or financial disclosure under Chapter 102., section 2921.42, or section 2921.43 of the Revised Code, the person to whom the opinion was directed or who was similarly situated may reasonably rely upon such opinion and shall be immune from criminal prosecutions, civil suits, or actions for removal from his office or position of employment for a violation of Chapter 102., section 2921.42, or section 2921.43 of the Revised Code based on facts and circumstances covered by the opinion, if the opinion states there is no violation of Chapter 102., section 2921.42, or section 2921.43 of the Revised Code. The appropriate ethics commission shall provide a continuing program of education and information concerning the provisions of Chapter 102., and sections 2921.42 and 2921.43 of the Revised Code and other provisions of law pertaining to ethics, conflicts of interest, and financial disclosure.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

27 Ohio School Boards Assn Jour 12 (1983). Ohio Ethics Commission Advisory Opinions: School Board Members and Public Contracts, James M. Long.

66 App(2d) 17, 419 NE(2d) 1128 (1979), State v Nipps. A former public official or employee is not required to guess whether his conduct may be prohibited, but may request an advisory opinion from the Ohio ethics commission; and reliance on such an opinion, in accordance with RC 102.08, is a defense to an action brought under the Ohio Ethics Act.

OAG 91-014. Members of the emergency response commission who have been appointed under RC 3750.02 and members of a local emergency planning committee who have been appointed pursuant to RC 3750.03 are entitled to immunity from criminal prosecutions, civil suits, and actions for removal from office or employment for violations of RC Ch 102, 2921.42, or 2921.43 in the circumstances prescribed by RC 102.08.

OAG 91-007. In the case of a nonprofit corporation established pursuant to RC 307.696, and provided that there is no violation of a statutory provision subject to interpretation by the Ohio ethics commission pursuant to RC 102.08, a board of county commissioners, or the members thereof in their official capacities, may serve as members of the corporation if (1) the county has created or participated in the nonprofit corporation, (2) the board of county commissioners formally designates the offices in question to represent the county, (3) the county commissioners are formally instructed to represent the county and its interests, and (4) there is no other conflict of interest on the part of a particular county commissioner.

OAG 91-007. In the case of a nonprofit corporation established pursuant to RC 307.696, and provided that there is no violation of a statutory provision subject to interpretation by the Ohio ethics commission pursuant to RC 102.08, the county administrator and/or any other county official or employee other than a county commissioner may legally serve as a trustee, officer, or director of the corporation if (1) the county has created or participated in the nonprofit corporation, (2) the board of county commissioners formally designates the office or position in question to represent the county, (3) the county administrator or other county official or employee is formally instructed to represent the county and its interests, and (4) there is no other conflict of interest on the part of the particular county administrator or other county official or employee.

OAG 87-025. Because RC 102.08 grants the ethics commission the authority to render advisory opinions interpreting a statute, the attorney general will not also render opinions construing the same statute.

Ethics Op 75-037. The Ohio ethics commission renders advisory opinions only when the facts presented in a request are hypothetical or the conduct in question is prospective.

The public official or employee shall acknowledge receipt of the financial disclosure form in writing.

(D) The clerk of the senate and executive secretary of the house of representatives shall distribute to every member of his respective house prior to the first day of February a copy of the form for filing the financial disclosure statement under section 102.02 of the Revised Code. (E) Within fifteen days after any public official or employee begins the performance of his official duties, the public agency with which he serves or the appointing authority shall furnish him a copy of Chapter 102. and section 2921.42 of the Revised Code, and may furnish such other materials as the appropriate ethics commission prepares for distribution. Where one eligible to hold public office is appointed to fill a vacancy in the office of sheriff for an unexpired term and until his successor is elected and qualified, and where the governor's commission is received by the appointee after the unexpired term has terminated, such appointee will be deemed to hold the office from the date of appointment and qualification, and not from the date of the receipt of the commission.

1962 OAG 3463. Where the term of a member of the waterways safety commission expires when the senate is not in session, a vacancy occurs and the governor is authorized to fill the vacancy and report the appointment to the next session of the senate, and the appointee takes office upon receiving the governor's commission and taking an oath of office.

1962 OAG 3318. A member of the board of trustees of the Ohio State university serves until his successor is appointed, confirmed by the senate, and qualifies by receiving a governor's commission and taking the oath of office.

1961 OAG 2035. A person who has been elected to serve an unexpired term in the court of common pleas must present a legal certificate of his election, receive a governor's commission to fill such office, and take the required oath of office before he is entitled to serve in such capacity and receive the salary provided therefor.

1957 OAG 607. The clerk of the court of common pleas may properly refuse to file or make a record of the commission of a justice of the peace.

1943 OAG 5974. Person who is appointed to perform duties of elective county officer who is absent from his office due to his service in armed forces, is not county officer within meaning of this section, and consequently is not required to obtain commission from governor as provided for in said section.

1937 OAG 115. When a certificate of election or appointment, regular and legal upon its face, is presented to the governor of Ohio, reciting the fact that the person named therein has been duly elected or appointed to an office under the laws of the state, it is the mandatory duty of the governor to issue to him a commission as provided by law. Whether or not he has been legally appointed is a judicial question, to be determined by a court of competent jurisdiction.

1929 OAG 862. In order to become a de jure officer, a person elected or appointed county treasurer must receive a commission for the office.

107.06 Fees for governor's commission

Except militia officers, each officer designated in section 107.05 of the Revised Code, who receives compensation shall pay a fee to the secretary of state for making, recording, and forwarding his commission. A judge of a county court shall pay two dollars, and all other officers, five dollars.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

1. Constitutional issues
2. In general

1. Constitutional issues

1939 OAG 138. A law which provides that a vacancy for a period of less than one year in the office of a judge be filled by the governor for the remainder of the unexpired term is in conflict with O Const Art XVII, § 2, and O Const Art IV, § 13, and therefore is unconstitutional.

2. In general

OAG 66-176. The person appointed by the governor to a vacancy in the office of county judge shall hold office until his successor is elected and has qualified.

OAG 66-176. A candidate for the office of county judge cannot qualify himself after August 8, 1966, and have his name placed on the ballot at the election to be held in November, 1966.

OAG 65-7. A nominating petition filed pursuant to RC 1907.051 and RC 3513.261 is void where it states that the candidate is seeking election at the general election in November to a full term as county court judge and there is no full term for which an election could be held at that time, and a favorable vote cast by the electors for such candidate for a full term as judge of the county court is ineffective.

SUNSHINE LAW

121.22 Meetings of public bodies to be open; exceptions; notice

(A) This section shall be liberally construed to require public officials to take official action and to conduct all deliberations upon official business only in open meetings, unless the subject matter is specifically excepted by law.

(B) As used in this section:

(1) "Public body" means any board, commission, committee, or similar decision-making body of a state agency, institution, or authority, and any legislative authority or board, commission, committee, agency, authority, or similar decision-making body of any county, township, municipal corporation, school district, or other political subdivision or local public institution.

(2) "Meeting" means any prearranged discussion of the public business of the public body by a majority of its members.

(3) "Regulated individual" means:

(a) Any student in a state or local public educational institution;

(b) Any person who is, voluntarily or involuntarily, an inmate, patient, or resident of a state or local institution because of criminal behavior, mental illness or retardation, disease, disability, age, or other condition requiring custodial care.

(C) All meetings of any public body are declared to be public meetings open to the public at all times. A member of a public body must be present in person at a meeting open to the public to be considered present or to vote at the meeting and for purposes of determining whether a quorum is present at the meeting.

The minutes of a regular or special meeting of any such public body shall be promptly recorded and open to public inspection. The minutes need only reflect the general subject matter of discussions in executive sessions authorized under division (G) of this section.

(D) This section does not apply to a grand jury, to an audit conference conducted by the auditor of state or independent certified public accountants with officials of the public office that is the subject of the audit, to the adult parole authority when its hearings are conducted at a penal institution for the sole purpose of interviewing inmates to determine parole or pardon, to the organized crime investigations commission established under section 177.01 of the Revised Code, to the state medical board when determining whether to suspend a certificate without a prior hearing pursuant to division (D) of section 4731.22 of the Revised Code, to the board of nursing when determining whether to suspend a license without prior hearing pursuant to division (B) of section 4723.181 of the Revised Code, or to the executive committee of the emergency response commission when determining whether to issue an enforcement order or request that a civil action, civil penalty action, or criminal action be brought to enforce Chapter 3750. of the Revised Code.

(E) The controlling board, the development financing advisory board, the industrial technology and enterprise advisory board, and the minority development financing commission, when any of the boards or the commission meets to consider granting assistance pursuant to Chapters 122. and 166. of the Revised Code, in order to protect the interest of the applicant and the possible investment of public funds, may by unanimous vote of all board or commission members present close the meeting during consideration of the following information confidentially received by the commission or board from the applicant:

(1) Marketing plans;

(2) Specific business strategy;

(3) Production techniques and trade secrets;

(4) Financial projections;

(5) Personal financial statements of the applicant or members of his immediate family, including, but not limited to, tax records or other similar information not open to public inspection.

The vote by the commission or board to accept or reject the application, as well as all proceedings of the commission or board not subject to this division, shall be open to the public and governed by this section.

(F) Every public body shall, by rule, establish a reasonable method whereby any person may determine the time and place of all regularly scheduled meetings and the time, place, and purpose of all special meetings. A public body shall not hold a special meeting unless it gives at least twenty-four hours' advance notice to the news media that have requested notification, except in the event of an emergency requiring immediate official action. In the event of an emergency, the member or members calling the meeting shall notify the news media that have requested notification immediately of the time, place, and purpose of the meeting.

The rule shall provide that any person may, upon request and payment of a reasonable fee, obtain reasonable advance notification of all meetings at which any specific type of public business is to be discussed. Provisions for advance notification may include, but are not limited to, mailing the agenda of meetings to all subscribers on a mailing list or mailing notices in self-addressed, stamped envelopes provided by the person.

(G) The members of a public body may hold an executive session only after a majority of a quorum of the public body determines, by a roll call vote, to hold such a session and only at a regular or special meeting for the sole purpose of the consideration of any of the following matters:

(1) To consider the appointment, employment, dismissal, discipline, promotion, demotion, or compensation of a public employee or official, or the investigation of charges or complaints against a public employee, official, licensee, or regulated individual, unless the public employee, official, licensee, or regulated individual requests a public hearing. Except as otherwise provided by law, no public body shall hold an executive session for the discipline of an elected official for conduct related to the performance of his official duties or for his removal from office. If a public body holds an executive session pursuant to division (G)(1) of this section, the motion and vote to hold that executive session shall state which one or more of the approved purposes listed in division (G)(1) of this section are the purposes for which the executive session is to be held, but need not include the name of any person to be considered at the meeting.

(2) To consider the purchase of property for public purposes, or for the sale of property at competitive bidding, if premature disclosure of information would give an unfair competitive or bargaining advantage to a person whose personal, private interest is adverse to the general public interest. No member of a public body shall use this division as a subterfuge for providing covert information to prospective buyers or sellers. A purchase or sale of public property is void if the seller or buyer of the public property has received covert information from a member of a public body that has not been disclosed to the general public in sufficient time for other prospective buyers and sellers to prepare and submit offers.

If the minutes of the public body show that all meetings and deliberations of the public body have been conducted in compliance with this section, any instrument executed by the public body purporting to convey, lease, or otherwise dispose of any right, title, or interest in any public property shall be conclusively presumed to have been executed in compliance with this section insofar as title or other interest of any bona fide purchasers, lessees, or transferees of the property is concerned.

(3) Conferences with an attorney for the public body concerning disputes involving the public body that are the subject of pending or imminent court action;

(4) Preparing for, conducting, or reviewing negotiations or bargaining sessions with public employees concerning their compensation or other terms and conditions of their employment;

(5) Matters required to be kept confidential by federal law or rules or state statutes;

(6) Specialized details of security arrangements where disclosure of the matters discussed might reveal information that could be used for the purpose of committing, or avoiding prosecution for, a violation of the law.

If a public body holds an executive session to consider any of the matters listed in divisions (G)(2) to (6) of this section, the motion and vote to hold that executive session shall state which one or more of the approved matters listed in those divisions are to be considered at the executive session.

(H) A resolution, rule, or formal action of any kind is invalid unless adopted in an open meeting of the public body. A resolution, rule, or formal action adopted in an open meeting that results from deliberations in a meeting not open to the public is invalid unless the deliberations were for a purpose specifically authorized in division (G) of this section and conducted at an executive session held in compliance with this section.

(I)(1) Any person may bring an action to enforce the provisions of this section. Upon proof of a violation or threatened violation of this section in an action brought by any person, the court of common pleas shall issue an injunction to compel the members of the public body to comply with its provisions.

(2) If the court of common pleas issues an injunction pursuant to this section, the court may award to the party that sought the injunction all court costs and reasonable attorney's fees and also shall order the public body that it enjoins to pay a civil forfeiture of one hundred dollars. If the court of common pleas does not issue an injunction pursuant to this section and the court determines at that time that the bringing of the action was frivolous conduct as defined in division (A) of section 2323.51 of the Revised Code, the court may award to the public body all court costs and reasonable attorney's fees.

(3) Irreparable harm and prejudice to the party that sought the injunction shall be conclusively and irrebuttably presumed upon proof of a violation or threatened violation of this section.

(4) A member of a public body who knowingly violates an injunction issued pursuant to this division may be removed from office by an action brought in the court of common pleas for that purpose by the prosecuting attorney or the attorney general.

39 OS(3d) 19, 528 NE(2d) 1254 (1988), Fox v Lakewood. Adoption of an amendment to a city charter by the electors of the city cures the city council's failure to open to the public its deliberations regarding the amendment, as required by the city's charter.

38 OS(3d) 165, 527 NE(2d) 807 (1988), State ex rel Plain Dealer Publishing Co v Barnes. Where a city charter provision requires that "all meetings of council or committees thereof shall be public," the word "meetings" encompasses any assemblage of the city council or its committees where a majority of the members constituting the body are in attendance and the gathering is arranged for the purpose of discussing public business.

62 OS(2d) 362, 405 NE(2d) 1041 (1980), Matheny v Frontier Local Bd of Ed. The enactment of RC 121.22(G)(1) has not afforded a nontenured teacher a procedural right to a hearing on the issue of contract renewal.

62 OS(2d) 362, 405 NE(2d) 1041 (1980), Matheny v Frontier Local Bd of Ed. RC 121.22 does not give rise to a constitutionally protected expectancy of continued employment for nontenured teachers.

167 OS 15, 145 NE(2d) 665 (1957), State ex rel Adams v Rockwell. Petition for writ of mandamus to compel school board to hold public meetings denied on ground injunctive relief is available.

41 App(3d) 218, 534 NE(2d) 1239 (Ross 1988), Gannett Satellite Information Network, Inc v Chillicothe City School Dist Bd of Ed. The exceptions to the Ohio Sunshine Law set forth in RC 121.22(G)(1) through 121.22(G)(6) must be strictly construed to require open meetings unless one of the exceptions clearly applies.

4 App(3d) 240, 4 OBR 432, 448 NE(2d) 163 (Wayne 1982), Hills & Dales, Inc v Wooster. A charter municipality, in the exercise of its sovereign powers of local self-government as established by O Const Art XVIII, § 3, is not bound to follow the provisions of the state's "Sunshine Law."

64 App(2d) 222, 412 NE(2d) 1331 (1979), City Comm of Piqua v Piqua Daily Call. RC 121.22 does not expand or limit the power of the city commission under its charter.

61 Misc(2d) 631 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Economic Opportunity Planning Assn of Greater Toledo. Actions taken by the board of trustees of a designated community action agency at closed meetings held in violation of RC 121.22 are invalid.

61 Misc(2d) 631 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Economic Opportunity Planning Assn of Greater Toledo. The award of attorney fees under the public meetings law is plainly discretionary; a court when deciding whether to award fees under the act will use the same criteria as that applicable to the public records law.

61 Misc(2d) 631 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Economic Opportunity Planning Assn of Greater Toledo. A newspaper initiating court action to force a recalcitrant public office, a designated community action agency, to open its meetings and records to public review confers a significant benefit on the public, and attorney fees will be awarded to the prevailing newspaper where the legal positions taken by the agency are not supported by any plausible reading of the statutes nor by logical argument from existing decisions.

23 Misc 49, 259 NE(2d) 522 (CP, Montgomery 1970), Dayton Newspapers, Inc v Dayton; affirmed by 28 App(2d) 95, 274 NE(2d) 766 (1971). Balance between access to public meetings and nonpublic side of operation of government is determined first by law and second by lawful discretion of officials in charge.

686 FSupp 177 (ND Ohio 1988), WJW-TV, Inc v Cleveland; vacated by 870 F(2d) 658 (6th Cir Ohio 1989) and 878 F(2d) 906 (6th Cir Ohio 1989); cert denied 110 SCt 74, 107 LEd(2d) 41 (1989). Although there is nothing in the First Amendment to the United States Constitution from which a public right of access to legislative proceedings may automatically be inferred, a qualified right of access will be recognized by extending the present right of public access to most criminal trials that is enforceable even where the defendant himself desires a closed trial; when compelling reasons justifying a closed meeting are present, these reasons must be stated.

RBR 4-87-204 (12-3-87), Pleasant City v Div of Reclamation. The claim of a village that its consent to coal mining in a public road is invalid because it was given in violation of the Ohio Sunshine Law has no effect on the issue of the validity of the mining permit in proceedings before the reclamation board of review, since that administrative tribunal has no authority to review or invalidate acts of village trustees; the common pleas court is the forum for presentation of this issue.

2. Public body

70 App(3d) 407 (Portage 1990), Vlach v Kent State University. A court of common pleas has jurisdiction to determine whether a state university's animal care and use committee is a "public body" as defined by RC 121.22 and to issue an injunction and award court costs, attorney fees, and a civil forfeiture of $100 as provided for by RC 121.22(I)(2).

64 App(3d) 659 (Cuyahoga 1990), State ex rel Kinsley v Berea Bd of Ed. Settlement agreements are not exempted from disclosure pursuant to RC 121.22(G)(3) which exempts conferences with an attorney for a public body concerning pending or imminent court action from public view since a settlement agreement contains only the result of the bargaining process rather than revealing the details of the negotiations which led to the result.

20 App(3d) 100, 20 OBR 122, 484 NE(2d) 1381 (Auglaize 1985), Stegall v Joint Twp Dist Memorial Hospital. The board of governors of a joint township district hospital is a public body for purposes of RC 121.22.

69 App(2d) 27, 429 NE(2d) 1179 (1980), Walker v Lockland City School Dist Bd of Ed. The superintendent of a school district cannot enter into an oral contract binding on the board of education for the school district when the board has not authorized the contract pursuant to RC 3313.33 and RC 121.22.

64 App(2d) 222, 412 NE(2d) 1331 (1979), City Comm of Piqua v Piqua Daily Call. RC 121.22 does not and cannot amend the home rule provision of the constitution which alone resolves the question of the power of local self-government under a city charter.

64 App(2d) 222, 412 NE(2d) 1331 (1979), City Comm of Piqua v Piqua Daily Call. Where a municipal corporation has a charter form of government adopted pursuant to the home rule amendment, RC 121.22 cannot be interpreted so as to tell a charter city commission or assembly when, how, where and under what circumstances it may meet, adjourn or hold an executive meeting.

62 App(2d) 174, 405 NE(2d) 731 (1978), Maser v Canton. Where a city council appoints a committee composed of several of its members to investigate problems in a municipal department and such committee is delegated powers normally restricted to the council, all hearings held by the committee must be conducted in public, pursuant to the mandate of RC 121.22.

61 Misc(2d) 631 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Economic Opportunity Planning Assn of Greater Toledo. A designated community action agency administering governmentally funded programs is a public body within the meaning of RC 121.22(B)(1).

61 Misc(2d) 631 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Economic Opportunity Planning Assn of Greater Toledo. The board of trustees of a designated community action agency is a decision-making body of a state agency.

22 Misc 197, 259 NE(2d) 757 (CP, Lake 1970), Curran v Board of Park Commrs. A county park board is a governmental unit and is subject to provisions of RC 121.22, RC 149.40, RC 149.43 and RC 1545.07.

OAG 88-029. The public utilities commission nominating council is a "public body" as that phrase is defined in RC 121.22.

OAG 86-091. The Ohio legal rights service commission is a "public body" for purposes of RC 121.22, Ohio's open-meeting law. The commission may consider in executive session such matters as come within RC 121.22(G).

OAG 85-044. A township board of zoning appeals is a "public body" for purposes of RC 121.22.

OAG 82-081. A soldiers' relief commission established pursuant to RC 5901.02 is a public body for the purposes of RC 121.22.

OAG 80-083. The convening of members of the county central committee pursuant to RC 305.02 is a "meeting." Final voting on the appointment of persons to the committee must be held in a public meeting. However, the convening of the committee for the purpose of conducting purely internal party affairs, unrelated to the committee's duties of making appointments to vacant public offices is not a "meeting" as defined by RC 121.22(B)(2).

OAG 79-110. The safety codes committee, created by resolution of the industrial commission for the purpose of reviewing safety code requirements and drafting revisions for consideration by the industrial commission, is not a public body for the purposes of RC 121.22.

OAG 79-061. The governing board of a community improvement corporation, organized as provided in RC 1702.04 and RC 1724.01 to RC 1724.09, does not constitute a public body for the purposes of RC 121.22, but when such a corporation has been designated an agency of a county, municipal corporation or any combination thereof, it is considered a public body.

OAG 78-059. The internal security committee, established by the industrial commission and the bureau of workers compensation pursuant to RC 4121.22(D), is a public body for purposes of RC 121.22.

OAG 76-062. The board of trustees of a comprehensive mental health center, which is a private, non-profit corporation, does not constitute a public body for purposes of RC 121.22.

3. Public meeting

40 OS(3d) 149, 532 NE(2d) 719 (1988), State ex rel Craft v Schisler. A city charter provision requiring all council and committee meetings to be public effectively prohibits any meeting, regardless of its purpose, from being private and supersedes RC 121.22(G) which allows members of a public body to hold private executive sessions to discuss matters relating to personnel, official appointment, purchasing property, litigation, and labor negotiations.

38 OS(3d) 165, 527 NE(2d) 807 (1988), State ex rel Plain Dealer Publishing Co v Barnes. Where a city charter provision requires that "all meetings of council or committees thereof shall be public," the word "meetings" encompasses any assemblage of the city council or its committees where a majority of the members constituting the body are in attendance and the gathering is arranged for the purpose of discussing public business.

62 OS(2d) 362, 405 NE(2d) 1041 (1980), Matheny v Frontier Local Bd of Ed. RC 121.22 authorizes a school board to conduct private deliberations upon the renewal of a limited teaching contract.

3 OS(2d) 191, 209 NE(2d) 399 (1965), Beacon Journal Publishing Co v Akron. The public has no common law right to attend meetings of governmental bodies; any right the public has to attend such meetings must arise by reason of the provisions of the ordinance or statute which the boards or commissions in question are created by or subject to.

3 OS(2d) 191, 209 NE(2d) 399 (1965), Beacon Journal Publishing Co v Akron. At any session of a municipal board or commission subject to RC 121.22 or to a similar municipal code provision, where any action is taken which is required by law, rule or regulation to be recorded in the minutes, the journal or any other official record of the board or commission, such session is a meeting which must be open to the public.

70 App(3d) 346 (Franklin 1990), Angerman v Medical Bd. The state medical board does not violate the open meeting requirement of RC 121.22 when its deliberations on a physician's license revocation are not conducted in a public session although the board's unanimous vote to adopt the referee's recommendation of revocation, as well as limited discussion on the action, is conducted at a public session; "deliberations" of a quasi-judicial administrative tribunal on the action to be taken following a public hearing on charges against a licensee need not be open to the licensee or the public although the final action or vote of the quasi-judicial tribunal must be conducted in an open meeting.

52 App(3d) 8, 556 NE(2d) 200 (Franklin 1988), In re Petition for Annexation to Westerville of 162.631 Acres in Blendon Twp. An annexation hearing under RC 709.032 is a formal, quasi-judicial proceeding and not a meeting subject to the Sunshine Law, RC 121.22.

48 App(3d) 52, 547 NE(2d) 1230 (Summit 1988), Conner v Lakemore. An appeal of the termination of a village police chief must be heard at a public hearing and may not be heard at a mere executive session of the village council.

62 App(2d) 174, 405 NE(2d) 731 (1978), Maser v Canton. Where a city council appoints a committee composed of several of its members to investigate problems in a municipal department and such committee is delegated powers normally restricted to the council, all hearings held by the committee must be conducted in public, pursuant to the mandate of RC 121.22.

59 App(2d) 231, 394 NE(2d) 331 (Medina 1978), Amigo v Cloverleaf Local School Dist Bd of Ed. The argument that a public employee cannot request a public hearing as required under RC 121.22(G)(1) when the employee has no knowledge that an executive session to consider his or her employment or dismissal will be conducted is without merit where compliance with provisions of RC 121.22(F) occur and a public employee attending a meeting can request a public hearing.

28 App(2d) 95, 274 NE(2d) 766 (1971), Dayton Newspapers, Inc v Dayton. Meetings of governmental bodies, which are required by RC 121.22 to be meetings open to public at all times, are meetings for transaction of business, and all public business must be transacted at such public meetings.

18 App(2d) 101, 247 NE(2d) 330 (1969), State ex rel Humphrey v Adkins. A board of education may hold executive sessions, but may take action only at a public meeting.

No. 52354 (8th Dist Ct App, Cuyahoga, 6-11-87), Fox v Lakewood. The home rule provisions of the Ohio Constitution exempt a municipal corporation from the mandates of the "sunshine law," RC 121.22, where such law is not adopted in the municipal corporation's charter; thus, an amendment authorized by an ordinance passed by council at an open meeting after discussing it at a closed meeting and approved by the voters is not voidable.

No. 3515 (11th Dist Ct App, Trumbull, 12-20-85), State ex rel Brookfield Federation of Teachers v Brookfield Local Bd of Ed. Where a factfinder's report was rejected in an open meeting as required by RC 121.22(A), a federation of teachers has no clear legal right pursuant to RC 4117.14(C)(6) to a writ of mandamus seeking recommendations of the factfinder to be deemed agreed by a board of education.

61 Misc(2d) 631 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Economic Opportunity Planning Assn of Greater Toledo. Meetings of the board of trustees of a designated community action agency must be open to the public at all times.

61 Misc(2d) 631 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Economic Opportunity Planning Assn of Greater Toledo. A fine of $200 shall be assessed against the board of trustees of a designated community action agency found to have twice violated the open meeting requirements of RC 121.22.

36 Misc(2d) 4, 521 NE(2d) 9 (CP, Morgan 1987), Schank v Hegele. When construed in pari materia, RC 3313.66(E) and 121.22(A) both provide that official action, such as suspensions or expulsions of students, should only be considered at open meetings, and therefore a board of education may not consider whether to reinstate an expelled pupil in an executive session unless the pupil or his representative is present and so requests.

2 OBR 449 (CP, Mahoning 1982), State ex rel Vindicator Printing Co v Hughey. Prearranged precaucus meetings of the Youngstown city council must be open to the public.

521 F(2d) 1329 (6th Cir Ohio 1975), Shirley v Chagrin Falls Exempted Village Schools Bd of Ed. RC 121.22 was not violated where only formal action was taken at a regularly scheduled meeting of a school board.

OAG 88-087. A board of township trustees may adopt a rule regulating but not prohibiting the audio and video recording of township proceedings. Such rules must promote the orderly transaction of business without unreasonably interfering with the rights of those present, and may require recording equipment to be silent, unobtrusive, self-contained and self-powered to avoid interfering with the ability of those present to hear, see and participate in the proceedings. The public's right of access to governmental proceedings includes the right to record township meetings, and any regulation thereof must be precisely and narrowly drawn to be no broader than necessary to insure the order of the proceedings.

OAG 88-029. With respect to "regular meetings" or "special meetings" as those terms are used in RC 121.22(F), the public utilities commission nominating council is required to establish, by rule, a reasonable method whereby any person may determine the time, place, and purpose of such meetings, and such rule must provide for reasonable advance notification of all meetings at which a specific type of business is to be discussed to all persons requesting such notice and paying a reasonable fee.

OAG 85-048. The open meeting requirements of RC 121.22 and RC 305.09 are satisfied where a board of county commissioners convenes a public meeting at which only two of the three members are present and the third member of the board, who is not physically present, participates in such board proceedings by means of communications equipment.

OAG 85-044. A township board of zoning appeals may not conduct, in an executive session, deliberations concerning a zoning appeal heard pursuant to RC 519.14(A) or RC 519.14(B).

OAG 80-083. The convening of members of the county central committee pursuant to RC 305.02 is a "meeting." Final voting on the appointment of persons to the committee must be held in a public meeting. However, the convening of the committee for the purpose of conducting purely internal party affairs, unrelated to the committee's duties of making appointments to vacant public offices is not a "meeting" as defined by RC 121.22(B)(2).

4. Executive session

62 OS(2d) 362, 405 NE(2d) 1041 (1980), Matheny v Frontier Local Bd of Ed. A non-tenured teacher is not entitled to a due process hearing upon nonrenewal of a teaching contract, nor to have his reemployment considered at an open meeting rather than an executive session.

63 App(3d) 728 (Hamilton 1989), State ex rel Bond v Montgomery. Although RC 121.22 is not applicable in every case involving meetings conducted by city council, since a charter municipality has the right to determine by charter the manner in which meetings will be held if a city does choose to draft its own rules concerning the meeting of the public body and the rules are included in its charter, the city council must abide by those rules and therefore, where a city formulates and includes in its charter the guidelines with which the city must comply when conducting its meetings and these guidelines are nearly identical to those set forth in RC 121.22, the city violates the terms of its city charter by conducting deliberations and taking official action on the city council's certification of an initiative petition in an executive session closed to the public, despite the city's contention that it acted under an exception to the open meeting requirement contained in its charter which allows it to hold a closed executive session to confer with an attorney concerning disputes involving the public body that are the subject of pending or imminent court action where the city fails to prove that the city council's noncertification of the petition initiative would create a dispute involving the public body that would be the subject of pending or imminent court action.

48 App(3d) 52, 547 NE(2d) 1230 (Summit 1988), Conner v Lakemore. An appeal of the termination of a village police chief must be heard at a public hearing and may not be heard at a mere executive session of the village council.

41 App(3d) 218, 534 NE(2d) 1239 (Ross 1988), Gannett Satellite Information Network, Inc v Chillicothe City School Dist Bd of Ed. RC 121.22(G)(1) permits a public body to enter into executive session when its sole purpose is the consideration of a specific employee's employment, dismissal, etc.; thus, the exception does not apply to a session discussing general budget cuts which may affect employee salaries.

19 App(3d) 1, 19 OBR 46, 482 NE(2d) 982 (Greene 1984), Greene County Guidance Center, Inc v Greene-Clinton Community Mental Health Bd. Proof only that an action taken in a public meeting was previously discussed in executive session is not sufficient to show that the action resulted from the closed discussions within the meaning of RC 121.22(H).

39 App(2d) 11, 314 NE(2d) 186 (1973), Crist v True. A "special session" of a board of township trustees held at the private residence of a township official does not qualify as a "public meeting" within the meaning of RC 519.12 and RC 121.22.

28 App(2d) 95, 274 NE(2d) 766 (1971), Dayton Newspapers, Inc v Dayton. Executive session of any governmental board, commission, agency or authority, one from which public is excluded, at which only such selected persons as may be invited are permitted to be present, and at which no public business shall be transacted, is recognized and permitted by statute.

28 App(2d) 95, 274 NE(2d) 766 (1971), Dayton Newspapers, Inc v Dayton. Provisions of city charter and related ordinance that all meetings of city commission shall be public refer to meetings at which public business may be transacted, and not to executive sessions from which the public and the press may be excluded.

18 App(2d) 101, 247 NE(2d) 330 (1969), State ex rel Humphrey v Adkins. A board of education may hold executive sessions, but may take action only at a public meeting.

No. 15-83-23 (3d Dist Ct App, Van Wert, 1-25-85), Seiler v Vantage Joint Vocational School Dist Bd of Ed. A school board may conduct private deliberations on whether to enter into a continuing contract.

No. WD-81-74 (6th Dist Ct App, Wood, 5-7-82), Sturm v Village of Bradner. Where defendant in a removal hearing fails to request a public hearing, pursuant to RC 121.22(H), until the close of all the evidence, and a non-public executive session is subsequently held to consider the removal, such a delayed request does not satisfy the requirements of RC 121.22(H).

23 Misc 49, 259 NE(2d) 522 (CP, Montgomery 1970), Dayton Newspapers, Inc v Dayton; affirmed by 28 App(2d) 95, 274 NE(2d) 766 (1971). Executive meetings, investigations and informal efforts of city commissioners for preliminary purposes are subject to sovereign legislative and rule making power and may be conducted in private.

686 FSupp 177 (ND Ohio 1988), WJW-TV, Inc v Cleveland; vacated by 870 F(2d) 658 (6th Cir Ohio 1989) and 878 F(2d) 906 (6th Cir Ohio 1989); cert denied 110 SCt 74, 107 LEd(2d) 41 (1989). Although there is nothing in the First Amendment to the United States Constitution from which a public right of access to legislative proceedings may automatically be inferred, a qualified right of access will be recognized by extending the present right of public access to most criminal trials that is enforceable even where the defendant himself desires a closed trial; when compelling reasons justifying a closed meeting are present, these reasons must be stated.

OAG 88-003. The word "property" as used in RC 121.22(G)(2) includes both tangible and intangible property; accordingly, the public employees retirement board may discuss in executive session the purchase or sale of any tangible or intangible property authorized under RC 145.11, including but not limited to bonds, notes, stocks, shares, securities, commercial paper, and debt or equity interests.

OAG 86-091. The Ohio legal rights service commission is a "public body" for purposes of RC 121.22, Ohio's open-meeting law. The commission may consider in executive session such matters as come within RC 121.22(G).

OAG 85-044. A township board of zoning appeals may not conduct, in an executive session, deliberations concerning a zoning appeal heard pursuant to RC 519.14(A) or RC 519.14(B).

OAG 80-083. The convening of members of the county central committee pursuant to RC 305.02 is a "meeting." Final voting on the appointment of persons to the committee must be held in a public meeting. However, the convening of the committee for the purpose of conducting purely internal party affairs, unrelated to the committee's duties of making appointments to vacant public offices is not a "meeting" as defined by RC 121.22(B)(2).

OAG 70-165. Governmental body may hold executive sessions from which public is excluded provided no final binding action shall be taken, inasmuch as its only meetings which are required to be open to public are those in which a resolution, rule, regulation or formal action of any kind is adopted or passed.

5. Records

56 OS(3d) 97, 564 NE(2d) 486 (1990), State ex rel Fairfield Leader v Ricketts. A meeting of government officials to discuss annexation and development projects at which no specific proposals are made and no official action taken, and where the meeting is called by and paid for by a private developer, must be reduced to minutes. These minutes must be made available to the public; where the officials refuse to reduce the meeting to minutes, mandamus shall be granted to compel such action.

45 OS(2d) 107, 341 NE(2d) 576 (1976), Dayton Newspapers, Inc v Dayton. A record is "required to be kept" by a governmental unit, within the meaning of RC 149.43, where the unit's keeping of such record is necessary to the execution of its duties and responsibilities.

45 App(2d) 288, 344 NE(2d) 156 (1975), Washington Bd of Twp Trustees v Spring Creek Gravel Co. Where there is no record of the adoption of an amended zoning regulation by the township trustees, it is conclusively presumed that the trustees took no action and and that such amended zoning regulation did not become law, since statutes requiring a record of action by township trustees are mandatory where such action is legislative in nature.

5 App(2d) 265, 215 NE(2d) 434 (1966), Thomas v Liberty Twp Bd of Trustees. The omission of making a record of the proceedings of a board of township trustees does not, per se, invalidate the action of the township trustees, which is otherwise valid.

61 Misc(2d) 631 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Economic Opportunity Planning Assn of Greater Toledo. A designated community action agency is a public office within the meaning of RC 149.43 and its records are public records.

22 Misc 197, 259 NE(2d) 757 (CP, Lake 1970), Curran v Lake County Metropolitan Park Dist Bd of Park Commrs. All records that reflect official action of a park board or its authorized employees are public, including records which document organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures, operations or other activities of the office, but not including real estate appraisals from private experts which board secures for use in land transactions.

OAG 88-087. A board of township trustees may adopt a rule regulating but not prohibiting the audio and video recording of township proceedings. Such rules must promote the orderly transaction of business without unreasonably interfering with the rights of those present, and may require recording equipment to be silent, unobtrusive, self-contained and self-powered to avoid interfering with the ability of those present to hear, see and participate in the proceedings. The public's right of access to governmental proceedings includes the right to record township meetings, and any regulation thereof must be precisely and narrowly drawn to be no broader than necessary to insure the order of the proceedings.

OAG 77-075. Pursuant to RC 4112.05(B), the Ohio civil rights commission may not reveal the final terms of conciliation, written or unwritten, to members of the general public who are not parties to the matters conciliated.

OAG 74-072. The public utilities commission has authority to adopt rules for the conduct of its proceedings, and it may restrict the audio-visual recording of such proceedings so long as such restrictions are reasonable, or may enact a rule permitting the use of audio-visual equipment in its proceedings if it chooses.

6. Notice

59 App(2d) 231, 394 NE(2d) 331 (1978), Amigo v Cloverleaf Local School District Bd of Ed. A board of education rule, adopted pursuant to, and complying with, RC 121.22(F), allowing any person to request notification of upcoming regular or special meetings precludes the claim of a board employee, who has not utilized such rule, that RC 121.22 requires the board to personally notify her of upcoming board meetings at which her employment or dismissal will be considered in executive session during the meeting.

No. 3515 (11th Dist Ct App, Trumbull, 12-20-85), State ex rel Brookfield Federation of Teachers v Brookfield Local Bd of Ed. Where a board of education meets in executive session at 3:30 p.m. without first having held a regular or special meeting and, where the board is called shortly after the adjournment to an emergency meeting set for 4:20 p.m. to consider a factfinder's report under RC 4117.14, the board complies with RC 121.22(F) when it notifies the media approximately ten minutes after the start of the 4:20 p.m. meeting which lasts a few minutes.

OAG 88-029. With respect to "regular meetings" or "special meetings" as those terms are used in RC 121.22(F), the public utilities commission nominating council is required to establish, by rule, a reasonable method whereby any person may determine the time, place, and purpose of such meetings, and such rule must provide for reasonable advance notification of all meetings at which a specific type of business is to be discussed to all persons requesting such notice and paying a reasonable fee.

OAG 88-029. Pursuant to RC 121.22(F), the public utilities commission nominating council is required to provide at least twenty-four hours' advance notice of all special meetings to the news media which have requested such notification except in the event of an emergency requiring immediate official action, in which case the member or members calling the meeting must immediately notify all news media which have requested such notification of the time, place, and purpose of the meeting.

2. In general

54 OS(2d) 282, 376 NE(2d) 580 (1978), Jackson v Chapman. The appointing officer may appeal from the decision of the state personnel board of review in cases involving removal of an employee.

52 OS(2d) 43, 368 NE(2d) 1259 (1977), Jackson v Coffey. Where classified employee was discharged for serving as precinct committeeman, state personnel board of review improperly reinstated him on ground that removal order was not implemented within a reasonable time.

39 Misc(2d) 8 (CP, Summit 1985), Esler v Summit County. In determining whether two public offices are incompatible with each other, a court should consider the following: (1) whether either position is a check upon or subordinate to the other; (2) whether either position is classified pursuant to RC 124.57; (3) whether the empowering statutes limit outside employment; (4) whether one person can physically perform both functions; (5) whether there is a conflict of interest; and (6) whether there are any controlling ordinances or regulations. The mere possibility of a conflict of interest is insufficient to render two position incompatible; rather, a court should look to the degree of remoteness of a potential conflict, the ability or inability to remove oneself from the conflict, whether one exercises decision-making authority in both positions, whether the conflict involves primary functions of each position, and whether the conflict involves budgetary controls.

646 FSupp 47 (SD Ohio 1986), Craig v Celeste. Where two department of transportation county superintendents are found to have solicited political contributions from subordinates in violation of RC 124.57 and one is a black, female democrat while the other is a white, male republican, any difference in treatment between them based on any of the three opposite characteristics violates 42 USC 1985(3); thus, where the democrat is suspended for five days while the republican is fired the department will be ordered to restore him to his post.

OAG 91-065. The terms of a collective bargaining agreement may provide that a classified employee may engage in partisan politics and, pursuant to RC 4117.10(A), such terms will prevail over the provisions of RC 124.57.

OAG 87-013. The position of assignment commissioner and secretary for a municipal court judge exercising countywide jurisdiction is not a classified civil service position, and a person holding such position is not barred by RC 124.57 from seeking election to the position of mayor of a village within that county.

1940 OAG 2239. Civil service commission may not withhold its approval of the payroll for salary or compensation of a person in classified civil service who has become a candidate for nomination for office at a primary election, except where such person has been removed by the appointing authority in specific manner provided by law.

UCBR 608754-BR (5-21-86), In re Owens. A state employee who loans another state worker cash to buy a ticket to a political function does not violate RC 124.57 where there is no proof that he solicited, coerced, encouraged, or otherwise facilitated the sale; consequently, the employer lacks just cause under RC 4141.29 to fire the lender.

3. Positions incompatible

135 OS 602, 21 NE(2d) 991 (1939), State ex rel Hein v Cull. A person holding a temporary appointment in the classified civil service is subject to the restraints imposed on such persons as a condition of their employment and, therefore, may not serve as a central committeeman.

39 Misc(2d) 10, 531 NE(2d) 785 (CP, Trumbull 1988), Chronister v Trumbull County Prosecuting Attorney. Where one office is insubordinate to, or in any way a check upon, the other, where there is a conflict of interest in two positions, or when it is physically impossible for one person to discharge the duties of both, two public offices are incompatible.

OAG 89-022. An individual who holds a position of assistant auditor of state pursuant to RC 117.09 is prohibited from simultaneously holding the position of township clerk if the election for township clerk is a partisan election as provided in RC 3513.253 and the duties of the assistant auditor include participating in or supervising the audit of that township.

OAG 89-022. An individual who holds a position of assistant auditor of state pursuant to RC 117.09 is prohibited from simultaneously holding the position of city planning commissioner if the office of city planning commissioner is a partisan political office and the duties of the assistant auditor include participating in or supervising the audit of that municipality.

OAG 88-020. A township trustee who is not elected to that office in a partisan election may also be employed as a truck driver in the classified service of the county highway department.

OAG 84-041. RC 124.57 prohibits a classified employee from serving on the state central committee or a county central committee of a political party or on the executive committee of the state central committee or a county central committee.

OAG 82-085. A deputy sheriff in the unclassified service may serve as a member of a village legislative authority. However, a deputy sheriff in the classified service may not be a candidate for the position of village council member if such members are elected in a partisan election. He may be a candidate for, and serve as a village council member if the election for such position is nonpartisan in nature.

OAG 82-085. A city police officer may not be a candidate for the position of village council member in a partisan election. He may, however, be a candidate for, and serve as, a village council member if the election for such position is nonpartisan in nature.

OAG 74-071; overruled in part by OAG 82-085. An employee in a county highway department, in the classified civil service, may not also serve as village councilman, because of the prohibition of political activity by classified employees in RC 124.57.

OAG 71-040. The office of councilman or the office of president of council of a city, both being elective offices, may not be held by one employed in the position of safety inspector II in the department of highways.

OAG 69-150. A classified position in a county engineer's office is incompatible with an elected membership in a village board of trustees of public affairs, and such positions may not be held concurrently by the same person.

OAG 66-046; overruled in part by OAG 82-085. A person holding a position in the classified service of a state university could not at the same time become a candidate for, be elected to, or hold the office of member of village council.

1962 OAG 3005; overruled in part by OAG 83-095 and OAG 88-020. A county highway department employee who is in the classified service of the county and who becomes a candidate for the elective position of township trustee is in violation of RC 143.41.

1962 OAG 3005; overruled in part by OAG 83-095 and OAG 88-020. A county highway department employee, classified or unclassified, who is elected as a township trustee, may qualify for, and serve in, that office, but in so doing he vacates his county employment.

1962 OAG 3005; overruled in part by OAG 83-095 and OAG 88-020. The elective position of township trustee is incompatible with the position of county highway department employee whether the latter position is in the classified or unclassified service of the county.

1958 OAG 1648. The office of judge of the county court is incompatible with the position of county veterans service officer.

1957 OAG 844. A township clerk cannot at the same time be a city street employee unless the city under its home rule powers relieves such employees from RC 143.41.

1954 OAG 4058. An employee in the classified service of the state who simultaneously occupies an elective office is subject to removal from his classified position even though the office is nonpartisan. If occupying elective office, he is ineligible for a classified appointment, and if while in classified service he declares for elective office, he is subject to removal proceedings.

1952 OAG 1116. A city councilman may not serve as township constable.

1951 OAG 1014. This section prohibits same person from holding concurrently the offices of township trustee and prison guard at the Ohio penitentiary.

OAG 79-111. The common law test of incompatibility is applicable to the simultaneous holding of a public office and a public employment by the same person. An individual is not precluded from holding office as municipal council member and employment as a special deputy sheriff at the same time, assuming that the special deputy holds a fiduciary relationship to the sheriff and thus is in the unclassified civil service. Where possible conflicts are remote and speculative, common law incompatibility or conflict of interest rules are not violated.

OAG 78-022. RC 124.57 does not prohibit a classified civil servant from being appointed to the office of township trustee pursuant to RC 503.24, or from seeking that office in a nonpartisan election.

OAG 74-034. A person in the classified civil service is not prohibited from being a candidate for or holding the office of member of a county board of education by RC 124.57, because that section only prohibits partisan political activity.

An engineer employed by a noncharter municipality on a part-time basis but holding a regular and permanent position on an annual salary payable monthly, is the head of a subdivision of the city under the supervision of the city director of public service and as such is an employee in the classified civil service, but the service of such city engineer, during the part time when he is not on such duty, as state legislative agent for the Ohio state automobile association, is not taking part in partisan politics and does not constitute a violation of RC 143.41.

1963 OAG 3521. In the absence of a valid ordinance or resolution by the legislative authority of the village prohibiting the chief or members of a village police department from taking part in politics, the chief or any such member may hold an elective or appointive political office at the same time he is serving in the police department, assuming he is physically able to do so.

1952 OAG 1116. The positions of township clerk and member of the board of directors of a county agricultural society are not incompatible.

1945 OAG 367. The mere fact that a position in the state service is in the classified civil service and one in the service of a county is in the unclassified civil service does not in and of itself render such two positions incompatible; consequently, if the duties of the two positions are in no way conflicting or those of one a check upon those of the other or subordinate thereto in any manner, the same person may lawfully hold both positions at the same time.

1940 OAG 1972. Person holding a position in the classified civil service of the state does not bring himself within the prohibition of this section, or take part in politics by the mere acceptance of clerical work in a probate court.

1933 OAG 1571. Assuming that other county-employed stenographers are not in the classified civil service, they may report hearings before the tax commission of Ohio, in such county, and draw compensation for such, providing that it is physically possible for them to properly perform and discharge the duties of both positions.

The word, "politics," as used in GC 486-23 (RC 143.41) must be defined as politics in its narrower partisan sense, and activities of municipal employees in the classified service in circulating an initiative petition seeking enactment of an ordinance relating to their employment do not constitute a taking part in politics as that term is used in such section.

BOND LAW

131.23 Bonds for indebtedness and general and disability assistance; authorization in anticipation of tax collection; special election; distribution of proceeds

The various political subdivisions of this state may issue bonds, and any indebtedness created by such issuance shall not be subject to the limitations or included in the calculation of indebtedness prescribed by sections 133.05, 133.06, 133.07, and 133.09 of the Revised Code, but such bonds may be issued only under the following conditions:

(A) The subdivision desiring to issue such bonds shall obtain from the county auditor a certificate showing the total amount of delinquent taxes due and unpayable to such subdivision at the last semiannual tax settlement.

(B) The fiscal officer of that subdivision shall prepare a statement, from the books of the subdivision, verified by him under oath, which shall contain the following facts of such subdivision:

(1) The total bonded indebtedness;

(2) The aggregate amount of notes payable or outstanding accounts of the subdivision, incurred prior to the commencement of the current fiscal year, which shall include all evidences of indebtedness issued by the subdivision except notes issued in anticipation of bond issues and the indebtedness of any nontax-supported public utility;

(3) Except in the case of school districts, the aggregate current year's requirement for general assistance and disability assistance provided under Chapters 5113. and 5115. of the Revised Code that the subdivision is unable to finance except by the issue of bonds;

(4) The indebtedness outstanding through the issuance of any bonds or notes pledged or obligated to be paid by any delinquent taxes;

(5) The total of any other indebtedness;

(6) The net amount of delinquent taxes unpledged to pay any bonds, notes, or certificates, including delinquent assessments on improvements on which the bonds have been paid;

(7) The budget requirements for the fiscal year for bond and note retirement;

(8) The estimated revenue for the fiscal year.

(C) The certificate and statement provided for in divisions (A) and (B) of this section shall be forwarded to the tax commissioner together with a request for authority to issue bonds of such subdivision in an amount not to exceed seventy per cent of the net unobligated delinquent taxes and assessments due and owing to such subdivision, as set forth in division (B)(6) of this section.

(D) No subdivision may issue bonds under this section in excess of a sufficient amount to pay the indebtedness of the subdivision as shown by division (B)(2) of this section and, except in the case of school districts, to provide funds for general assistance and disability assistance, as shown by division (B)(3) of this section.

(E) The tax commissioner shall grant to such subdivision authority requested by such subdivision as restricted by divisions (C) and (D) of this section and shall make a record of the certificate, statement, and grant in a record book devoted solely to such recording and which shall be open to inspection by the public.

(F) The commissioner shall immediately upon issuing the authority provided in division (E) of this section notify the proper authority having charge of the retirement of bonds of such subdivision by forwarding a copy of such grant of authority and of the statement provided for in division (B) of this section.

(G) Upon receipt of authority, the subdivision shall proceed according to law to issue the amount of bonds authorized by the commissioner, and authorized by the taxing authority, provided the taxing authority of that subdivision may by resolution submit to the electors of that subdivision the question of issuing such bonds. Such resolution shall make the declarations and statements required by section 133.18 of the Revised Code. The county auditor and taxing authority shall thereupon proceed as set forth in divisions (C) and (D) of such section. The election on the question of issuing such bonds shall be held under divisions (E), (F), and (G) of such section, except that publication of the notice of such election shall be made on four separate days prior to such election in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the subdivisions. Such bonds may be exchanged at their face value with creditors of the subdivision in liquidating the indebtedness described and enumerated in division (B)(2) of this section or may be sold as provided in Chapter 133. of the Revised Code, and in either event shall be uncontestable.

(H) The per cent of delinquent taxes and assessments collected for and to the credit of the subdivision after the exchange or sale of bonds as certified by the commissioner shall be paid to the authority having charge of the sinking fund of the subdivision, which money shall be placed in a separate fund for the purpose of retiring the bonds so issued. The proper authority of the subdivisions shall provide for the levying of a tax sufficient in amount to pay the debt charges on all such bonds issued under this section.

(I) This section is for the sole purpose of assisting the various subdivisions in paying their unsecured indebtedness, and providing funds for general assistance and disability assistance. The bonds issued under authority of this section shall not be used for any other purpose and any exchange for other purposes, or the use of the money derived from the sale of such bonds by the subdivision for any other purpose, is misapplication of funds.

(J) The bonds authorized by this section shall be redeemable or payable in not to exceed ten years from date of issue and shall not be subject to or considered in calculating the net indebtedness of the subdivision. The budget commission of the county in which the subdivision is located shall annually allocate such portion of the then delinquent levy due such subdivision which is unpledged for other purposes to the payment of debt charges on the bonds issued under authority of this section.

(K) The issue of bonds under this section shall be governed by Chapter 133. of the Revised Code, respecting the terms used, forms, manner of sale, and redemption except as otherwise provided in this section.

The board of county commissioners of any county may issue bonds authorized by this section and distribute the proceeds of such bond issues to any or all of the cities and townships of such counties, according to their relative needs for general assistance as determined by such county.

All sections of the Revised Code inconsistent with or prohibiting the exercise of the authority conferred by this section are inoperative respecting bonds issued under this section.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

137 OS 255, 28 NE(2d) 593 (1940), State ex rel Cleveland v Gesell. This section, authorizing a political subdivision of the state to pay unsecured indebtedness and provide funds for poor relief by the issuance of bonds under prescribed conditions and in a limited amount, is a valid enactment within the power of the general assembly; and a subdivision, complying with the statute, may properly issue bonds for the designated purposes, when it appears there is no transgression of constitutional provisions or other lawful enactments.

1944 OAG 6621. Delinquent tax bonds may not be issued by the taxing authority of a subdivision under this section, for purpose of funding a deficit created during the previous fiscal year in violation of limitation and restrictions on indebtedness imposed by budget law.

1941 OAG 3455. No vested rights exist in uncollected taxes, and when bonds are lawfully issued in anticipation of collection of such taxes, as for example bonds issued under this section, the firemen's relief and pension fund created and administered under provisions of GC 4600 (RC 741.02) et seq. is not entitled to any part of such delinquent tax collections.

1939 OAG 360. When, pursuant to provisions of this section, a subdivision issues bonds in anticipation of collection of delinquent taxes, such subdivision may again issue similar bonds under provisions of this section, against those taxes and assessments which became delinquent subsequent to date of semiannual tax settlement next preceding first issuance of such bonds.

1936 OAG 5700. When a subdivision issues bonds under this section, the amount of unpledged delinquent taxes and assessments which are collected shall be paid to the authority having charge of the sinking fund of the subdivision, which money shall be placed in a separate fund for the purpose of retiring said bonds.

133.18 Submission of question of issuing bonds to electors

(A) The taxing authority of a subdivision may by legislation submit to the electors of the subdivision the question of issuing any general obligation bonds, for one purpose, that the subdivision has power or authority to issue.

(B) When the taxing authority of a subdivision desires or is required by law to submit the question of a bond issue to the electors, it shall pass legislation that does all of the following:

(1) Declares the necessity and purpose of the bond issue;

(2) States the date of the authorized election at which the question shall be submitted to the electors;

(3) States the amount, approximate date, estimated rate of interest, and maximum number of years over which the principal of the bonds may be paid;

(4) Declares the necessity of levying a tax outside the tax limitation to pay the debt charges on the bonds and any anticipatory securities.

The estimated rate of interest, and any statutory or charter limit on interest rate that may then be in effect and that is subsequently amended, shall not be a limitation on the actual interest rate or rates on the securities when issued.

(C) The taxing authority shall certify a copy of the legislation passed under division (B) of this section to the county auditor. The county auditor shall promptly calculate and advise and, not later than seventy-five days before the election, confirm that advice by certification to, the taxing authority the estimated average annual property tax levy, expressed in cents or dollars and cents for each one hundred dollars of tax valuation and in mills for each one dollar of tax valuation, that the county auditor estimates to be required throughout the stated maturity of the bonds to pay the debt charges on the bonds. In calculating the estimated average annual property tax levy for this purpose, the county auditor shall assume that the bonds are issued in one series bearing interest and maturing in substantially equal principal amounts in each year over the maximum number of years over which the principal of the bonds may be paid as stated in that legislation, and that the amount of the tax valuation of the subdivision for the current year remains the same throughout the maturity of the bonds. If the tax valuation for the current year is not determined, the county auditor shall base the calculation on the estimated amount of the tax valuation submitted by the county auditor to the county budget commission. If the subdivision is located in more than one county, the county auditor shall obtain the assistance of the county auditors of the other counties, and those county auditors shall provide assistance, in establishing the tax valuation of the subdivision for purposes of certifying the estimated average annual property tax levy.

(D) After receiving the county auditor's advice under division (C) of this section, the taxing authority by legislation may determine to proceed with submitting the question of the issue of securities, and shall, not later than the seventy-fifth day before the day of the election, file the following with the board of elections:

(1) Copies of the legislation provided for in division (B) of this section and in this division (D);

(2) The amount of the estimated average annual property tax levy, expressed in cents or dollars and cents for each one hundred dollars of tax valuation and in mills for each one dollar of tax valuation, as estimated and certified to the taxing authority by the county auditor.

(E)(1) The board of elections shall prepare the ballots and make other necessary arrangements for the submission of the question to the electors of the subdivision. If the subdivision is located in more than one county, the board shall inform the boards of elections of the other counties of the filings with it, and those other boards shall if appropriate make the other necessary arrangements for the election in their counties. The election shall be conducted, canvassed, and certified in the manner provided in Title XXXV of the Revised Code.

(2) The election shall be held at the regular places for voting in the subdivision. If the electors of only a part of a precinct are qualified to vote at the election the board of elections may assign the electors in that part to an adjoining precinct, including an adjoining precinct in another county if the board of elections of the other county consents to and approves the assignment. Each elector so assigned shall be notified of that fact prior to the election by notice mailed by the board of elections, in such manner as it determines, prior to the election.

(3) The board of elections shall publish a notice of the election, in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the subdivision, at least once no later than ten days prior to the election. The notice shall state all of the following:

(a) The principal amount of the proposed bond issue;

(b) The stated purpose for which the bonds are to be issued;

(c) The maximum number of years over which the principal of the bonds may be paid;

(d) The estimated additional average annual property tax levy, expressed in cents or dollars and cents for each one hundred dollars of tax valuation and in mills for each one dollar of tax valuation, to be levied outside the tax limitation, as estimated and certified to the taxing authority by the county auditor.

(F)(1) The form of the ballot to be used at the election shall be substantially either of the following, as applicable:

(a) "Shall bonds be issued by the _____ (name of subdivision) for the purpose of _____ (purpose of the bond issue) in the principal amount of _____ (principal amount of the bond issue), to be repaid annually over a maximum period of _____ (the maximum number of years over which the principal of the bonds may be paid) years, and an annual levy of property taxes be made outside the _____ (as applicable, "ten-mill" or "___ charter tax") limitation, estimated by the county auditor to average over the repayment period of the bond issue _____ (number of mills) mills for each one dollar of tax valuation, which amounts to _____ (rate expressed in cents or dollars and cents, such as "36 cents" or "$1.41") for each $100 of tax valuation, to pay the annual debt charges on the bonds, and to pay debt charges on any notes issued in anticipation of those bonds.

	For the bond issue
	Against the bond issue

(b) In the case of an election held pursuant to legislation adopted under section 3375.43 or 3375.431 of the Revised Code:

"Shall bonds be issued for _____ (name of library) for the purpose of _____ (purpose of the bond issue), in the principal amount of _____ (amount of the bond issue) by _____ (the name of the subdivision that is to issue the bonds and levy the tax) as the issuer of the bonds, to be repaid annually over a maximum period of _____ (the maximum number of years over which the principal of the bonds may be paid) years, and an annual levy of property taxes be made outside the ten-mill limitation, estimated by the county auditor to average over the repayment period of the bond issue _____ (number of mills) mills for each one dollar of tax valuation, which amounts to _____ (rate expressed in cents or dollars and cents, such as "36 cents" or "$1.41") for each $100 of tax valuation, to pay the annual debt charges on the bonds, and to pay debt charges on any notes issued in anticipation of those bonds.

	For the bond issue

(2) The purpose for which the bonds are to be issued shall be printed in the space indicated, in boldface type.

(G) The board of elections shall promptly certify the results of the election to the tax commissioner, the county auditor of each county in which any part of the subdivision is located, and the fiscal officer of the subdivision. The election, including the proceedings for and result of the election, is incontestable other than in a contest filed under section 3515.09 of the Revised Code in which the plaintiff prevails.

(H) If a majority of the electors voting upon the question vote for it, the taxing authority of the subdivision may proceed under sections 133.21 to 133.33 of the Revised Code with the issuance of the securities and with the levy and collection of a property tax outside the tax limitation during the period the securities are outstanding sufficient in amount to pay the debt charges on the securities, including debt charges on any anticipatory securities required to be paid from that tax. If legislation passed under section 133.22 or 133.23 of the Revised Code authorizing those securities is filed with the county auditor on or before the last day of November, the amount of the voted property tax levy required to pay debt charges or estimated debt charges on the securities payable in the following year shall if requested by the taxing authority be included in the taxes levied for collection in the following year under section 319.30 of the Revised Code.

(I)(1) If, before any securities authorized at an election under this section are issued, the net indebtedness of the subdivision exceeds that applicable to that subdivision or those securities, then and so long as that is the case none of the securities may be issued.

(2) No securities authorized at an election under this section may be initially issued after the first day of the sixth January following the election, but this period of limitation shall not run for any time during which any part of the permanent improvement for which the securities have been authorized, or the issuing or validity of any part of the securities issued or to be issued, or the related proceedings, is involved or questioned before a court or a commission or other tribunal, administrative agency, or board.

(3) Securities representing a portion of the amount authorized at an election that are issued within the applicable limitation on net indebtedness are valid and in no manner affected by the fact that the balance of the securities authorized cannot be issued by reason of the net indebtedness limitation or lapse of time.

(4) Nothing in this division (I) shall be interpreted or applied to prevent the issuance of securities in an amount to fund or refund anticipatory securities lawfully issued.

(5) The limitations of divisions (I)(1) and (2) of this section do not apply to any securities authorized at an election under this section if at least ten per cent of the principal amount of the securities, including anticipatory securities, authorized has theretofore been issued, or if the securities are to be issued for the purpose of participating in any federally or state-assisted program.

(6) The certificate of the fiscal officer of the subdivision is conclusive proof of the facts referred to in this division (I).

1961 OAG 2479. A board of education of a city, exempted village, or local school district may expend money to improve its athletic field; and such a subdivision may submit to the electors of the subdivision the question of issuing any bonds and levying of any tax for the purpose of providing the necessary funds therefor. (Annotation from former RC 133.18.)

1958 OAG 2992. Where a school district proposes to issue bonds and to levy a tax outside the ten-mill limitation to pay the interest thereon and to retire such bonds, and where the question thus involved is to be submitted to the electors in a November election, such district may proceed either under RC 133.09 et seq. or under RC 133.18. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

1954 OAG 4178. Township trustees may submit a bond issue taking the form of a single proposal for the construction of a township fire station and for the purchase of fire apparatus, equipment and appliances; said issue not to exceed $20,000. (Annotation from former RC 133.10.)

1951 OAG 933. When a proposed bond issue has been submitted by a board of education to the electors of its district and money have been collected from approved tax levy and placed in the bond retirement fund, and thereafter, by reason of doubt of validity of such submission, the proposition is resubmitted and again approved by the electors, moneys paid in the meantime from the general fund of the district for the construction of a part of the proposed improvement, may not, under GC 5625-13 and GC 5625-13a (RC 5705.14 and RC 5705.15) be transferred from said bond retirement fund to reimburse the general fund for the sum so expended. In such case, if the portion of the proposed improvement which was constructed pending the resubmission was included in the original plan for such improvement, the general fund may be reimbursed from the proceeds of such bond issue. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

1950 OAG 2636. The question of the issuance of bonds pursuant to this section may be submitted to a vote of the electors of the issuing subdivision at a general election, without the consent of the department of taxation of Ohio or the director of education. (Annotation from former RC 133.18.)

1930 OAG 2792. In the event the taxing authority, after the question of issuing bonds has been favorably voted upon by the electors, determines that the issuance of such bonds is not necessary, there is nothing to preclude such taxing authority from thereafter determining that their issuance is necessary and proceedings under GC 2293.25 to GC 2293-29 (RC 133.32 to RC 133.36), inclusive. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

2. Compliance sufficient

160 OS 77, 113 NE(2d) 241 (1953), Cross v Madison Bd of Ed. In calculating millage the county auditor is not required to use a mathematically exact tax valuation. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

152 OS 77, 87 NE(2d) 462 (1949), State ex rel Wuebker v Bockrath. Under this section, the taxing authority desiring to submit the question of the issuing of bonds to the electors of the district is required to pass but one resolution; the fact that such taxing authority passes other resolutions on the same day as the required resolution does not invalidate proceedings under such section. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

152 OS 77, 87 NE(2d) 462 (1949), State ex rel Wuebker v Bockrath. A section of the Uniform Bond Act, requiring the clerk or other officer having charge of the minutes of the taxing authority to furnish successful bidder of its bonds a true transcript, is for the convenience of the successful bidder and its proper preparation is not a condition precedent to the authorization of an election or the issuance of bonds. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

144 OS 565, 60 NE(2d) 183 (1945), State ex rel Springfield Bd of Ed v Maxwell. The bond issue of a political subdivision approved at an election by more than the requisite percentage of electors voting thereon will not be invalidated on the ground that the resolution of necessity, passed under this section, provided for a maximum maturity of twenty years, whereas the notice of the election and the ballots submitted provided for a tax levy covering a maximum period of twenty-two and one-half years. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

102 App 315, 143 NE(2d) 159 (1955), State ex rel Southeastern Bd of Ed v Allen. Where a county auditor certifies to a board of education an incorrect figure for the average annual tax levy to pay the principal and interest on bonds, a figure of 3.5 mills per dollar being certified instead of the correct figure of 4.2 mills per dollar, such incorrect figure is carried in the text of the notice of election published by the board of education and on the face of the ballot, and such bond issue carries by a majority of 75.8 per cent of the electors, there is a substantial compliance with the provisions of the Uniform Bond Act and such clerical defect in the notice of election and on the ballot is not sufficient to invalidate such bonds. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

96 App 210, 121 NE(2d) 561 (1953), State ex rel Spitler v Beidleman. Where the council of a municipality provides for submission to the electors of the question of issuing bonds, provides for a tax levy outside the ten-mill limitation for retirement of such bonds over a twenty-five-year maximum period, and the ballot prepared and submitted to the electors provides for a maximum retirement period of thirty years, such misstatement in the ballot of the maximum maturity period of such bonds does not invalidate the proceedings. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

92 Abs 457, 192 NE(2d) 1 (CP, Madison 1963), Mt. Sterling v Tracy. Where resolution of council was filed with county auditor 106 rather than 110 days before election, and auditor's certification was made 105 days prior to election, and resolution to submit measure to voters was filed 92 days prior to election, statute was substantially complied with. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

92 Abs 457, 192 NE(2d) 1 (CP, Madison 1963), Mt. Sterling v Tracy. As applied to RC 133.09 substantial compliance means that there was no error of omission or commission in the proceedings, which substantially and materially deprived the voters of the full time and information which the statute requires in order to discuss, debate, inquire and consider whether in their opinion the burden of the additional tax for the reason and to the extent stated should be approved or disapproved. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

OAG 73-100. The question of construction or improvement of a town hall, at a cost greater than ten thousand dollars, may be, and the question of issuance of bonds to meet the cost of construction or improvement of a town hall must be submitted to the electorate by the board of township trustees at any election or at the same election. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

3. Invalidating defects

2 OS(2d) 121, 206 NE(2d) 902 (1965), Schnoerr v Miller. The Uniform Bond Act requires that the purpose for which such bonds are to be used be specifically set forth in the resolution, notice of election, and the ballot, and the designation of a contemplated municipal improvement as "a public building" is not a sufficient description of the purpose of a bond issue to comply with the requirement of the act. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

165 OS 12, 133 NE(2d) 323 (1956), State ex rel Hamilton County Bd of Commrs v Guckenberger. Where the estimated average additional tax rate for a road building bond issue was erroneously computed but corrected by stickers on all ballots except absentee ballots, the failure to show the correct rate on the absentee ballots invalidated the election. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

155 OS 402, 99 NE(2d) 179 (1951), State ex rel Jackson County Bd of Commrs v Jenkins. The provisions of this section are mandatory, and a substantial compliance therewith is a prerequisite for the issuance of bonds. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

4 App(2d) 99, 212 NE(2d) 671 (1963), Schnoerr v Miller; affirmed by 2 OS(2d) 121, 206 NE(2d) 902 (1965). A ballot submitted at an election for approval of a municipal bond issue, which designates the purpose for which the bonds are to be issued as a "public building," where the purpose contemplated is the construction of a community blast and fallout shelter, does not meet the mandatory procedural requirements of the Uniform Bond Act. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

1930 OAG 1404. When the question of issuing bonds is submitted to the electors of a subdivision pursuant to the provisions of the Uniform Bond Act and the question carries by one vote, authorizing the issue and a tax levy outside of the fifteen mill limitation to pay the interest and principal of such bonds, in the event such levy has been miscalculated and is in fact approximately twenty-six per cent greater than authorized by the electors, such election is invalid and the people of such subdivision may not be taxed pursuant thereto. (Annotation from former RC 133.09.)

4. Single purpose requirement

167 OS 23, 145 NE(2d) 668 (1957), State ex rel Miami Trace Bd of Ed v Thompson. A resolution for a school bond issue for the purposes of acquiring real estate, constructing fireproof buildings, providing furnishings therefor, improving non-fireproof buildings, and providing furnishings therefor is for a single purpose. (Annotation from former RC 133.10.)

163 OS 159, 126 NE(2d) 449 (1955), State ex rel Speeth v Carney. A resolution of necessity which provides for the "construction of subways" rather than for the "construction of a subway" properly expresses a single and not a multiple purpose. (Annotation from former RC 133.10.)

129 OS 206, 194 NE 415 (1935), State ex rel Upper Sandusky v Snyder. A resolution passed by the council of a municipality, which provides for calling an election on the issuance of bonds, "for the purpose of acquiring or constructing waterworks," relates the one purpose only. (Annotation from former RC 133.10.)

45 App 470, 187 NE 248 (1933), Oberlin v Morris. Municipal legislation providing for an election to authorize the issue and sale of bonds "to construct or purchase a municipal electric light and power plant, consisting of works for the generation and transmission of electricity and equipping the same, including transmission and distribution lines for supplying electricity to the municipality and the inhabitants thereof," constitutes legislation for a single purpose and is authorized by statute. (Annotation from former RC 133.10.)

83 Abs 314, 169 NE(2d) 314 (CP, Cuyahoga 1960), Bearden v Shaker Heights. A ballot stating that a bond issue shall be for "improving recreation facilities by constructing swimming pools and other fireproof structures and play areas and otherwise developing the sites therefor" does not violate the "one purpose" rule. (Annotation from former RC 133.10.)

5. Compliance with stated purpose

71 Abs 140, 128 NE(2d) 267 (CP, Cuyahoga 1955), Bartlett v Miamisburg Bd of Ed. The authority and discretion of a board of education over the location, number and nature of elementary school buildings is not restricted by a bond levy, the express purpose of which was to acquire a site and construct "an elementary school building and additions to existing school buildings." (Annotation from former RC 133.10.)

OAG 71-033. Funds from a voted tax levy under RC 5705.191 for "constructing and equipping a new children's home" may be expended to erect, on the same premises, a service building to house vehicles and maintenance equipment to be used in connection with such home. (Annotation from former RC 133.10.)

OAG 65-94. The board of education cannot legally proceed with the performance of less than the entire stated purpose for which the bond issue was approved, i.e., constructing additions to and improving elementary school buildings and constructing a physical education facility, including site development. (Annotation from former RC 133.10.)

1964 OAG 1456; overruled in part by OAG 80-070. The unexpended balance from the proceeds of a bond issue, or from the interest on the proceeds, which is no longer needed for the purpose for which such bonds were issued must be used in accordance with RC 5705.14. (Annotation from former RC 133.10.)

1964 OAG 1456; overruled in part by OAG 80-070. The proceeds or the interest on the proceeds of a bond issue for the purpose of constructing, equipping and furnishing school buildings, including the acquisition and improvement of sites therefor, remaining after the buildings have been constructed, equipped and furnished, may not be used as a fund for repairs and improvements to such school buildings. (Annotation from former RC 133.10.)

1956 OAG 6873. Proceeds from the sale of bonds voted for the purpose "of providing for the construction of a fireproof elementary school building and a gymnasium, the making of alterations and improvements in fireproof and non-fireproof school buildings, and for the improvement of school grounds and playgrounds" and as so provided in the resolutions of the board of education passed prior to the election may not be used to purchase an existing building (real estate) to be used for school purposes. (Annotation from former RC 133.10.)

1950 OAG 1648. The entire proceeds of the sale of bonds issued by a board of education for the purpose of "constructing a group of fireproof school buildings, to wit: a vocational-agricultural school building, a school stadium and school swimming pool and furniture and furnishings" may not be expended for the construction of a school stadium. (Annotation from former RC 133.10.)

1950 OAG 1648. Where bonds are issued for one purpose which contemplates more than one improvement falling in the same class the question of whether or not the issuing authority has abused its discretion in expending the fund derived from the proceeds of the sale of such bonds is dependent upon the circumstances in each case and is properly determinable by an appropriate proceeding in a court having jurisdiction of the action. (Annotation from former RC 133.10.)

FEDERAL AID BONDS

139.02 Subdivisions may issue bonds to participate in federal aid; limitations; submission to electors; maturity

For the purpose of enabling subdivisions to participate in federal aid provided by any act of congress, and for such purpose only, the taxing authority of any subdivision may issue bonds during the effective period of the act of congress, subject to Chapter 133., except as provided in sections 139.01 to 139.04, of the Revised Code. No bonds shall be issued under this section for the acquisition, construction, extension, enlargement, lease, operation, or maintenance of any proprietary function of a subdivision which will compete with existing private enterprise.

If the department of taxation certifies that the subdivision is unable to issue such bonds subject to the limitations prescribed by sections 133.05, 133.06, 133.07, and 133.09 of the Revised Code, whether or not such bonds have been or may be voted, then such bonds may be issued to the extent required without the authority of an election and outside the limitations prescribed by those sections after exhausting the powers for the creation of net indebtedness within such limitations. The certificate as to the matters required by sections 139.01 to 139.04 of the Revised Code is final. This section does not prevent the application to such bonds of division (B)(1) of section 133.05 or division (C)(2) of section 133.07 of the Revised Code to the extent that the bonds are self-supporting securities.

Such bonds shall not be subject to the limitations of sections 133.05, 133.06, 133.07, and 133.09 of the Revised Code.

The question of issuing such bonds may be submitted to the electors, notwithstanding the fact that approval by the proper federal authorities or their authorized representatives of the project to be financed by such bonds has not been first obtained; but no such bonds shall be issued, whether under authority of an election or otherwise, except to the extent that the project to be financed by such bonds has, prior to their issue, received the approval of the proper federal authorities or their authorized representatives, nor until an agreement has been entered into between the proper authorities of the subdivision and the proper federal authorities.

When the conditional approval by the proper federal authorities or their authorized representatives has first been obtained for the project, such question may be submitted with the consent of the department to the electors.

The legislation submitting the question shall make the declarations and statements required by section 133.18 of the Revised Code. The county auditor and taxing authority shall thereupon proceed as set forth in divisions (C) and (D) of that section.

The first maturity of any bonds issued under this chapter, whether voted or unvoted, may be postponed to any date not later than five years after the earliest possible maturity despite the prohibition contained in section 133.21 of the Revised Code.

The election on the question of issuing such bonds shall be held under divisions (E), (F), and (G) of section 133.18 of the Revised Code.

DOCUMENTS, REPORTS, AND RECORDS

149.43 Availability of public records; mandamus action

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Public record" means any record that is kept by any public office, including, but not limited to, state, county, city, village, township, and school district units, except medical records, records pertaining to adoption, probation, and parole proceedings, records pertaining to actions under section 2151.85 of the Revised Code and to appeals of actions arising under that section, records listed in division (A) of section 3107.42 of the Revised Code, trial preparation records, confidential law enforcement investigatory records, and records the release of which is prohibited by state or federal law.

(2) "Confidential law enforcement investigatory record" means any record that pertains to a law enforcement matter of a criminal, quasi-criminal, civil, or administrative nature, but only to the extent that the release of the record would create a high probability of disclosure of any of the following:

(a) The identity of a suspect who has not been charged with the offense to which the record pertains, or of an information source or witness to whom confidentiality has been reasonably promised;

(b) Information provided by an information source or witness to whom confidentiality has been reasonably promised, which information would reasonably tend to disclose his identity;

Upon request, a person responsible for public records shall make copies available at cost, within a reasonable period of time. In order to facilitate broader access to public records, governmental units shall maintain public records in such a manner that they can be made available for inspection in accordance with this division.

(C) If a person allegedly is aggrieved by the failure of a governmental unit to promptly prepare a public record and to make it available to him for inspection in accordance with division (B) of this section, or if a person who has requested a copy of a public record allegedly is aggrieved by the failure of a person responsible for it to make a copy available to him in accordance with division (B) of this section, the person allegedly aggrieved may commence a mandamus action to obtain a judgment that orders the governmental unit or the person responsible for the public record to comply with division (B) of this section and that awards reasonable attorney's fees to the person that instituted the mandamus action. The mandamus action may be commenced in the court of common pleas of the county in which division (B) of this section allegedly was not complied with, in the supreme court pursuant to its original jurisdiction under Section 2 of Article IV, Ohio Constitution, or in the court of appeals for the appellate district in which division (B) of this section allegedly was not complied with pursuant to its original jurisdiction under Section 3 of Article IV, Ohio Constitution.

(D) Chapter 1347. of the Revised Code does not limit the provisions of this section.

47 OS(3d) 28, 546 NE(2d) 939 (1989), State ex rel Thompson Newspapers Inc v Martin. Confidential law enforcement investigatory records do not become public records merely because they are submitted to a trial court to provide the factual basis for obtaining the appointment of a special prosecutor.

46 OS(3d) 163, 546 NE(2d) 203 (1989), State ex rel Recodat Co v Buchanan. RC 149.43(B) requires that copies of public records shall be made available to the public; however, magnetic tapes upon which records are stored and the software needed to access the information are not public records if they are available to the public in another form.

61 App(3d) 330, 572 NE(2d) 781 (Hamilton 1989), State v Gover. The identity of a confidential informant must be disclosed where such information would be helpful or beneficial to the defendant in preparing a defense. There is no requirement that disclosure would establish the defendant's innocence, merely that the defendant would obtain benefit in the preparation of his defense. Disclosure of an informant's identity would be helpful to the defendant where the defenses of alibi and mistaken identity are presented, and the prosecution's evidence of guilt is not overwhelming.

52 App(3d) 87, 557 NE(2d) 788 (Butler 1988), State ex rel Dwyer v Middletown. An agreement not to disclose matters of public record is not enforceable.

44 App(3d) 169, 542 NE(2d) 663 (Cuyahoga 1988), Bowman v Parma Bd of Ed. An agreement between a school board and a former teacher not to disclose incidents of child molesting that led to his termination is void as against public policy.

44 App(3d) 118, 541 NE(2d) 1084 (Cuyahoga 1988), Woodman v Lakewood. The attorney-client privilege established by RC 149.43(A)(1) preserves the confidentiality of records of communications between an attorney and a government client even though the communications are not within the trial preparation exception of RC 149.43(A)(4).

No. 54858 (8th Dist Ct App, Cuyahoga, 1-19-89), Sawchyn v Middleburg Heights. Where a city responds to a request for public information within five days, including weekends, that response is within a "reasonable period of time" as required by RC 149.43(B).

61 Misc(2d) 631 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Economic Opportunity Planning Assn of Greater Toledo. A public office may not withhold its public records from inspection and copying until a member of the public files a mandamus action, and then escape the consequences of such wrongful withholding by belatedly providing the records.

50 Misc(2d) 1, 552 NE(2d) 243 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Telb. The term "public record" in RC 149.43(B) is defined broadly and any record is public and subject to disclosure under the law unless expressly excepted from disclosure; the exceptions are to be strictly construed against the custodian and any doubts resolved in favor of disclosure.

50 Misc(2d) 1, 552 NE(2d) 243 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Telb. A government body cannot shield its records from public scrutiny by a generalized, universal assurance of the confidentiality of witnesses.

50 Misc(2d) 1, 552 NE(2d) 243 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Telb. A collective bargaining agreement cannot supplant RC 149.43 by requiring that records be kept confidential contrary to Ohio's public records law.

No. A8700770 (CP, Hamilton, 5-2-88), Ohio Ed Assn v Great Oaks Joint Vocational School Dist Bd of Ed. RC 149.43, granting members of the general public a qualified right to inspect the records of their state, county, city, village, township, and school offices is unconstitutional and unenforceable in its entirety for overbreadth, because it allows the public to see records such as personnel papers without regard to the wishes of the person whose records are seen, thereby intruding upon the individual's "fundamental right" to privacy without the justification of a compelling state interest.

38 OS(3d) 79, 526 NE(2d) 786 (1988), State ex rel National Broadcasting Co v Cleveland. A governmental body refusing to release records has the burden of proving that the records are excepted from disclosure by RC 149.43.

35 OS(3d) 241, 520 NE(2d) 207 (1988), Henneman v Toledo. Records and information compiled by an internal affairs division of a police department are subject to discovery in civil litigation arising out of alleged police misconduct if, upon an in camera inspection, the trial court determines that the requesting party's need for the material outweighs the public interest in the confidentiality of such information.

56 OS(2d) 126, 383 NE(2d) 124 (1978), Wooster Republican Printing Co v Wooster. RC 149.43 must be read in pari materia with RC Ch 1347.

56 OS(2d) 126, 383 NE(2d) 124 (1978), Wooster Republican Printing Co v Wooster. In determining whether disclosure to the general public of personal information contained in an otherwise public record would constitute an improper use of personal information under the provisions of RC Ch 1347, the interest of the public's "right to know," codified in RC 149.43, must be balanced against an individual's "right of personal privacy," codified in RC Ch 1347; in the consideration of these respective interests, doubt should be resolved in favor of public disclosure of public records in order to insure the existence of an informed public.

62 App(3d) 752 (Franklin 1989), State ex rel Zauderer v Joseph. RC 149.43 does not contemplate that any individual has the right to a complete duplication of the voluminous files kept by government agencies; the right of inspection is circumscribed by endangerment to the safety of the record and/or unreasonable interference with the discharge of the duties of the record custodian.

62 App(3d) 298, 575 NE(2d) 497 (Butler 1990), State ex rel Butler County Bar Assn v Robb. RC 149.43(B) does not require the clerk of courts to establish reasonable business hours, only that he make public records "available for inspection . . . at all reasonable times during regular business hours"; inconvenience caused by restricted business hours does not justify mandamus relief.

49 App(3d) 59, 550 NE(2d) 214 (Butler 1989), State ex rel Petty v Wurst. RC 149.43 must be construed liberally where it defines public records and strictly where it makes exceptions; any doubt is to be resolved in favor of disclosure.

44 App(3d) 30, 541 NE(2d) 124 (Clark 1989), Sanford v Kelly. A trial court has greater responsibility under RC 149.43 than that which it has under Crim R 16.

No. CA87-10-139 (12th Dist Ct App, Butler, 8-29-88), State ex rel Dwyer v Middletown. Where allegations made against a police chief are subject to public inspection under RC 149.43, a contract making such allegations confidential in exchange for the resignation of the police chief is illegal and unenforceable. (See also State ex rel Dwyer v Middletown, 52 App(3d) 87 (Butler 1988).)

No. 13575 (9th Dist Ct App, Summit, 4-13-88), State ex rel Beacon Journal Publishing Co v Akron Metropolitan Housing Auth; affirmed on other grounds by 42 OS(3d) 1 (1989). The provisions contained in RC Ch 1347 do not limit the provisions of RC 149.43; thus, employment applications and resumes received by a metropolitan housing authority are public records subject to disclosure, and a writ of mandamus compelling disclosure should be granted.

22 Misc 197, 259 NE(2d) 757 (CP, Lake 1970), Curran v Lake County Bd of Park Commrs. A county park board is a governmental unit and is subject to provisions of RC 121.22, RC 149.40, RC 149.43 and RC 1545.07.

1990 SERB 4-95 (10th Dist Ct App, Franklin, 11-1-90), State ex rel Eaton City School Dist Bd of Ed v SERB. RC 4117.17 does not prevail over RC 149.43.

492 US 136, 109 SCt 2841, 106 LEd(2d) 112 (1989), United States Justice Dept v Tax Analysts. Publishing company employees wanting to obtain all United States district court tax opinions and final orders involving the tax division of the department of justice, who have become frustrated with the difficulty of obtaining copies of cases from court clerks, have a right under the Freedom of Information Act, 5 USC 552(a)(4)(B), to obtain copies from the tax division since the copies are "agency records" subject to disclosure, notwithstanding the fact that they are also available from their original sources, the courts, and because the papers fall within none of the statute's exemptions.

805 F(2d) 155 (6th Cir Ohio 1986), In re Antitrust Grand Jury. While the attorney-client privilege protects only confidential communications and belongs to the client, the "work product" doctrine is broader and protects papers prepared in anticipation of litigation by or for the lawyer and may be asserted by attorney or client.

805 F(2d) 155 (6th Cir Ohio 1986), In re Antitrust Grand Jury. The "work product" privilege does not exist where the client consulted the attorney to further a fraud or a crime and the attorney knowingly participated; an unknowing attorney may assert the privilege despite the client's continued wrongdoing.

OAG 90-102. Where a provision of state law prohibits the release of a record, the express terms of the statute control the nature and extent of the prohibition.

OAG 90-102. Neither RC 149.43 nor any other Revised Code section serves to make confidential all records filed with Ohio taxation authorities; rather, particular tax information is made confidential by specific Revised Code sections.

OAG 90-101. A decision, at a particular point in time, not to charge, arrest, file a complaint with, or refer a juvenile to the juvenile court pursuant to Juv R 9 does not require disclosure or terminate the juvenile's status as a "suspect," pursuant to RC 149.43(A).

OAG 90-050. "Any person" under RC 149.43, pursuant to RC 1.59, includes individuals, corporations, business trusts, estates, trusts, partnerships, and associations.

OAG 90-007. Where a provision of state or federal law prohibits the release of information in a record kept by the human services department, a county human services department, or a county children services board, the terms of that provision control to whom and under what circumstances the record may be released, and such prohibition remains effective despite the death of the subject of the record.

OAG 90-007. RC Ch 1347 is not "a provision of state law prohibiting the release of information," and therefore, "personal information" is not an exception to the definition of the term "public record" in RC 149.43.

OAG 89-073. Under RC 149.43(B), public records must be made available "at cost" to any person who requests a copy. A public office, in its sound discretion, may adopt a reasonable policy setting a fee for copies obtained from the public office. The fee should reflect the actual costs involved in making a copy, unless the cost is otherwise set by statute.

OAG 83-003. RC 149.99 authorizes a penalty of not more than five hundred dollars for a violation of RC 149.351, RC 149.43, or RC 149.431.

OAG 83-003. The definition of records which appears in RC 149.40 is applicable to RC 149.31 through RC 149.44.

OAG 80-103. RC 169.06(C), which requires that an alphabetical listing of owners of unclaimed funds and beneficiaries of life insurance policies be made available to the general public, does not restrict access of the general public to records compiled by the department of commerce which are public records as defined by RC 149.43.

OAG 80-096. A governmental agency which is subject to the provisions of RC Ch 1347, the Privacy Act, may collect, maintain and use personal information that is subject to the provisions of RC Ch 1347 only if such information is necessary to the functions of the agency.

OAG 80-096. Ohio law recognizes three classes of governmental records. One class, consisting of records pertaining to confidential law enforcement investigations, trial preparations, and adoptions, may not be disclosed either to the public at large or to the person who is the subject matter of the information. The second class, consisting of records made confidential by law, may not be disclosed to the public at large, but must be disclosed to the person who is the subject of the information. The third class, consisting of public records, must be disclosed to any member of the public for any reason.

OAG 80-096. RC Ch 1347, the Privacy Act, does not restrict access to records that are public under the terms of RC 149.43.

3. Records required to be kept

1 Gotherman's Ohio Muni Serv 2 (January/February 1989). Ohio Public Records Law, Stanley J. Dobrowski.

63 OS(3d) 498 (1992), Franklin County Sheriff's Dept v Employment Relations Bd. Investigatory files compiled by the state employment relations board pursuant to RC 4117.12 must be disclosed upon request pursuant to RC 4117.17 and 149.43 unless an in camera inspection demonstrates that all or any portions of the files are excepted from disclosure; excepted information may be redacted prior to disclosure.

50 OS(3d) 51, 552 NE(2d) 635 (1990), State ex rel Polovischak v Mayfield. A record of investigation which qualifies as a confidential law enforcement investigatory record under RC 149.43(A)(2) does not forfeit its statutory protection merely because there has been a passage of time with no forthcoming enforcement action.

48 OS(3d) 41, 549 NE(2d) 167 (1990), State ex rel Multimedia, Inc v Whalen. The general assembly has determined that the fact that police are conducting an "ongoing investigation" about an incident is to be given no weight by a court deciding under RC 149.43(A)(2) whether "confidential law enforcement investigatory records" should be disclosed.

20 OS(3d) 30, 20 OBR 279, 485 NE(2d) 706 (1985), State ex rel Mothers Against Drunk Drivers v Gosser. A local court rule requiring the court clerk not to accept for filing and not to disclose any documents in traffic and criminal cases other than complaints, motions, memoranda, entries, and verdicts is void, as it conflicts with the clerk's statutory duty under RC 1901.31(E) to keep such records, and conflicts with the duty under RC 149.43(B) to permit public access to such records.

45 OS(2d) 107, 341 NE(2d) 576 (1976), Dayton Newspapers, Inc v Dayton. A record is "required to be kept" by a governmental unit, within the meaning of RC 149.43, where the unit's keeping of such record is necessary to the execution of its duties and responsibilities.

70 App(3d) 525 (Cuyahoga 1991), State ex rel Lippitt v Kovacic. Expanded, compiled arrest histories are public records subject to disclosure.

70 App(3d) 525 (Cuyahoga 1991), State ex rel Lippitt v Kovacic. The names of relatives of individuals included in police department arrest histories need not be redacted absent a showing that these persons are witnesses, information sources, victims, or law enforcement officers, or that release of these names poses a risk to any of the named persons.

64 App(3d) 659 (Cuyahoga 1990), State ex rel Kinsley v Berea Bd of Ed. Settlement agreements entered into by a governmental unit are public records and not trial preparation records since a settlement agreement is not a record compiled in anticipation of or in defense of a lawsuit, but rather is a contract negotiated with the opposing party to prevent or conclude litigation and although the parties and their attorneys subjectively evaluate the litigation confronting them in order to reach a settlement, the settlement agreement itself contains only the result of the negotiation process and bargaining discourse which took place between the parties in achieving the settlement.

64 App(3d) 659 (Cuyahoga 1990), State ex rel Kinsley v Berea Bd of Ed. No cause of action exists for one's inability to decipher a public record since the public records law only requires that documents be copied or made available for inspection; unless a summary or explanation of public records exists as a public document itself, a governmental unit is not required to create a new document to explain or facilitate review of public records already produced.

No. 55797 (8th Dist Ct App, Cuyahoga, 1-25-89), State ex rel Mazzaro v Ferguson; affirmed by 49 OS(3d) 37 (1990). An audit performed on a municipal corporation by the state auditor is a public record, and mandamus will lie to compel public inspection thereof.

61 Misc(2d) 617 (CP, Hocking 1991), State ex rel Jones v Myers. Disclosure of a public employee's name, designation, identification number, earnings, tax withholding, retirement deductions, vacation and sick leave record, purchase of retirement service credits, and insurance deductions, garnishments, and court-ordered support payments are matters of public record and disclosure of such matters is not an invasion of privacy; but disclosure of an employee's deductions for deferred compensation plans and savings plans is not a matter of public record and disclosure of personal financial information is a violation of the employee's right to privacy under O Const Art I §14.

50 Misc(2d) 1, 552 NE(2d) 243 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Telb. A psychologist's report obtained by a public office to assist it in deciding about an employee's future employment is not "maintained in the process of medical treatment," and must be disclosed.

50 Misc 13, 364 NE(2d) 297 (CP, Summit 1977), Wayside Farms, Inc v State. Complaint letters or other complaint communications against nursing home operators received by the director of health of Ohio are not records required to be kept by him as a public official and, therefore, such matters are not subject to the provisions of RC 149.43.

1990 SERB 4-51 (10th Dist Ct App, Franklin, 8-28-90), Franklin County Sheriff's Dept v SERB; modified by 62 OS(3d) 498 (1992). No blanket of confidentiality will be wrapped around investigation files of the state employment relations board prepared in the course of an unfair labor practice investigation, given the sweep of Ohio's public records law.

1990 SERB 4-51 (10th Dist Ct App, Franklin, 8-28-90), Franklin County Sheriff's Dept v SERB; modified by 62 OS(3d) 498 (1992). The word "only" will not be read into RC 4117.17 before the list of papers at the state employment relations board that are designated public records, for the purpose of creating a conflict with the "open records" provisions of RC 149.43; under RC 1.51 the statutes must be construed in a manner giving effect to both.

1990 SERB 4-51 (10th Dist Ct App, Franklin, 8-28-90), Franklin County Sheriff's Dept v SERB; modified by 62 OS(3d) 498 (1992). The reference to "other proceedings instituted by" the state employment relations board in RC 4117.17 that are considered "public records" include contents of a file compiled during investigation of an unfair labor practice charge, and the statute contemplates a rule of openness and not confidentiality; RC 149.43(A) gives the board authority, however, to withhold from public scrutiny any record falling within one of several specified exceptions.

OAG 88-103. An application to the county veterans service commission for assistance under RC 5901.09 is a public record; absent a prohibition against release in federal or state law, any member of the public may inspect and copy each item of information supplied on the application or on the required statement, consisting of the amount, nature and source of public assistance received.

OAG 86-057. Pursuant to RC 507.05, the township clerk is given responsibility for overseeing the township books. Pursuant to RC 149.351, the township clerk is prohibited from wrongfully removing, damaging, or disposing of the township books. Pursuant to RC 149.43(B), the township clerk is required to maintain the township books in such a manner that they can be made available for inspection to any member of the general public at all reasonable times during regular business hours.

OAG 76-011. Cost reports filed by nursing homes with the Ohio department of public welfare for reimbursements under the medicaid program are records required to be kept and are public records within the meaning of RC 149.43, open to public inspection without prior express authorization by the nursing homes.

4. Records held public

2 Baldwin's Ohio School Serv 2 (March/April 1990). School Administrators: "Trustees For The People," Sarah C. Sweeney.

34 Ohio School Bds Assn J 2 (June 1990). Most records are open for inspection, Richard Slee.

57 OS(3d) 83, 566 NE(2d) 151 (1991), State ex rel Coleman v Cincinnati. While the police may reasonably anticipate a "criminal action or proceeding," within the meaning of RC 149.43(A)(4), when they investigate a homicide, such investigations do not meet the "specifically compiled" requirement of the statute.

57 OS(3d) 83, 566 NE(2d) 151 (1991), State ex rel Coleman v Cincinnati. Broad application of the trial preparation exception to police criminal investigations negates the specifically drawn narrow exceptions to the general assembly's mandated release of RC 149.43(A)(2), "confidential law enforcement investigatory record." If police criminal investigations could qualify generally as trial preparation records, that exception would frustrate the legislative policies behind the public records statute.

56 OS(3d) 97, 564 NE(2d) 486 (1990), State ex rel Fairfield Leader v Ricketts. A meeting of government officials to discuss annexation and development projects at which no specific proposals are made and no official action taken, and where the meeting is called by and paid for by a private developer, must be reduced to minutes. These minutes must be made available to the public; where the officials refuse to reduce the meeting to minutes, mandamus shall be granted to compel such action.

56 OS(3d) 20, 564 NE(2d) 81 (1990), State ex rel Zuern v Leis. A sheriff department's homicide investigative file does not qualify as an exempt "trial preparation record" under RC 149.43(A)(4), since the file was not specifically compiled in anticipation of litigation, and in any event the voluntary disclosure by the victim's estate of all the documents sought except for one witness statement in a civil suit claiming damages for the victim's death waives any claim of exemption.

54 OS(3d) 55, 560 NE(2d) 1313 (1990), State ex rel Clark v Toledo. A criminal defendant who has exhausted the direct appeals of his conviction may avail himself of RC 149.43 to support his petition for post-conviction relief; any person may obtain public records pursuant to RC 149.43 without the necessity of stating a reason for obtaining those records, and despite his present station in life, the criminal defendant remains a "person" within the contemplation of that statute.

49 OS(3d) 37, 550 NE(2d) 464 (1990), State ex rel Mazzaro v Ferguson. Where (1) a private entity prepares records in order to carry out a public office's responsibilities, (2) the public office is able to monitor the private entity's performance, and (3) the public office has access to the records for this purpose, a relator in an RC 149.43(C) mandamus action is entitled to relief regardless of whether he also shows that the private entity is acting as the public office's agent.

44 OS(3d) 111, 541 NE(2d) 587 (1989), State ex rel Fostoria Daily Review Co v Fostoria Hospital Assn. Records of a public hospital are public records unless privileged under RC 2305.25.

40 OS(3d) 10, 531 NE(2d) 313 (1988), State ex rel Fostoria Daily Review Co v Fostoria Hospital Assn. A public general hospital, rendering public service to residents, which is supported by public taxation is a public office whose records are subject to disclosure for purposes of RC 149.011(A), despite the fact that the custodian of such records is a private nonprofit corporation.

39 OS(3d) 108, 529 NE(2d) 443 (1988), State ex rel Fox v Cuyahoga County Hospital System. A public hospital, which renders a public service to residents of a county and which is supported by public taxation, is a "public institution" and thus a "public office" pursuant to RC 149.011(A), making it subject to the public records disclosure requirements of RC 149.43.

38 OS(3d) 324, 528 NE(2d) 175 (1988), State ex rel Outlet Communications, Inc v Lancaster Police Dept. Arrest records and intoxilyzer records which contain the names of persons who have been formally charged with an offense, as well as those who have been arrested and/or issued citations but who have not been formally charged, are not confidential law enforcement investigatory records within the exception to the public records law, RC 149.43(A)(2)(a), and are thus subject to disclosure.

38 OS(3d) 170, 527 NE(2d) 1230 (1988), State ex rel Cincinnati Post v Schweikert. The public records law, RC 149.43, does not exempt compilations of information contained in public records and does not require members of the public to exhaust their energy and ingenuity to gather information which is already compiled and organized in a document created by public officials.

38 OS(3d) 170, 527 NE(2d) 1230 (1988), State ex rel Cincinnati Post v Schweikert. A report prepared by a court administrator from factual information contained in public records is a public record subject to disclosure under the public records law, RC 149.43, even though such compilations are made for the use of judges in sentencing.

38 OS(3d) 79, 526 NE(2d) 786 (1988), State ex rel National Broadcasting Co v Cleveland. Law enforcement investigatory records must be disclosed unless they are excepted from disclosure by RC 149.43.

37 OS(3d) 308, 525 NE(2d) 812 (1988), Barton v Shupe. An investigation conducted and a record compiled to establish the accuracy of accusations being made against a police chief and to assess the propriety of his conduct constitute a lawful investigation of one public officer by another and, as such, the record compiled is a public record as defined in RC 149.43.

25 OS(3d) 15, 25 OBR 13, 494 NE(2d) 1135 (1986), State ex rel Harmon v Bender. Videotapes of trial proceedings are public records within the meaning of RC 149.43(A)(1) and are subject to public inspection.

20 OS(3d) 30, 20 OBR 279, 485 NE(2d) 706 (1985), State ex rel Mothers Against Drunk Drivers v Gosser. In the court file of a drunk driving case, the following are required to be kept and are thus public records subject to disclosure: (1) alcohol influence report, (2) breath test result, (3) statement of facts by arresting officer, (4) accident report, and (5) driving record.

18 OS(3d) 382, 18 OBR 437, 481 NE(2d) 632 (1985), State ex rel Dispatch Printing Co v Wells. Personnel records of a municipal civil service commission, maintained as required by RC 124.40(A) and RC 124.09(B), are public records as defined by RC 149.43(A)(1), the disclosure of which may be compelled by mandamus.

18 OS(3d) 231, 18 OBR 289, 480 NE(2d) 482 (1985), Police & Fire Retirees of Ohio, Inc v Police & Firemen's Disability & Pension Fund. Mandamus lies to compel the police and firemen's disability and pension fund to make the names and addresses of its members available for public inspection inasmuch as (1) the fund is a public agency, and (2) the fund is invested by RC 724.14 with duties which cannot be fulfilled unless a list of members' names and addresses is maintained, although no statute specifically requires maintenance of such a list.

9 OS(3d) 1, 9 OBR 52, 457 NE(2d) 821 (1984), State ex rel Plain Dealer Publishing Co v Lesak. Mandamus will lie to compel disclosure of banking records of illicit checking accounts where the accounts should have been kept by a governmental unit and where the accounts were turned over to the governmental unit, thereby waiving any exception from the disclosure requirements.

Law enforcement records compiled before the 1979 amendment of RC 149.43 are available to the public provided they are public records as defined by RC 149.43 and are not exempted from disclosure by its provisions.

60 OS(2d) 93, 397 NE(2d) 1191 (1979), State ex rel Public Employees Retirees, Inc v Public Employees Retirement System. Public Employees Retirees, Inc. is entitled to access to a list of names and addresses of member retirees of the public employees retirement system.

51 OS(2d) 1, 364 NE(2d) 854 (1977), State ex rel Plain Dealer Publishing Co v Krouse. When the industrial commission allows a claim or award, a notation of that decision such as a remittance advice form is a public record, and the provisions of RC 4123.88 do not prohibit its release.

49 OS(2d) 245, 361 NE(2d) 444 (1977), State ex rel Milo's Beauty Supply Co v State Bd of Cosmetology. Records of state board of cosmetology listing the names and addresses of all licensed cosmetologists, beauty salons, and schools of cosmetology in the state are public records which must be available for inspection and copying.

64 App(3d) 499 (Cuyahoga 1990), Pinkava v Corrigan. A twelve-year-old victim's account to police of an offense committed against her is a public record which is subject to disclosure pursuant to a writ of mandamus, since the requester of the record, not being a criminal defendant at trial, has no plain and adequate alternative remedy to a mandamus action to secure the document; furthermore, the victim's statement is not excepted from disclosure as specific investigatory work product since it contains only a factual description of the offense as related to a police officer and is not a subjective analysis of any sort by an investigating officer, nor does the victim's statement constitute trial preparation as defined in the public records statute since although the victim's statement may eventually constitute the basis of a prosecution or civil proceeding, when the police recorded the facts they were performing foremost a routine part of their law enforcement duties and were not compiling material specifically for litigation.

62 App(3d) 752 (Franklin 1989), State ex rel Zauderer v Joseph. Although under RC 149.43 a city police chief, county sheriff, and superintendent of state highway patrol generally have a duty to make traffic accident reports available for inspection to any person at all reasonable times during regular business hours, a request to inspect city, state, and county traffic accident reports of record must comport with the method of retrieval used by the city, state, or county; a request that merely asks for any and all traffic accident reports will not be enforced pursuant to a writ of mandamus since the request is unreasonable in scope, and if granted would interfere with the sanctity of the recordkeeping process.

55 App(3d) 75, 562 NE(2d) 946 (Cuyahoga 1989), State ex rel Ware v Cleveland. Documents prepared as part of a routine investigation of a jail suicide and not as the result of a "specific suspicion of criminal wrongdoing" are public records within the meaning of RC 149.43.

Under Juv R 37(B), the records may not, however, be put to any public use except in the course of an appeal or as authorized by order of the court.

OAG 84-077. RC 1347.04 does not operate to exempt juvenile courts from the provisions of RC Ch 1347 with respect to the courts' records of matters pertaining to juveniles; however, if a juvenile court has any personal information systems which are comprised of investigatory material compiled for law enforcement purposes, such systems are exempt from RC Ch 1347 under RC 1347.04(A)(1)(e).

OAG 81-019. The faculty inventory and the report on faculty service maintained by the board of regents on computer tapes are not public records within the meaning of RC 149.43 and, therefore, need not be made available to the public for inspection; the public release of the reports is restricted by 20 USC § 1232(b)(1), which provides for a potential loss of federal funds.

OAG 80-103. Pursuant to RC 149.43, the term "trial preparation records" includes only those records specifically compiled by a governmental unit after the unit's attention has focused upon a particular person or claim, in reasonable anticipation of a civil or criminal proceeding, and does not include those records routinely compiled by a governmental unit as a matter of common practice.

OAG 76-049. 45 CFR 401.47(B)(5) requires that information from a rehabilitation services commission client's case record be available upon his request to him or his representative for use in any proceeding or action; the rehabilitation services commission, however, must release only such information as is relevant to the action or proceeding and, if medical or psychological information contained in the case record may be harmful to the client, must arrange either to release the information to a representative of the client or to have the information released to the client by a physician or licensed psychologist.

OAG 76-049. Records concerning individuals applying for or receiving services from the rehabilitation services commission are not public records within the meaning of RC 149.43, because the general release of such records is prohibited by RC 3304.21 and 45 CFR 401.47.

OAG 76-011. RC 149.43 creates a public right of inspection only as to records the release of which is not prohibited by state or federal law.

OAG 76-011. Fiscal reviews of nursing home facilities by the Ohio department of public welfare's bureau of fiscal review are records required by law to be kept and are open for inspection pursuant to RC 149.43, subject, where applicable, to federal requirements that names of medicaid recipients not be publicly released.

OAG 76-011. Periodic medical reviews of services rendered to nursing home patients under the medicaid program are records required by law to be kept; however, the release of these records is prohibited by federal law, and hence they are not available for public inspection, and the alteration of these records or summary reports of them containing information is not required.

OAG 75-062. Any information contained in a workmen's compensation claim file which was gained through communication or observation by a physician from a claimant who has contacted him for treatment or for diagnosis looking toward treatment would generally be subject to the patient-physician privilege under RC 2317.02(A) and may not be released except upon the authorization of the patient-claimant; however, the privilege attached to such information is waived if such information was obtained and placed in the claim file pursuant to a written medical waiver voluntarily signed by the claimant or if the claimant voluntarily testifies or introduces otherwise privileged information at a public hearing; where the claimant has waived the patient-physician privilege, then pursuant to RC 4123.88 a member of the industrial commission, the employer or the administrator of the bureau of workmen's compensation may authorize anyone to examine such medical records which may be contained in the claim file.

OAG 75-062. The materials which comprise a workmen's compensation claim file and any other file pertaining thereto fall within the exception to the definition of a "public record" found in RC 149.43 because RC 4123.88 specifically prohibits the examination or release of any claim file without the express prior authorization of the claimant, employer, a member of the industrial commission, or the administrator of the bureau of workmen's compensation.

OAG 75-047. The records of a school psychologist, whether licensed under RC Ch 4732 or certificated pursuant to RC 3319.22, do not constitute public records within the purview of RC 149.43; however, authorized board of education personnel do have access to the reports and recommendations of the certificated school psychologist.

6. Records otherwise held not public

40 Ad L Rev 1 (Winter 1988). Freedom Of Information Act Dispute Resolution, Mark H. Grunewald.

30 Akron Bar Assn Examiner 5 (January 1990). Enforcement Of Ohio's Public Records Law, David L. Jamison.

62 OS(3d) 456 (1992), State ex rel Margolius v Cleveland. A governmental agency must allow the copying of the portions of computer tapes to which the public is entitled under RC 149.43, if the person requesting the information has presented a legitimate reason why a paper copy of the records would be insufficient or impracticable, and if this person assumes the expense of copying.

62 OS(3d) 452 (1992), State ex rel Clark v Toledo. After an in camera review, a court need not individually describe each document and specify the applicable exemption.

62 OS(3d) 452 (1992), State ex rel Clark v Toledo. An appellate court may apply an exemption even though the party in possession of the records does not request nondisclosure.

62 OS(3d) 452 (1992), State ex rel Clark v Toledo. Redacted copies of the documents submitted for in camera review need not be released when the originals are submitted; redacted copies need not be "blacked out" rather than "whited out."

62 OS(3d) 203 (1991), State ex rel Mayrides v Whitehall. Where a city, by a custodian affidavit, affirms that all documents in the city's custody relating to an individual's prior arrest and conviction for rape have been turned over to the individual and the individual fails to produce any credible evidence showing that the city has failed or refused to produce copies of all documents that exist in regard to his prior arrest and conviction for rape, a writ of execution will be denied since the individual has already received from the city all documents to which he is entitled; the Public Records Act, RC 149.43, does not require that a public office create documents to meet a requester's demand. (See also State ex rel Fant v Mengel, 62 OS(3d) 197 (1991).)

62 OS(3d) 197 (1991), State ex rel Fant v Mengel. The Public Records Act, RC 149.43 does not require that a public office create new documents to meet a requester's demand; therefore, a writ of mandamus to compel the disclosure of public records will be denied where the documents sought do not exist. (See also State ex rel Mayrides v Whitehall, 62 OS(3d) 203 (1991).)

45 OS(3d) 376, 544 NE(2d) 680 (1989), State ex rel Scanlon v Deters. Where Crim R 16 provides a relator an adequate alternative remedy to RC 149.43, he cannot be granted a writ of mandamus ordering the production of public records available under such a rule.

56 OS(2d) 126, 383 NE(2d) 124 (1978), Wooster Republican Printing Co v Wooster. Police and other law enforcement investigatory records are not subject to the compulsory disclosure provisions of RC 149.43.

55 OS(2d) 70, 378 NE(2d) 153 (1978), State ex rel Citizens' Bar Assn v Gagliardo. Financial disclosure statement filed by juvenile judge with juvenile court is not a public record.

54 OS(2d) 41, 374 NE(2d) 641 (1978), State ex rel Harris v Rhodes. Records of the correctional medical and reception center are not public records under RC 149.43.

48 OS(2d) 379, 358 NE(2d) 615 (1976), State ex rel Lippitt v Edgecomb. Supreme court affirmed an appellate court judgment that evidence was inconclusive to show that the temporary docket of a municipal court regarding drunken driving arrests was a public record. (See also Dayton Newspapers, Inc v Dayton, 45 OS(2d) 107, 341 NE(2d) 576 (1976).)

70 App(3d) 525 (Cuyahoga 1991), State ex rel Lippitt v Kovacic. Redaction of OBCI "rap sheets" and FBI and BCI numbers is required before police scientific investigation unit cover sheets are released.

64 App(3d) 659 (Cuyahoga 1990), State ex rel Kinsley v Berea Bd of Ed. An award of attorney fees is unwarranted in a mandamus action brought by a party who is denied her request for copies of settlement agreements entered into between teachers and a board of education and other documents detailing the teachers' salary schedules and back-pay allowances; although a public benefit may be derived from the disclosure of public records previously withheld, the board provided all records requested, including personnel data and fiscal records, except the settlement agreements and the board's claim for nondisclosure of the settlement agreements is not unreasonable.

64 App(3d) 63 (Meigs 1989), State v Parsons. Dismissal of an indictment charging the defendant with cultivation of marijuana is not warranted due to the prosecution's failure to disclose the identity of an informant where disclosure of the identity of the informant is not required in the interests of justice, as a court must apply the least severe sanction available when sanctioning a discovery order violation.

30 App(3d) 89, 30 OBR 187, 506 NE(2d) 927 (Lorain 1986), State ex rel Jacobs v Prudoff. Prohibition against conversion of trade secrets in RC 1333.51(C) applies to protect trade secrets that are public records within the meaning of RC 149.43(A)(1) against disclosure; it is a question of fact whether a given document contains a trade secret as defined in RC 1333.51(A)(3).

61 Misc(2d) 617 (CP, Hocking 1991), State ex rel Jones v Myers. A public employee's name, designation, earnings, withholding taxes, vacation and sick leave record, purchase of retirement service credits, medical or hospitalization insurance deductions, and garnishments and court-ordered support payments are public records as defined by RC 149.43(A)(1) and must be disclosed by the keeper of those records upon request; other financial information, e.g., deductions for deferred compensation plans, savings bonds, Christmas clubs, is confidential and is not a public record.

50 Misc(2d) 1, 552 NE(2d) 243 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Telb. The burden of proving records are excepted from disclosure by RC 149.43 is on the government body refusing to release them.

50 Misc(2d) 1, 552 NE(2d) 243 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Telb. The legislature's use of the word "reasonable" in RC 149.43(A)(2)(b) makes clear that something more than a routine procedure is necessary to establish that a statement was given under circumstances that will except it from disclosure under the public records law; moreover, it is axiomatic that a government official has no authority to undertake administratively a practice that would have the effect of nullifying the application of a state law to an entire category of public records.

50 Misc(2d) 1, 552 NE(2d) 243 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Telb. RC 149.43(C) permits an award of attorney fees to the party instituting a mandamus action; to determine whether an award is appropriate a court must decide if the party obtaining the writ conferred a "sufficient benefit" on the public and also the reasonableness of the other party's refusal to disclose.

1989 SERB 4-72 (CP, Franklin, 6-7-89), Franklin County Sheriff v SERB. A public employer is not given a right by RC 149.43 or 4117.17 to obtain investigation files from the state employment relations board or the attorney general.

1988 SERB 4-16 (CP, Franklin, 2-3-88), Franklin County Bd of County Commrs v SERB. Citing the liberal construction of RC Ch 4117 mandated by RC 4117.22 as authority, the Franklin county appeals court denies public access to investigation files of the state employment relations board.

1988 SERB 4-16 (CP, Franklin, 2-3-88), Franklin County Bd of County Commrs v SERB. Investigation files of the state employment relations board are not "public records" under RC 149.43, nor are they considered "evidence" available to the public under RC 4117.17.

OAG 90-101. To the extent that a specific exception in RC 149.43 or an applicable provision of state or federal law prohibits their release, local law enforcement agency records concerning juvenile offenders are not public records under RC 149.43 and the public does not have a right to inspect and receive copies of such records under the Public Records Act.

OAG 90-101. When a record of the adjudication or arrest of a juvenile has been ordered sealed or expunged pursuant to RC 2151.358, such record is not a public record.

OAG 90-101. Pursuant to Juv R 32(B), 37(B) and RC 2151.14, juvenile court records, the records of social, mental, and physical examinations pursuant to court order, and records of the juvenile court probation department are not public records under RC 149.43.

OAG 90-101. If, pursuant to RC 2151.313, a law enforcement officer or other authorized person takes fingerprints or photographs of a juvenile arrested or taken into custody, the fingerprints, photographs, and other records relating to that arrest or custody of the juvenile are not public records.

OAG 83-100. To the extent that records maintained by the Ohio state board of psychology contain information or other data the release of which is prohibited by RC 2953.35(A), such records are not "public records" within the meaning of RC 149.43(A)(1); therefore, the board may seal such information or data or otherwise segregate it from its public records in order to comply with RC 2953.35(A); the board does not have the authority to "expunge," or actually destroy, its official records, except as provided by law or pursuant to a schedule or application approved by the state records commission.

OAG 83-071. Pursuant to OAC 5101:1-1-03 and related statutory provisions, a county department of welfare is prohibited from disclosing to law enforcement personnel personal information about applicants for or recipients of aid to families with dependent children or poor relief, unless such law enforcement personnel are prosecuting public fraud or seeking child support, or the applicant or recipient has expressly consented in writing to the disclosure; in addition, the release must be for a purpose directly connected with the administration of a public assistance program outlined in OAC 5101:1, and the agency to which the information is released must be subject to standards of confidentiality substantially comparable to those established in OAC 5101:1-1-03.

OAG 81-043. A "news hook" maintained by a city police department is not a public record under the terms of RC 149.43, and need not, therefore, be disclosed to all members of the public for any reason whatsoever.

OAG 77-075. Pursuant to RC 4112.05(B), the Ohio civil rights commission may not reveal the final terms of conciliation, written or unwritten, to members of the general public who are not parties to the matters conciliated.

OAG 71-053. Case files of specific investigations made by state highway patrol are not "public records" within meaning of RC 149.43.

7. Procedures and remedies

62 OS(3d) 452 (1992), State ex rel Clark v Toledo. An appellate court may apply an exemption even though the party in possession of the records does not request nondisclosure.

62 OS(3d) 197 (1991), State ex rel Fant v Mengel. Pro se litigants are not entitled to attorney fees under RC 149.43.

58 OS(3d) 213, 569 NE(2d) 904 (1991), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Northwood. RC 149.43(C) does not contemplate an award of attorney fees in mandamus actions rendered moot by the voluntary production of a record.

57 OS(3d) 102, 566 NE(2d) 661 (1991), State ex rel Beacon Journal Publishing Co v Radel. A peremptory writ of mandamus may not be granted before an answer denying or admitting the material facts has been filed where a petitioner alleges that a judge has improperly sealed criminal records and has denied public access to those records.

57 OS(3d) 77, 566 NE(2d) 146 (1991), State ex rel National Broadcasting Co v Cleveland. Internal police investigations of the use of deadly force constitute confidential law enforcement investigatory records under RC 149.43(A)(2); further, a court should conduct an in camera inspection and redact protected information prior to ordering release of the files.

56 OS(3d) 97, 564 NE(2d) 486 (1990), State ex rel Fairfield Leader v Ricketts. A meeting of government officials to discuss annexation and development projects at which no specific proposals are made and no official action taken, and where the meeting is called by and paid for by a private developer, must be reduced to minutes. These minutes must be made available to the public; where the officials refuse to reduce the meeting to minutes, mandamus shall be granted to compel such action.

56 OS(3d) 97, 564 NE(2d) 486 (1990), State ex rel Fairfield Leader v Ricketts. An award of attorney fees is warranted where public officials attempt to design a meeting with the specific intent of circumventing local and state laws governing public access.

56 OS(3d) 36, 564 NE(2d) 89 (1990), State ex rel Shane v New Philadelphia Police Dept. A criminal defendant may not obtain a writ of mandamus under RC 149.43 to secure public records where he may litigate his right to obtain these records in his criminal case through the discovery process.

51 OS(3d) 99, 554 NE(2d) 1321 (1990), State ex rel Multimedia, Inc v Whalen. Attorney fees shall be awarded as a sanction where denial of access to public records is an unreasonable attempt to avoid the clear mandate of RC 149.43.

51 OS(3d) 1, 553 NE(2d) 1345 (1990), State ex rel Beacon Journal Publishing Co v Ohio Health Dept. The attorney fees provision of RC 149.43(C) does not violate the constitutional prohibition against retroactive legislation.

50 OS(3d) 152, 553 NE(2d) 646 (1990), State ex rel Hastings Mutual Insurance Co v Merillat. The granting of a Civ R 26(B) motion to quash a subpoena duces tecum issued pursuant to Civ R 30(B) is subject to review by way of appeal; accordingly, the party opposing the motion may not seek to obtain identical relief collaterally through the institution of a separate action in mandamus brought pursuant to RC 149.43(C).

48 OS(3d) 41, 549 NE(2d) 167 (1990), State ex rel Multimedia, Inc v Whalen. A person aggrieved by government refusal to release records may seek a writ of mandamus under RC 149.43(C) to obtain the records from the government unit or the custodian of the records; consequently, a police chief's assertion that an individual seeking records that are in the chief's custody could have simply appealed to the chief's superiors in city government following the chief's refusal, and thus had an adequate remedy at law, is rejected.

48 OS(3d) 41, 549 NE(2d) 167 (1990), State ex rel Multimedia, Inc v Whalen. An award of attorney fees under RC 149.43(C) is not mandatory.

45 OS(3d) 376, 544 NE(2d) 680 (1989), State ex rel Scanlon v Deters. A relator in a mandamus action seeking production of documents pursuant to RC 149.43 is required, as are relators in other mandamus actions, to show the absence of an adequate alternative to issuing the writ.

42 OS(3d) 1, 535 NE(2d) 1366 (1989), State ex rel Beacon Journal Publishing Co v Akron Metropolitan Housing Auth. Where the respondent in a mandamus action for an order to allow inspection of job application materials attempts to resolve the dispute through compromise and the trial court finds no bad faith in respondent's denial of access to such materials, the trial court does not abuse its discretion in denying relator's request for attorney fees under RC 149.43(C).

39 OS(3d) 108, 529 NE(2d) 443 (1988), State ex rel Fox v Cuyahoga County Hospital System. The award of attorney fees under RC 149.43(C) is discretionary, not mandatory.

38 OS(3d) 79, 526 NE(2d) 786 (1988), State ex rel National Broadcasting Co v Cleveland. When a governmental body asserts that public records are excepted from disclosure and such assertion is challenged, the court must make an individualized scrutiny of the records in question. If the court finds that these records contain excepted information, this information must be redacted and any remaining information must be released.

35 OS(3d) 241, 520 NE(2d) 207 (1988), Henneman v Toledo. Records and information compiled by an internal affairs division of a police department are subject to discovery in civil litigation arising out of alleged police misconduct if, upon an in camera inspection, the trial court determines that the requesting party's need for the material outweighs the public interest in the confidentiality of such information.

33 OS(3d) 120, 515 NE(2d) 618 (1987), State ex rel Fant v Staples. A mandamus action for the production of public records and motions pending in connection with the action will be dismissed as moot where the respondent establishes its willingness to voluntarily comply with relator's request for access to its records.

32 OS(3d) 327, 512 NE(2d) 1176 (1987), State ex rel Fostoria Daily Review Co v Fostoria Hospital Assn. RC 149.99 sets forth an exclusive remedy to compel compliance with the public records statute, RC 149.43; therefore, a writ of mandamus compelling access to public records must be denied. (Superseded by amendment of RC 149.43 by 1987 S 275, eff. 10-15-87.)

29 OS(3d) 17, 29 OBR 235, 504 NE(2d) 1115 (1987), State ex rel Fant v Sykes. A writ of mandamus to compel disclosure of public records will be denied where the records sought have been furnished to relator rendering the action in mandamus moot. (See also State ex rel Fant v Sykes, 29 OS(3d) 18, 29 OBR 236 (1987).)

25 OS(3d) 347, 25 OBR 399, 496 NE(2d) 908 (1986), Beacon Journal Publishing Co v Stow. For purposes of imposing the fine set forth in former RC 149.99, before its repeal by 1985 H 238, eff. 7-1-85, for violations of RC 149.43(B), a city's repeated refusals to disclose public documents may be found by the trier of fact to constitute only one violation, where repeated demands for disclosure can be construed merely as renewals of an original demand.

20 OS(3d) 51, 20 OBR 351, 485 NE(2d) 1039 (1985), State v Bundy. A trial court's error in not allowing a criminal defendant access to requested public records of a police department is harmless error where the defendant does not demonstrate any prejudice from lack of access to the requested material.

56 OS(2d) 126, 383 NE(2d) 124 (1978), Wooster Republican Printing Co v Wooster. In determining whether disclosure to the general public of personal information contained in an otherwise public record would constitute an improper use of personal information under the provisions of RC Ch 1347, the interest of the public's "right to know," codified in RC 149.43, must be balanced against an individual's "right of personal privacy," codified in RC Ch 1347; in the consideration of these respective interests, doubt should be resolved in favor of public disclosure of public records in order to insure the existence of an informed public.

46 OS(2d) 184, 347 NE(2d) 539 (1976), State ex rel Grosser v Boy. "Public benefit" conferred by successful mandamus action to inspect and copy certain high school records did not justify an award of attorney's fees.

34 OS(2d) 37, 295 NE(2d) 665 (1973), State ex rel White v Cleveland. Where a taxpayer requests the law director of a municipality to advise the commissioner of the division of building to permit the inspection and copying of public records, as required by RC 149.43, and the law director refuses, relying upon an alleged policy of the municipality, it is clear that a written request upon the law director to maintain a mandamus action against the commissioner, pursuant to RC 733.58, would be futile and unavailing, and such request, required by RC 733.59, is excused.

66 App(3d) 398 (Butler 1990), State ex rel Butler County Bar Assn v Robb. A clerk of court is required to make ordinary copies of public records available at cost to a county bar association despite the clerk's contention that RC 2303.20(G) requires a clerk of the common pleas court to charge $1.00 per page for copies, since the statute pertains to a limited class of copies only, i.e., certified copies, and does not pertain to all copies of public records which might be sought by a member of the public.

64 App(3d) 659 (Cuyahoga 1990), State ex rel Kinsley v Berea Bd of Ed. The individual members of a board of education are amenable to suit in mandamus as the persons responsible for the public records of the school district which are not made available on request since although as a general rule and absent a statute to the contrary, suit must be instituted against the board as an entity when it acts collectively, the public records statute permits a mandamus action to be brought not only against the governmental unit, but also against the individuals responsible for the records.

62 App(3d) 752 (Franklin 1989), State ex rel Zauderer v Joseph. Although under RC 149.43 a city police chief, county sheriff, and superintendent of state highway patrol generally have a duty to make traffic accident reports available for inspection to any person at all reasonable times during regular business hours, a request to inspect city, state, and county traffic accident reports of record must comport with the method of retrieval used by the city, state, or county; a request that merely asks for any and all traffic accident reports will not be enforced pursuant to a writ of mandamus since the request is unreasonable in scope, and if granted would interfere with the sanctity of the recordkeeping process.

62 App(3d) 298, 575 NE(2d) 497 (Butler 1990), State ex rel Butler County Bar Assn v Robb. A complaint in mandamus concerning cost of copies of public records states a claim for relief under RC 149.43(B), which provides that "persons responsible for public records shall make copies available at cost."

62 App(3d) 225, 575 NE(2d) 224 (Franklin 1990), State ex rel Mayrides v Whitehall. A party who has been wrongfully refused access to public records is not entitled under RC 149.43(C) to receive copies of those records free of charge as a sanction for the wrongful refusal.

62 App(3d) 225, 575 NE(2d) 224 (Franklin 1990), State ex rel Mayrides v Whitehall. RC 149.43 does not require the custodian of public records to provide copies of such records free of charge.

62 App(3d) 225, 575 NE(2d) 224 (Franklin 1990), State ex rel Mayrides v Whitehall. An award of attorney fees under RC 149.43(C) is inappropriate where the custodian's refusal to release public records was based on a good faith belief that the party requesting the records was unable to pay for copying costs.

56 App(3d) 174, 565 NE(2d) 880 (Cuyahoga 1989), Schregardus v Croucher. A municipal court lacks subject matter jurisdiction to hear a case seeking money only damages pursuant to RC 149.99 for an alleged violation of RC 149.43, as the statutory remedies allowing for monetary forfeiture and the recovery of attorney fees are ancillary to the principal remedy of compelled compliance; a claim brought under RC 149.99 is principally equitable in a nature and, therefore, a municipal court lacks jurisdiction to adjudicate such a claim.

49 App(3d) 61, 550 NE(2d) 217 (Erie 1989), Yee v Lechner. A defendant in a pending criminal case has an adequate legal remedy to obtain police records and reports with a subpoena under Crim R 17(C), and his petition for a writ of mandamus for disclosure will be denied.

49 App(3d) 59, 550 NE(2d) 214 (Butler 1989), State ex rel Petty v Wurst. To warrant an award of attorney fees under RC 149.43(C), a sufficient benefit to the public must be demonstrated, and the reasonableness of the public official's refusal to disclose information may also be considered, since such fees are regarded as punitive.

53 App(2d) 203, 373 NE(2d) 386 (1976), Lindley v Ferguson; affirmed by 52 OS(2d) 60, 369 NE(2d) 482 (1977). The power of subpoena is entirely separate and distinct from a citizen's right of inspection of public records.

52 App(2d) 56, 368 NE(2d) 326 (1977), Land Title Guarantee & Trust Co v Essex. The statutory right to inspect county public records under RC 149.43 incorporates within its meaning the right to copy such records within reasonable limitations.

No. 90 CA 42 (7th Dist Ct App, Mahoning, 12-5-90), State ex rel Vindicator Printing Co v Philomena. Individual in camera scrutiny of records is essential to determine whether such records are exempt from disclosure under RC 149.43; a denial of a writ of mandamus to compel disclosure on the pleadings will be reversed and remanded for such inspection.

61 Misc(2d) 631 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Economic Opportunity Planning Assn of Greater Toledo. The award of attorney fees under the public meetings law is plainly discretionary; a court when deciding whether to award fees under the act will use the same criteria as that applicable to the public records law.

61 Misc(2d) 631 (CP, Lucas 1990), State ex rel Toledo Blade Co v Economic Opportunity Planning Assn of Greater Toledo. A newspaper initiating court action to force a recalcitrant public office, a designated community action agency, to open its meetings and records to public review confers a significant benefit on the public, and attorney fees will be awarded to the prevailing newspaper where the legal positions taken by the agency are not supported by any plausible reading of the statutes nor by logical argument from existing decisions.

Materials gathered during investigation of an unfair labor practice charge by the state employment relations board are "law enforcement investigatory records" for purposes of RC 149.43, since RC 4117.12 calls for the board to investigate any charged violations; the burden of demonstrating that law enforcement investigatory records are exempt from disclosure under RC 149.43(A)(2) is on the agency refusing to disclose.

No. A8700770 (CP, Hamilton, 5-2-88), Ohio Ed Assn v Great Oaks Joint Vocational School Dist Bd of Ed. A public employer has standing to assert its employees' "fundamental right" to privacy to prevent a union's use of the public records law, RC 149.43, to inspect and copy personnel records with employees' names and addresses for use in a labor organizing campaign; the public records law is entirely unconstitutional and unenforceable.

116 FRD 270 (ND Ohio 1987), Dinkins v Ohio State Highway Patrol. A black applicant denied employment as a highway patrolman and suing under 42 USC 2000e-2 for discrimination is not entitled to discovery of the actual reports of a background investigation that was "one factor" in the patrol's decision where an in camera review of the reports by the court confirms the accuracy of a summary provided by the patrol stating the applicant averaged thirty absences per year from high school, held many jobs briefly because of absenteeism, and was described by those who knew him as "lacking in common sense"; the patrol will be forced to identify the trooper who conducted the investigation and prepared the actual reports, however, so the applicant can discern whether the "interviewing process itself caused bias."

OAG 89-073. Under RC 149.43(B), a person seeking to inspect or receive a copy of the shorthand notes taken and filed pursuant to RC 2301.20 or the transcript prepared pursuant to RC 2301.23 by an official shorthand reporter or assistant shorthand reporter of a common pleas court may direct the request therefor to the official shorthand reporter. If a transcript is filed with the common pleas court, any person seeking to inspect or receive a copy of the transcript may direct the request therefor to the clerk of the common pleas court.

OAG 81-006. The employee address and payroll records maintained by a board of township trustees are public records that must be made available for inspection at all reasonable times; a municipal official charged with enforcing the income tax provisions of a municipality does not need a subpoena duces tecum in order to gain access to such records.

OAG 75-062. Any information contained in a workmen's compensation claim file which was gained through communication or observation by a physician from a claimant who has contacted him for treatment or for diagnosis looking toward treatment would generally be subject to the patient-physician privilege under RC 2317.02(A) and may not be released except upon the authorization of the patient-claimant; however, the privilege attached to such information is waived if such information was obtained and placed in the claim file pursuant to a written medical waiver voluntarily signed by the claimant or if the claimant voluntarily testifies or introduces otherwise privileged information at a public hearing; where the claimant has waived the patient-physician privilege, then pursuant to RC 4123.88 a member of the industrial commission, the employer or the administrator of the bureau of workmen's compensation may authorize anyone to examine such medical records which may be contained in the claim file.

OAG 75-062. The industrial commission is required pursuant to RC 4121.10 to keep records showing its proceedings, findings, awards, and each member's vote as cast in all claims for compensation presented for its consideration; such records together with the transcript at its hearings, if any, are a public record as defined in RC 149.43 and shall be available to the public at all reasonable times for inspection even if they are filed within the claim files.

OAG 73-034. Any citizen or taxpayer of the state of Ohio who requests to view, or have copies made of, salary or compensation records of employees of the university of Toledo at any reasonable time should be permitted to inspect or have copies of such records at cost.

OAG 67-018. A demand by a party, not included within RC 2301.23, upon the court reporter to transcribe and deliver a copy of such transcription is not a request to make available public records under RC 149.43, but transcripts already prepared for parties are available to disinterested parties upon demand as public records.

COUNTY RURAL ZONING

303.11 Zoning plan to be submitted to electors; filing requirements

If the zoning resolution is adopted by the board of county commissioners, such board shall cause the question of whether or not the proposed plan of zoning shall be put into effect to be submitted to the electors residing in the unincorporated area of the county included in the proposed plan of zoning for their approval or rejection at the next primary or general election, or a special election may be called for this purpose. Such resolution shall be filed with the board of elections not later than four p.m. on the seventy-fifth day before the day of the election. No zoning regulations shall be put into effect in any township, unless a majority of the vote cast on the issue in that township is in favor of the proposed plan of zoning. Upon certification by the board of elections the resolution shall take immediate effect in all townships which voted approval, eliminating from the plan any township which did not vote approval.

Within five working days after the resolution's effective date, the board of county commissioners shall file it, including text and maps, in the office of the county recorder. The board shall also file duplicates of the same documents with the regional or county planning commission, if one exists, within the same period.

The board shall file all resolutions, including text and maps, that are in effect on January 1, 1992, in the office of the county recorder within thirty working days after that date. The board shall also file duplicates of the same documents with the regional or county planning commission, if one exists, within the same period.

The failure to file a resolution, or any text and maps, or duplicates of any of these documents, with the office of the county recorder or the county or regional planning commission as required by this section does not invalidate the resolution and is not grounds for an appeal of any decision of the board of zoning appeals.

1964 OAG 1500. A comprehensive zoning plan adopted pursuant to RC Ch 519 may not be repealed for a part only of the territory included within the zoning plan but must be repealed vel non as a whole.

1964 OAG 1107. Zoning regulations for a county, adopted pursuant to RC 303.26 et seq., must be submitted to a vote as provided in RC 303.11 to be effective in any township within the county.

1963 OAG 1299. A township may be made subject to an existing zoning plan in the unincorporated part of a county by the procedures set forth in RC 303.03 to RC 303.11.

1962 OAG 2963. RC 303.11 and RC 303.22 are in pari materia and their provisions when so construed require but one issue to be presented for consideration to the eligible voters.

1962 OAG 2963. Where the question of the adoption of county rural zoning is submitted in a township and a part of such township is under township zoning, such township zoning will be replaced by the county zoning plan if such plan is adopted by an affirmative vote in the entire township covered by the county zoning plan and by a majority vote of voters in the area with township zoning within such township.

1962 OAG 2963. Repeal of township zoning pursuant to RC 519.25 is not a prerequisite to, nor the same as, a consideration of the question raised by RC 303.11 and RC 303.22.

1962 OAG 2963. When a board of county commissioners adopts a zoning resolution, such resolution must be submitted for approval or rejection to all of the voters residing in the area included within the plan, regardless of whether there is at the time of such election township zoning in all or part of such township.

1951 OAG 226. The question of the approval or rejection of a proposed plan of rural zoning is to be submitted only to the electors residing in the unincorporated area of the county included in the proposed plan of zoning.

1951 OAG 226. Where a proposed plan of rural zoning which is submitted for approval includes part but not all of the territory of a township, only the electors residing in that portion of the township so included are entitled to vote.

303.12 Amendments to zoning resolution; notices and hearings; referendum; form of petition; filing requirements

(A) Amendments to the zoning resolution may be initiated by motion of the county rural zoning commission, by the passage of a resolution therefor by the board of county commissioners or by the filing of an application therefor by one or more of the owners or lessees of property within the area proposed to be changed or affected by the proposed amendment with the county rural zoning commission. The board of county commissioners may require that the owner or lessee of property filing an application to amend the zoning resolution pay a fee therefor to defray the cost of advertising, mailing, filing with the county recorder, and other expenses. If the board of county commissioners requires such a fee, it shall be required generally, for each application. The board of county commissioners shall upon the passage of such resolution certify it to the county rural zoning commission.

Upon the adoption of such motion, or the certification of such resolution or the filing of such application, the county rural zoning commission shall set a date for a public hearing thereon, which date shall not be less than twenty nor more than forty days from the date of adoption of such motion or the date of the certification of such resolution or the date of the filing of such application. Notice of such hearing shall be given by the county rural zoning commission by one publication in one or more newspapers of general circulation in each township affected by such proposed amendment at least ten days before the date of such hearing.

(B) If the proposed amendment intends to rezone or redistrict ten or fewer parcels of land, as listed on the county auditor's current tax list, written notice of the hearing shall be mailed by the zoning commission, by first class mail, at least ten days before the date of the public hearing to all owners of property within and contiguous to and directly across the street from such area proposed to be rezoned or redistricted to the addresses of such owners appearing on the county auditor's current tax list. The failure of delivery of such notice shall not invalidate any such amendment.

(C) If the proposed amendment intends to rezone or redistrict ten or fewer parcels of land as listed on the county auditor's current tax list, the published and mailed notices shall set forth the time, date, and place of the public hearing, and shall include all of the following:

(1) The name of the zoning commission that will be conducting the public hearing;

(2) A statement indicating that the motion, resolution, or application is an amendment to the zoning resolution;

(3) A list of the addresses of all properties to be rezoned or redistricted by the proposed amendment and of the names of owners of these properties, as they appear on the county auditor's current tax list;

(4) The present zoning classification of property named in the proposed amendment and the proposed zoning classification of such property;

(5) The time and place where the motion, resolution, or application proposing to amend the zoning resolution will be available for examination for a period of at least ten days prior to the public hearing;

(6) The name of the person responsible for giving notice of the public hearing by publication or by mail, or by both publication and mail;

(7) Any other information requested by the zoning commission;

(8) A statement that after the conclusion of such hearing the matter will be submitted to the board of county commissioners for its action.

(D) If the proposed amendment alters the text of the zoning resolution, or rezones or redistricts more than ten parcels of land, as listed on the county auditor's current tax list, the published notice shall set forth the time, date, and place of the public hearing, and shall include all of the following:

(1) The name of the zoning commission that will be conducting the public hearing on the proposed amendment;

(2) A statement indicating that the motion, application, or resolution is an amendment to the zoning resolution;

(3) The time and place where the text and maps of the proposed amendment will be available for examination for a period of at least ten days prior to the public hearing;

(4) The name of the person responsible for giving notice of the public hearing by publication;

(5) A statement that after the conclusion of such hearing the matter will be submitted to the board of county commissioners for its action;

(6) Any other information requested by the zoning commission.

Hearings shall be held in the county court house or in a public place designated by the zoning commission.

(E) Within five days after the adoption of such motion or the certification of such resolution or the filing of such application the county rural zoning commission shall transmit a copy thereof together with text and map pertaining thereto to the county or regional planning commission, if there is such a commission.

The county or regional planning commission shall recommend the approval or denial of the proposed amendment or the approval of some modification thereof and shall submit such recommendation to the county rural zoning commission. Such recommendation shall be considered at the public hearing held by the county rural zoning commission on such proposed amendment.

The county rural zoning commission shall, within thirty days after such hearing, recommend the approval or denial of the proposed amendment, or the approval of some modification thereof and shall submit such recommendation together with such application or resolution, the text and map pertaining thereto and the recommendation of the county or regional planning commission thereon to the board of county commissioners.

The board of county commissioners shall, upon receipt of such recommendation, set a time for a public hearing on such proposed amendment, which date shall be not more than thirty days from the date of the receipt of such recommendation from the county rural zoning commission. Notice of such public hearing shall be given by the board by one publication in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the county, at least ten days before the date of such hearing.

(F) If the proposed amendment intends to rezone or redistrict ten or fewer parcels of land as listed on the county auditor's current tax list, the published notice shall set forth the time, date, and place of the public hearing and shall include all of the following:

(1) The name of the board that will be conducting the public hearing;

(2) A statement indicating that the motion, application, or resolution is an amendment to the zoning resolution;

(3) A list of the addresses of all properties to be rezoned or redistricted by the proposed amendment and of the names of owners of these properties, as they appear on the county auditor's current tax list;

(4) The present zoning classification of property named in the proposed amendment and the proposed zoning classification of such property;

(5) The time and place where the motion, application, or resolution proposing to amend the zoning resolution will be available for examination for a period of at least ten days prior to the public hearing;

(6) The name of the person responsible for giving notice of the public hearing by publication or by mail, or by both publication and mail;

(7) Any other information requested by the board.

(G) If the proposed amendment alters the text of the zoning resolution, or rezones or redistricts more than ten parcels of land as listed on the county auditor's current tax list, the published notice shall set forth the time, date, and place of the public hearing, and shall include all of the following:

(1) The name of the board that will be conducting the public hearing on the proposed amendment;

(2) A statement indicating that the motion, application, or resolution is an amendment to the zoning resolution;

(3) The time and place where the text and maps of the proposed amendment will be available for examination for a period of at least ten days prior to the public hearing;

(4) The name of the person responsible for giving notice of the public hearing by publication;

(5) Any other information requested by the board.

(H) Within twenty days after such public hearing the board shall either adopt or deny the recommendation of the zoning commission or adopt some modification thereof. In the event the board denies or modifies the recommendation of the county rural zoning commission the unanimous vote of the board shall be required.

Such amendment adopted by the board shall become effective in thirty days after the date of such adoption unless within thirty days after the adoption of the amendment there is presented to the board of county commissioners a petition, signed by a number of qualified voters residing in the unincorporated area of the township or part thereof included in the zoning plan equal to not less than eight per cent of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor in such area at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected, requesting the board to submit the amendment to the electors of such area, for approval or rejection, at a special election to be held on the day of the next primary or general election. Each part of this petition shall contain the number and the full and correct title, if any, of the zoning amendment resolution, motion, or application, furnishing the name by which the amendment proposal is known and a brief summary of its contents. In addition to meeting the requirements of this section, each petition shall be governed by the rules specified in section 3501.38 of the Revised Code.

The form of a petition calling for a zoning referendum and the statement of the circulator shall be substantially as follows:

"PETITION FOR ZONING REFERENDUM

67 OS(2d) 345, 423 NE(2d) 1087 (1981), Peachtree Development Co v Paul. Article XVI of the Hamilton county zoning resolution does not unlawfully delegate legislative authority to the regional planning commission.

67 OS(2d) 345, 423 NE(2d) 1087 (1981), Peachtree Development Co v Paul. A board of county commissioners action in approval of community unit plan which altered zoning on parcel of land involved was a legislative act subject to referendum.

67 OS(2d) 139, 423 NE(2d) 184 (1981), Moraine v Montgomery County Bd of Commrs. County commissioners have inherent authority to reconsider their own legislative decisions, provided there is no change or modification from the original proposal.

67 OS(2d) 139, 423 NE(2d) 184 (1981), Moraine v Montgomery County Bd of Commrs. An appeal pursuant to RC 2506.01 from the denial of an amendment to a comprehensive zoning plan is improper, since such action is a legislative function.

41 OS(2d) 187, 324 NE(2d) 740 (1975), Forest City Enterprises, Inc v Eastlake; reversed by 426 US 668, 96 SCt 2358, 49 LEd(2d) 132 (1976). A municipal charter provision which requires that any ordinance changing land use be ratified by the voters in a city-wide election constitutes an unlawful delegation of legislative power.

162 OS 521, 124 NE(2d) 115 (1955), Eggers v Morr. Mere inconvenience in complying with the necessary steps in taking an appeal from an action of the county commissioners in rezoning an area does not constitute an excuse for resorting to an independent action for an injunction in lieu of taking the appeal.

162 OS 521, 124 NE(2d) 115 (1955), Eggers v Morr. A zoning resolution of a board of county commissioners may be attacked in an original action which seeks to enjoin its enforcement.

58 App(3d) 61, 568 NE(2d) 722 (Hamilton 1989), State ex rel Turpin Woods Co v Hamilton County Bd of Commrs. The enactment of a zoning change by the county commissioners pursuant to a common pleas court judgment declaring the prior zoning classification unconstitutional does not violate RC 303.12.

30 App(3d) 217, 30 OBR 374, 507 NE(2d) 438 (Hamilton 1986), State ex rel Dry Ridge Development Co v Hamilton County Bd of Commrs. Where two of three members of a board of county commissioners vote to deny a recommendation of a rural zoning commission and the third member abstains from voting, the unanimity requirement of RC 303.12(H) has been met.

16 App(2d) 147, 242 NE(2d) 670 (1968), Deserisy v De Courcy. The failure of a board of county commissioners to act within twenty days of its hearing on an application for a change of zoning following recommendation by a zoning commission does not constitute approval of the favorable recommendations of such zoning commission.

5 App(2d) 187, 214 NE(2d) 681 (1965), In re Application of Latham. RC Ch 2506 does not confer jurisdiction upon a court of common pleas to hear an appeal from the action of a board of county commissioners denying an application for rezoning.

91 App 523, 108 NE(2d) 747 (1952), Schneller v Hamilton County Bd of Commrs. A petition in common pleas court challenging the validity of an amendment of zoning ordinances by county commissioners must be filed within ten days of the date of such order.

5 Misc 210, 210 NE(2d) 747 (CP, Hamilton 1965), Seyler v Balsly. The requirement of a unanimous vote of the board of county commissioners in RC 303.12 is met by the unanimous vote of the two commissioners present at a meeting.

83 Abs 321, 164 NE(2d) 466 (CP, Butler 1959), Fried v Augspurger. A board of county commissioners does not have discretion to allow signatures to be withdrawn from a referendum petition requesting a referendum on a zoning change after the board of county commissioners had ordered said matter to be placed on the ballot.

77 Abs 93, 149 NE(2d) 33 (App, Franklin 1957), State ex rel Holmes v Lauderbaugh. Where a petition is filed with a board of county commissioners requesting that an amendment to a zoning ordinance be submitted to an election, and an individual files a mandamus action against the board to compel it to submit such questions, the board cannot thereafter rescind its resolution to submit the amendment.

OAG 71-052. Board of township trustees has duty to determine whether petitions requesting referendum on zoning amendment filed with board are valid on their face for presentation to board of elections, but does not have power to inquire into other matters respecting said petitions.

1963 OAG 1299. A township may be made subject to an existing zoning plan in the unincorporated part of a county by the procedures set forth in RC 303.03 to 303.11.

2. Amendment to zoning resolution

67 OS(2d) 139, 423 NE(2d) 184 (1981), Moraine v Montgomery County Bd of Commrs. An appeal pursuant to RC 2506.01 from the denial of an amendment to a comprehensive zoning plan is improper, since such action is a legislative function.

74 Abs 132, 136 NE(2d) 627 (CP, Franklin 1956), Kreutz v Lauderbaugh. Any change intended to be made in the zoning of an unincorporated area must be done as set forth in RC 303.03, and any attempt to delegate to the rural zoning commission the right to rezone, amend or supplement the original plan is contrary to law.

3. Notice and hearing

87 Abs 168, 175 NE(2d) 881 (CP, Hamilton 1961), Seyler v Clark. The "notice" required by RC 303.12 is more than a mere "public hearing" notice and must contain a summary of the proposed charge showing the interested citizen the content of the proposed charge without the necessity of his inspecting the official records.

OAG 65-218. A county rural zoning commission is required to hear and determine only those applications for amendment or supplement filed with it by owners or lessees of affected property; property contiguous to, or directly across the street from, an area proposed to be changed is property so "affected"; and the commission may determine that additional property is "affected" by a proposed amendment or supplement to the zoning resolution.

1963 OAG 77. The statements in paragraph 3, RC 519.12, relating to the contents of the written notice do not refer as such to the procedure to be followed under RC 519.12, but merely provide that the notices, in addition to other requirements, state the procedure applicable to the county or regional planning commission and township trustees as the case may be pursuant to paragraphs 4, 5 and 6 of said section.

1960 OAG 1089. RC 303.12 as amended by 128 v 128, eff. 6-18-59 does not refer to procedure as such, but merely directs that published and mailed notices should contain such facts as are applicable in a given situation.

4. Referendum petition and procedure

48 OS(2d) 173, 357 NE(2d) 1079 (1976), State ex rel Schultz v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections. Where rezoning of four parcels was sought and township trustees approved rezoning of only three parcels, and where a subsequent referendum petition and proposed ballot question imply that the trustees approved rezoning of all four parcels, the misstatement is good grounds for the board of elections to order that the question not appear on the ballot.

41 OS(2d) 187, 324 NE(2d) 740 (1975), Forest City Enterprises, Inc v Eastlake; reversed by 426 US 668, 96 SCt 2358, 49 LEd(2d) 132 (1976). Under O Const Art II §1f, municipal referendum powers are limited to questions which municipalities are "authorized by law to control by legislative action".

40 OS(2d) 94, 320 NE(2d) 672 (1974), State ex rel Home Federal Savings & Loan Assn v Moser. A petition paper seeking a referendum on a zoning resolution under RC 303.12 is invalid where the circulator's affidavit fails to comply with the requirement of RC 3501.38(E) that the circulator "witnessed the affixing of every signature."

40 OS(2d) 94, 320 NE(2d) 672 (1974), State ex rel Home Federal Savings & Loan Assn v Moser. RC 3501.38 is applicable to all petitions for referendum filed pursuant to RC 303.12.

40 OS(2d) 94, 320 NE(2d) 672 (1974), State ex rel Home Federal Savings & Loan Assn v Moser. The requirements of O Const Art II §1g apply only to state-wide referenda, and do not apply to a referendum under RC 303.12.

174 OS 535, 190 NE(2d) 687 (1963), State ex rel Galloway v Board of County Commissioners. In the absence of statutory provisions to the contrary, an elector signing a referendum petition authorized by law has a right to withdraw his signature from such petition at any time before official action has been taken thereon and before an action in mandamus has been properly commenced to compel the taking of such action, even though after the time within which such petition is required by law to be filed and after it actually has been filed.

43 App(3d) 189, 541 NE(2d) 80 (Franklin 1988), Olen Corp v Franklin County Bd of Elections. A determination of whether an inaccuracy contained within a "brief summary of the proposal" required for a referendum petition under RC 303.12(H) is fatally confusing or misleading to the average voter must be based on an objective standard based on the language itself coupled with the actual existing circumstances rather than through the testimony of witnesses giving their personal subjective opinions as to whether the petition is misleading or confusing.

9 App(3d) 73, 9 OBR 93, 458 NE(2d) 431 (Hamilton 1983), Nunneker v Murdock. Substantial compliance with the requirements of RC 303.12 regarding a referendum petition about a zoning change does not require strict adherence to technical, mathematical, or administrative matters, but rather requires that the contraverted issues be set out and the procedural standards be met which will allow a prospective signer to make an informed decision.

50 App(2d) 1, 361 NE(2d) 477 (1976), State ex rel Schultz v Cuyahoga County Bd of Elections; affirmed by 48 OS(2d) 173, 357 NE(2d) 1079 (1976). The requirements for referendum petitions under RC 519.12 are: (a) the petition must contain the number and a full and correct title of the zoning resolution; (b) the petition must contain the affidavit of the person soliciting signatures for the petition certifying that to the best of his or her knowledge and belief each of the signatures is that of the person whose name it purports to be, that he believes such persons are electors of the township, and that such persons signed the petition with knowledge of its contents; and (c) if the petition contains any additional information it must be of such a character as to promote the attempt to fairly and accurately present the question or issue and must not in any way detract from a free, intelligent and informed choice by the average citizen who is requested to make a decision as to whether he should or should not sign such a petition.

45 App(2d) 137, 341 NE(2d) 349 (1975), Northeast Franklin Co v Cooper. Where a referendum petition, circulated pursuant to RC 3501.38, contains language, prominently displayed, warning of criminal penalties, and the language substantially complies with the form set out in division (J) of the statute, such petition will not be declared invalid if no intentional misrepresentation is shown.

21 App(2d) 241, 256 NE(2d) 716 (1969), State ex rel Jeffries v Ryan. Provisions of RC 3501.38(C) do not require specific or express authorization and direction by signer of a petition to place after his name the date of signing, and to complete location of his voting residence by addition, after house number and street, of name of post office address; but authority to accurately fill in such information is inferred merely from act of signing, in absence of evidence that such was done contrary to directions, express or implied, of signer, and to extent that they would be capable of an interpretation that they would require an express or specific authorization by signer to someone else to place such information on petition, are merely directory, and not mandatory, and cannot serve as basis for invalidation of petition which contains required information at time it was filed, even if filled in without specific or express authorization of signer.

110 App 535, 164 NE(2d) 180 (Cuyahoga 1960), Hilltop Realty, Inc v South Euclid; appeal dismissed by 170 OS 585, 166 NE(2d) 924 (1960). A zoning ordinance passed by the council of a municipal corporation that amends a comprehensive zoning ordinance is subject to referendum.

83 Abs 321, 164 NE(2d) 466 (CP, Butler 1959), Fried v Augspurger. A board of county commissioners does not have discretion to allow signatures to be withdrawn from a referendum petition requesting a referendum on a zoning change after the board of county commissioners had ordered said matter to be placed on the ballot.

77 Abs 93, 149 NE(2d) 33 (App, Franklin 1957), State ex rel Holmes v Lauderbaugh. Where a petition is filed with a board of county commissioners requesting that an amendment to a zoning ordinance be submitted to an election, and an individual files a mandamus action against the board to compel it to submit such questions, the board cannot thereafter rescind its resolution to submit the amendment.

66 Abs 538, 118 NE(2d) 162 (CP, Franklin 1953), Argo v Kaiser. An election by the voters of a township defeating the rezoning by the county commissioners of a portion of land within the township was not invalidated by the fact that the property was defectively described by lot number where the location, size and ownership of the parcel were correctly described.

426 US 668, 96 SCt 2358, 49 LEd(2d) 132 (1976), Eastlake v Forest City Enterprises. A zoning referendum cannot be characterized as a delegation of power, since the people can reserve to themselves power to deal directly with matters which might otherwise be assigned to the legislature; therefore, a charter amendment permitting the voters to decide whether the zoned use of a real estate developer's property could be altered does not violate the due process rights of the developer who applied for a zoning change.

426 US 668, 96 SCt 2358, 49 LEd(3d) 132 (1976), Eastlake v Forest City Enterprises, Inc. Referendum provisions in a municipal charter tantamount to a veto power over zoning legislation are a valid reservation of power by the people, rather than a delegation of power to the people that would be invalid without statutory "standards" to guide the power's use.

426 US 668, 96 SCt 2358, 49 LEd(2d) 132 (1976), Eastlake v Forest City Enterprises, Inc. Where the result of a referendum on a zoning change is arbitrary and capricious and bears no relation to the police power, a challenge may be brought in state court.

303.25 County zoning plan repeal in township; procedure

In any township in which there is in force a plan of county zoning, the plan may be repealed by the board of county commissioners, as to such township, in the following manner:

(A) The board may adopt a resolution upon its own initiative.

(B) The board shall adopt a resolution, if there is presented to it a petition, similar in all relevant aspects to that prescribed in section 303.12 of the Revised Code, signed by a number of qualified voters residing in the unincorporated area of such township included in the zoning plan equal to not less than eight per cent of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor in such area at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected, requesting the question of whether or not the plan of zoning in effect in such township shall be repealed, to be submitted to the electors residing in the unincorporated area of the township included in the zoning plan at a special election to be held on the day of the next primary or general election. The resolution adopted by the board of county commissioners to cause such question to be submitted to the electors shall be certified to the board of elections not later than seventy-five days prior to the day of election at which the question is to be voted upon. In the event a majority of the vote cast on such question in the township is in favor of repeal of zoning, then such regulations shall no longer be of any effect. Not more than one such election shall be held in any two calendar years.

478 US 30, 106 SCt 2752, 92 LEd(2d) 25 (1986), Thornburg v Gingles. As amended in 1982, 42 USC 1973 outlaws state voting standards, practices, or procedures that are not "equally open to participation by members of a [protected class] . . . in that its members have less opportunity . . . to elect representatives of their choice," even where no intent to discriminate is shown; where a legislative body is elected in multimember districts a minority group will prove its votes were illegally diluted by showing, (1) the minority is of such size and location that it would be a majority in one single-member district, (2) a significant portion of the minority supports the same candidates, and (3) the white majority votes so as to defeat the minority's choice absent special circumstances. (Ed. note: North Carolina law construed in light of federal statute.)

860 F(2d) 683 (6th Cir Ohio 1988), Lawrence County Bd of Commrs v L. Robert Kimball & Associates; cert denied 110 SCt 1480, 108 LEd(2d) 617 (1990). In the absence of any Ohio statute forbidding county commissioners to enter contracts extending beyond the term of the board or any clear Ohio precedent establishing a public policy against such acts, a federal court will not find an arbitration award to be against public policy simply because it enforces a contract of indefinite duration between the county and an engineering firm that involves "necessity or some special circumstances."

OAG 88-085. Pursuant to RC 145.297(A)(3)(c), a board of county commissioners may designate the office of the county engineer as an employing unit for purposes of a retirement incentive plan established under RC 145.297; county employees other than those employed by the county engineer are not eligible to participate in the plan established for the office of the county engineer.

OAG 88-057. A county commissioner who was elected while he was a resident of the county may continue to serve as county commissioner after moving to an adjoining county within the state.

OAG 88-017. So long as it is physically possible to do so, a person may simultaneously hold the positions of reclamation inspector for the natural resources department and county commissioner, except that where the county in which he serves as commissioner has, pursuant to RC 307.11, entered into a lease or contract for the mining of coal on county land, he may not perform the duties of reclamation inspector within that county. The fact that a county has entered into such a lease or contract does not give a commissioner of that county a direct or indirect financial interest in a coal mining or reclamation operation that would prohibit him from also serving as a reclamation inspector.

OAG 88-011. The positions of member of a board of county commissioners and member of a board of education of a local school district located in whole or in part within the same county are incompatible.

OAG 85-029. The positions of trustee of a regional airport authority and county commissioner of a county included within the regional airport authority are incompatible.

OAG 81-010. The positions of full time local school principal and county commissioner are incompatible when it is physically impossible for one person to adequately perform the duties of both positions.

OAG 81-009. The positions of special deputy and county commissioner are incompatible because of a conflict of interest.

OAG 79-112. An individual may serve as a member of a board of county commissioners and as administrator of a village located within that county at the same time.

OAG 73-024. The position of a member of a board of governors of a joint township hospital is incompatible with that of a county commissioner.

1959 OAG 198. A member of the board of county commissioners may not at the same time hold the position of director or officer of a county or independent agricultural society.

1959 OAG 42. The position of supervisor of a soil conservation district is incompatible with the position of a member of the board of county commissioners.

1940 OAG 3088. Offices of member of a board of county commissioners and member of a board of education in a rural school district in the same county are incompatible and can not lawfully be held simultaneously by one and the same person.

1934 OAG 2530. A county commissioner may become a member of the board of directors of the county agricultural society, and his election thereto does not operate to vacate the office of county commissioner.

Ethics Op 80-006. A county commissioner is prohibited by 2921.42(A)(4) from knowingly having an interest in the profits or benefits of a public contract, including an industrial revenue bond, entered into by or for the use of the county with which he serves.

Ethics Op 76-011. RC 102.02(A)(3) requires a candidate for county office to disclose the name of every corporation, incorporated in Ohio or holding a certificate of compliance authorizing it to do business in Ohio, and the name of every trust, which transacts business in Ohio, in which the candidate holds an office or has a fiduciary relationship, along with a brief description of the nature of the office or the relationship.

Ethics Op 75-018. A county commissioner who is also an attorney is not prohibited by RC 102.04(B) from receiving compensation for services rendered by him personally in matters which are before the courts.

305.02 Filling vacancy

(A) If a vacancy in the office of county commissioner, prosecuting attorney, county auditor, county treasurer, clerk of the court of common pleas, sheriff, county recorder, county engineer, or coroner occurs more than forty days before the next general election for state and county officers, a successor shall be elected at such election for the unexpired term unless such term expires within one year immediately following the date of such general election.

In either event, the vacancy shall be filled as provided in this section and the appointee shall hold his office until a successor is elected and qualified.

(B) If a vacancy occurs from any cause in any of the offices named in division (A) of this section, the county central committee of the political party with which the last occupant of the office was affiliated shall appoint a person to hold the office and to perform the duties thereof until a successor is elected and has qualified, except that if such vacancy occurs because of the death, resignation, or inability to take the office of an officer-elect whose term has not yet begun, an appointment to take such office at the beginning of the term shall be made by the central committee of the political party with which such officer-elect was affiliated.

(C) Not less than five nor more than forty-five days after a vacancy occurs, the county central committee shall meet for the purpose of making an appointment under this section. Not less than four days before the date of such meeting the chairman or secretary of such central committee shall send by first class mail to every member of such central committee a written notice which shall state the time and place of such meeting and the purpose thereof. A majority of the members of the central committee present at such meeting may make the appointment.

(D) If the last occupant of the office or the officer-elect was elected as an independent candidate, the board of county commissioners shall make such appointment at the time when the vacancy occurs, except where the vacancy is in the office of county commissioner, in which case the prosecuting attorney and the remaining commissioners or a majority of them shall make the appointment.

(E) Appointments made under this section shall be certified by the appointing county central committee or by the board of county commissioners to the county board of elections and to the secretary of state, and the persons so appointed and certified shall be entitled to all remuneration provided by law for the offices to which they are appointed.

(F) The board of county commissioners may appoint a person to hold any of the offices named in division (A) of this section as an acting officer and to perform the duties thereof between the occurrence of the vacancy and the time when the officer appointed by the central committee qualifies and takes the office.

(G) A person appointed prosecuting attorney or assistant prosecuting attorney shall give bond and take the oath of office prescribed by section 309.03 of the Revised Code for the prosecuting attorney.

173 OS 370, 182 NE(2d) 546 (1962), State ex rel Hayes v Jennings. RC 305.02, authorizing the members of the central committee of a political party to fill vacancies occurring, inter alia, in the office of clerk of courts of a county, confers official power upon the members of the central committee, and this annexation of power to this position makes it a public office and is a constitutional grant of power by the general assembly, rather than an appointment of an individual to an office by the general assembly. (Annotation from former RC 2303.04.)

166 OS 269, 141 NE(2d) 665 (1957), State ex rel Trago v Evans. The provision of RC 305.03 that whenever a county officer is absent from the county for ninety consecutive days, except in the case of sickness or injury or while being in the active military service of the United States, his office shall be deemed vacant and the county commissioners shall declare a vacancy to exist, is a valid exercise of legislative power.

161 OS 269, 119 NE(2d) 47 (1954), State ex rel Tobias v Seitz. Upon a vacancy occurring in the office of the clerk of the court of common pleas of a county because of the death of the duly elected incumbent, the board of county commissioners of that county has authority to fill the vacancy but has no authority to appoint a clerk for an interim period less than the period of such vacancy. 9 App(2d) 280, 224 NE(2d) 353 (1967), State ex rel McCurdy v DeMaioribus. The chairmanship of a county central committee of a political party is a "public office" within the meaning of RC 2733.01, and quo warranto will lie to try the title thereto.

OAG 88-041. A county commissioner may, pursuant to RC 122.69(B)(3) and 42 USC 9904(c)(3), serve on the board of directors of a community action agency.

OAG 86-083. A board of county commissioners has no authority to adopt a resolution, which designates by title, emergency interim successors to carry out the functions of the board in the event that any emergency situation exists within the county or state, and two or more positions on the board of county commissioners become vacant or two or more commissioners are unavailable to perform their duties.

OAG 80-083. The convening of members of the county central committee pursuant to RC 305.02 is a "meeting." Final voting on the appointment of persons to the committee must be held in a public meeting. However, the convening of the committee for the purpose of conducting purely internal party affairs, unrelated to the committee's duties of making appointments to vacant public offices is not a "meeting" as defined by RC 121.22(B)(2).

1959 OAG 855. An elected county engineer of one county may not be employed by the county commissioners of an adjoining county as deputy county engineer when there is a vacancy in the office of county engineer in such adjoining county. (Annotation from former RC 315.04.)

1947 OAG 2503. In event of a vacancy in office of county engineer no one can perform official duties imposed on county engineer by statute. (Annotation from former RC 315.04.)

1923 OAG p 466. A prosecuting attorney may not, after taking office continue to represent a client in a case in which the interests of such client and county are adverse. If an application is made to the common pleas court by the county commissioner and prosecuting attorney for employment of an assistant for such case, and is granted by the court, the determination of whether assistant legal counsel shall be provided, and who shall be employed, rests with the county commissioners. (Annotation from former RC 309.04.)

2. Appointment of person to hold office

a. In general

OAG 90-070. Pursuant to RC 305.02(F), where the office of coroner is vacant, the board of county commissioners may appoint a person to serve as acting coroner and to perform the duties of the coroner between the occurrence of the vacancy and the time when the officer appointed by the central committee qualifies and takes office; such acting coroner need not be a resident of the county he serves, but must be properly certified to practice medicine in accordance with RC Ch 4731.

OAG 69-052. When a re-elected county treasurer dies more than fifteen days before the end of his term of office, the vacancy shall be filled pursuant to subsection (A) of RC 305.02 for the reason that there is no provision made in the law to permit an appointment to be made for the purpose of filling vacancies in the office of county treasurer spanning more than part of one term, the county central committee shall appoint someone to fill such second vacancy if it occurs because of death before the term began, pursuant to subsections (A) and (B) of RC 305.02.

OAG 68-072. The determination of who shall appoint a person to hold the office of prosecuting attorney pursuant to RC 305.02 is contingent upon whether or not the last occupant of the office was elected as an independent.

1959 OAG 855. When there is a vacancy in the office of county engineer, the county commissioners must appoint a suitable person to fill such vacancy, and the appointee need not be an elector of the county but must be a qualified elector of the state of Ohio. (Annotation from former RC 315.04.)

1959 OAG 855. In the filling of a vacancy in the office of county engineer, an elected county engineer of one county may not be appointed as county engineer of a neighboring county and hold the two offices at the same time. (Annotation from former RC 315.04.)

1927 OAG 817. Upon the death of a county recorder, it becomes the duty of the county commissioners to appoint his successor without unreasonable delay. If an appointment is not made within a reasonable time, the commissioners become subject to an action in mandamus to compel them to act. (Annotation from former RC 317.06.)

b. Tenure of appointee

OAG 84-063. When a vacancy in any of the offices named in RC 305.02(A) occurs because of the death, resignation, or inability to take the office of an officer-elect whose term has not yet begun, the person appointed to take such office by the central committee of the political party with which such officer-elect was affiliated shall hold office until a successor is elected and qualified, and a successor shall be elected at the next general election for state and county officers.

1957 OAG 200. Where an incumbent of the office of county engineer has been elected at the general election in November of 1956 for a four year term, commencing on the first Monday in January 1957, and where such incumbent resigns effective January 31, 1957, the individual thereafter appointed by the board of county commissioners to fill such vacancy will hold such office until the election and qualification of his successor; and such successor should be elected for the unexpired term at the general election in November, 1958. (Annotation from former RC 315.04.)

1930 OAG 1972. A county surveyor who has been appointed to fill a vacancy in the office of county surveyor should now continue in office under such appointment until the general election for the office of county surveyor to be held in November, 1932, at which time a successor should be elected to fill the remaining unexpired term between the date of the November 1932 election and the first Monday in January, 1933. (Annotation from former RC 315.04.)

1930 OAG 1880, 1887. The tenure of an appointee to a vacancy in the office of county treasurer, is not for the unexpired term but only until the successor is elected and qualified. A successor to such appointee should be elected at the first general November election for the office which is vacant occurring more than thirty days after the occurrence of the vacancy. (Annotation from former RC 321.04.)

1928 OAG 2918. Where a county commissioner was appointed to fill a vacancy which occurred more than thirty days before a regular election and at said regular election no one was elected for the remainder of the unexpired term said appointee is entitled to hold his office during the remainder of the unexpired term.

1928 OAG 2167. If a judgment of forfeiture should now be entered against a county recorder for misconduct in office and a vacancy declared, a suitable person appointed by the county commissioners to such office will hold the same until the November election in 1928 and the qualification of the elected successor immediately thereafter. The elected successor at the November 1928 election would hold the office for the unexpired term of the county recorder, whose office was vacated, viz. until the first Monday in January 1931. (Annotation from former RC 317.06.)

1928 OAG 2167. Where a vacancy occurs in the office of county recorder, it is the duty of county commissioners to appoint a suitable person to fill such office, who, upon giving bond and taking the oath of office, as provided by law, holds his office until his successor is elected and qualified. (Annotation from former RC 317.06.)

1927 OAG 946. Where a county commissioner is appointed to fill a vacancy by the probate judge, auditor and recorder of the county, such appointee may only serve until his successor is elected and qualified and the fact that the commissioner of the governor states that the appointment is for the unexpired term does not effect a change in the law.

1927 OAG 946. When a vacancy occurs in the office of county commissioner more than thirty days before the next election for state and county officers, a successor must be elected at said election to serve for the unexpired term of the commissioner who was elected to the office.

1927 OAG 40. Where a vacancy occurs in the office of the county commissioner, who was elected in November 1926, and said vacancy is filled by appointment, the appointee will hold his office as county commissioner until his successor is elected and qualified at the November election of 1928, and the person so elected at that time will hold his office for the unexpired term for which his predecessor was elected.

3. Election of successor

144 OS 162, 57 NE(2d) 661 (1944), State ex rel Sagebiel v Montgomery County Bd of Elections. There is no duty resting upon a board of elections (though so ordered by the secretary of state) to prepare a separate ballot for the November 7, 1944 election, with party designations but with the name of no candidate thereon, for the purpose of filling a vacancy in the office of county commissioner caused by the death of an incumbent occurring subsequent to July 20, 1944.

79 App 311, 71 NE(2d) 531 (1946), State ex rel Heck v Ahlers. A duly elected and acting county official died more than thirty days prior to a general election; neither political party made a nomination to fill vacancy for unexpired term; at general election, names of various persons were written in blank space and properly marked; thus, person receiving highest number of votes was duly and legally elected to fill unexpired term.

898 F(2d) 1192 (6th Cir Ohio 1990), Banchy v Hamilton County Republican Party. The refusal of county political party officials to allow newly elected party precinct executives to participate in an election of ward chairmen is not state action, and the actions of a county central committee in electing ward chairmen are not under color of state law simply because the central committee has some governmental duties.

OAG 70-011. It is not necessary to provide write-in spaces on primary election ballots for offices of member of state central committee of a political party in Ohio, or delegate or alternate to national convention of a political party, but such write-in space must be provided for office of member of county central committee and such office must appear on ballot even though no candidate has qualified to have his name printed on ballot for the office, in order that votes cast for eligible write-in candidates may be counted.

1944 OAG 7137. During year 1944 where a county commissioner, who is not candidate for re-election, dies after twentieth day of July, this section requires that his successor for balance of his term shall be elected at November election, but during year 1944 after twentieth day of July there is no provision of law authorizing nomination of person for election to office of county commissioner to serve unexpired term of one who becomes deceased; it is duty of board of elections to provide ballot upon which voters may write in their choice for election to office of county commissioner for unexpired term of deceased county commissioner even though board of elections is not authorized to place any names of persons to be voted for upon such ballot.

1930 OAG 1956. When a county auditor, who was elected in November 1926, and entered upon the duties of his office on the second Monday of March, 1927, resigned on April 14, 1930, a successor should be elected at the general election in November, 1930. Said successor should take office as soon as he can qualify after such election and serve until March 9, 1931. (Annotation from former RC 319.04.)

1930 OAG 1956. If a county commissioner, who was elected at the general November election in 1928, and assumed office on January 7, 1929, should resign at the present time, a successor should be elected at the general November election in 1930, and would serve from the date of qualification after such election for the unexpired term, i.e., until the first Monday in January 1933. (Annotation from former RC 319.04.)

1928 OAG 1768. Under the provisions of GC 2782 (RC 315.01) and this section, in connection with GC 10 (RC 3.02), where a vacancy in the office of county surveyor occurs more than thirty days prior to the November election of 1928, a successor shall be elected to fill the unexpired term, whose tenure of office will begin upon qualification after such November election and end on the first Monday of January 1929. At said November election in 1928, there shall also be elected a county surveyor for the full term of four years beginning on the first Monday of January 1929. (Annotation from former RC 315.04.)

4. Vacancy not existing when

OAG 85-062. The office of county commissioner may not be declared vacant when the incumbent is seriously ill and unable to fulfill the duties of office but is not absent from the county.

1963 OAG 572. In the absence of an actual relinquishment of office prior to the effective date stated in a prospective resignation, no vacancy occurs in the office of clerk of courts by reason of the presentation of a prospective resignation prior to the effective date thereof.

1929 OAG 190. Where a county treasurer is physically absent from his office for a period of seven months on account of illness, such situation does not create a vacancy which the county commissioners are authorized to fill under this section if the duties of the office are being properly performed under his supervision. (Annotation from former RC 321.04.)

305.03 Failure to perform duties; absence; office deemed vacant

(A) Whenever any county officer fails to perform the duties of his office for ninety consecutive days, except in case of sickness or injury as provided in divisions (B) and (C) of this section, his office shall be deemed vacant.

(B) Whenever any county officer is absent because of sickness or injury, he shall cause to be filed with the board of county commissioners a physician's certificate of his sickness or injury. If such certificate is not filed with the board within ten days after the expiration of ninety consecutive days of absence, his office shall be deemed vacant.

(C) Whenever a county officer files a physician's certificate under division (B) of this section, but continues to be absent for an additional thirty days commencing immediately after the last day on which this certificate may be filed under division (B) of this section, his office shall be deemed vacant.

Any vacancy declared under this section shall be filled in the manner provided by section 305.02 of the Revised Code.

This section shall not apply to a county officer while in the active military service of the United States.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

40 OS(3d) 236, 533 NE(2d) 301 (1988), State ex rel Battin v Bush. RC 305.03, as amended by 1986 H 734, eff. 4-15-86, is, by its terms, self-executing; thus, upon the happening of the enumerated events, the office becomes vacant, without resort to any legal proceeding such as quo warranto.

40 OS(3d) 236, 533 NE(2d) 301 (1988), State ex rel Battin v Bush. RC 305.03, as amended by 1986 H 734, eff. 4-15-86, was not intended to be applied other than prospectively; accordingly, the earliest date from which consecutive days of absence from the performance of official duties may be calculated is the effective date of the amendment.

166 OS 269, 141 NE(2d) 665 (1957), State ex rel Trago v Evans. The provision of RC 305.03 that whenever a county officer is absent from the county for ninety consecutive days, except in the case of sickness or injury or while being in the active military service of the United States, his office shall be deemed vacant and the county commissioners shall declare a vacancy to exist, is a valid exercise of legislative power.

149 OS 13, 77 NE(2d) 245 (1948), State ex rel Welty v Outland. One who was elected to office of prosecuting attorney at the November 1940 election, but subsequently entered active military service of United States as commissioned officer, was not eligible to qualify for such office of prosecuting attorney thereafter on January 1, 1941.

143 OS 175, 54 NE(2d) 308 (1944), State ex rel Clinger v White. By virtue of provisions of this section and GC 2397-2 (RC 305.03), whenever a county officer shall be absent from county for ninety consecutive days, except in case of sickness or injury evidenced by physician's certificate as therein required his office shall be deemed vacant and the county commissioners shall declare a vacancy to exist in such office, but by specific provision thereof, nothing contained in those sections "shall apply to a county officer while in the active military service of the United States," thus, prosecuting attorney who enlists in such service does not by reason of his absence while in such service vacate his office as prosecuting attorney, and upon demand is entitled to receive the salary prescribed by law.

71 App 555, 50 NE(2d) 568 (1942), State ex rel Clinger v Shell; appeal dismissed by 141 OS 474, 48 NE(2d) 1009 (1943). Prosecuting attorney who becomes member of military service of United States and devotes his full time thereto, retains office of prosecuting attorney, under authority of this section, but is not entitled to salary of such office while so engaged in such military service.

No. 3728 (11th Dist Ct App, Trumbull, 9-30-87), State ex rel Battin v Bush; reversed by 40 OS(3d) 236, 533 NE(2d) 301 (1988). A dispute over whether a vacancy exists in a county office for failure to perform duties under RC 305.03 is to be settled in a quo warranto proceeding.

1955 OAG 5984. Where a vacancy in the office of sheriff is declared by resolution of the county commissioners as provided in RC 305.03, such vacancy should be filled by the commissioners as provided in RC 311.03.

1955 OAG 5984. RC 305.03 is a mere restatement of GC 2397-1 and GC 2397-2.

1946 OAG 710. When a regularly elected and qualified coroner is absent from county by reason of military service he is entitled to full compensation provided by law for his office, without deduction of any amount paid to an acting coroner or assistant coroner for services rendered during his absence.

1942 OAG 5412. Where county prosecuting attorney or county engineer enlists in some branch of military service or is drafted into service of United States during present war, each would carry responsibility for his position during his absence in such service and would be entitled to receive salary pertaining thereto.

1941 OAG 4262. A coroner in a county of less than one hundred thousand population does not vacate his office because of absence with the military forces of the United States.

COUNTY REFERENDUM PETITIONS

305.31 Procedure for submitting additional tax resolutions to referendum

The procedure for submitting to a referendum any resolution adopted by a board of county commissioners pursuant to section 322.02, 324.02, 4504.02, 5739.021, 5739.026, 5741.021, or 5741.023 or rule adopted pursuant to section 307.79 of the Revised Code shall be as follows:

When a petition, signed by ten per cent of the number of electors who voted for governor at the next preceding general election for the office of governor in the county, is filed with the county auditor within thirty days after the date such resolution is passed or rule is adopted by the board of county commissioners, or is filed within forty-five days after the resolution is passed, in the case of a resolution adopted pursuant to section 5739.021 of the Revised Code that is passed within one year after a resolution adopted pursuant to that section has been rejected or repealed by the electors, requesting that such resolution be submitted to the electors of such county for their approval or rejection, such county auditor shall, after ten days following the filing of the petition, and not later than four p.m. of the seventy-fifth day before the day of election, transmit a certified copy of the text of the resolution or rule to the board of elections. The county auditor shall transmit the petition to the board together with the certified copy of the resolution or rule. The board shall examine all signatures on the petition to determine the number of electors of the county who signed the petition. The board shall return the petition to the auditor within ten days after receiving it, together with a statement attesting to the number of such electors who signed the petition. The board shall submit the resolution or rule to the electors of the county, for their approval or rejection, at the next succeeding general or primary election held in the county on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in any year, or on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May of even-numbered years, occurring subsequent to seventy-five days after the auditor certifies the sufficiency and validity of the petition to the board of elections.

No resolution shall go into effect until approved by the majority of those voting upon it. However, a rule shall take effect and remain in effect unless and until a majority of the electors voting on the question of repeal approve the repeal. Sections 305.31 to 305.41 of the Revised Code do not prevent a county, after the passage of any resolution or adoption of any rule, from proceeding at once to give any notice or make any publication required by the resolution or rule.

The board of county commissioners shall make available to any person, upon request, a certified copy of any resolution or rule subject to the procedure for submitting a referendum under sections 305.31 to 305.42 of the Revised

Code beginning on the date the resolution or rule is adopted by the board. The board may charge a fee for the cost of copying the resolution or rule.

As used in this section, "certified copy" means a copy containing a written statement attesting that it is a true and exact reproduction of the original resolution or rule.

32 OS(3d) 190, 513 NE(2d) 242 (1987), State ex rel Brettell v Canestraro. A writ of mandamus ordering a county auditor to certify the text of a resolution to a county board of elections under RC 305.31 will not be issued where the relator has failed to comply with the verification requirements of RC 305.33.

8 OS(3d) 1, 8 OBR 72, 455 NE(2d) 1275 (1983), State ex rel Lightle v Glass. Mandamus will not lie to compel placing an issue on the ballot where the requirements of RC 305.31 cannot be met.

20 OS(2d) 9, 252 NE(2d) 164 (1969), State ex rel Vanderwerf v Warren. When an unverified copy of a resolution of a board of county commissioners is filed with a county auditor for the purpose of a referendum pursuant to RC 305.31 et seq., the county auditor has no duty to take any action; however, if he does certify the referendum proceedings to the county board of elections, the referendum proceedings will not be stayed by a writ of prohibition because of the omission of the verification where the relator stipulates that the unverified document is, nevertheless, an accurate copy of the original resolution and proves no other defect in the proceedings.

OAG 89-049. RC 305.31 confers no authority on a county auditor to determine the validity of referendum petition papers with respect to the requirements imposed by RC 3501.38(E); such determination must be made by the county board of elections.

OAG 77-045. Where a board of county commissioners has by resolution enacted a county sales tax pursuant to RC 5739.021 and a county use tax pursuant to RC 5741.021, a referendum petition with respect to such resolutions must meet the requirements of RC 305.31 to RC 305.99 for a referendum petition as to both of the resolutions in question.

OAG 69-105. A resolution levying a motor vehicle license tax pursuant to RC 4504.02 is subject to referendum as provided for by RC 305.31 only for the thirty-day period immediately following its adoption.

305.32 Separate petition papers; sufficiency; effective date

Any referendum petition may be presented in separate petition papers, but each petition paper shall contain a full and correct copy of the title and text of the resolution or rule sought to be referred. Referendum petitions shall be governed by the rules of section 3501.38 of the Revised Code. In determining the validity of any such petition, all signatures which are found to be irregular shall be rejected, but no petition shall be declared invalid in its entirety when one or more signatures are found to be invalid except when the number of valid signatures is found to be less than the total number required by section 305.31 of the Revised Code.

The petitions and signatures upon such petitions shall be prima-facie presumed to be in all respects sufficient. No resolution submitted to the electors of any county, and receiving an affirmative majority of the votes cast thereon, shall be held ineffective or void on account of the insufficiency of the petitions by which such submission of the resolution was procured, nor shall the rejection, by a majority of the votes cast thereon, of any resolution submitted to the electors of such county, be held invalid for such insufficiency. No rule submitted to the electors of the county, and receiving a majority of the votes cast against repeal, shall be held invalid or void on account of the insufficiency of the petitions by which such submission was procured, nor shall the repeal, by approval of a majority voting for repeal, be held invalid for such insufficiency.

Resolutions receiving an affirmative majority of the votes cast thereon, shall become effective on the first day of the month following certification by the board of elections of the official vote on such question.

REGIONAL TRANSIT AUTHORITY; COUNTY CHARTERS

306.32 Resolution or ordinance to create authority; filing procedures; referendum; territorial boundaries

Any county, or any two or more counties, municipal corporations, townships, or any combination thereof, may create a regional transit authority by the adoption of a resolution or ordinance by the board of county commissioners of each county, the legislative authority of each municipal corporation, and the board of township trustees of each township which is to create or to join in the creation of the regional transit authority. Such resolution or ordinance shall state:

(A) The necessity for the creation of a regional transit authority;

(B) The counties, municipal corporations, or townships which are to create or to join in the creation of the regional transit authority;

(C) The official name by which the regional transit authority shall be known;

(D) The place in which the principal office of the regional transit authority will be located or the manner in which it may be selected;

(E) The number, term, and compensation, or method for establishing compensation, of the members of the board of trustees of the regional transit authority. Compensation shall not exceed fifty dollars for each board and committee meeting attended by a member, except that if compensation is provided annually it shall not exceed six thousand dollars for the president of the board or four thousand eight hundred dollars for each other board member.

(F) The manner in which vacancies on the board of trustees of the regional transit authority shall be filled;

(G) The manner and to what extent the expenses of the regional transit authority shall be apportioned among the counties, municipal corporations, and townships creating it;

(H) The purposes, including the kinds of transit facilities, for which the regional transit authority is organized.

The regional transit authority provided for in such resolution or ordinance shall be deemed to be created upon the adoption of such resolution or ordinance by the board of county commissioners of each county, the legislative authority of each municipal corporation, and the board of township trustees of each township enumerated in the resolution or ordinance.

The resolution or ordinance creating a regional transit authority may be amended to include additional counties, municipal corporations, or townships or for any other purpose, by the adoption of such amendment by the board of county commissioners of each county, the legislative authority of each municipal corporation, and the board of township trustees of each township which has created or joined or proposes to join the regional transit authority.

After each county, municipal corporation, and township which has created or joined or proposes to join the regional transit authority has adopted its resolution or ordinance approving inclusion of additional counties, municipal corporations, or townships in such regional transit authority, a copy of each such resolution or ordinance shall be filed with the clerk of the board of the county commissioners of each county, of the legislative authority of each municipal corporation, and of the board of trustees of each township proposed to be included in the regional transit authority. Such inclusion is effective when all such filing has been completed, unless the regional transit authority to which territory is to be added has authority to levy an ad valorem tax on property, or a sales tax, within its territorial boundaries, in which event such inclusion shall become effective on the sixtieth day after the last such filing is accomplished, unless, prior to the expiration of such sixty day period, qualified electors residing in the area proposed to be added to the regional transit authority, equal in number to at least ten per cent of the qualified electors from such area who voted for governor at the last gubernatorial election, file a petition of referendum against such inclusion. Any petition of referendum filed under this section shall be filed at the office of the secretary of the board of trustees of the regional transit authority. The person presenting the petition shall be given a receipt containing thereon the time of the day, the date, and the purpose of the petition. The secretary of the board of trustees of the regional transit authority shall cause the appropriate board or boards of elections to check the sufficiency of signatures on any petition of referendum filed under this section and, if found to be sufficient, shall present the petition to the board of trustees at a meeting of said board which occurs not later than thirty days following the filing of said petition. Upon presentation to the board of trustees of a petition of referendum against the proposed inclusion, the board of trustees shall promptly certify the proposal to the board or boards of elections for the purpose of having the proposal placed on the ballot at the next general or primary election which occurs not less than seventy-five days after the date of the meeting of said board, or at a special election, the date of which shall be specified in the certification, which date shall be not less than seventy-five days after the date of such meeting of the board. Signatures on a petition of referendum may be withdrawn up to and including the meeting of the board of trustees certifying the proposal to the appropriate board or boards of elections. If territory of more than one county, municipal corporation, or township is to be added to the regional transit authority, the electors of such territories of the counties, municipal corporations, or townships which are to be added shall vote as a district and the majority affirmative vote shall be determined by the vote cast in such district as a whole. Upon certification of a proposal to the appropriate board or boards of elections pursuant to this section, such board or boards of election shall make the necessary arrangements for the submission of such questions to the electors of the territory to be added to the regional transit authority qualified to vote thereon and the election shall be held, canvassed, and certified in the manner provided for the submission of tax levies under section 5705.191 of the Revised Code, except that the question appearing on the ballot shall read:

"Shall the territory within the _____ (Name or names of political subdivisions to be joined) be added to _____ regional transit authority?" and shall a(n) _____ (here insert type of tax or taxes) at a rate of taxation not to exceed _____ (here insert maximum tax rate or rates) be levied for all transit purposes?"

(Name)

If the question is approved by at least a majority of the electors voting on such question, such joinder is immediately effective and the regional transit authority may extend the levy of such tax against all the taxable property within the territory which has been added. If such question is approved at a general election or at a special election occurring prior thereto but after the fifteenth day of July, the regional transit authority may amend its budget and resolution adopted pursuant to section 5705.34 of the Revised Code and such levy shall be placed on the current tax list and duplicate and collected as other taxes are collected from all taxable property within the territorial boundaries of the regional transit authority, including the territory within each political subdivision added as a result of such election.

The territorial boundaries of a regional transit authority shall be coextensive with the territorial boundaries of the counties, municipal corporations, and townships included within the regional transit authority, provided that the same area may be included in more than one regional transit authority so long as the regional transit authorities are not organized for purposes as provided for in the resolutions or ordinances creating the same, and any amendments thereto, relating to the same kinds of transit facilities; and provided further, that if a regional transit authority includes only a portion of an entire county, a regional transit authority for the same purposes may be created in the remaining portion of the same county by resolution of the board of county commissioners acting alone or in conjunction with municipal corporations and townships as provided in this section.

No regional transit authority shall be organized after January 1, 1975, to include any area already included in a regional transit authority, except that any regional transit authority organized after the effective date of this section and having territorial boundaries entirely within a single county shall, upon adoption by the board of county commissioners of such county of a resolution creating a regional transit authority including within its territorial jurisdiction the existing regional transit authority and for purposes including the purposes for which such existing regional transit authority was created, be dissolved and its territory included in such new regional transit authority. Any resolution creating such new regional transit authority shall make adequate provision for satisfaction of the obligations of the dissolved regional transit authority.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

895 F(2d) 266 (6th Cir Ohio 1990), Moir v Greater Cleveland Regional Transit Auth. A transit authority is a "political subdivision" of Ohio exempt from 29 USC 185(a) of the Federal Labor Management Relations Act of 1947 because the authority was created by the state through delegation of its authority and is administered by a board of trustees responsible to elected officials.

OAG 88-083. Under RC 149.38, a county records commission is not responsible for providing rules for the retention and disposal of records of a regional transit authority established pursuant to RC 306.32.

OAG 85-096. A board of county commissioners of a county which is a member of a regional transit authority may not, in its resolution creating the regional transit authority, limit the number of terms that a trustee may serve as a member of the board of trustees of the regional transit authority.

OAG 72-053. When a regional transit authority has been legally established by two municipalities, the withdrawal of one municipality under RC 306.54 will permit the continued existence of the authority within the boundaries of the other municipality.

306.40 General obligations bonds; final judgment bonds; use of proceeds; election; tax levy; anticipatory notes; issuance of obligation without vote

The regional transit authority may submit to the electors within its territorial boundaries the question of issuing bonds of such authority and also the necessity of a tax outside the limitation imposed by Section 2 of Article XII, Ohio Constitution, to pay the interest on and to retire the bonds. Such bonds when so approved by the electors may be issued by the regional transit authority to purchase, acquire, construct, replace, improve, extend, and enlarge any transit facility which serves or will serve an area within the territorial boundaries of the regional transit authority, or to make an indemnification payment pursuant to an agreement for the sale and leaseback of qualified mass commuting vehicles as provided in division (AA) of section 306.35 of the Revised Code, or to pay a final judgment or judgments rendered against the regional transit authority, including settlement of a claim approved by a court, in an action for personal injuries or based on any other noncontractual obligation, provided that the net indebtedness, as defined for a municipal corporation in section 133.05 of the Revised Code, incurred by a regional transit authority shall never exceed five per cent of the total value of all property within the territorial boundaries of the regional transit authority as listed and assessed for taxation, and that no part of the proceeds of such bonds shall at any time be used to meet or defray any of the normal operating expenses of any transit facility or part thereof, and provided also, that bonds issued to make an indemnification payment pursuant to an agreement for the sale and leaseback of qualified mass commuting vehicles as provided in division (AA) of section 306.35 of the Revised Code shall have a maturing of not more than five years. The proceedings for such election and for the issuance and sale of such bonds shall be as provided by Chapter 133. of the Revised Code, provided that such a bond issue may be submitted to the electors and such bonds may be issued for any one or more of the purposes set forth in this section. If a majority of those voting upon the proposition vote in favor thereof, the board of trustees of the regional transit authority may proceed with the issue of such bonds and the levy of a tax outside the ten-mill limitation, sufficient in amount to pay the interest on and retire such bonds at maturity. Notes may be issued in anticipation of such bonds as provided in section 133.22 of the Revised Code. The board of trustees shall be the taxing authority or bond issuing authority of the regional transit authority.

The regional transit authority may also issue bonds and notes in anticipation of such bonds for any one or more of the purposes set forth in this section and as provided in Chapter 133. of the Revised Code, without a vote of the electors residing within the territorial boundaries of the authority. Prior to the issuance of such bonds or notes, the fiscal officer of the authority shall file with the board of trustees a certificate showing that the estimated revenues of the authority from sources other than ad valorem taxes on property, after first meeting from all available resources the estimated operation and maintenance expenses of the authority as they become due, are sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such bonds as they become due, and that the maximum aggregate amount of principal and interest to become payable in any one calendar year on all of the bonds of the authority issued pursuant to this section without a vote of the electors does not exceed one-tenth of one per cent of the total value of all the property within the territory of the authority as listed and assessed for taxation. To the extent that revenues of the authority from sources other than ad valorem taxes on property, after paying the operation and maintenance expenses of the facilities financed from the proceeds of bonds and notes issued pursuant to this section and any moneys required for the payment of the principal of and interest and any premium on revenue bonds issued by the regional transit authority pursuant to section 306.37 of the Revised Code, are sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on bonds issued pursuant to this section as they become due, such bonds shall not be considered within the five per cent limitation on indebtedness imposed by this section.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

OAG 89-048. When voters have approved a sales tax levy for a regional transit authority pursuant to RC 306.70 and 5739.023 and no bonds or anticipation notes have been issued under RC 306.40 without a vote of the electors while the tax has been in effect, the board of trustees of the authority may, at any time while the tax is in effect, by resolution fix the rate of the tax at any rate authorized by RC 5739.023 and not in excess of the rate approved by the voters; the tax rate may, by resolution, be changed to any permissible rate pursuant to the procedure set forth in RC 5739.023.

306.49 Levy of property tax; purpose

(A) Upon the affirmative vote of at least a majority of the qualified electors within the territorial boundaries of the regional transit authority voting on the question at an election held for the purpose of authorizing it, the regional transit authority may levy upon the property within its territorial boundaries a tax, for all purposes other than bond debt charges, not in excess of five mills annually on the total value of all property as listed and assessed for taxation for any period not exceeding ten years. Such election shall be called, held, canvassed, and certified in the same manner as is provided for elections held pursuant to section 5705.191 of the Revised Code. On approval of such a levy, notes may be issued in anticipation of the collection of the proceeds thereof, in the amount and manner and at the times as are provided in section 5705.193 of the Revised Code. The regional transit authority may borrow money in anticipation of the collection of current revenues as provided in section 133.10 of the Revised Code.

(B) Whenever the question of a tax upon property as provided in division (A) of this section has been rejected at an election, the regional transit authority may thereafter submit the question at a subsequent election to the qualified electors of the largest municipal corporation located within the territorial boundaries of the regional transit authority, and to the qualified electors of any other municipal corporation or township located within such boundaries, when its legislative authority or board of trustees has adopted a resolution requesting to be included in such election and has filed a copy thereof with the secretary-treasurer of the regional transit authority not later than ninety days prior to the date of the election.

Upon the affirmative vote of a majority of the qualified electors of the largest municipal corporation voting on the question, the regional transit authority may levy a tax as provided in division (A) of this section upon all property within the municipal corporation, and upon all property within any other municipal corporation or township included in the election when a majority of the qualified electors of such municipal corporation or township have authorized the tax.

Whenever a tax upon property has been authorized pursuant to this division, the legislative authority of any municipal corporation, or the board of trustees of any township, that is not subject to the tax, but is included within the territorial boundaries of the regional transit authority, may adopt a resolution requesting the regional transit authority to hold an election submitting the question of levying the tax to the electors of such municipal corporation or township.

Any election held pursuant to this division shall be called, held, canvassed, and certified in the same manner as provided for elections held pursuant to division (A) of this section, and any tax authorized by an election held under this division shall grant the same authority and be subject to the same requirements with respect to the issuance of notes and the borrowing of money as provided in division (A) of this section.

(C) Any tax authorized by an election held under this section shall be levied annually as provided in section 5705.34 of the Revised Code during the period authorized, and shall be for the purpose of providing funds necessary for the regional transit authority budget, except that any tax authorized under division (B) of this section shall be used for such purpose only in those municipal corporations or townships which have authorized the tax. The collection of such tax levy shall conform in all matters to the provisions of the Revised Code governing the collection of taxes and assessments levied by taxing districts, and the same provisions concerning the nonpayment of taxes shall apply to taxes levied pursuant to this section.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

OAG 81-068. A board of trustees of a regional transit authority which levies a tax pursuant to RC 306.49(A) must levy the tax on all property within the territorial boundaries of the authority. The board of trustees of a regional transit authority may not levy a tax pursuant to RC 306.49(A) on property within a political subdivision which has withdrawn from the regional transit authority prior to the date on which the tax is levied.

306.70 Submission of question of adoption of sales and use tax

A tax proposed to be levied by a board of county commissioners or by the board of trustees of a regional transit authority pursuant to sections 5739.023 and 5741.022 of the Revised Code shall not become effective until it is submitted to the electors residing within the county or within the territorial boundaries of the regional transit authority and approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon. Such question shall be submitted at a general election or at a special election on a day specified in the resolution levying the tax and occurring not less than seventy-five days after such resolution is certified to the board of elections, in accordance with section 3505.071 of the Revised Code.

The board of elections of the county or of each county in which any territory of the regional transit authority is located shall make the necessary arrangements for the submission of such question to the electors of the county or regional transit authority, and the election shall be held, canvassed, and certified in the same manner as regular elections for the election of county officers. Notice of the election shall be published in one or more newspapers which in the aggregate are of general circulation in the territory of the county or of the regional transit authority once a week for four consecutive weeks prior to the election stating the type, rate and purpose of the tax to be levied, the length of time during which the tax will be in effect, and the time and place of the election.

More than one such question may be submitted at the same election. The form of the ballots cast at such[2] shall be:

"Shall a(n) _____ (sales and use) _____ tax be levied for all transit purposes of the _____ (here insert name of the county or regional transit authority) at a rate not exceeding _____ (here insert percentage) per cent for _____ (here insert number of years the tax is to be in effect, or that it is to be in effect for a continuing period of time)?"

If the tax proposed to be levied is a continuation of an existing tax, whether at the same rate or at an increased or reduced rate, or an increase in the rate of an existing tax, the notice and ballot form shall so state.

The board of elections to which the resolution was certified shall certify the results of the election to the county auditor of the county or secretary-treasurer of the regional transit authority levying the tax and to the tax commissioner of the state.

NOTES ON DECISIONS AND OPINIONS

OAG 89-048. When voters have approved a sales tax levy for a regional transit authority pursuant to RC 306.70 and 5739.023 and no bonds or anticipation notes have been issued under RC 306.40 without a vote of the electors while the tax has been in effect, the board of trustees of the authority may, at any time while the tax is in effect, by resolution fix the rate of the tax at any rate authorized by RC 5739.023 and not in excess of the rate approved by the voters; the tax rate may, by resolution, be changed to any permissible rate pursuant to the procedure set forth in RC 5739.023.

306.71 Question of reduction of rate of continuing sales and use tax

The question of the decrease of the rate of a tax approved for a continuing period of time by the voters of a county or regional transit authority pursuant to sections 5739.023 and 5741.022 of the Revised Code may be initiated by the filing of a petition with the board of elections of the county, or in the case of a regional transit authority with the board of elections as determined pursuant to section 3505.071 of the Revised Code, prior to the seventy-fifth day before the general election in any year requesting that an election be held on such question. Such petition shall state the amount of the proposed decrease in the rate of the tax and shall be signed by at least ten per cent of the number of qualified electors residing in such county, or in the territory of the regional transit authority, who voted at the last general election.

After determination by it that such petition is valid, the board of elections shall submit the question to the electors of the county or regional transit authority at the next succeeding general election. The election shall be conducted, notice thereof shall be given, and the results thereof shall be certified in the manner provided in section 306.70 of the Revised Code. If a majority of the qualified electors voting on such question approve the proposed decrease in rate, such decrease in rate shall become effective on the first day of the second January after such election.
